For the Seven Young Ministers Who-Were Suspended for Expressing: Their Views at the Polls.

REV. MR. MILLIGAN MINCESONO MATTER-

When Defending the New York Presbytery on Gro of Privilege.

Notwithstanding: the somber manner o the first day's session of the R. P. Synod, yes-terday sproceedings gare an earnest of face, work to come. It is said the suspended ministers have a strong following, but it did not show in the final vote yesterday afterill sections. At the assembling yesterday peared in the minutes, and a motion that a full statement of his case, should be entered. full statement of his case should be entered upon the record passed. A letter of greeting from the Covennmer Church of Scotland was read. It called on the Church to stand fast to its principles and pleaded with the dissenting ministers to turn back ere it is too late. The writers state that the trouble is causing the Church of Scotlcand's much pain and sorrow.

Church of North America sent a letter of greeting, and one of many recommendations, asking for evangelical union in, order to avoid clashing of denominations. It was referred to a special committee When the Dance Came On.

The dance was on when a petition and memorial from the Second Reformed congregation of New York came, deploring the action of the Pittsburg Presbytery, in pending the seven ministers, and asking for their reinstatement on confession of error. Dr. McAfee, of New York, objected to the petition going to the Committee on Discip-line, on the ground that it might be deferred until the last-minute and then shut out enfirely.

Rev. Dr. Stephenson, of New York, cried:

"Lot us have fair play. We want peace and fair treatment; that is, if you are a fair and honorable body."

This remark caused a sensation.

Dr. McAllister hotly objected to reflections east on the integrity of the committees, especially that on discipline.

Prof. Wilson objected to the use of the word "fair" in the connection.

The matter was referred and the committee instructed to report not later than this after

A petition from the Fourth Reformed Church of New York, of the same tenor as that of the Second, raised another tempest which was settled in the same way as the first. The same action was taken on a petition from the Reformed Presbyterian Church of Brooklyn, and one from the First Reformed Presbyterian Church of New York.

York. Rev. H. W. Reed, one of the suspended Rev. H. W. Reed, one of the suspended ministers, asked for a correction of the minutes of the Pittsburg Presbytery with regard to the reading of the resolution of suspension, but the request was refused.

It was ordered that 5,000 copies of the sermon of the retiring moderator be printed.

The following committees were announced by Moderator Wylfe: Finance, Revs. A. Kilpatrick, J. C. Smith, D. H. Coulter, and Elders R. M. Downie and I. K. Mitchell, Discipline, Revs. J. McCracken, D. S. Fans, D. McKse, and Elders Walter L. Miller and Richard Elliott.

The afternoon session opened with the transaction of routine business, not the least important of which was the furnishing of cuspidors at the reporters' table. Evidently tobacco users in the R. P. Church mortify the dealt while at Synod, as no spitting was observable among them. It is due the pen-cil pushers to say that with the exception of one, who was suffering from an attack of secondary grip, there was but little use for

Dr. Sprouil, stated ciers, wanted to know what his powers were in regard to Synod documents in his possession, and whether he had discretion to lend documents or give copies of them. It being suggested that he would be held responsible for the safewould be held responsible for the safe-keeping of the documents, he gave notice to members of the Synod that they need not apply at the Synod trunk. Hereafter those who want to see noted autographs or papers, or the covenant, or the gold pen with which or the covenant, of the good permission it was signed, must get synodical permission to take a peep into the ark of the covenant.

Rev. W. R. Laird, Clerk of the Pittsburg Presbytery, arose to read an overture of peace to the suspended ministers. Prof. Wilson objected unless the court were to give permission, as everything on this sub-lect had been referred to committees. This, he said, would be a virtual reconsideration

The Proposition Toward Peace.

The Synod, by a nearly unanimous vote, decided to hear the paper, and in prefacing it Rev. Mr. Laird said that he felt that he could enjoy the coming communion better if this troublous cloud were lifted. He suggested that the matter be considered after in hour spent in prayer. The proposition was framed by Rev. J.S. T. Milligan, and was the basis of settlement proposed by the Judicial Committee of the Pittsburg Presby-tery last December. It read as follows:

First-We disayow the East End platform as a cond of union within the Reformed Presbyterian hurch, and as other than an explanation of Indidual opinion. Second—We engage to obey the existing laws of his church as to voting at civil elections and holdng office, and agree to carry them out in the exer-

he of our office.
Third—We engage not to propagate contrary fews to the above while holding the positions of ninisters of the Reformed Presbyterian Church. Drs. McAllister and George agreed with Prof. Wilson in opposing the consideration of the paper.

Prof. Wilson said it was stealing a march

The matter was many sent to the Committee on Discipline.

The next thing served smoking hot was a protest of the Bell Center and Miami Uffited Congregations of Ohio, against the action of the Pittsburg Presbytery on the East End platform heresy. It was sent to Join the other protest in the maw of the Committee of Discipline, and it was in turn followed by all of its kidney. One from a portion of the First Reformed Presbyterian Church of Philadelphia, thought the sentence of suspension on the seven and characterizing of Philadelphia, thought the sentence of suspension on the seven and characterizing their fault as a heinous sin, unnecessarily severe. It hadover 80 names appended. They fear that such heroic surgery will disrupt their beloved Zion. The same view is taken by over 80 members of the Second R. P. Church of Philadelphia. The memorialists urge that if such sentence is carried into effect that fish be not made of one and flesh of the other, but that all members holding similar that his oe not make of one and hear of the other, but that all members holding similar views be similarly treated, but they hold that the right of private opinion, so long as it infracts not the law of the church, should be allowed. The majority in the Second Church sent a counter petition.

Others Wanted on the List. The memorial of the Pittsburg Presbytery set forth in full the East End platform, and added that three others, including Rev. J. C. E. Milligan, Rev. Mr. Carson and Prof. McCurkin, were involved, and asked that they be included among the proscribed.

Dr. McAllister opposed including Prof. McCurkim, as his name had been stricken from the roll of the church.

The nanter was extensively discussed. Rev. J. R. Thompson, of Newburg Presbytery, N. Y., opposed the reception of the paper, as he said the cases had come under the adjudication of the New York Presbytery and Synod had no right to entertain it Others held that the New York trouble was another matter, and among them were Prof. Wilson and Dr. McAllister, the latter holding that remissness of any kind in any Presbytery is a subject that comes within the domain of synodical jurisdiction. Rev. J. S. T. Milligan, of Kansas Presbytery, denounced the proposition to take the matter out of the hands of the New York Presbytery as an outrage, and intimated a strong opinion that the Presbytery had exceeded its power in suspending the seven after they had appealed to the higher court.

No Mincing of the Matter. There was no mineing of the matter by Mr.

might go on, as he thought the New York

About this time the lightning flashed from all parts of the room. Dr. J. W. Sproullmoved to table, and offered a substitute. Prof. Wilson raised a point of order. Rev. J. S. T. Milligan another.

Dr. McAllister in the melec called attention to his having been taken to task for using the term "remissness," and held that the liberal defenders had outdone him by use of the expression "high-handed" in speaking of the action of the Pittsburg Presbytery.

The motion to receive and refer to the Committee of Discipline was carried in the affirmative, but a division was demanded amid a storm of motions to adjourn which had been in progress for some time.

Rev. Mr. Carson rose to a question of privilege and could not get a hearing when he said that disorderly as the New York Legislature was it would not refuse a favor of the kind.

The division showed 120 votes in the affirmative to 20 in the negative, the small vote on the latter side being an astonisher, consider-

LITTLE-CHILDREN IN A CLUBBING-CASE

"Let me go or I'll kill both of you." "Let me go or I'll kill both of you."

The words from a well-dressed young man, and the flourish of a big revolver, caused a scatterment of the people in the Home Hotel office about noon yesterday. The young man was struggling with two others near the clerk's desk. The two were holding on as best they could, trying to keep their captive from reaching the door. The appearance of the revolver had the effect of appearance of the revolver had the effect of giving them the whole office to themselves, as nobody cared to stay around to see the threat carried out. The three men strug-gled over the office floor for several minutes. The captive was making vain efforts to bring his revolver into play, but the others kept too close for him to succeed. Finally one of the men caught him by the arm and suc-ceeded in wrenching the weapon from his grasp. Scarcely had he done so when the young fellow reached under his coat and drew a long penkuife.

Ugly Wounds Made With a Knife, Both his captors started back at sight-of his, and he took advantage of the pause to Both his captors started uses as again this, and he took advantage of the pause to make a lunge at them. They recovered themselves, however, soon enough to reach up and catch the blade before it descended. As they tussled about, still holding to the knife, the keen blade sunk into their palms to the bone, making ugly wounds and spotting the floor with blood. Just at this juncture Detectives Shore and Robinson ran into the office, and soon had the prisoner in hand. He was quickly relieved of his weapons and sent up to Central station.

The man who caused all this disturbance, was Philip Fleming, wanted on a charge of embezglement. He was employed as a collector by the publishing firm of Efley & Fleming, of New York, who have a branch house in Pittsburg. The young man is a nephew of one of the firm. He is just 30 years of age, well built and rather handsome. For some time he has been employed collecting money on books sold in Pittsburg, and often had large sums of the firm's cash in his hands.

This was the case about two weeks ago.

This was the case about two weeks ago, when he disappeared, leaving no word as to what had become of him. Two young men, also employes of the firm, were put on his trail. Located at the Home flotel.

It was supposed for a time he had gone to Chicago, but the men learned later that he had not left Pittsburg, but was stopping all the time at the Home Hotel, under the asthe time at the Home Hotel, under the assumed name of Jesse R. Craig. Information was made against him before Alderman Gripp, and the warrant placed in the hands of Detectives Shore and Robinson. The young men then went down to the hotel to await Fleming's arrival and notify the officers. Fleming soon sauntered in and word was telephoned to the Inspector's office for the detectives to come down.

Fleming was suspicious, however, and the message had scarcely been sent when he started out of the office. Seeing their victim about to escape the two men pounced on him with the result stated above. From the presence of the weapons Fleming was evidently on the lookout for pursuers, and prepared to give them an ugly reception. Neither of the young men was seriously injured, though their hands were badly hacked with the knife. Fleming was committed to jail last night for a hearing.

Secretary Martin, of the Bricklayers'

Exchange is not making an effort to bring men here from other cities. To prove his own statement he showed the following advertisement, which appeared in the Chicago News of Wednesday:

good-looking young Robert Washbaugh and pretty little Rose Nahar, both of West Newton, on whose matrimonial aspirations both the respective families frowned, but frowned to no purpose.

Robert Washbaugh is the 19-year-old son of Squire George Washbaugh, of West Newton, and Rose Nahar is the daughter of the late Martin Nahar, for 16 years a member of the Council of that thriving town, and a young lady of only 17. The course of their true love ran smoothly enough up to the period when Robert proposed to take unto himself a helpmate, but a snag was encountered in the shape of parental authority, which declared that the couple were too young to venture out into the cold, cold world on their own account. This view was not shared in by the young people, and they finally decided to do what has been done since the time of Eve—to elope and go it alone.

The step was taken last night, and the drizzling rain which descended on them on emerging from the Baltimore and Ohio depot abated not their ardor in the least. Mr. Washbaugh bustled around with the air of an old traveler, with a couple of grips in his hands, and made a transfer of the Joint baggage to the Lake Erie station, whence they departed at 10:45 o'clock for Youngstown, where, in all probability, they lost no time in having the knot tied. The Press Committee stated, however, that there was no reason why the Exchange should not advertise for men if the members desired to do so. A rumor was circulated yesterday to the effect that the bosses are endeavoring to bring about a conference. Sweeney is the President of the Wheeling street car lines, and has given the question of transportation considerable thought. He has no doubt at all of the supremacy of electric power over cable, both for efficiency of service and in point of economy.

"With relation to fares," he said, "no road can be operated with advantage to the public or benefit to the proprietors at less than a 5-cent rate. Neither do I think that the public desires to see any reduction in the price of fares. A road which attempts to run at 3-cent fares cannot provide equal facilities for handling trafficas a 5-cent road, and I believe that the public would rather pay 5 cents and be given first-class service than pay 3 cents and be stinted in accommodation. The classification of fares depends much on local conditions, but nowhere has it been found that an efficient service can be given for 8 cents." Another Rumor Absolutely Denied. The journeymen plumbers wet last night and heard reports from the committee that is looking after their interest in the present strike. Three firms have now withdrawn the master plumbers' working rules, and consequently have broken away from the Master Plumbers' Association. They employ from 10 to 16 men, who are nowat work. The journeymen are firm and very confident of success. The junior plumbers meet today. They have their own organization, and are giving every possible assistance to the journeymen.

cral trial trips were made over the road, and last evening a number of the members of the company went over the entire road in a special car preparatory to the final opening. This road passes near all the cemeteries on the Southside of the city, and, owing to this, the road was opened to-day that everything would be in readiness to carry passengers on Decoration Day.

The Birmingham Traction Company sent two cars over the entire line last evening. The reports as to the bridge being too narrow proved to be surmises, as the cars made the trip without any difficulty. The cars are being fitted out as rapidly as possible, and all will be in shape by the last of next week. The south-bound track has not been connected at the bridge, but workmen were engaged all night making the connections, which will be completed by to-morrow morning.

A new and wonderful charging machin was tried at Homestead yesterday to charge the furnaces in the new open-hearth plant It is said to be most wonderful in its mechanism and will charge a "mix" of 20 tons in less than half an hour's time, while with the old way of charging with a "peel" it generally takes two to three hours. It takes the place of six men. John A. Petter, the general manager of the Homestead Steel Works, is the inventor. The machine was wholly designed and built in the Homestead plant.

Horseshoers' Scale Settled.

The fourneymen horseshoers met la ight and received the report of a committee that had met the bosses and secured their signature for next year's scale which pr vides for nine hours' work with wages at i and $3 50 a day. The scale has been signe for a year, and takes effect June 1.

THE O'MALLEY BRIBERY CASE.

By this action of the trustees the assets of the congregation will be equally divided between the Allegheny and East End contingents. The assets are quite formidable from a pecuniary point of view. The site occupied by the church has been the subject of real estate inquiry for a long time. Since the fire at least 20 offers have been made, ranging from $250,000 to $300,000, and it is believed that something over the latter figure will be reached. Divided, each congregation will have $150,000 as a building fund nucleus. The insurance, amounting to $41,000 in round figures, will be increased by the sale of the material, probably reaching nearly $50,000. Thus each of the congregations will have over $175,000 to start with. An Allegheny friend of the church has pledged $20,000 additional, and as other large donations are talked about, a spirit of friendly rivalry may be looked for in the matter of which church will be the handsomest.

The name, "Christ M. E. Church," will be preserved by the addition of the location, and there will therefore be "Christ M. E. Church, Allegheny," and "Christ M. E. Church, East End."

Pewholders Must Vote on It. Demurrer Entered by the Defense.

New Orleans, May 22.—When the McCrystal and O'Malley bribery cases were called to-day their attorney submitted a motion for change of venue. The State introduced a number of witnesses, including the leaders of the Committee of Safety, Messrs. Parkerson, Denegre and Hauston.
They all testified that they believed accused could obtain a fair trial. Mr. Parkerson said: "The fact that Mr. O'Malley was walking around the streets of the city, and had said: "The fact that Mr. O'Malley was walking around the streets of the city, and had thrown defiance in the face of the committee, was the best evidence that the accused could obtain a fair trial."

Mr. Parkerson admitted having said on March 14, "Leave O'Malley to our committee and we will attend to him." Before all the testimony had been heard Mr. Henriques, of counsel for defense, abandoned the motion for a change of venue, and asked to have the case fixed for trial June 10, as he desired to be absent from the city until that date, but the State's attorney objecting, Mr. Henriques then gave notice of withdrawal of the plea of not guilty by his clients, and stated that he would enter a demurrer similar to that sustained by the court in the case against Granger, in which the information was quashed on the ground that the allegations set forth were not sufficiently specific. The McCrystal and O'Malley cases go over till to morrow, when the demurrer will be passed upon.

Regarding the Testimony.

W. J. Brennen left for Washington last night on business connected with the Stewart-Craig contest. He said that the Clerk of the House had notified each side to and afterward to the next M. E. Conference, but as there is no other feeling existing than that of an amicable nature no opposition is expected. At the board meeting yesterday committees were appointed by both sides, with power to act. Among the East End members of the Board is Alexander Bradley, while the prominent Allegheny gentlemen are Messrs. C. B. Shea, Joseph Horne and C. C. Scaife.

The respective sites to be occupied are being ennvassed. The Allegheny church will probably be located not very far from the West Parks, in order to be at a distance from the North Avenue M. E. Church, while the East End church will be doubtless built in the Nineteenth ward, to preserve a distance appear and point out what portions of the evidence they desired printed.

Mr. Brennen said that the evidence was all in. He did not know whether the other side had sent anyone to Washington. He would not express any opinion as to how the case would result.
