TESTERDAY'S ASSOCIATION GAMES.

To-morrow will be probably one of the greatest days, so far as sports are concerned, Decoration Days. It goes without saying, that there were never more, nor even as many, events tabulated to take place in Pittsburg on May 30.

Probably the most important is the 3-mile foot race between Peter Priody and Harry Darrin. The latter and his backers are no in the city. Darrin is probably one of the most likely fellows that ever lived to run a race of any distance and he has some New York "talent" here with him. Of course, Darrin is very confident, and he really thinks that he can defeat any American at mny distance from a half mile up to three or four miles. He is in good condition and if he defents Priddy to-morrow he will defeat a

The race will start between 11 and 19 o'clock. Darrin's backer last night would not agree on a referee, but they will likely decide on one to-day. Probably the most spicious people are those who are with Darrin-that is, they want to see everything Darrin—that is, they want to see everything in the way of the track, dressing rooms, drinking water, etc. Nothing can escape the eye of Mr. Kennedy. He remarked: "We know Pittsburgers are square, and we want to keep them so."

The races at Homewood to-morrow aftermoon will also draw quite a crowd of people, as a good card will be offered. Had it not be not the relief of the rel for the rain yesterday, which necessihave been necessary to have fixed up a pre-gramme for Decomition Day, but that threw them back a day and gives them an extra them back a day and gives them an extra list of races.

Besides the numerous trap shooting and other events among the sporting fraternity, the amateur people will have the biggest day they have ever ind in Pittsburg. The lead-ing events will be the collegiate field day at Recreation Park and the ball game at Expo-sition Park. The programme for the field day is a good one, and many of the contests will be decidedly interesting for the lovers of college athletics. The Allegheny Athletic Association ball team will make its first ap-pearance to-morrow, and they expect to do great work for amateurs, and green ones at that, having had little practice so far this season. There will also be a number of other ball games. The 'cyclers will make several runs into the country, and the lawn tennis clubs will have lots of private matches if no tour-

A BISHOP DENOUNCES DIVORCES.

But Nevertheless Assists His Daughter t Secure a Legal Decree. [SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH.]

New York, May 28 .- Interest in the matrimonial affairs of Corporation Counsel Jenks, of Brooklyn, was revived to-day by the publication of the official declaration by four leading Bishops of the Episcopal Church that the marriage of Mr. Jenks to Maud S. Littlejohn, his first wife, was "null and void from the beginning." The marriage was celebrated at Grace Church in Brooklyn on December 5, 1878, and was the fashionable event of that winter. Mr. Jenks was then a rising member of the bar and a great favorite in the clubs. The bride was the beautiful and accomplished daughter of Bishop Littlejohn. Mr. Jenks had long been devoted to Miss Littlejohn, and a year preceding their marriage he had traveled with her and other members of her family over a large portion of Europe. lication of the official declaration by four

riage he had traveled with her and other members of her family over a large portion of Europe.

For some time after their marriage Mr. Jenks and his wife made their home with Bishop Littlejohn, in his house in Remsen street, but they finally began housekeeping on their own account on the heights, and lived apparently in harmony until about three years ago, when a separation took place. Mrs. Jenks went to live at the Brooklyn Club. Although it soon became well known that the separation had taken place and that it would be permanent nothing was published about the matter until a few months ago, when Mrs. Jenks obtained an absolute divorce in Rhode Island. Abandonment and non-support were the only allegations made in the wife's complaint, and they were sustained by her own testimony and that of her father, Bishop Littlejohn, and two or three other witnesses. An interesting feature is that Bishop Littlejohn has always denounced divorces of all kinds.

MINERS THROW UP THE SPONGE.

The Federation Blames the Knights of La bor for the Eight-Hour Failure. New York, May 28 .- An address is soon to American Federation of Labor, signed by Samuel Gompers, P. J. McGuire, W. H. Carney, John B. Tennan and Chris Evans, directed to organized wage-workers of America. The address will open with this statement: "It becomes our painful duty to officially inform you what you undoubtedly already informally know, that the eight-hour demand of the coal miner is off."

The history of the miners' strike is then reviewed, and failure is charged to the Knights of Labor, to which the miners genemily belonged, on account of gradging support and almost open opposition to the strike. In the circular occurs this: "The first intimation that the miners' eight-hour movement was declared off was received by the council May I. The statement was withheld until now, so as not to injure the coke workers." American Federation of Labor, signed by

BEDLAM BREAKS LOOSE.

LEGISLATORS OF THE HOUSE JOIN IN A WILD JAMBOREE.

All Semblance of Order Thrown to the Four Winds-Two Blinking Owls Play a Part -The Fight Over Ballot Reform Comes to an End. HARRISBURG, May 28 .- The House was in Session nine hours, from 1 o'clock until 10 this forenoon, and behaved pretty well until about 2 o'clock. Then its exhuberant spirits could no longer be controlled, and found vent in manifestations which, had they been indulged in by schoolboys, would have re-Induged in by schoolboys, would have re-sulted in a sound trouncing all around. Paper balls were thrown; handsful of beans-rattled among the pendants on the chande-liers, while packs of firecrackers exploded in rattling fusillade on the very floor of the House, and giant crackers went off with a shock which almost jarred the few members who were in their seats out of them.

But the climax came when two large owls were brought in and perched upon the desks of Mr. Graham and Mr. Fow. The startled birds ruffled their feathers and blinked their dezeled eyes with an expression of grotesque surprise that was ludicrous in the extreme. It was a scene as ridiculous as it was out of place, but even those who were most shocked at it could not restrain their laughter.

Trying to Restore Order.

Trying to Restore Order.

Meanwhile, Mr. Burdick, and afterward Mr. Gillan, whom Speaker Thompson had called to the chair, pounded with the gavel until it seemed as though they must break the desk to splinters, and alternately im-plored and threatened. The sergeant at arms and his assistants were communded to the desk to splinters, and alternately implored and threatened. The sergeant at arms and his assistants were communded to arrest all offenders; but these discreet officials seemed to be always looking the other way when the act was being done, and no one was called before the bar of the House to receive the dread reprimand of the Chair. The monotonous roll calls on Senate bills went on. Members voted, but were not heard or perhaps were heard when they did not vote, then tried to vote and were objected to, or some one objected to their votes being counted because they had not voted. Bad blood was engendered as persons were cast upon the count. The bar of the House was thronged with angry, shouting, gesticulating Representatives, and altogether the celebrated monkey and parror time was had to a most "halcyon and vociferous" extent.

Just as the first red rays of morning lighted the hall Mr. Baker arose and called up the conference report on the ballot bill, and, for the first time in five long hours, there was perfect silence. Mr. Riter, who had dissented from the report, said that he could not vote for the bill. The duty of giving to the people an honest ballot reform bill had not been done. The twenty-seventh section removed all privacy from about the ballot, the public count had been stricken out and he must vote nay.

Baker Explains the Changes.

Mr. Baker took the floor and explained the Mr. Baker took the floor and explained the changes made in committee. They were not, he said, such as he had hoped for, but he had been long enough in the Legislature to know that all legislation was the result of compromise. This bill was the best that could be got this session and he hoped it would pass. Mr. Hays declared the bill a cumbrous one, affording no protection to the voter more than he now had, and he would vote against it. the voter more than he now had, and he would vote against it.

Just then Mr. Fow ran in from the Senate and said that there was no use bothering with the bill, as it had failed in the other branch, receiving only 24 votes, or two less than the required number. The House proceeded to vote, however, and the report was adopted, the vote standing 120 to 31. The yeas were evenly divided, 60 Republicans and 60 Democrats, while the 31 voting nay were Republicans. and 60 Democrats, while the 31 voting nay were Republicans.

In the Senate this forenoon the bill, which fell solely because a number of Senators favoring it were absent, was reconsidered and passed by a vote of 31 to 14. The Republicans divided even on the question, 14 voting each way. The 17 Democrats present voted yes, and the fight over ballot reform was at an end.

PASSED INTO HISTORY.

THE LEGISLATURE OF 1891 IS NO MORE A THING OF LIFE.

General Gobin Elected President Pro Terr of the Senate-Retiring President Penrose and Speaker Thompson Pleasantly Remembered_Other Tokens of Esteem Distributed.

HARRISBURG, May 28 .- Both Houses were thronged with spectators this forenoon at 11 o'clock, when the Legislature met in closing session. In the Senate George Handy Smith, in a neat speech, nominated General Gobin for President pro tem. Senator Hall presented Mr. Green as the Democratic candidate. Senator Gobin was elected by a Senator Gobin was elected by a party vote, except that each candidate voted for his opponent, and on being escorted to the chair, thanked the Senate, commented upon the important duties devolving upon legislators, and reviewed the work of the session. The oath of office was administered by Judge Simonton.

'The usual eulogistic resolution of thanks to the Lieutenant Governor, President protem, clerks and officers of the Senate were adopted, and Senator Herring, in a peculiarly pleasant little speech, presented Senator Penrose, of Philadelphia, the retiring President, with an elegant silver service, the gift renrose, or Philadelphia, the retiring Freshent, with an elegant silver service, the gift of his fellow Senators. Senator Penrose responded appropriately. The committee appointed to wait upon the Governor informed the Senate that His Excellency had no the Senate that His Excellency had no further communications to make, and the gavel fell finally.

In the House, Speaker Thompson called Captain Skinner to the chair and Mr. Ritter, the young Democratic leader, offered a resolution of thanks to the Speaker for his impartiality and courtesy in presiding over the deliberations of the House. Both he and Mr. Gillan spoke in the highest terms of Mr. Thompson's fairness, dignity and tact, and the resolution was adopted by a rising vote. Mr. Ritter, of Philadelphia, on behalf of the House, presented the Speaker with a magnificent silver dinner and tea set. Mr. Thompson, in a voice frequently broken by emotion, returned his thanks in eloquent language.

Mr. Morrison was given a cut glass service, Reading Clerk Rex a gold watch, and Resident Clerk Voothees, Journal Clerk Nicholls and Speaker's Clerk Huhn each received a purse containing a generous sum in gold. Mr. Fow tendered a resolution of thanks to the members of the press to whom Speaker Thompson also tendered his acknowledgement in his closing address, and a moon the gavel fell and announced that the House of 1891 had adjourned sine die.

HONORS FOR MR. FRUIT.

His Fellow Committeemen Bestow a Silver Set on the Chairman. HARRISBURG, May 28 .- The House Appropriations Committee, in addition to the vote of thanks tendered him before adjournment to-day for the faithful performance of his im-day for the faithful performance of his important duties, presented its Chairman, Hon. James S. Fruit, of Mercer county, with a handsome silver set. The presentation took place at a banquet at the Commonwealth Hotel after adjournment and was accompanied by many pleasant speeches and good wishes.

Mr. Fruit has shown himself one of the most efficient Chairmen this important committee has had for years. His business methods and good judgment are proved by the fact that scarcely a bill recommended by his committee failed of passage. It is generally conceded that the increase of $2.000,000 in the appropriations for common schools is largely due to the persistence with which Mr. Fruit urged that it be granted. When the State's financial officers unanimously insisted that the revenues would not admit of the increase, Mr. Fruit stack to his position, and its final adoption is mainly due to his efforts.

The Charter Bill Is Finally Allowed to Quietly Die by Its Friends. HARRISBURG, May 28 .- The Pittsburg charte bill was quietly dropped by its friends last night and did not become a law. TWO MORE FAILURES FOLLOW THE REST

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH.] PHILADELPHIA, May 28.—Select and Commo Councils this morning approved the sureties of Richard G. Oellers, whom they elected yesterday to be City Treasurer during the unexpired term of John Bardsley. This was not accomplished without overcoming obstacles by the Democratic members, who sought to delay ac-tion. The ordinance approving the surities has been signed by the Mayor. Mr. Oellers has now qualified, but the main question remains to be settled, and that is whether or not he is legally elected. W. Redwood Wright, the selection of the Gov-ernor, has accepted the office and the dispute will be carried into the courts at once. The next move in the matter of succession is expected to be an injunction asked for by the State to keep Oellers from taking charge of the Treasurer's office. This would probably be the first move to draw the lines of legal battle. Wright's attorneys are now making their case, and will be ready now making their case, and will be ready soon.

John Bardsley still continues under the watchful care of two of the city's detectives, and now that he is able to move about his room extra precautions have been taken to prevent any attempt to escape. The detectives keep him under constant surveillance, and several policemen are on duty on the outside of the house to prevent any move which might aid him to escape.

A Preliminary Hawking To Day. A Preliminary Hearing To-Day.

It is expected that Mr. Bardsley will be ible to appear at the hearing before Magistrate Pole at the City Hall to-morrow. No sensational developments are expected at this hearing. The three charges against the sensational developments are expected at this hearing. The three charges against the dishonest official will be briefly outlined by the city and State authorities, and Bardsley's counsel will made no defense. The bail will then be fixed at $25,000 in each case, and before to-morrow night "Honest" John will be safely immured in Moyamensing Prison. Frank W. Kennedy, President, and Harry H. Kennedy, Cashier, of the Spring Garden Bank, were arrested this morning on a warrant sworn out by Bank Examiner Drew. President Kennedy was charged with the embezzlement of $100,000 and conspiracy to cheat and defraud. Cashier Kennedy was charged with falsifying the reports to the Controller of the Currency. The Kennedys presented themselves before United States Commissioner Bell shortly before noon for a hearing. Both were accompanied by counsel. Messrs. Dallas and Crawford appeared for Francis W. Kennedy and R. P. White and Thomas W. Barlow represented Henry H. Kennedy. The warrants for their arrest were issued late last night by Commissioner Bell at the direction of United States District Attorney John B. Read. Both warrants were issued upon the affidavits of Bank Examiner Drew and were placed in the hands of Deputy Marshal Maple last night.

From the few developments that took place to-day in the affairs of the Spring Garden Bank, it is evident that when the full story of the bank's management is told,
it will fairly rival that of the looted Keystone Bank. Receiver Fisher said to-day that the further he examined into the bank's affairs, the blacker the outlook became for the depositors. It is said that much of the collatteral held by the institution is of a most dublous character, being one-name paper, the stock of companies that are more or less embarrassed, and such like. A member of the depositors' investigating committee, that is investigating the bank's affairs, said to-night that among the collateral of the bank were two notees, one for $50,000 and the other for $20,000, that are drawn by a person who has no existence.

Forced Into an Assignment. The suspension of the Spring Garden Bank has been far reaching in its effects, and many business houses have been seriously crippled by it. Yesterday the American Machine Company was forced to assign by reason of the bank failure, and to-day the Millward-Cliff Cracker Company made an assignment from the same cause.

The Millward-Cliff Company is a stock company, and in an investigation of its affairs, it was discovered that Frank Benton, the treasurer, had given accommodation notes to the extent of $50,000 to Francis W. Kennedy, President of the Spring Garden Bank. When this was discovered the officers of the company decided to make an assignment to protect their creditors, pending a thorough investigation. The company has a paid-in capital of $125,000 and assets thought to be $50,000 in excess of its liabilities.

FINANCES OF THE STATE.

Treasurer Boyer Issues a Statement of Their Present Condition. HARRISBURG, May 28.—State Treasurer Boyer made public to-day his statement of the condition of the State's finances. It shows that at the close of business yesterday the cash balance in banks to the credit of the Commonwealth was $5,550,862 13, of which $2,540,404 20 belongs to the general fund, and $3,010,457 36 to the sinking fund.

fund, and $3,010,457 36 to the sinking fund. These moneys are in substantial banks, and, excepting in very few cases, secured by the bonds of responsible sureties, and in these few cases it is the intention of the Treasurer to call for bonds.

The assets of the sinking fund consist of $3,325,000 in United States bonds and $1,800,000 in Allegheny Valley Railroad bonds, and are in the vaults of the Common wealth Trust Company. The former can only be negotiated by the joint action of the sinking fund commissioners, certified to by the Governor, and the latter could not be negotiated without an enabling act of the Assembly. The $1,634,711 43 of direct tax funds is deposited with the Farmers and Mechanics Bank of Philadelphia, the fiscal agents of the State.

She will go to Philadelphia to-day and begin civil and probably criminal proceedings against all persons interested in having her incarcerated, without "due process of law," in the Pennsylvania asylum. Miss Dickinson said that her sister would not be included among the persons who would be sued. She had, she continued, passed the stage when indignation over the outrage perpetuated upon her was uppermost.

COLUMBUS, May 28.—The State Board of Health is asking information from the towns along the Ohio river, under a resolution of the last Legislature, to provide against the pollution of the water. The question is one which will require an inter-State agreement between Ohio, Pennsylvania and West Virginia, and the investigation for statistics in regard to the water supply will likely result in a recommendation to the Legislature for joint action.

A special telegram from Washington says:

box this morning when one of the bailiffs discovered a piece of paper in the sleeping room of Juror W. J. Behm, on which he writes to the effect that W. J. Elliott will be hanged by the neck till dead, etc.

Behm was brought before the court and subjected to a long and critical examination, and had no excuse for writing the sentiment on the paper. He was fined and committed to jail, besides being disposed of as a juror. Later in the day J. T. Mclivaine, another who had been accepted as a juror, was brought before the court to answer to an expression which he had made to another member of the jury to the effect that he was on the jury now and he would get even with the Prosecuting Attorney, who had done him an injustice. He was released from the jury. forced the third party idea.

It was admitted at the time that a failure of the Columbus convention to indorse the work done at Cincinnati would give the third party element a decided setback all over the country. P. P. Elders, Speaker of the last Kansas House of Representatives, Chairman of the Union Labor Central Committee and Chairman of the National People's Party Committee, in an interview at Ottowa to-day said: Surprised at the Buckeyes.

His animosity against the Prosecutor developed to be that he had secured the indictment of a man for arson in burning his barn, and after the case had run along for a time it was notled by the Prosecutor. It develops on examination that McIlvaine is not mentally believed. "The action of the Columbus Convention is a surprise, and plainly shows manipula-tion on the part of the McKinleyites. Kansas will not be disturbed by it, and the party nationally cannot be injured by the work of one State. Ohio is as certain to put an inde-pendent ticket in the field as the People's party is to nominate a candidate for Presi-dent." tally balanced, but this was not discovered in the original examination as to his quali dent."

W. F. Rightmire, National Secretary of the Citizens' Industrial Alliance, said that the refusal of the Columbus Convention to indorse the work done at Cincinnati would have no effect whatever on the People's party in this State or elsewhere.

"The element which controlled in Cincinnati," said he, "will nominate a ticket anyhow. The third party men understand each other."

PRINCETON, IND., May 28.—The General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church met at 9 o'clock this morning. After the usual opening services Rev. William G. Reid, D. D., of Pittsburg, was elected principal clerk for the fifth term of four years.

Rev. A. C. Wallace, D. D., Sewickley, Pa., was elected second clerk for the sixth term of four years. The morning session was occupied in presenting memorials and reports. The managers of the Xenia Theological Seminary asked a change in the distribution of the Speen estate, of Pittsburg. The Fourth Church, of Allegheny, asked for special missions among our foreign population. The Kansas City Presbytery asked for measures for a union of psalm-singing churches. Two or three presbyteries asked that the assembly issue a call for thanksgiving, recognizing the Lord Jesus Christ.

ter what his church might do, but the contemplated action would put Drs. Hall, Booth, White and Elders Dodge, Brown and others in a bad box. Charles Butler has nursed Dr. Briggs and loved him from his boyhood, and has done for him what he always contemplated. Dr. Briggs was elected informally, and probably not by a constitutional majority. Charles Butler suggested the subject of the famous inaugural. The question is, can we trust the trustees of Union Seminary one year? The committee defines the compact without conference with the other party. Dr. Dickey pledged himself to do all in his power to bring about a fall, fair reconsideration of the whole subject if the Assembly would postpone final action until next year.

The Barren Fig Tree.

With regard to Briggs as to the barren fig tree, Dr. Dudley pleas for the former as a client for the latter. Let it alone this year also, and we will dig about it, and if it bear fruit, well, and if not, then cut it down. Dr. Francis, of Cincinnati, wanted to pitch into Dr. Smith, but the Moderator held him down to Logan's amendment. He said Smith and Evans each spoke two hours on the subject in the Cincinnati Presbytery and saddened their hearts. Another attempt was made to hold Dr. Francis to the amend-was made to hold Dr. Francis to the amendment, but he continued to say what he wished, and he urged the Assembly to take immediate action.

A vote of 8t to 17 was the Cincinnati Presbytery's answer to Dr. Smith's speech. Dr. Bartlett was in favor of immediate action, as it would end the charge of ignorance and imbeclitty on the whole church. The higher critics hold that others are fools and ignorant. Briggs gets all his views from an old German Rationalist, a professor of 30 years ago. Strauss stripped Moses to pieces, and there is scholarship and scholarship. This is talking about wonderful secrets in the charlatanism of scholarship. Trot Out the Facts.

If these higher critics have big facts, let them trot them out. There are 710 or 800 views as to the Pentateuch, but Briggs has no right to fix the stamp of his authority on any one theory. Higher criticism has shown that Shakespeare did not write Shakespeare and that Homer did not write Homer, but other men of the same names. This is not an age of heresy hunting, but the heretics have been hurting the church, and Briggs has culminated the hunt in his inaugural ad-

_The fuss has been made by the heritics. The fuss has been made by the heritics. We have had plagues enough, and we say to these fellows: "Go, and take all your intimate friends with you," said Bartlett. He was a Union Seminary man under Robinson, Smith, Hitchcock and Skinner, and has always been a radical, but he draws the line on this old heresy, which he has known for 30 years, brought over here from Germany. Let subordinate things be relegated to the rearand the preaching of Christ be emphasized. other."

J. B. French, Secretary of the Farmers' Alliance, and other Alliance leaders expressed similar views. The Republican leaders are delighted and declare that the

> No Reflection on Briggs. To veto the election of Dr. Briggs is no more reflection upon the director than upon himself. Electing Dr. Briggs in good faith, the directors cannot be held responsible for his subsequent utterances. The committee

"an unmeasured and at this time an unmeasureable quantity. I have no doubt that there will be a third party organized in the State and that they will put a full ticket in the field. What it will result in no one knows. This movement is very attractive to our agriculturists, and you cannot tell how many of them will be captured by it."

"Do you think the movement is important enough to make the result of the election doubtful?"

"Yes—rather; I would not answer just that way. If there were no third party movement there would be no doubt about Mc-Kinley's election by a large majority. The third party movement puts that element of doubt into the question which the throwing of any unknown quantity would. As I say, the doctrines of the alliance are very attractive to the farmers. In strong Democratic districts the Democrats will be the novement, and in Republican districts the Republicans will be the losers. What the thing will sum up in the aggregate is doubtful." his subsequent utterances. The committee holds that the constitutional right to veto the transfer of a professor is granted in the right to veto an original election. The supreme judiciary of the church cannot shirk the responsibility of construing the compact, while at the same time being one party to the compact.

Union Seminary can carry the case to the civil court if they are dissatisfied with the Assembly verdict; therefore, it is proposed to appoint a committee of conference. This committee will be generously met, and can say the Assembly did not dare to surrender any of the rights they thought they had, and that they had come to talk over the whole subject. Either party may confess the other is right, as all things are possible. The Assembly has a right to veto, and that right lasts only for this Assembly.

"It seems very singular to me," continued Dr. Patton, "to play the role of an advocate of freedom, but that I am, and I am utterly unwilling that the threat of a veto should be held over a professor a dozen years.

Dangers of a Veto.

"To vetoor not to veto? that's the question

If the Assembly veto under the terms of the compact it must veto in the terms of the comcompact it must veto in the terms of the compact. There is a responsibility on the Assembly to disapprove, so that not to act would be to make the Assembly particeps criminis. The Presbyteries' overtures and the Union Seminary report bring the Assembly face to face with the issue.

"It is not a question of how much disturbance the veto may produce in the Church, but of doing our duty in the sight of God. No reasons should be given for the veto, as it would be wrong to parade idioxyneracies (SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH.)
COLUMBES, May 28—Musical circles were greatly excited over the mysterious disap-pearance of Henry Lippert Monday evening. No reasons should be given for the veto, as it would be wrong to parade idiosyncracies which may even go with a man into the middle state, or to name heresies, which would be used against the offender. After Dr. Briggs' trial in Presbytery the case will surely go to the Synod and then come to the Assembly, when all reasons will be considered. and his body secreted.

There are no tangible reasons why he should have left home or the city.

Assembly, when all reasons will be considered.

"The Assembly must act in the light it has, which is that the position of Dr. Briggs in the sphere of dogmatic theology has caused over 60 presbyteries to overture the Assembly. Practically arraigned for heresy by his presbytery surely the Assembly ought to withhold approval of his election." Dr. Patton admired Martineau in many ways, but this Unitarian philosophy has been illustrating the descensus averni all his life and is now at the lowest point, having abnegated practically the fundamental truths of the Christian faith. Progressive sanetification ought not tobe taught in Presbyterian seminaries. Briggs' best friends do not understand him on this question, and therefore he ought to be vetoed. The report holds out the olive branch. Not to veto is to put Presbyterianism upon the broad church comprehension platform.

Death of Judge Breckinridge.

Death of Judge Breckinridge. Judge Breckinridge, of St. Louis, discussed with masterly ability the legal aspect of the question. He quoted the official action already published giving the Assembly the right of veto, and giving a historic sketch right of veto, and giving a historic sketch thereof. The right of approval of the election of a Union Seminary professor did not exist, but only the right of disapproval. There is no power to delay, as the right to exercise this function ends with the dissolution of the Assembly.

The speaker was confident the Assembly would veto the election of Dr. Briggs. His last words were: "I have discharged my duty." His voice trembled and he fell backwards, from a stroke of apoplexy, his head striking the platform hard, and in a few moments he was dead.

The unexpected scene produced a profound impression upon the Assembly, and it was at once resolved to adjourn until tomorrow morning and postpone the banquet for which full arrangements had been made. Drs. Hays, Patton, Dickey, Smith, Vermilye, and Elders Junkin, Colonel McCook and Humphrey were appointed a committee to prepare suitable minutes and make arrangements for the funeral. Ex-General Alger at once offered his private car to bear the body and the committee to St. Louis.

Dr. Green read the Ninetieth Psalm and the Assembly engaged in devotional services.

His Distinguished Ancestry.

Dr. Erskine told Judge Breckinridge's distinguished ancestry. He was the son of the great Rev. Dr. J. V. Breckinridge, who was the brother of the equally noted and greatly esteemed William and Robert. His mother was a daughter of the beloved Prof. Samuel Miller, of Princeton, afterward an honored secretary of one of our boards in Philadel phia, where he had a notable discussion with Archbishop Hughes. His sudden death reminded Dr. Erskine of that of Secretary Windom, who was also a faithful Christian man.

Windom, who was also a faithful Christian man.

Dr. Logan, of Scranton, said that the Judge had been a warm friend of the work among the freedmen when it had few friends. There was no opportunity to see the remains and after announcing that there would be a prayer meeting in Fort Street Church at 8 o'clock this evening, the meeting closed with a prayer by the Moderator. Many will recall the similar sudden death of ex-Governor Washburne, at the great meeting of the American Board at Springfield, Mass., which so greatly softened the heated discussion which there, as here, was going on over doctrinal matters.

DEATH CALLS A HALT. TO SAVE THE SEALS

Premier Salisbury Has Given His Consent to a Closed Season.

A MEASURE UP IN PARLIAMENT.

The American Company Will Hurry the Slaughter Until It Passes.

CANADIANS MAY REFUSE TO CONCUR

FROM A STAFF CORRESPONDENT. Washington, May 28.—The news from London this evening that British sealers would be promptly prohibited by act of Parliament from taking seals in Alaskan waters until an understanding could be reached between Great Britain and the United States, caused great concern among the persons interested satisfaction to everybody else.

The hope of the American Company now is that they can make a fine catch of seals before Parliament can complete the enactment, and further, that the Canadian poachers may refuse to obey, in which case the American Company would, of course, be allowed to proceed with the taking of seals. It is calculated by the friends of the company that at least a week will elapse before the prohibitory act can pass Parliament, Ten or 15 days more will pass before the sealers, already at work, can be informed of the agreement between the two countries. Going to Hurry the Slaughter,

By that time a large catch will have been nade, possibly the half of the limit of 60,000, as the sealing season lasts only about two months, which period is sufficient for to take 60,000 seals. Perhaps the most interesting phase of the whole matter is the manner in which Canada will receive this act of the parent Parliament. Persons here who are well informed in Canadian affairs, hazard the opinion that such an act on the part of the Central Government will snap the slender thread that holds its North Amerislender thread that holds its North American possessions.

Lord Salisbury has constantly maintained that the Bering Sea is an open sea, and the Canadian sealers have gone there with the understanding that they had protection under that theory. It is thought to be questionably, therefore, whether the 49 Canadian sealing vessels now in Alaskan waters will obey these commands of the British Government unless forced at the mouth of the cannon. If so, the American and British vessels combined, six all told, would be wholly inadequate to cope with the 49 sealers.

This Is None of Our Affair. This Is None of Our Affair.

This aside, the contemplated action of the British Parliament will, it is asserted, have a vital effect on the relations of the home

Government and its American colonies. The President is not troubling himself about this, however. His sole anxiety in the matter is that the British Government shall act as quickly as possible, when the revenue cutter Corwin, now awaiting offers at San Francisco will at once be dispatched to Alaskan waters to carry the news and assist to stop all sealing until the vexing question is settled.

It is understood the Secretary of the Navy reported that there are three naval vessels that could be prepared for this service without much delay. The news of Mr. Goschen's action was received with satisfaction at the State Department. Generally it is taken as an indication that the British Government is preparing to accept the condition imposed by the President as a preliminary to arbitration and cause the British vessels to refrain from sealing meantime. The fixed period for the cessation of sealing referred to by Mr. Goschen probably means the remainder of this season. During this time the arbitrators (for it is to be presumed that the British Government's action carries with it an acceptance of the terms of arbitration held out by the President during the correspondence) will have an opportunity to reach an agreement,
