SINGING AT THE PARK. Prospects of Having the May Festival

Chorus at the Fourth of July Celebration-Over Twenty-Three Hundred Doi-lars Now in the Fund.

The latest feature suggested for the big Fourth of July celebration is to have the May Festival chorus present to intersperse the speeches with national airs. Prof. Carl Retter, the leader, has stated his willingness to have the chorus out at Schenley Park, but thinks $200 or $300 would be necessary to cover the expenses. The Mayor thinks the feature an excellent one, but doubts whether enough money could be spared to pay for it. He will have a conference with Mr. Retter this morning about the matter.

Bad Environments and Low Wages the Al-

Rev. B. F. DeCosta, D. D., of New York who is the head of the White Cross Society, last night honored with his presence the first anniversary of the founding of Bethesda. Home. The celebration was held at the Smithfield Street M. E. Church and though the attendance was small Doctor De-Costa's address on the purification of the social atmosphere kept up an intense in-terest.

The report showed that 73 women have been in the Home during the year. Twenty-five of them were placed in situa-tions, 21 returned to their families, 12 were sent to other institutions, 9 left of their own accord and 6 are still inmates of the Home sent to other institutions, y left of their own accord and 6 are still immates of the Home. Only five of the cases were considered hopeless. During the year $6,267 were received and $6,219 were expended. Of this amount $6,234 was for property, but there is still a mortrage on the Home for $1,250.

Rev. J. H. Frugh, President of the Bethesda Home, introduced Dr. DeCosta. He spoke of the work which he claimed was the outcome of a social wave headed by the White Cross League. He congratulated the management on being more successful even than the directors of the New York Midnight Mission, in that the Bethesda had a showing of 58 rescued women out of 73. In New York only 48 were reclaimed out of 145. Then the minister continued:

"There is something wrong in society. I say society is a fraud, conspiracy of the strong against the weak. Evolution claims that man as he is to-day is a survival of the fittest. Society to-day, being the conspiracy that it is, is a survival of the fittest. Society to-day, being the conspiracy that it is, is a survival of the fittest. Society to-day, being the conspiracy that it is, is a survival of the fittest, I mean a sacrifice of the weak for the strong. Go into a diamond polisher's place and see the diamond being polished by a white powder made of poorer weaker diamonds being placed on a wheel. Like a diamond one portion of society is being ground up that the other may be more resplendent. It is a case of diamond cut diamond and the diamond that is cut up and ground to polish the other is just as good and resplendent as the other. One of the results of this society at large. The question is, shall present evils continue with your consent?"

A woman's voice here cried out, "Reform the politician."

The Doctor replied, "We'll do that," and then proceeded to show how poverty drives young girls from paths of rectitude. He believed the two great sources of evil were bad environments and low wages. Men and women he believed should be held equally accountable for their actions. He then nade Only five of the cases were considered hope

June 6. For the twelfth annual reunion of the A. A President Weihe's Address This Morning. The annual address of President Weihe will be the first thing on the programme this morning after the permanent organization has been formed. In this the chief executive of the organization will review the work of the official year now closing. The work of the organization will review the work of the official year now closing. The record made by the association is one of progress, and one which sustains the good name of the organization. Under President Weihe's management, particularly, with the aid of his vice presidents and deputies, the affairs of the organization have progressed steadily and upward. Peace and good feeling have prevailed generally. Seventy-seven sub-lodges were added during the year, which gives an increase in membership of from $000 to 1000. The financial condition, according to the statement recently sent out, shows a decided increase in the treasury.

An important matter to be considered this year is a proposition to meet triennially. Sub-lodges very truthfully urge that they will save money by this plan. Over 200 of the 325 delegates are here from a distance and pay on an average of $2 a day for hotel expenses alone. The sessions usually last about 25 days. On this basis the actual hotel expenses of the delegates foots up a total of $10,000, which must be met by the sub-lodges. To this is added railroad fare and other expenses.

The matter of introducing the roll turners' penses.

The matter of introducing the roll turners scale will also be considered this year.

New Building Proposed

Pipe Manufacturers to Meet.

The Amalgamated Association began its Sixteenth annual session in Turner Hall yesterday morning. The day was spent in disposing of routine matters, and after the permanent organization is formed this morning the convention will get down to business. The most noticeable feature about the convention this year is the large increase in delegates and the remarkable change in its make-up. Two years ago there were not more than 200 members; las year 260, and when the roll is called thi Industrial Notes

He will have a conference with Mr. Retter this morning about the matter.

"The idea is a decidedly good one," said Mayor Gourleyyesterday. "Nothing would be more of a drawing power than a trained chorus of several hundred voices to sing between the speeches. People object to standing about listening to one long address after another without any break. By having pienty of good singing we could do with less speakers, and a great many more people would attend. If we can come to an agreement with Prof. Retter I will be heartily in favor of having the chorus. I think we might spare $100 to cover their expenses, but more than that would be doubtful, unless the subscriptions take a wonderful boom.

"If we succeed in making the arrangement about the chorus Chief Bigelow will enlarge his plans for the speaking platform in order to accommodate the singers. We expect to have most of the children from the public, parochial and private schools present, and children are all fond of music."

The Fourth of July fund received quite a boom in the way of subscriptions yesterday, as follows: Eckhard Reineman $25; Chronicle Thiegraph, $30; Pittsburg Leader, $25; Volksbiatt Publishing Company, $10; Charles P. There never was such a sprinkling of young men in the convention, which is said to indicate that it has become necessary to get "young blood" into the national lodge. The delegates are an intelligent lot of men, and the membership at large will look for good work from this year's convention. Among the most prominent delegates are Vice Presidents William A. Carney, John P. Sheehan, Harry Hocking Ress W. are vice Presidents William A. Carney, John P. Sheehan, Harry Hocking. Rees W. Prosser, J. D. Hickey, William Whiteman, P. H. With the cash subscribed on the Mayor's book, but not paid, the fund will now reach $2,500. Added to this the $500 promised last year by C. L. Magee, and $250 promised a couple of weeks ago by Colonei Elkins for the Pittsburg Traction Company, will leave less than $1,800 yet to be collected to make up the $5,000 required for the demonstration. A number of street railways have promised to subscribe, but for some reason have not yet sent in their contributions.

Probably the most notable absentee is James H. Nutt, who was one of the trustees last year. He has been elected to a municipal office at Youngstown, and has retired from the association entirely. He will be missed in the organization, as he has been prominently connected with it in an official capacity for quite a number of years. There is some quiet talk indulged in among the delegates that an offer will be made to Mr. Nutt with a view to bringing him back into the association. It is understood that President Weihe is thinking of retiring, but a prospective increase in his salary will probably retain him. Members of the association seem to recognize that there is a demand in other fields for their good men, and as a consequence they must take steps. J hold them. A proposition was to have been made to regain the services of William Martin, but the salary in his new position is such as to preclude any such move now. The representation from the Pittsburg mills as compared with that from other places will be reduced this year. Formerly Pittsburg furnished nearly half the delegates, but this year it will scarcely be able to supply more than one-third. The following are the numbers each mill has sent: Jones & Laughlins, 15, Republic, 5, Chess, Cook & Co., 2, Oliver Bros. & Phillips (three mills), & A. M. Byers & Co., 2, Phillips, Nimick & Co., 2, the Clinton Mill, 1; L. Painter's Sons, & J. W. He said people were frightened because so much gold was going out of the country, but it would come back later, as the European crops are reported a failure, and they will have to buy breadstuffs from America. The iron business continues to be dull.

The carpenters of McKeesport, Duquesne, Dravosburg, Homestead, Braddock and Monongahela are considering the matter of combining to erect a large hall in the former city. Local union No. 177 has the matter in charge, and the total number of members interested in the affair will reach about 750. They propose to form a joint company.

The Wrought Iron Pipe Manufacturers of the United States will meet here to-day for the purpose of discussing prices. It is thought there will be an advance. About all the members will be here.

Father Mollinger's visitors spend a very pleasant time, and get more good out of life while receiving treatment at his hands than they do at other times.

Much has been written about Father Mollinger and his treatment of epilepsy, rheumatism, neuralgia, lameness, blindness and chronic diseases in general that has cast more or less of doubt on the lonesty of the reverend gentleman's cures. lt may be stated at the outset that there is nothing at all of the miraculous about his treatment. He diagnoses each case with as much care as any physician, and his pre-scriptions are as intelligently written as

For example, in one house there is a young lad who went there nine days ago, suifering from absolute blindness brought on by fever. He conformed to all the regulations, and Father Mollinger deemed it necessary he should remain longer. The usual course is to continue the medical treatment at home, but this case Father Mollinger wished to see to the end. Yesterday the lad could see as perfectly, he declared, "as you can,"

These, as stated, are distinctive for Catholics and Protestants, but they possess for both the necessary element of firm belief and a strong conviction in the efficacy of the treatment. No case has been known where the treatment has failed to afford, at least, very great relief, and many surprising cases of cure are recorded. The reporter spoke with a man last night who had been suffering from kidney disease for many years. He had tried three first-class physicians without effect, and at last made up his mind to see Father Mollinger. He assuredTux Disparch reporter that he was already beginning to find benefit, though the treatment had but just commenced.

He objected strongly to statements which have been printed purporting to be reports of ceremonies and alleged cases of cures, in which the reverend gentleman claimed he was placed in a very false light before the public. He also deprocated the statements made regarding his health, and to the effect that he was far from well. Certainly, Father Mollinger now looks as if he had still a firm hold on life, and likely to retain it.

they might run a little short next year, but it wouldn't embarrass anybody. The Mo-Kinley bill knocked off $69,000,000, or $200,000 daily of a tax on sugar, and this will leave a big hole in the revenues.

He stated also that if Blaine were a candidate for the Presidency, he would receive a great many votes in the South, but hardly enough to guarantee him the delegations. He can have Pennsylvania any time, and he could easily secure Minnesota, Wisconsin and any other Western State. His reciprocity scheme has greatly pleased the Western farmers. Yesterday Father Mollinger had a very weary day. He saw people all day up to 5 o'clock, and when the druggist's wagon ar-rived on the hill last night it contained medi-cine for nearly 100 patients. A case was related last night of a Protestant woman whom the reverend gentleman had cured of an allment. Ke desired her to perform certain religious exercises for a certain period. She returned after an interval to be again treated, but when she admitted having omitted the performance of the duty imposed upon her, Father Mollinger would not see her. The wire nail men held a short meeting at the Duquesne yesterday morning. Mr. Baackes, of Cleveland, said they reaffirmed old rates, and decided to continue to sell nails for nothing. The business is very dull, and it is generally admitted there are too many nail mills in the country for the market.

Among the manufacturers present were S. H. Chisolim, M. Baackes and O. G. Kent, Cleveland; E. J. Buffington, Anderson, Ind.; John F. Hazen, Cincinnati, and John W. Cooper, Detroit.

He put over 2,000,000 shad in Bear Lake out there, and he thinks in three years' time tourists will have great sport in catching them. He lost 5 per cent of the eggs in transportation. It was colder than he expected to find it, and the water of the lake was down to 42°. It appears cold weather will not hurt fish.

James Sims Shoots Himself From Disappointment in Love. POLICE BUSINESS OF THE TWO CITIES

no longer any doubt of the success of the Pitts-burg Traction Company's scheme for embar-rassing its rival, as the most casual observer might have seen yesterday. The Fifth ave-nue cars were running with full loads, while the Duquesne vehicles were comparatively empty. Mrs. Nancy Hogan, colored, 63 years old, died at her home, No. 9 Townsend street, late yesterday afternoon. Her death was of a suspicious nature and the case was reported to Coroner McDowell, who at once went to the house, impaneled a jury and began the inquest. As a result of the inquiry, Lucy Hogan, daughter-in-law of the dead woman, was locked up in Central station last night. The deceased was the wife of Clay Hogan, nue cars were running with full loads, while the Duquesne vehicles were comparatively empty.

"Carrying as many people as when you first started?" was asked a conductor on the Duquesne road, yesterday.

"Not one-half as many to-day as then," was replied; "many people traveled because it was a novelty, and many who would be regular customers on this line are attracted to the Fifth avenue line by the cheap fare."

A conductor on the Fifth avenue line remarked that he had taken $10 more in fares yesterday than he had ever before. The money-takers were experiencing no difficulty in making change. The slips of five tickets for lb cents were bought up readily, and a feature in this connection will be that the conductors can collect the fares in less time, because they have less change to make. The afternoon and early evening cars on this road were lammed to excess.

How the Duquesne people propose to get even with their rivals can be little more than conjectured. It is said, though, that it will be in the matter of speed, and that a power house will be built on Soho Hill with this object. In this relation General Manager Rice was seen yesterday. He was averse to saying anything at all on the subject, although claiming that the Duquesne was very busy, but replied to a few queries. Regarding the question of the Thomson-Houston motor, Mr. Rice said the company was not contemplating making any competitive test to ascertain which motor was the best. Mr. Rice further said that he could not say what might not be done in this matter, after the test now being The deceased was the wife of Clay Hogan, a well-known colored man. They had three daughters and three sons. One of the latter is Clay Hogan, Jr., who was recently married and occupied the lower floor of the house. Last Friday afternoon Clay and his wife, Lucy, got to fighting. The old lady, hearing the disturbance, went down stairs and tried to stop the flass. She was attacked by both and cried for help to her other two sons and married daughter, Mrs. Susan Love, who were up stairs. The latter came down first. As she entered the room she saw her mother fall and heard her say: "You have kicked me in the stomach."

The three led the old lady up stairs. On the way up she said:

"Lucy kicked me three times."

Then she fainted away. Physicians were called, but could do little to relieve her sufferings. She grew steadily worse until she died yesterday afternoon. The Coroner ordered an autopsy to be held and also the arrest of Lucy Hogan. Detective Robinson was given charge of the case and had the woman locked up.

Clay Hogan, Jr., after seeing how seriously his mother was injured, fled from the house and was not seen after that by his people. Sunday afternoon a speak-easy run by Robert Gibbons at No. 5 Cassett street was raided by some of Inspector McAleese's men. Clay was found there and locked up. The next morning Magistrate McKenna sent him to the workhouse for 60 days on a charge of visiting a disorderly house.

The Coroner will continue his inquest at 10 o'clock this morning, and if the evidence proves sufficiently strong Clay will be brought from the workhouse to answer a more serious charge.

any competitive test to ascertain which motor was the best. Mr. Rice further said that he could not say what might not be done in this matter, after the test now being made with the Thomson-Houston motor was finished. He said the company was not tied to this motor. He denied that any preparations for a test between two cars of the same height, fornished with a Thomson-Houston and Westinghouse motor, were being made. In electrical circles the opinion prevails that the Duquesne road has a big white elephant on its hands in its new motors. They are of the "double reduction" pattern, and this type has been discarded in constructing new lines in favor of the "single reduction" motor, which has one gear, one pinion less than the other, and no intermediate shaft. This type is now being made by the other companies, and no double reduction machines are longer thought of. The Duquesne is understood to have invested $250,000 in the motors, and the next effort will be to make them as serviceable as possible.

Last Saturday Sims resigned a position with the Sewickley Dairy Company with no apparent reason. He then went to his home, No. 18 Pride, and told his mother he was going to leave, but would answer no further questions. Early yesterday morning he had packed his trunk, and, saying he would send a wagon for it, left the house with a value in his hand. He made his way down to where Miss McDermott works and called her out. The young lady came down the stairs and talked with him on the pavement. Sims wanted her to clope with him to Cumberland and be married. She laughingly declined, thinking he was joking. She then started up stairs to go work again, when he called her back and urged her once more to marry him, saying he would kill himself if she did not. She told him she would answer him after she was through work and started away again.

The girl had scarcely gotten away when Sims pulled a revolver from his pocket and fired a ball into his breast. He fell to the asked her to marry him. TWO TOO WISE DETECTIVES. Wealthy Nail Man From Clevela Taken for a Counterfeiter. S. H. Chisholm, a wealthy wire nail manu facturer of Cleveland, had the laugh on two detectives from the Gilkinson agency last evening. Mr. Chisholm was stopping at the Duquesne and gave Clerk Douglas two new $5 bills to get tickets on the Lake Erie to Cleveland. A boy from the Holmos messenger service was called, and he came back after awhile unable to buy the tickets until 830 in the evening. He was told to keep the money and get them at that time. In a short time afterward two detectives marched into the hotel, and said the bills were counterfeit. Their card was sent to Mr. Chisholm, and he sent back word that he was tired, and would see them in a few hours. This made them angry, and they insisted upon Mr. Chisholm going to the Central station.

The nail man went and laid down about $500 of the new notes. The detectives had never seen so much money before, it was defacturer of Cleveland, had the laugh on two evening returning to Washington.
