MISCELLANEOUS INDUSTRIAL ITEMS

The second day's session of the Amalgaated Association was of a character that indicates the kind of stuff the new delegates are made of. The first tilt occurred yesterday morning over the report of the Credential Committee. It was charged by some of the delegates that President Weihe's adverse opinion regarding an advance in the boiling scale prompted him to appoint a committee that would favor those delegates being admitted who were in favor of retaining the present scale. The discussion waxed warm and it was with difficulty that the presiding officer finally re-

As the charge reflected on President Weihe's official character he was asked last night for a statement regarding the matter. He denied that he had any thought of the scale when appointing the committee. "There are certain qualifications which a man must possess," said he, "before he is eligible to be elected representative to the conventions. There were four contests. Two of these did not come up to the requirements and they were referred back to their subordinate lodges for further in-

An attempt is being made this year to bury the proceedings of the convention from the public, as the following report of yesterday's seasion given out by the officials

The Brief Official Report.

The first thing done was to hear the report of the committee on contested seats. the address of welcome was then delivered by Vice President Carney and responded to by President Weihe, who afterward read a portion of his report. The Wage Commit-

President Weihe gave this report out As previously stated, it was learned on other sources that the wrangle over contested seats had occurred, and it was arly noon when Vice President William Carney, of the First district, delivered his address of welcome. Mr. Carney is also First Vice President of the American Federon of Labor, to which the Amalgamated sociation is attached, having been elected to fill the vacancy made by William Martin when the latter resigned. He is a fluent alker and his address yesterday was a haracteristic one. He complimented the intion on its rapid growth during the year, particularly in the South and Vest and counseled careful and conservaive action in the deliberation of the present session. Vaguely referring to the scale for the next year, Mr. Carney said: "Let us be Bear in mind that while for the benefit ourselves and or must not lose sight of the fact that we owe a duty to the commerce of this great country. The interests of the manufacturers interests and we must therefore not to injure ourselves by injur-He welcomed the delegates to Weihe's Report on Trade. The annual report of President Weihe was next called for. The portion of it relating to the condition of trade was all that he read, as it is the custom to hear and se of the Wage Committee's report be-bearing the officers' reports. But in bearing the officers' reports. Weihe repeated his advice of last year, after reviewing the con-dition of the iron market, brought about argely through the stringency of the money market, and gave as his judgment that the senle should be allowed to remain as it is, But while he did this, he counseled the delegates not to consider themselves bound by any recommendations or opinions of his. They were sent there to legislate for themelves and their constituents and they were apposed to be capable of judging for themwes what action would be for the best inerest of the association. ident Weihe's report clearly showed that he did not regard the condition of trade to be such as to warrant an advance this vent, as the report of the Wage Committee, of which he is Chairnan ex-officio, proved. When the committee reported, it recommended that the basis of the scale be the same as last year, and that $5 50 per ton on a 2-cent card the price for boiling. There was a chorus follows: as and gritting of teeth throughout the hall when the report was announced, for there is a good sprinkling of puddlers present who want to see the figure raised to $6 a ton. Beyond getting some protection against hard iron it is not likely the anddlers will get what they are after this

Hopes of Retaining Nutt.

The exclusive announcement in yesterasked to come back and accept an office in the association, created considerable talk among the delegates. There were many exssions of hope that the proposition would made to him and that he would accept. telegram was received from Youngstown ast night from a friend of Mr. Nutt, which sated that the gentleman could not say whether he would accept or not, neither would he say that he wouldn't consider, if the proposition come to him in good faith from the association. Mr. Nutt will be in the city to-day or to-morrow, when he will likely be broached on the subject.

In pursuance of a former custom the dele-gates to the convention will be invited through the eight sub-lodges of Homestead, to a banquet in the Opera House shortly. A special train will be run over the Pittsburg. McKeesport and Youghiogheny Railroad President Weihe last evening announced his standing committees. TWO MORE POINTS WON.

Report Additional Men at Work-A Carpenter's View of the Situa tion-Men to Be Smuggled Into the Master Builders won two points in the carpenters' strike yesterday. Fleming & constituents | Hamilton resumed work on the Franklin schoolhouse and S. J. Little put ten men to work at nine hours. Quite a number of additional men are working in the various planing mills and the bosses are beginning to feel encouraged. Secretary Hamilton arg in warm terms, and was followed says if the strike lasts 60 days longer, they w President Weihe, who prophesied a continuance of the growth of the organization and its benefits to the membership.

Welhe's Report on Trade.

will win a complete victory. The importation of plumbers continues, and it is reported that in the future men will be brought within a few miles and smuggled rought within a few miles and smuggled into the city.

At carpenters' headquarters it was re-ported this morning that at the Schutte & Co. mill, instead of 16 men being at work there were only six, that there were none at the Union mills, and that at the Kress mill the only ones at work were the foreenlightenment of the delegates to hear this man and one old man, the latter a trunkmaker. Agent Snyder, of Allegheny, stated that there were only five men working nine hours on the Allegheny side and he had been over the ground completely, from Sharpsburg to Woods' Run.

A member of one of the local unions has furnished the following statement in favor of arbitrating the present difficulties: Three weeks before the strike commenced the Arbitration Committee of the carpenters sent a written notice to the builders refusing to meet them and saying they were going to strike. This ruined all possibility of arbitration. The carpenters struck, but were not at that time locked out. On the second Monday after the strike the builders offered, by resolutions passed in the Ex-change and widely published, the men an opportunity to come back under last year's terms. This proved unavailing because at that time the majority of the men misunder-stood the resolution. Had the men returned no harm would have come to them. When the builders saw the men did not return they brought forward counter demands, as

They would grade the men in wages ac-cording to ability. They would work nine hours per day. Their foremen should be non-union men, and they would hire as many apprentices as they saw fit.

This formed the lockout. The needs of arbitration are apparent to settle what con-cessions must be made by each side. First, on this issue the carpenters must concede that all mechanics are not equal in day's DISPATCH that James H. Nutt, of ability. It is the height of folly to contend ville Allegheny county, Pa., at 10 o'clock A. Youngstown, one of the late trustees of the in the case of a man who has been workassociation, who has just accepted a position ou the Board of City Commissioners in Youngstown, at a nice salary, would be asked to come back and accept an office in labor value more than 80 per cent. Yet there are plenty of like cases in the brother-hood and the builders claim they are worth-to be raised to 83, the $2.50 to $2.75 and the $2.25 to $2.50, this rate to continue in force for two years, making, together a three-year contract. Let there be with this the agreement that the brotherhood is to foster and aid carpenters in surrounding towns in their efforts, so that there may be equal wages and hours under equal conditions.

The third article should stand. A foreman represents the employer, and should not be hampered by brotherhood obligations in the control of his men. However, there might be a limit, in that the foreman receive higher wages and be continually employed to oversee work.

The fourth demand is wrong. Apprentices are needed in the carpenter trade. Our American boys should be given an opportunity to learn a trade in preference to a foreign-born youth.

It needs no homily on capital and labor to urge upon both sides the necessity of harmony and equal interest. Much of the labor troubles of the day come from labor leaders who talk for a living and wont live unless they talk wildly. The massing of capital against labor has been brought about only by the readiness with which laborers follow Socialistic agitators. follow Socialistic agitators.
