DRAMATIC critics and theater-goers all unite in saying that "Ten Nights in a Bar Room" is the best temperance drama ever produced. It will be presented at Harris, Britton & Dean's popular theater this week by the Standard Dramatic Company. In the by the Standard Dramatic Company. In the organization will be found many Pittsburg favorities who have appeared here from time to time with other combinations. They produced the same play in Cincinnati last week and were warmly praised by the press of that city. W. J. Magee will give each per-formance his personal supervision, which is a guarantee that the show will please the patrons of the house and those who appreci-ate an artistic performance.

The part of "The Little Recruit," as played by Master Richard Long in the show of that name at the Bijou last week, was most excellently rendered for a hd of 14 years. Young Master Long is a son of "Lonny" Long the veteran comedian in G. A.
