YOUTH NOT A CRIME.

Burden of the Defense of the Seven Suspended R. P. Ministers.

THEIR NAMES PUT ON THE ROLLS.

Speakers Called Down by the Moderator for Their Imputations.

ALL THE REMARKS MADE IN REBUTTAL

There were indications all day yesterday that the present R. P. Synod having shaken the suspended minister until their back hair had all tumbled out of place, was disposed, if a chance were given, to do the parental spanking business and then take them back and smoothe the way to that end, if possible. Rev. R. B. Connor moved that their names be restored to the rolls, and though the motion was opposed by Prof. D. P. Wilson and Dr. R. J. George, Dr. McAllister astonished the unjority by speaking in favor, and the motion prevailed. Before getting down to the trial Elder J. R. Dill offered a resolution expressing the belief of the Synod that it is the duty of all members of the R. P. Church to testify against the sin of other churches in permitting persons to take the communion who have identified themselves with political parties that favor the licensing of the liquor traffic, as being an agreement with death and a covenant with ell. Referred to the Committee on Tem

Rev. A. W. McClurkin then began his defense, and it was a peppery one. He charged falsehood in the minutes of the Presbytery and claimed that if he were to be con for what he had said, a record should have been made of it, and that record in court. He also said there was no evidence submitted that he had attended the East End neeting or taken any part in the adoption or promulgation of the East End platform. Another Right Peppery Defense.

Rev. E. M. Milligan followed, and he too was quite pertinent in his remarks. He re-ferred to Dr. George's history of the prothat its side and not occur heard from by the Synod. The doctor lind said there was no charge against their moral character, and asked if the speaker were speaking in a Pickwickum sense. Mr. Milligan said their moral character was on trial, if, as specified, they were charged with a heinous and scan-dalous sin and crime. order, on the ground that he was intro-lucing new matter, and after some sparring dr. Milligan said he would pass the point

Mr. Milligan said he would pass the point for the present.

Mr. Milligan told how it came about that Rev. Mr. Temple had had a conversation with Dr. McAllister and told him of an organization being formed at the East End naecting. Mr. Milligan thought that a little sandpapering of the third item offered for compromise would save a great deal of trouble. No honest man could so far stutify himself as to argue to withdraw from an organization to which he did not then nor ever had belonged to. He also denied that there was any secrecy about its proceedings. When Rev. Mr. Milligan spoke of a charge of attempting to destroy the church Dr. McAllister rose and observed that the accused were not charged with intent to destroy. Mr. Milligan held that the holding of the meeting could not be an offense against the church except by the use of its platform, but those who called the elders meeting were the ones who had made elders' meeting were the ones who had made evil use of the platform. He denied that the callers of that meeting could show that those callers of that meeting could show that those who met there had any intent to injure the church or use their platform except as an expression of their opinion. As to the Dodds-Copeland-Crozier snarl, there was a series of explanations, and Rev. Mr. Milligan said he would not push his position, but wanted the Synod to understand fully that he had witnesses to sustain his statement regarding the writer of the call for the elders' meeting Mr. Milligan said he was either one who had a disregard for truth or else one who wrote a good ard for truth or else one who wrote a good deal without considering what he wrote. He said that in a criminal court the defend-ants might show a motive for the inying of the trap for the accused, but as it wasn't, he could let it pass.

Dr. George Has Another Objection. Rev. E. M. Milligan then began to tear those already tattered ministers into still smaller pieces, when Dr. George got up and said that If the speaker wanted to go over that matter again he supposed that he (Dr. George) must be put on trial again.

Mr. Milligan insisted that he only referred Mr. Milligan insisted that he only referred to the effect the matter had had on their minds—a suspicion that some one was back of the plan or scheme who did not hesi-tate to change the minutes to make that tate to change the minutes to make that scheme win.

Dr. George wouldn't have it this way, insisting the language used by Rev.Mr. Milligan reflected upon him and demmaded that facts be given to support it. So Mr. Milligan said he would give some: First, that a commission was at first recommended to settle the matter; second, that the Pittsburg Presbytery's minutes did not record the motion to change the commission to a committee; third, that many of the members were ignorant when they met that a change had been made; fourth, that the report of the Committee on Discipline had never gone into the hands of the clerk; fifth, that the word committee had been written partly in ink and mittee had been written partly in ink and concluded in lead pencil mark, looking as though the work had been done to make though the work had beer done to make diverse actions appear to harmonize, and, sixthly, they supposed and were allowed to entertain the supposition that the commission had been empowered to settle, and these points were never cleared up until Dr. George made his statement before the present court. These misunderstandings, Mr. Milligan said, led them to make admissions that trapped them. One man making admissions should not limit all.

This had reference to what Mr. Reed had said, and Rev. J. R. J. Milligan and Rev. Mr. Semson arose and denied Mr. Reed's power to bind them. Rev. J. S. T. Milligan, during a controversy that followed, insisted that the youngsters be given full swing in their defense.

To avoid further trouble in this line, Mr. To avoid further trouble in this line, at, Milligan gave notice that hereafter when he was talking "we" must be construed to mean "I." He again said that while he was sorry the East End business had made trouble, he could not say he was sorry for what he had done, nor could any other honest man.
Mr. Milligan made a statement reflecting high honor on the fairness of Dr. W. J. Sproull, and the latter replied. As they were somewhat courteous, Mr. Ferris seemed to fear they would fall on each other's neck, and called attention of Synod that they were not talking on the question.

Didn't Call Dr. McAllister a Llar. Mr. Milligan did not call Dr. McAllister a liar, but he did dony in toto his strictness liar, but he did dony in toto his strictness regarding the alleged levity of the accused at the Presbyterial trial, thus tending to keep reporters in the lower strata on the score of plety and decorum.

Mr. Milligan evidently had a full hand, but he discarded many cards and did not draw, deopping many of his points to save time. He, however, made the point that if a man belonged to a political club and subsequently changed his opinions and became a member of an opposition party, it was his duty to leave the club; but he held that as a member of Carriet's Church it was different. He night hold opinions different from his member of Christ's Church it was different. He might hold opinions different from his brethren, but he could not leave the ark of safety. This was in answer to the query why they did not go into the U. P. Church, Dr. R. B. Cannon arose at the conclusion of Rev. E. M. Milligan's argument and protested against the traversing of the entire field in the argument, as he seemed to think there was danger that before the controversy reached a final vote they all will have ceased to be members of the church militant and will be twanging their harps in the choirs of the church triumphant.

Hev. J. S. T. Milligan contended that, no matter how long it required the accused to cover their case, they should have it, on account of the gravity of the case. The Moderator was inclined toward abbreviation, but no ruling was made, though the next speaker, Rev. H. W. Reed, got it between the lug and the horn at every attempt to anniver.

the lug and the horn at every attempt to amplify. Rev. Mr. Milligan dropped some dozen of heads without touching upon them Mr. Reed hadn't reached his first point

Mr. Reed hadn't reached his first point until Mr. Ferris objected that he was traveling over his previous route.

Rev. J. S. T. Milligan again came to the defense, but Rev. Mr. Ferris raised the point that he was out of order.

Mr. Milligan—I rise to the point that you are always in order.

Not Allowed to Reach Second. Mr. Reed was allowed to get nearly to see ond base without political dissent or much to touch him with the ball and cut him short. Rev. J. S. T. Milligan was alert, how-ever, and insisted that Mr. Reed should be allowed at least half an hour to reply to what Dr. McAllister had dwelt half a day upon. Mr. Ferris again went for Dr. J. S. T. Milligan and the two countered sharply, Mr. Milligan remarking that Mr. Ferris never wanted to hear anything from him. Rev. W. H. Reed was the next speaker.

He started out by saying that the profession of friendship on the part of one of the representatives of the Pittsburg Presbytery would have sounded much better last Monday, when he offered a resolution asking the supended ministers to purge themselves of contempt, in the face of the fact that his advice to continue preaching came from the same man. The speaker held that the representatives of the Pittsburg Presbytery make misrepresentations when they hold that the character of the East End meeting was following a divisive course. The meeting was simply to cure certain wrongs that were existing in the Church. The question of forming an organization was before the East End meeting and he opposed it, and no organization was ever formed, although it was talked about. The speaker then went into an argument of a number of alleged errors, and closed with an appeal to the Synod to sustain the appeal of the young ministers in the interest of themselves and the church.

Mr. Samson Closes the Day's Hearings.

Mr. Samson Closes the Day's Hearings. Rev. W. L. C. Samson was next heard. He opened his address by stating that his minis-terial integrity had been attacked and he was branded as a heretic, a covenant break-er. He appealed to the Synod to sustain their ministerial integrity. The Pittsburg Presbytery offered to allow the deposed Presbytery offered to allow the deposed ministers to continue in their own pastorates provided they did not present their opinions in a disorderly manner, and it, therefore, seemed to the speaker that the Pittsburg Presbytery, who have been assating the East End platform as being everything that was bad, should be held as a party in the crime. It was unfair to the deposed ministers to compare them with Dr. Briggs and others, but that did not matter much, as Christ, when he was crucified, was placed between two thieves. The speaker held that the suspended ministers had been chided because they were young men. Experience has shown that old doctors of divinity had never been the leaders in new thoughts or new lines of thought. Christ himself was only 33 years old when He was crucified, and Christ didn't select among His apostles an old man.

Rev. Mr. Samson continued his argument at some length, and at its conclusion Synod adjourned until this morning.

WAIL OF A COMMUTER.

Thinks the Ft. Wayne Should Reform An Order to Which He Takes Exceptions

Appreciated. "I should like to know how General Pas-senger Agent Ford makes out that he is not ferred to Dr. George's history of the pro-ceedings of the Pittsburg Presbytery, and said that it could never be said truly again that its side had not been heard from by the Synod. The doctor had said there was no charge against their moral character, and asked if the speaker were speaking in a Railroad, has been a great convenience to those who travel every day in the month, and certainly did not cost the railroad much trouble. The assertion that the issue of monthly tickets prior to the month named thereon embarrassed anybody, bookkeepers, ticket-sellers or even the General Passenger ticket-sellers or even the General Passenger Agent himself, is simply nonsense, as plenty to the Fort Wayne officials admit. The only motive for depriving the public of the privilege that I can see is to gouge the hapless suburban traveler, by making him pay full fare when he exhausts his commutation ticket at the close of the month. It is a privilege which the Fort Wayne has allowed for years, and amounts to as much in simply convenience as in cash to commuters.

"There is no way that I know of to convince Mr. Ford of the bad policy of such a step, although I believe that its discouraging effect upon the suburban business, important and remnmerative as it is, will be shown very plainly. It is peculiar that the railroad management in Pittsburg has not yet grasped the possibilities of suburban traffic, although I must admit that for train service, equipment of stations and cars, efficiency and civility of its operating employes, and to some extent for the moderation of its charges, the Pennsylvania Company deserves credit."

The new time table of the Fort Wayne ought to satisfy most people, adding as it does several trains both ways for suburban travelers. An error in the table which should be noted is that train No. 41 does not leave Allegheny at 4:15 r. N. city time. It starts from the yards and is a milk train.

HOME HINTS.

The home is to society what the heart is to the body—the vital motive power.

When the father is vigorous, the mother cheerful, and the children happy, it is a neaven on earth.

When disease stalks in and fells the jather, prostrates the mother, or seizes the children, all becomes desolation.

To make the home happy, keep the health secure. Poverty may come, but it can be endured if the health remains.

No health was ever maintained without assistance. Health, like the body, must be supported. But do not make a faistake and do it foolishly.

do it foolishly.

The best way to sustain the health is to assist it, to stimulate it. The best way to healthily stimulate is by the use of pure, unadulterated medicinal whiskey. Doctors have declared this, scientists have confirmed it, and both have insisted that Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey is the only strictly medicinal one in the market. Indeed, it has become, as it deserves, a household necessity.
