PITTSBURG DISPATCH, WEDNESDAY, JUNE 10, PTTTSBURG DISPATCH, opening. Ninety shares changed hands at the uniform price of 12% all going to George B. Hill & Co. II was stated that the work of surrendering stook was proceeding satisfac-torily, and that the othences favored a final effective of the construction of the state of the construction of the control weaker. The latter was offered at 17. Bir-minghaim could have been sold at 20. Man-chester improved half a point, to 50, on the sale of the Commodore Kountz interest, removing the principal obstruction to plac-ing the control of the road in the hands of the Allegheny Traction Company. There is one opposition stock still, out, but it is not believed that holders are disposed to make trouble. Practically, therefore, litigation has ceased, and the company put in a posi-tion to carry out its plans for the manage-busines. The storm authority says. President J. C. Houck submitted a report of last year's work which was received by manifest tokens of approval from members of the Exchange, Following is the substance of the report: "At the start nine years ago grave doubts were entertained by many as the ultimate success of the movement for a Grain Exchange in Pittsburg. But with a Grain Exchange in Pittsburg. But with what entitusiasm we made our first sales! You remember how one veteran member purclansed about all the sample cats, almost regardless of price, and sold them in the afternoon to the retail trade at his own price. When the receipts increased he stored the surplus in the elevator and soon discovered he had an elephant on hand, and did not know what to do with it. Like all associations in infancy our enthusiasm soon began to wane. Our veteran ex-presidents were frequently called on to define the by-laws and to settle questions of disputation, so as to avoid if possible arbitra-tion, which was considered rather costly. The second piece of good luck is the discovery of what prom-ises to be a prolific oil field surrounding the Linn farm, where the Manufacturers' Com-pany owns nearly 1,200 acres. Another recent deals in Gotham was men-tioned by Mr. Stewart, that of a block of five lots on Fifth avenue, corner of Fifty-difth street, 100x125 feet. It was purchased by one of the Astors as a gift to another member of the family just married, who will erect thereon a residence costing £250,000. Busi-ness property also comes high there. A plece located on the corner of Broadway and Liberty street, 12x125 feet, sold a few days ago for $150,000, or almost $5,000 a foot front. In view of these facts, why is not down-town property in Pittsburg a good purchase at present prices? It is.

"The koom Committee has been successful in leasing this becautiful and conveniently located room, at a rental of $500 per amun, including light, heat and water. They also succeeded in reletting to the Western Penn-gylvania Brick Exchange the use of the room once per week, at $100 per annum; to the Convercial Travelers' Protective Asso-clation once per month, at $75 per annum; to the Linve and Cement Association once th, at $25 per annum. The sum totals $200.

A Gain in Strength.

"This enables us to meet our obligations with less burden, and, notwithstanding the loss heretofore sustained in membership. we are gaining strength by securing the who give their time and influence to the Ex-who give their time and influence to the Ex-change, nine members of which were thus secured during the last year through the instancementality of the Membership Com-mittee, who did their work nobly. "The Circular Committee deserves special notice for the efficient manner in which it performed its work. In a year like the last when fluctuations were sharp and wide 't was not an easy matter to keep pace with the market. I am agare that at differ-ent times complaints were heard; concern-ing the circular quotations, but I would ask, who will now undertake to do this most difficult and unthankful work as well as this refiring committee, to whom we owe our sincere thanks. The volume of business transacted during the year exceeds any pre-vious year in the history of the Exchange. I refer you to the superintendent's report, views year in the history of the Exchange. I refer you to the superintendent's report, which you will find quite interesting. "The treasurer's report you will find satis-factory, as our $10 annual assessments will now meet all our expenses, and should year-by give us a small sinking fund, which will make the association financially easy and constortable.

The Trade in Futures.

"Trading in futures, by some of the active members, has had a tendency not only to enlarge our daily business, but to infuse more activity into the Exchange. It makes business active, and it's activity that we business active, and it's activity that we need to make business progressive. I would suggest an increased trading in this direc-tion. The business of the Exchange could be greatly improved if the entire milling in-terest of the city were represented. It appears to nee that better bargains could be had here than at country points. I am satisfied a sufficient amount of grain would be consigned to the dealers here to supply all demands. This city should not be an exception to other cities in this particular. Our grain committee is fully competent to grade aright, our inspection is as rigid as other cities, our dealers are honorable and courteous, and if there be anything wanting to bring about this much needed improvement, let it be pointed out to u at once so that the matter can be recedied.

During the call we can facilitate the busi ness greatly by not annoying the auctioneers in requesting sales of anything out of the regular order of business. This is certainly very abrupt on the part of members, and, I avu satisfied, it's not a willful intrusion. I that one reference to this matter hope that one reference to this matter is sufficient. "It is with sincere regret that I record the deaths, during the year, of two worthy mem-bers of the Exchange, viz." Alexander Greenawalt and our faitailal inspector, Will-fam Culp. On the 12th ult, suitable action was taken on the death of William Culp and the Exchange attended the funeral in a body. Mr. Culp was not only a faithful offi-cial, but a kind and honest citizen. The past year in more than one particular was eventful. The partial failure of the grain erops, has resulted in the most active mar-ket in the history of the Exchange. With low prevailing prices, in the years 1888, 1889 and first half of 1860, we were slow to accept that with so largely an increased acreage of all kinds of grain, extreme prices would not again be realized. Breuted in an Advance.

This immense advance was attended by consider able excitement and sharp and wide fluctu ations. It was not an easy matter to keep pace with the market, much less to render satisfaction to our customers, and it is re-15 and 16, good to return until June 21.

The general market showed the apathetic condition of operators' minds, and while St. Paul, as usual, with Atchison following, showed some animation, their movements throughout the day were devoid of interest. There is a disposition manifested to again hank upon the July disbursements, and many houses are looking forward to that date to see some revival of the demand for bonds, which seems to be entirely lacking at present, and the absence of such demand is one of the depressing influences in the stock market.

wobbled a little at the start and seemed dis-posed to sell off, and did decline some from the opening, the feeling gradually changed to one of strength, and there was a very de-cided advance, though all of the improve-ment was not held. At the close yesterday a dispatch was shown around to the effect that the French Senate had amended the lower House bill reducing the tariff on wheat so as to make if go into effect at once instead of on August 1, and that only the as-sent of the Lower House was needed to put the reduced tariff into effect. On this intelligence the price of calls was advanced on the curb. The consequence was a firm opening this morning at an ad-vance of ½ over the closing price yesterday in spite of the fact that prices were ½ lower at Liverpool. There were, however, free offerings apparently by persons seeking to make a soft market to buy on. The conse-quence was that July, which opened at 8%,c. quickly sold off to 37%. This was followed by buying for New York and local account, and an advance movement set in and the shorts began to cover. About the same time private cables reported cold and wet weather in France, injuring the already poor pros-pects for the crop, and also reported higher prices there. near the close, the result of covering by shorts, the market closed steady at the price last named. Corn opened strong in sympathy with an advance of 3/d in prices at Liverpool, but weakened under free selling by local traders, rallying again, however, with wheat. July started at 38% against 50 at the close yes-terday; sold off to 50c, and then took a sharp upturn when the estimates for to-morrow came in, showing light expected re-ceipts. July advanced to 50%. There was free realizing on the way up, and the bears took advantage of the situation to weaken values by offering large amounts without selling much. The price broke badly near the close, and closed steady at 58%. Oats started weak at 460 for July, soon fell to 43% but on other grain showing so much strength advanced to 44% then toward the close broke with corn, and closed at 43% c, within 1% of the bottom price. Provisions were quiet with narrow fluctu-ations. The September options show the following losses at the close, compared with final fagures yesterday: Pork, Lic; lard, 5c; lard, 7%. The leading futures ranged as follows, as corrected by John M. Oakley & Co., 45 Sixth streat, members of Chicago Board of Trade:
