SEVERAL HIGH TEMPERATURE VICTIMS.

The Mercury Reaches Ninety-Two in the Shade an Everybody Suffers.

With the advent of sweltering heat such as that of vesterday come visions of mad dogs, mosquitos, and other pests of the sultry season. Although "dog days" have not come, the average pedestrian walking along the streets keeps an eye open for the disagreeable cur with the lager beer imitation on his lips and a beastly hankering to fulfil the old proverb that misery loves company. A few more days like yesterday and the rabies will not wait until July is half over, as is customary. On the sunny sides of the streets the air felt as if blown from the interior of a puddling furnace. Mercury crept toward the clouds with the persistent force of a hydraulic jack and hung about the nincties all through the middle of the day. The heat had the effect of causing numerous owners of dogs to think about the safety of their pets. Those without the little nickel tags run chances of being dealt with on suspicion, or, at least, their masters think so. Accordingly, the issuers of dog licenses noticed quite an in-

Number of Dog Licenses Issued.

Up to to-day 2,200 licenses have been issued, which is thought to include the great majority of dogs in the city. Whether the realization of having been raised to the dignity of being personal property will prevent many curs from acquiring a dislike for water is yet an unsettled question, but there are hopes that the effect will yet be salutary.

Chief Brown has decided that as "dog days" do not begin until July 15 the dog-catching operations will not be inaugurated until then. Up to that time all manner of Public Safety is concerned. Business at the pound is not expected to be very brisk this year. The widespread slaughter with buttons last season thinned out the ranks of anowned animals, and those remaining are as a rale valuable enough to have masters and licenses. There will be no poison this year. The pound is presumed to answer all exterminating purposes and disgusting carcases lying about the street will be rarities. A gentleman reported to Mayor Gourley yesterday that three dogs had been shot in A gentleman reported to Mayor Gourley vesterday that three dogs had been shot in Cherry alley, near Virgin, by what he sup-posed to be an officer in citizen's clothes. Chief Brown 'us not yet appointed his poundmaster, and will not likely do so for poundmaster, and will not likely do so for some time. Since no dogs will be caught before July 15, there is nothing for a poundmister to do until then. The pound on Ruchs hill is now complete. It will accommodate about 100 animals.

The hot weather has had a serious effect on the health of the city. Debility produced by the heat has rendered people less able to withstand disease and the result is already quite noticeable. The records of the Bureau of fleath show an increase in the death rate quite noticeable. The records of the Bureau of Health show an increase in the death rate of the past two weeks. Notwithstanding the citys mortality usually doubles itself during the month of June, the number of deaths will be much larger than that of any Causes of the Great Increase.

So far this month there has been 328 burial permits issued by the bureau. During the entire month of June last year there were reported 50 deaths. The number of deaths now almost equals the total number of deaths during May, which was 473, including stillbarths. The mortality resulting from now almost equals the total number of deaths during May, which was 473 including stillbarths. The mortality resulting from cerebro-spinal menigitis seems to be on the increase. A week or two ago the disease showed signs of abating. This disease has caused le deaths so far this month; of the remainder, Is resulted from pneumonia, 15 from convulsions, 8 from cholera infantum, 3 from menigitis, 4 from phthisis pulmonalis, 6 from bronchitis, 2 from suicides and 11 inanition. Burial permits were also issued for 27 stillbirths and 2 suicides. Should the warm weather of the past few days continue a few days longer the Bureau of Health officers say they will look for a large increase in the number of deaths from cholera infoatum. On Mt. Washington the whooping cough has made its appearance. It is most severe among the children.

Robert Wilman, aged 81 years, an immate of the Home of the Little Sisters of the Poor, was overcome by the intense heat of yesterday, and fell to the pavement while walking along Sarah street, near South Eighteenth street. ADVANTAGES OF SHADE TREES.

No Sunstrokes in Wilkinsburg, but Plenty of Sickness.

Although the temperature in the sun in Wilkinsburg has been as high as elsewhere in the vicinity, there had not been any cases of prostration by heat up to last night. In conversation with a Disratch reporter, Dr. J. S. Stevens, of that place, said: "One might think we should have a good many cases of sunstroke here with the mercury so near the ton of ere, with the mercury so near the top of the tube. But I have not had a single case, and I have not heard of any. The reason is and I have not heard of any. The reason is simple. We have so many shade trees that the sun does not get a chance at the people. I believe the surest preventive of sunstroke is plenty of shade trees. Wilkinsburg is pretty well supplied in that respect, and she will have more before long. There is a hint for Pittsburg, and one that should be acted upon without loss of time. Division Passenger Agent Smith, of the Saltimore and Ohio road, remarked yester day that in his experience of 20 years in the ousiness he always noticed that when the last two weeks of June are hot that the ex-cursion season is sure to be a good one. Early in the summer people are not hard-ened to the heat, and with the first caloric wave they make up their minds to go fway if the weather is cool until the middle o July, a great many persons decide it is too late in the season to leave home, and so swelter until cold weather comes.

There are some who take their summer outing every year regardless of the heat or cold.

and Walter Hazlett Secretary. The proceedings were opened with prayer by Mr. Burnett, who then told the object of the gathering. It was to take steps for the organization of a church in Wilkinsburg, of which he (Mr. Burnett) was to be pastor.

The object was so well understood beforehand that it did not take long for the meeting to draw up a petition to the Monongahela Presbytery of the United Presbyterian Church asking for an organization in Wilkinsburg. As soon as the petition had been drawn up by the Secretary and read by the Chairman, there was a general rush to sign it. Forty signatures were affixed to the document at once, and it is expected that 50 or 60 will be obtained before it is presented to the U. P. body.

Monongahela Presbytery will meet in Wilkinsburg on June 30, and it is understood that the petition will be granted without hesitation. The new organization will be known as the Second U. P. Church of Wilkinsburg.

IT IS AREAD OF ANYTHING KNOWN.

An Injunction Granted Against the Interfering Bricklayers.

The Homestead steel plant of Carnegie, Phipps & Co. is at length fully equipped to roll armor plate. At 6 o'clock yesterday morning an ingot weighing 11,000 pounds was swung from the soaking pits to the rolls of a new mill, and in a few passes had been reduced to a long, glowing plate, three inches thick. In this first trial of the new mill it was found that the rolls would take a draft of two inches; that is, that the thickness of the ingot would be reduced to that extent at each passage through the rolls. This is an accomplishment heretofore unheard of—a reduction of five-eighths of one inch at one pass being regarded as good practice-and reflects the greatest credit on the mechanical ingenuity of John A. Potter, the general manager of the works. The mill supersedes all others in the world, and places Carnegie, Phipps & Co. in a unique position as regards the manufacture of armor plate, 'a demand for which, for Government and commercial purposes, is likely to become very large within the next few years. Construction of the Mill. The construction of the new mill was com menced just eight weeks ago, when the old vertical and horizontal trains, known as the 33-inch mill, was begun to be torn down. The room occupied by this mill was required for the new one. The new mill is known as a 4-high mill-that is, it has four rolls in the vertical train and four in the horizonin the vertical train and four in the horizontal. Both work in unison, though they are driven by separate engines, that driving the vertical rolls being the smaller. Both engines are of the reversible type, quick acting, and aggregate 3,000 horse power. The horizontal rods are 110 inches long, which is also the entire rolling surface. The top and bottom rolls are each 32 inches in diameter; the two middle rolls measure 24 inches in diameter; the two middle rolls measure 24 inches in diameter; the two middle rolls measure 24 inches in diameter; while the four vertical rolls are of uniform size. The two housens of the horizontal rolls weigh 90,000 pounds each and are lofty. Only the two middle rolls are driven, being coupled in the usual way to the driving pinions with a spindle. Of the four rolls only the top and the upper middle rolls move up and down the housens—the lower middle and bottom rolls being the "receivers." The draft is regulated by the two upper rolls moving up and down the housens at the will of the roller. The contracts held by the firm for Government work have already been noted in Tux Disparce.

Commercial Meaning of the Plant.

Commercial Meaning of the Plant. The investment of a large sum of money in this plant by Carnegie, Phipps & Co., at a time when doubt is expressed in many quarters "as to the commercial prospects of the iron trade for the year—though this plant the iron trade for the year—though this plant is, of course, for special work, it must be regarded as sustaining the views, supporting the outlook as being favorable, which have been expressed in these columns within a month. The attitude of ironworkers in the Pittsburg district furnishes additional evidence of these views. Of the blast furnaces in the district there are 2 now in overvition.

dence of these views. Of the blast furnaces in the district there are 23 now in operation casting 4.475 tons of metal every 24 hours, 2,500 tons being Bessemer and the remainder foundry grades. This is an increase of several hundred tons on the amount made last fall. The total amount for this month when ended will be about 134,250 tons, or 4,250 tons more than during the month of January before the coke strike was inaugurated. With 120,000 tons cast in February, 75,000 in March, 60,000 ton April, and 120,000 in May, the June figures quoted would show a total of 640,000 tons of iron made during the first six months of the year. The increased output for this month is regarded by brokers as an indication on the part of furnace men that they expect a good market for the stock they are now putting up, for all of it is not going into consumption. The Clinton furnace is making 106 tons a day, which is being stocked, as the mill is still closed down.

GUILTY OF A NUISANCE. An Injunction Granted Against J. H. O'Brien and Others at the Suit of Me-

Lengthy Opinion. The injunction suit of McCandless & The injunction suit of McCandless & Kinzer, contracting bricklayers for the new Joslyn Theater, against John H, O'Brien and others, members of Bricklayers' Union No. 2, was yesterday decided in favor of the plaintiffs in Common Pleas No. 3. The result of the decree, handed down by Judge McClung, as expressed in the opinion of that Judge filed with it, finds the defendants guilty of acts which constitute. THE STRIKE SUSTAINS NO CHANGE

Judge filed with it, finds the defendants guilty of acts which constitute a nuisance, and the injunction was granted, in the words of the Judge, "not because defendants belong to the organization named and seek by fair persuasion to accomplish its purpose, but because they have undertaken by words and acts, by their numbers, their manner and their movements, not to persuade workmen to look at the matter of working for plaintiffs as they view it, and of their own free will cease, but to practically compel them, by annoyance and intimidation, to leave plaintiffs' employ or refuse employment, and thus are guilty of acts which constitute a nuisance, which equity will restrain."

What Caused the Suit. The bill filed arose out of the efforts of the organization to prevent workmen, whom the contractors alleged were willing to work for them, from so doing, as the recital has it, "by threats, intimidation, menaces, gathering of crowds at and about the building in the erection of which the plaintiffs' workmen are employed, and about the boarding houses of said workmen, and by various systems of annoyance have been engaged in driving off employes who were willing and anxious to work for said plaintiffs, and have thus not only greatly annoyed and harassed the plaintiffs, but have, in addition, put them to great cost and expense, hindered them in the performance of their contract to erect said building, that by such hinderance, if continued, they will cause plaintiffs great and irreparable loss and damage. The affidavits filed by plaintiffs amplify these charges, and specify particular instances of defendants' alleged misconduct." ing in the erection of which the plaintiffs instances of defendants' alleged misconduct."

The defendants denied the commission of any illegal acts, and specifically denied certain allegations as to assaults on the plaintiffs' workmen and attempts to force these workmen to listen to the defendants against their will. The defendants also said that the men to whom they were talking were not unwilling to listen. Judge McClung in his opinion said it was not necessary to determine these disputed questions of facts. It sufficiently appeared that the defendants being members of an organization interested in having men refuse to work for plaintiffs, or quit work when alreadylengaged, were not satisfied with such means as left such workmen to choose freely between working and refraining from work, but undertook to so act as to make it unpleasant and apparently in some degree unsafe for them to continue in plaintiffs' employ, and to embarrass them by preventing them from obtaining suitable lodging or boarding places, and thus force those who were desirous of working to quit plaintiffs' employ. It required no argument to show that the law must afford a remedy of some sort in such cases.

Rights of Employer and Employe.

Rights of Employer and Employe The right of the workman to be employed f course, involved the right of the employer to engage him and have him work for him.

"We do not base our order upon the facts "We do not base our order upon the facts that the defendants are members of an organization whose purpose it is to compel the payment of higher wages by maintaining a strike. Were this all, whatever might be our opinion as to such organization for such purpose, it does not lie with the plaintiffs to question its propriety, while they appear to be acting under the direction of an organization, whose purpose is to keep down wages by artificial means, and whose methods are at least as objectionable as are those of the by artificial means, and whose methods are at least as objectionable as are those of the defendants. We do not condemn now either organization. In fact we are, for the purpose of this case, put in the position which a court of equity should occupy, by treating both as having a right to exist and to pursue their purposes by peaceful and proper means. We deal only with acts which carry them beyond this limit."

Judge McClung directed Mr. Ferguson, plaintiffs' sounsel, to draw up the restraining order and present it for approval.

At the theater yesterday there were 23 bricklayers at work, 21 of whom were journeymen. Mr. McCandless said that he expected to have the brick work finished by the middle of July. He had all the men he wanted just now.

TO COMPLETE THE ORGANIZATION.

The Quay Element in the State Determined to Knock Him Out.

PUTTING UP DELEGATES AGAINST:HIM

Dalzell's lieutenants will get down to work to-morrow evening at a meeting in his inter-est to be held in the assembly room of the Tariff Club. Circulars were sent out yesterday signed by Major E. A. Montooth and ex-Sheriz McCandless calling on Republicans in the western part of the State to join in an rganization to further Dalzell's canvass for residency of the league clubs. The circular letter asks the recipient to come to the meeting, and requests clubs to send in the mames of two men to serve on the executive committee. The position of Senator Quay in the fight is not known, but his friends in this county are out against Dalzell. Collec-tor John Dravo said yesterday that he had talked with Quay frequently of late, and he never heard him say a word against the Pittsburg Congressman, neither has he exressed a preference in the contest.

Always in Favor of Peace. The collector added that he despise factional fights, and he was always for peace. He is not taking any interest in the eague fight. He was an independent in league fight. He was an independent in politics until Quay wanted to nominate Charles S. Wolfe, and by that showed he was anxious to conciliate all the factions in the interest of harmony. Then he became an adherent of the silent Senator, and is one of his leading and truest backers to-day. In Beaver county he said they were for Quay. Personally he likes Dalzell, and says he did as much as any man in Allegheny county to secure his first nomination for Congress. Colonel W. H. Reed, another Quayite

Colonel W. H. Reed, another Quayite of the most pronounced type, remarked that he would vote for David Collingwood, in the Americus Club, as one of Dalzell's delegates. He regretted so able and representative a man as Dalzell should be made the catspaw for the kickers and disgrunted element in the Republican party.

The fact is nevertheless true that what is known as the Quay wing of the party will fight Dalzell tooth and nail, and they claim now that Jack Robinson will have four votes to Dalzell's one in the convention. A Quay supporter said yesterday that he would go to the convention with 70 delegates, including himself, from Allegheny county against Dalzell.

Figures Given by Both Sides. Mr. Dalzell's people are figuring at preon 68 delegates from this county, but the opposition only count on 22 for him out of opposition only count on 22 for him out of this number. They deny that such organizations as the "Edwin M. Stanton Club" and "Delamater Guards," reputed for Dalzell, are in existence. These clubs were started, they declare, to be used in the campaign last fall and since then have died natural deaths. The opponents of Dalzell are at work organizing clubs in the city to secure representatives in the convention to vote against him. They insist that Mayor Logan and Harry English are working the same tactics for the Pittsburg Congressman. It is stated on good authority that a canvass of the Sewickley Club, made last Saturday evening, showed only three members out of 160 favorable to Dalzell. The opposition say also that Randolf's friends realize how things are going, and rather than lose all are trading his delegates for Eastern support, and this is how the story of treachery to Dalzell originated.

Dalzell is to be fought on the ground that he is not a Republican, but a Mugwump, His Republicanism will be impugned at every point, and this will be the keynote to the yells of his opponents in the convention.

The Schemes of the Opposition. The young fellows are being told that Dalell not only skulked in his tent and refused to speak for Delamater, which they now commend in the light of subsequent events, but that he laid down on the entireS tate but that he laid down on the entires tate ticket, for which there is no excuse. On the other hand, Jack Robinson will be held up as the hard-worker who made 100 speeches in 40 counties last fall, and, like Achilles, stayed with the party in its inglorious defeat. He will be pointed out as a shining light, and as one of the faithful deserves promotion in preference to the skulker. Great stress will be laid on the fact that Dalzell stood back with folded hands, and allowed the Democrats to capture that Dalzell stood back with folded hands, and allowed the Democrats to capture Congress without giving one blow in defence of the slender Republican majority.

Jack Robinson's supporters in this county deny that their man could be easily pulled off if he were seen. They claim he is in the ring to fight to a finish, and he will win. It is becoming apparent to Mr. Dalzell's backers that he will not have a walkover even in Allegheny county, and from now out the fight will be lively and for blood.

IN LINE FOR M'KINLEY.

The New Party Will Watch Close Legislativ Districts in Ohio.

A number of McKinley's delegates from East Liverpool, bound for the Columbu Convention, registered at the Anderson last evening. In the party were B. C. and J. H. Simms, John N. Taylor, W. L. Smith, H. W. Harker and Homer Laughlin. Most of them

Harker and Homer Laughlin. Most of them are well-known pottery manufacturers and are high tariff men.

Mr. Laughlin said McKinley would have no opposition. All Republicans are for him, and he thinks his election is only a question of majority. He doesn't understand that Foraker is on top once more, as reported, but that he is working in line with the party. Governor Campbell, he says, is the strongest Democrat in the State. Not much is expected from the new party. They will confine themselves to close legislative districts with a view to holding the balance of power.

There are at present between 29,000 and 30,000 pensioners carried on the rolls of the Pittsburg Pension Agency, and Pension Agent Bengough states that new ones are being added at the rate of 75 per day, under the operation of the care of 75 per day. the operation of the act of June 27, 1890. The Pension Commissioner informed Mr. Bengough, while the latter was in Washington recently, that the adjudications of new pensions under that act have been 1,800 a day, which would give an average of 100 a lay at each agency.

This is the quarterly pension payment month, and the Pittsburg agency up to Saturday evening had paid 25,788 pensions, and the remainder will all get in this week. The amount of money distributed at this agency to date on this payment is $384,-533.77.

Mr. Bengough states that the roll is growing rapidly under the last enactment, but a large proportion of the applicants will not last long, there being much sickness among the veterans, their death roll in this district now averaging 15 a day. Under the last law no surviving pensioner gets above $12 a month, and no widow more than $8 a month, and the amount of arrearage is small, $60 being the most due, running from date of application. application.
