For the first time this season the Cincinnati Reds will be here to do battle against our sluggers. The Reds are always a welme lot to Pittsburg, but this season they have one or two special features connected with them. Amid all the transformations tint took place among the League teams lust winter Cincinnati was not excluded from the list. As a result this season they have such popular players among as George Smith, the "Evergreen" Latham and "Old Hoss" Radbourne. Undoubtedly the Reds are a much bette team than their general work has so far this nstrated. Like other teams, they have been overtaken with many misfortunes, but it is very likely that they will be able to put up a good article of ball to-

The local sluggers are home again after one of the most disastrous trips ever experienced by the local club in the way of victories. Financially the trip has been all right.
But nobody feels more keenly the poor showing of the team than Manager Hanlon and the players themselves. They are painfully aware that their work has been bad, but they are also aware that they have been deleted their bads aware that they have been deleted. but they are also aware that they have been doing their bost amid numerous difficulties that have been great and discouraging. In view of this fact it would hardly seem just to abuse and condemn their simply because they are down. The more generous and manly way would be to give them all the encouragement possible to try and regain their form, and as soon as they do that they will be all right. They have a long road to travel yet, and certainly plenty of time to redeem themselves. They don't like to lose games, and like all of us, they deem it hard to be abused when they are trying to do their best. There is not much reason in abusing a crippled team for losing games. osing games.

Manager Hanlon returns home extremely

Manager Hanlon returns home extremely disappointed. He states that almost the first day his team were East misfortunes began to appear, and have continued up to date. In fact, the misfortunes began the day before the team went away by Bierlaner being disabled. It is expected that he will play to-day. Manager Hanlon is not aware of any changes that will be made in the team, and President O'Neil states that he does not want any changes made.

The best thing that the public can do under the circumstances is to give the boys a good reception and encouragement to do better. Much money and labor have been expended in getting the team together and it would be sheer nonsense to try and break them up at this early stage of the game. Why the Philadelphia team have lost nine straight games on their home grounds and tht games on their home grounds and are not being abused. Defeats and a og series of them are likely to strike any Last evening Manager Hanlon did not thow who his battery for to-day will be. "cobably Galvin will pitch and either Will-iams or Radbourne for the visitors.

Johnstown Stone Mason of Noble Birth Inherits a Fortune.

(SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH, 1 Johnstown, June 17.-Last Saturday John Mackey, a stone mason, quit work and an-nounced that he would shortly go to Europe, and a rumor was soon spread that he had fallen heir to a large fortune. Mr. Mackey tells the following peculiar story: "I was born near Edinburgh about 57 years ago. My father was the Duke of Manchester, and although he was a spendthrift he left a though he was a spendthrift he left a comfortable fortune, most of which went to my brother and myself. I have two sisters who are in very comfortable circumstances. When I was a resident of Scotland, without thinking what I was about, I signed a note for $1,000. On being called upon to pay the note, for which I had received no value, I refused to do so, but I lost the case because the other man had more money than I had, and the cost of the suit ran up to $18,000. I was almost ruined, and I sold everything and came to this country.

"Last week I received a letter from my brother, who is a proprietor of one of the largest silver mines in Australia, saying that under the law of that country I was entitled to a certain number of shares in the mine, as some of the money, which he had inherited from my father, rightfully belonged to me. He also said that he would be in Johnstown about July I on his way to Europe, and I expect him here in a few days." Mr. Mackey exhibits a number of papers proving his right to part of the original estate. His fellow workmen pronounce him a good fellow, his only failing being the desire for strong drink.

HARVARD LIQUOR DEALERS.

The Accused Students Plead Guilty, Are Fined $75 Each and Appeal. ISPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH 1

CAMBRIDGE, MASS., June 17 .- Harvard's Zeta Psi Club, appeared again in court today, to answer to the State's charge o maintaining a liquor nuisance. They were by the trial, they pleaded guilty to the facts alleged by the police, but appealed to the higher court, on the ground that the statutory law was unconstitutional, in that it was an infringement of the sacred rights of the person. Then Judge Sawyer fined each one $75, and when they appealed he had a long. person. Then Judge Sawyer fined each one $75, and when they appealed he had a long, fatherly talk with them. He was aware that many of their number were soon to graduate and scatter all over the country, and some would come back next fall. To the latter he adback next fall. To the latter he addresses his remarks especially. He assured them that a second offense would cause the members to serve time in the House of Correction. There was no escape from that fate, except in keeping liquors out of their clubs. Those who live within the State were placed under $400 bonds, and those living in other States were required to furnish $800 bonds. The Judge furthermore said that he should insist upon bondsmen living in Massachusetts. After a great deal of trouble, the necessary conditions were complied with, and the students left court sadder, but wiser men.

Seven minutes later a freight train followed. The latter was under good headway when it bridge that spanned Plum creek. Seven minutes later a freight train followed. The latter was under good headway when it nearedthe bridge, and Engineer Powers, with characteristic caution, looked ahead at the structure. To his horror he saw that an attempt to cross the bridge meant death. He had but a moment to act, but he was equal to the emergency. Grasping the throttle ne reversed the engine and called for brakes.

A shudder crept along the entire train as the elements of locomotion conflicted. The train slackened speed materially, but Engineer Powers did not succeed in preventing a partial wreck, and he was forced to jump for life. In the twinkling of an eye he had made the leap just as the big locomotive and three cars fell with a terrific crash into the chasm. The rest of the train held the track. The creek, which only a few moments before was but a minor stream, was swollen and had carried away the bridge soon after the passenger train crossed. Engineer Powers, in jumping, landed in 12 feet of water, and only after a thrilling struggle escaped being carried away by the current.

THE FIRE RECORD. AT 6:15 last evening the Southside department responded to an alarm from box 136 which turned out to be a slight chimney blaze at the Diamond Brewery, 1216 Bing-

At Casselman, Ont., Tuesday the saw mills of the Casselman Lumber Company, six houses and an immense pile of lumber and several stables burned. Loss, $115,000; insur-ance, $70,000. McKresport, also, had a bridge fire Tues day afternoon, which furnished a good-sized blaze that might have developed a very big fire in a very short time. The fire started from a cigar stump, and the company will now prohibit smoking on the bridge. An alarm of fire was turned in from box 132 at 4:25 yesterday afternoon, caused by an explosion of a ladle full of hot metal at Lewis Foundry and Machine Company, corner South Tenth and Carson streets. The only damage done was the loss of the metal. ENGINE COMPANY No. 12, of the fire department, yesterday answered a still alarm to extinguish a small fire at F. E. Locke's cigar store, near Carson and Nineteenth streets. Some waste paper had been set on fire acci-dentally, and nodamage of any consequence resulted.

THE stables of the Berwind-White Coal Company, near Horatio, Pa., burned Tuesday, Company, near Horatio, Pa., burned Tuesday, and a valuable horse and 40 mules were consumed. Six other mules escaped, but they were burned so badly that they had to be killed. The miner who brought in the information to Penfield says the animals became so wild with fear it was utterly impossible to control them. The accident has shut down the mines, as it was impossible to secure enough mules to run them. The cause of the fire is unknown.

DETROIT RAISES THE FUNDS.

The Citizens Will Not Fall Behind Other Citles in Appropriations. DETROIT, June 17 .- A meeting of citizens was held here this evening, Hon, Don M. was held here this evening, Hon. Don M. Dickinson presiding, to take action relative to the failure of the Legislature to make an appropriation for the entertainment of the National G A. R. at its silver anniversary in this city in August next.

The meeting was largely attended and enthusiastic, and before it closed one-half of the sum hoped for from the State was subscribed and the balance pledged. This assures a fund fully equal to that at Boston a year ago, and Detroit will give the old soldiers a welcome second to none.

JUNIORS IN COUNCIL.

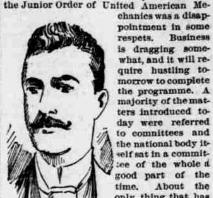

Great Influence of the Western Pennsylvania Delegates

SHOWN IN THE NATIONAL BODY.

James Cranston, of Allegheny, Is Elected Vice Councillor.

THE NEXT MEETING AT ATLANTIC CITY

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH.] CLEVELAND, June 17 .- To-day's session of tee of the whole a good part of the time. About the only thing that has not gone to a special committee is the re-J. Rhodes Miller, committee is the re-Supreme Marshal, port on change of name, ordered last year. The official count will be made to-morrow morning. It will

will be made to-morrow morning. It will show a majority of over 5,000 against the change and it would have required a two-thirds vote to carry the proposition.

There has been considerable fear expressed among the Pennsylvania delegates that an effort would be made by the Western people to have the name of the organization changed on the floor of the National Council. If such a scheme was ever in existence, it has been dropped, because Pennsylvania's representatives have shown to-day that they can carry about everything their own way. Western Pennsylvania's Triumph.

This superior strength was developed in the election of officers, which occurred this afternoon. When this order of business was reached, John R. Boblits, of Maryland, was elected National Councillor without opposition, but there was a lively skirmish for the next highest office. J. H. Zimmerman, of Plain City Council No. 14, had been indorsed by the State Council of Ohio for the office of National Vice Councillor. James Cranston, of Manchester Council 124, of Allegheny City, had the nomination forced upon him by his friends.

The inter have been frightened about the council 124 of the latter have been frightened about the council of the latter have been frightened about the council of the latter have been frightened about the latter have been frightened ab

The latter have been fresult ever since the sess to the fact that Mr. Cranston is confined to his home in Allegheny with a serious illness. Considerable hustling had been done by the friends of both candidates, and when the votes were counted Cranston was a winner by a counted Cranston was a winner by a majority of 25 votes.
This means that he will be elected National Councillor next year, and he will have the honor of being the first National Councillor ever elected from Western Pennsylvania. The other officers elected were:

nia. The other offi-cers elected were: National Treasurer, J. Adam Sohl, Mary-land; National Conductor, Harry H. Bair, Braddock, Pa.; National Warden, John D. Hall, Wheeling; National Sentinels, J. L. Cooper, Ft. Worth, Tex., and George W. Mc-Farland, Trenton, N. J. Next Meeting at Atlantic City.

Atlantic City was selected as the place for holding the next annual session. A con mittee was appointed to report a form for public installations. I. U. Robbins pre ented a number of matters upon which the Pennsylvania delegates had been instructed. At the last session of the State Council of Pennsylvania a resolution was passed in structing the representatives to favor the passage of a law depriving the Past State passage of a law depriving the Past State Councilors a voice and vote in their respective State Councils. The resolution was presented to-day, but the Pennsylvania contingent proved its only friends.

A resolution was passed providing that the honors of a Past Councilor shall be conferred upon all recording and financial secretaries and treasurers who serve an unbroken period of three years in their subordinate counhil. The report of the finance committee, showing that the organization, after paying over $150,600 in benefits last year, is still in a good condition, was read and approved, Quite a number of amendments were submitted and the National Council went into a committee of the whole to consider them. This is when matters began to go to sub-committees. Some of them will not be heard from again, others will be brought up to-morrow.

An American Defense Fund Wanted. The matter of immigration is consuming considerable time. The American Defens Association, of Philadelphia, compose largely of Juniors, which was indorse largely of Juniors, which was indersed last year, wants an assessment of I cent per member per month for pushing its work. It has a number of friends, who are trying every way possible to get the scheme through. They want the funds appropri-ated to a board of control, which is to spend the money in the name of the Defense Asso-ciation. The matter will bring out a lively discussion ciation. The matter will bring out a lively discussion.

The Deputy State Councilors' Association, of Allegheny county, has sent a resolution, providing for a similar assessment, to be levied for the purpose of placing organizers in new territory. The proposition made comes from W. S. Roe, of Allegheny, and the only opposition it is likely to have will be from the friends of the American Defense Association, in case their scheme is defeated.

The Panghters of Liberty. The Daughters of Liberty. A resolution will be given to the conven tion to-morrow by G. E. Kepple, of Penn-sylvania, indorsing the Daughters of Liberty, sylvania, indorsing the Daughters of Liberty, an organization having for its objects the promulgation of American principles in harmony with the Jr. O. U. A. M. The resolution will be adopted, and it is the first step in the direction of securing greater recognition for the Daughters of Liberty from the senior order, or a complete separation of the two elements in the female auxiliary.

It is reported to night that the delegation from Illinois will present a resolution tomorrow providing for a change of name, but even the friends of the change do not approve of such an arbitrary step, and it will hardly pass. prove of such an arbitrary step, and it will hardly pass.

The visiting members of the order went to Put-In-Bay to-day, and to-night the National Council enjoyed a moonlight lake excursion.
