Exciting Struggle.

New, wasn't that tough on Old Sport? Now, wasn't that tough on Old Sport? Only five hits to be made off his pitching during the entire game and four of them to be squeezed into a sort of solidity that forced in four runs. Frobably the old man never worked harder in his life. He was as lively as a 2year old in his fielding and surprised everybody. Crowning's errors may also have been re-sponsible for the winning run, as it allowed George Smith to round the bases. By Smith deing this many though the had made a home run, but he didn't. When the records at Nick Young's office are made up it will be found that George only made a two-base hit found that George only made a two-base hit and passed the other two because of heavy.

bringing defeat after defeat to our sluggers who don't slug. Although lack of hitting was the great cause of defeat there were other causes that, under the circumstances, had a ma-terial effect. Galvin was as much a puzzle to the Porkopolitans as was Antonio to the home team. And in this connection there was some-thing remarkable about Jimmy's efforts. Up to the seventh inning only one hit had been made off his defivery, and as Dame Fortune would have it those Hamtown visi-tors just let loose and banged out four great, hig base hits in that seventh inning, and these thumps, aided with a sacrifice hit and a fumble by Browning, the only Pitteburg Articles of agreement for another hall game between the Pittsburg and Allegheny bartenders were signed at this office last evening. Here the manager tried to bang out a hit, and as a result the ball went to McPhee and a double play was made. Berger followed with another good single. This circumstance prompted the notion among outsiders that if Hanlon had made, and tried to make, a sacrifice hit a run might have been scored. But in this inning Miller was injured, beside being "doubled up" by Hanlon. The latter was put out at first and then Miller was hemmed in by fielders between the bases. After dodging to and fro swhile he made a run back to first, followed by Smith, who had the ball. Miller was just in the act of silding to first when Smith touched him very forcibily on the back with the ball. This accelerated Miller's speed, and as a result one of his toes was dislocated. He will be able to play in two or three days. Joe Battin made his appearance as a League unjure, and did very well. The at-tendance was very conductant.

and they were a very enthusiastic crowd. They particularly enjoyed the antics and remarks of Arile Latham, who is justly termed the clown of the ball field.

The scheme to appropriate funds to the American Defense Association in Philadelphia failed, because the latter organization was inclined too much to politics. In this respect the following extract from Deputy National Councilor Shaler's report sub-

U. A. M. in the fall elections of 1890 did much to bring our order favorably before the public as an organization for the protection of our public schools. "Since that time, however, the organization known as the Citizens' Committee of One Hundred has had occasion to depart from its original intention of creating a public sentiment in favor of American institutions; was merged into a political party with their own candidates, and for reasons consistent with the principles of our order, the State Board of Officers has withdrawn the representatives.

Standing by the Public Schools.

"The educational question in the State of Illinois is one that has opened the eyes of many poople disinclined to believe the existence of any organization whose object was to undermine our public school system, but the attempts made by the last State Legislature of Illinois to this undesirable end was, in the eyes of every true American, alarming, and it will be for this body to de-termine whether we shall allow future attempts of a like nature to go without a word of protest or some counteraction on our part." This opened up the question as to whether or not the organization is to be allowed to take part in political campaigns when it is considered that the interests of the public school are at stake, which was practically decided in the affirmative. A Busy All-Night Session.

A night session is being held, and it will be long after midnight before the National Council adjourns. Matters are being rushed through lively, resolutions and changes in laws and indorsements of numerous matters are being voted upon without debate. The only matter that has yet received any consideration was a resolution presented by H. R. Peck, of Pittsburg, recognizing the O. U. A. M. as a uniformed rank of the Jr. O. U. A. M. as a uniformed rank of the Jr. O. U. A. M. There was considerable opposi-tion to it, but it finally went through by a small majority. The Daughters of Liberty was indorsed by the adoption of the resolution sent up from Pittsburg. The matter of the American Defense Association was again taken up and the organ-ization was indorsed, but the National Council stood by its former action in refusing to appropriate funds for the prosecu-tion of its work. Councils have been given the right to place a limit on the time in which benefits shall be paid.

which benefits shall be paid. Among the matters yet to be disposed of are plans of State Councilor Collins for a legis-lative committee, the subscription to the order's journals and quite a number of changes in the constitution and laws of the order. A number of the Pennsylvania del-egates left to-night for home, but the ma-jority will remain until morning.

A DEFICIENCY OF $600,000 In the Statement of the United States Treasnry Will be Shown To-Day.

the Treasurer's statement to be issued tomorrow will show a deficiency of $600,000 instead of the usual net cash balance. This is the first time this has occurred since the present form of statement was adopted by Treasurer Jordan. In making this calcula-tion, however, no account is taken of the $22,000,000 on deposit in national banks and the $20,000,000 fractional silver in the Treasury. The expenditures so far this month have been $8,188,824 in excess of the entire revenues of the Government during the same period, amounting to $18,221,852. These were exceeded by the pension pay-ments alone, which amounted to $18,312,-

155. Treasury officials say that the expenditures during the remainder of the month will be light, and that the receipts will be sufficiently heavy to overcome the present excess of expenditures and leave a small sur-plus for the month. These same officials say that the Treasurer's statement to-mor-row will not include the receipts during the past two days, and that if it did an actual surplus of $2,000,000 would be shown instead of an apparent deficiency. DESPERATE MEASURES IN CHILE.
