The most irregularity exists in the pig iron market, and it is probably due to the increased output. Few new orders have been placed for steel rails, but mills are running on full time on orders received While the real estate market is in good caused them to enter the market and make their arrangements for the fall trade, hence condition for the season, and with a strike in progress which touches it on every side, running on full time on orders received some weeks back, and which aggregate a neat round total. The general outlook continues favorable, and $30 is the bottom price for all rails. The demand for struct-ural material continues to improve, and mills are quite busy filling old orders and many new small ones which are constantly being placed. There is no line of the trade in which the outlook is more favorable, as there is quite a good deal of new business developing. That owners have confidence in the future is shown by their refusal in nearly all cases to make concessions, and, on the other hand, the large number of transfers shows very clearly that buyers, as a rule, have aban-doned the notion entertained by them early in the year, when money was scarce, that by holding off they would be granted better terms. DISPATCH,

All Along the Line. The local stock market yesterday was full of good features. Not only was trading com-paratively active, but the range was wider than for some time and most of the leading stocks stronger. The announcement of a 6 per cent divi-dend by the Airbrake company was suff-cient to send the stock up a point and a half. It opened at 91%, sold at 96, and closed at 50%, with 100 asked. A sale was reported after call at 96%. This burg Traction also experienced a little boom, advancing from 32% at the opening to Si at the close, with none in the market. The improvement was due to the semi-official nature of the report that consolidation with the Duquesne had been effected, and that the two systems would soon operate under one management. There is no longer a doubt that some agreement has been entered into by these corporations. Duquesne stock advanced to 13% bid, without bringing any of it out. Any amount of Birmingham could have been marketed at 20. Second Avenue improved half a point. Aroker with exceptionally good sources from the best authority. Just what the movement is has not been divulged, but it probably involves the purchase of the re-mainder of the minority stock." Electric was duel to steady. Mr. West-inghouse's anneuncement that the meeting for two weeks to give more time for the sur-render of stock, although not unexpected, was a bear card. The supply of oil is certain to prove capable of indefinite expansion to meet the growing demand for consumption, and the use of petroleum goes on increasing rapidly. In the United States and in foreign lands. In spite of the enormous development of the Russian oil field, the exports of petroleum and petroleum goducts from this country rain steadily. MINNEAPOLIS—Cash wheat was sold to-day mainly at $\frac{1}{2}$ decline from yesterday's rullings prices. The demand for No. 1 North-ern was good with early sales at $\frac{1}{2}$ to be over July. The bulk of the wheat sold at 99% c. The demand for No. 2 was limited and after the early demand was filled, the markot was very dul. Soft wheat was difficult to move at satisfactory prices, as millers don't want it. Low grades were dull.
