Pony Moore and Mitchell were in Slavin's company at the time, and the former pulled out a big wad of bank notes and wanted to put up the money on the spot. Mitchell, however, took the matter more coolly, and declared in a contemptuous tone that Sullivan was ouly a bluffer and wanted to make the match in order to advertise himself on his Australian starring tour, for which he starts from San Francisco next Thursday. "Frank," he added, turning to Slavin, "I'm usually with you, but if you make this match, I'm not."

The Australian champion seemed to be impressed by Mitchell's words, for he finally said that although he had engaged his passage for England on Saturday's steamer he would remain here and make the match, agreeing to any terms that might be named if Sullivan would forego his trip to Australia. This is the way matters stood early this morning.

"In calling your esteemed attention to above I hope you will forcibly present to your club the advantages to be derived from the State Association. There is no reason why Pennsylvania should not have such an organization, as would favorably compete with any in the country."

A Swimming Feat.

Yesterday evening Master Harry Good

wyn, the 9-year-old son of Manager Fred Goodwyn, of the Natatorium, performed the feat of swimming from the Sixteenth street bridge to the Point bridge, a distance of 1½ miles. Such a performance, while easy of accomplishment by a full-grown swimmer, is a phenomenal one by one of such tender years. The young shaver, who was accompanied by two experienced swim-mers in a boat, finished strong and well.

YESTERDAY'S LEAGUE GAMES.

Chicago ...... 3 Cleveland ...... Boston ..... 7 Brooklyn. ...... Philadelphia ...... 11 New York ....... 4 YESTERDAY'S ASSOCIATION GAMES. Cincinnati........14 Lousville ..........10

Washington ...... 6 Baltimore ... Yesterday's ball game at Exposition Park between the Cincinnati and home teams started out in a very interesting manner, but a heavy rain storm vetoed the proceed ings just as the fourth inning commenced.
There were about 1,000 people present, a good crowd for a Friday and a threatening day. When the game was declared off the score stood 3 to 1 in favor of the visitors, but was anybody's game for all that. The local players had two men on bases and no-body out in the fourth when play was stopped, and it is impossible for anybody to tell what the result would have been. Baldwin and Ehines were the pitchers and they both did well as long as the game lasted. Only three hits were made off each pitcher, but Rhines was hit harder than laldwin, as two of the local hits were doubles. The home players also had an carned run and the visitors had none. Two errors by Fields and one by Baldwin were sponsible for the three runs. Rhines gave two bases on balls and Baldwin one. Bier-bauer and Mack made the two two-baggers in the second inning.

Doubtless the Reds and the Pittsburgs make a great game when all goes well, but any fair-minded man can see that the local tesm are badly crippled. Miller was unable to play yesterday, and Relliy, though very sick, tried to play, but after trying one in-ning he was obliged to retire and Fields was substituted. This is only another proof of the very bad condition the team are in, and the very bad condition the team are in, and the misfortune is such that nobody can be reasonably responsible for it. Reilly stated last evening that he has not been in condition to play for several weeks, but that he has been trying to work his sickness off.

Scott Stratton was released yesterday, as President O'Neil and Manager Hanlon had come to the conclusion that Stratton's arm was "gone." These officials were reluctant to let Scott go, but they felt that they would not be doing their duty to the stockholders of the club by retaining him on the payroll when he was unable to do anything. Stratton told a friend yesterday that he would be all right.

Regarding Stratton a baseball patron said Regarding Stratton a baseban patron said last evening: "I don't believe Stratton's arm is injured, and I am sure he is playing off so as to get back to Louisville. At the ball grounds on Thursday he remarked to a friend of his that Louisville was the only town in the country to play in. He is home-sick, as he has never been away from home

With Stratton released the club is left with three regular pitchers, viz., King, Galvin and Baldwin. Maul will be retained as an extra pitcher, and he will be given a try in the box one of these days. If the three regular men can get into form they are quite able to do all the pitching for the team, and will do it well. But so far King has shown up very badly. It was stated yesterday that he was rapidly getting in good pitching condition again. With Stratton released the club is left with It is likely that the same batteries that played yesterday will officiate in to-day's

During yesterday's game two interesting presentations were unde. George Smith was presented with a handsome bouquet and Jake Beckley was presented with an extremely pretty young fox terrier. The dog was a real beauty and may win many prizes for Jake at the fashionable bench shows.

THE AMERICAN DERBY.

Probable Starters for the Big Western Event-Kingman the Favorite. CHICAGO, June 19.-The American Derby, which is to be run to-morrow at Washington Park, will be a race not only of great horses but of good lockeys. The famous Isaac Murphy will ride Kingman; Fred Taral, another noted jockey, will have the mount on Pessara; Covington will ride Strathmeath; Britton is to be on Vallera, Fitzgerald on Michael, Overton on Balgowan and Allen on Forerunner. Kingman is likely to go to the post a favorite but Strathmeath will have almost as strong a following. The general impression is that Morris would not have brought his great 3-year-old West had he not felt sure of winning.

Following are entries for the contest with weights they will carry: E. Brown's ch c Forerunner, 125; T. J. The Blairsville accommodation is due at Leechburg at 8:15 r. M., and it was flagged just in time to stop it a few feet from the washout. The train was well loaded with passengers. Only one man is reported to have been injured. His name was John Franks and he happened to be on the embankment when it was washed away. Two or three of his ribs were broken and he was otherwise injured. The house of a man named Bole was washed away. Besides his furniture be lost $30, a gold watch and some important papers, among them his discharge from the army. A half a dozen stables were also washed away, and several houses had their foundations unsettled.

The rainfall was so heavy that houses built on the side of the hills were flooded, something that never occurred bofore. A house on the hill owned by William Irwin was struck by lightning and badly damaged. This morning it was learned that bridges for four miles east of the town, along Anderson's run, were washed away. The track of the rainfall was so clearly developed that it showed that a cloud had burst about four miles from Leechburg. It will be some weeks before the damage done to bridges can be repaired. The Sunnyside Steel Works of Kirkpatrick & Co., Limited, were completely overflowed, leaving nothing remaining to be seen but the stacks and a little bit of the roof, The damage to this company will be very great. The pattern house of the Leechburg Foundry and Machine Company was also submerged.

"I had been troubled with the usual catarrhal symptoms, such as pain over the eyes, clogging up of the nostrils and dropping of tough, tenacious mucus into the throat, causing considerable hawking and spitting to raise, for several years," says Mr. Byers, "but the most annoying trouble was a severe hoarseness which developed later. It was for this trouble I consulted Dr. Byers, as I had heard him so highly spoken of in throat affections. After carefully examining my nostrils and throat by means of artificial light reflected by a mirror, he informed me that my trouble was due to an ulcerative PURE WHISKIES.

"This hoarseness at times was so aggra-vated I could scarcely speak above a whis per, and I often feared I would lose my voice per, and I often feared I would lose my voice permanently. My mind was therefore greatly relieved when Dr. Byers said he could cure me if I would stay with him long enough, at the same time informing me it would require considerable time and patience on my part. Well, I gave him a fair trial, remaining under his treatment seven months and you will notice by the clearness of my voice that he kept his promise. I am more than satisfied with the results of the treatment, as my catarrh symptoms are all gone and my voice is once more strong and natural. From my own experience I am satisfied that many cases of catarrh considered incurable are as curable as mine if people would only exemptify the same spirit of perseverance I did."
