hibition of how not to pitch simply because one of his team made at error. Up to the sixth inning he had been doing magnificent work in the box, frequently retiring the Clevelands when men were on bases and the prospects of a succession of seemed imminent. Cleveland had made but one hit, and from the way is which Baldwin fooled them the spectators began to believe that the team never other and Ruldwin at once proceeded to lose his temper or his good udgment and the home team, with bases on alls and a couple of timely hits, began to make some runs. Everybody at the game Felt Sorry for Berger.

He was trying to do the best that he could, ut he is not an infielder and never will make one until his confidence is restored. He fairly shook when the ball came toward him, and in spite of the fact that he is a splendid thrower he couldn't put the ball to first base accurately to save all his season's salary. After the fifth inning Manager Leadley concluded that Beatin never could Leadley concluded that Beatin never could with the game if he permitted him to stay in the box, because he had no speed whatever and was trusting solely to his slow ball. It is true that he was not responsible for the runs that Pittsburg got, as Davis made a fluke on a long hit because of the sun, but it looked every minute as though Pittsburg would get at the ball and pound it in all discretizes.

or side could find a run in the first, Neither side could find a run in the first, thengh each got a man as far as the initial lang on a base on balls. In the second inning Carroll cracked a hot grounder that Denny beat down with his left hand, but could not throw to first in time to catch the big fielder. Carroll stole second and Hanlon's sacrifice sent him to third. Fields arroad out a long fly that was lost in the lon's sacrifice sent him to third. Fields rapped out a long fly that was lost in the sun and made two bases out of it, Carroll crossing the plate. Denny fumbled Berger's het hit and a fly was dropped in right center, Fields scoring and Berger crossing the plate on Doyle's wild throw to third; three runs were in for the Burgers. In the next inning Browning started with a clean single and Bierbauer made a sacrifice. Carroll hit to left field for two bases and Browning scored.

Browning Was Stubborn. Pittsburg had a splendid opportunity to score in the fifth, but Browning, with his usually perversity, refused to sacrifice, and a double play resulted. After that Viau nitched a winning game. In the sixth inning or Cleveland Doyle began with a base on balls, and Virtue hit to Bierbauer, In trying to make a double play Berger threw wildly and Virtue went to second. Zimmer knocked a grounder to Berger and he threw wild again, Virtue scoring and Zimmer going to second. Then Hanlon took wild again, Virtue scoring and Zimmer going to second. Then Hanlon took Berger's place. Denny made a clean hit and Zimmer scored, Viau got a base on balls and Denny scored on Davis' single after McKean struck out. Johnson began the next inning with a single and two batters went out after him. Zimmer knocked a tremendous fly to left field, and carroll made a hard run for the ball but dropped it. Johnson scoring and Zimmer going to third. Denny's single sent Zimmer vans. Vian followed with a single and

A POOL SELLING DECISION.

No Discrimination in the Business Allowe in the Windy City.

Cricaco, June 25.—The Appellate Court banded down a decision in which it held that an crainance of the city which prohibits pool selling outside of the enclosures of race courses during the progress of race meetings is invalid because it discriminates in favor of certain localities and certain persons.

The fact that the ordinance is in the words of the State law is declared to cut no figure for the reason that the authority to pass the ordinance is not derived from that law, but from the law for the incorporation of cities and towns, which gives them power to suppress but not power to regulate gambling. According to this decision, parties may sell pools in any other portion of the city if the authorities permit it at Washington Park or other inclosed race tracks.

Cornell Wins the Big Boat Race on the Thames, Defeating the Pennsylvania and Columbia Crews After a Hard Puil-The Winners Make a New Record.

New London, Conn., June 25 .- One of the most exciting races ever rowed on the Thames river took place this afternoon over the three-mile course between the Cornell. University eight-oared crews. Cornell won after a hard contest in the fast time of 14 minutes 2716 seconds; University of Pennsylvania second by four lengths, time, 14 minutes 45 seconds. Columbia was a bad third, being five lengths behind the Pennsylvania crew and eight lengths behind Cornell. Cornell's time establishes a new record, the previous best time being 14 minutes 43 secprevious best time being 14 minutes as seconds over the same course by the same crew last year. The surprise of the day was the unexpected poor showing made by the Columbia crew. The feature was the remarkably close race between Cornell and Pennsylvania, each of the two crews holding the lead at times before the first mile had been rowed, and for two miles it was impossible to name the winner. The conditions for the fast time were excellent. The water was smooth, a strong current running and a favorable wind also assisting. At 3:30 the crews came in sight, Cornell and Pennsylvania on their tugs, while Columbia paddled down in their shell. With very little delay the crews backed up to their stakeboats and were at once given word. The Pennsylvanias got the best of the start and their boat jumped a few feet to the front, with Cornell second, while Columbia, besides making a poor start, seemed to lose at every stroke. In the first ten strokes Cornell's boat shot up even with Pennsylvania, and for an eighth of a mile they were so close that a lead could not be fairly credited to either crew. Nearing the half-mile flag the Pennsylvania boat forged nearly half a length ahead of Cornell, with Columbia two lengths behind and hopelessly out of the race.

Coming up to the navy yard, three-quaronds over the same course by the same crew gradually crept up alongside of the Pennsylvania crew and as the boats neared the mile vania crew and as the boats neared the mile flag Cornell sent their boat up on even terms with Pennsylvania. For a few seconds the Pennsylvania boys held their position, the boats being bow and bow, while Columbia had lost another length. All of the crews were pulling in splendid form, the two leading sending their shells through the water at a fast rate of speed, while the Columbia boat settled and seemed to hang after each stroke. From the one-mile to the two-mile flag the race between Cornell and Pennsylvania was most exciting. It was the decisive flag the race between Cornell and Pennsylvania was most exciting. It was the decisive point of the race. The Cornells worked like beavers to obtain an advantage, which they did inch by inch, while Pennsylvania worked equally as bard to save themselves from defeat. At the two-mile flag Cornell just showed clear of Pennsylvania's bow with Columbia five lengths behind Pennsylvania. Pennsylvania made another effort to regain the lead and succeeded in lapping Cornell's bow, but the effort was too much for them and the Cornell men responding to Cornell's bow, but the effort was too much for them and the Cornell men responding to a final call hit their stroke up to 41 and ran away from Pennsylvania, finishing a strong winner, with Columbia at the rear of the procession. The men in Cornell's and Pennsylvania's boats finished in good condition. In Columbia's boat No. 6 and the stroke appeared to be exhausted. The time for the first half mile was 2:20, and for the first mile 443. Cornell has now won 18 straight races.

243. Cornell has now won 13 straight races

Commissioner Morgan and General McCook visited the Moquis last fall and directed the Superintendent to gather into the schools all the Indian children he could ded schools all the Indian children he could find of school age. The present difficulties, it is said, have grown out of the fact that the Indians are opposed to sending their chil-dren to school A Tribe of Savage Hermits.

Mr. Morgan, in speaking further of the Moqui Indians, said they occupy three high and rocky ridges running parallel with each other and at right angles with the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad, about 75 miles north of Hot Brook station and west of Kean's Canon. They are always in great fear of the Navajos, who, it is said, often despoil them Navajos, who, it is said, often despoil them of their small crops and in other ways make life a burden to them.

From fear of the Navajos they built their small adobe and dirt cabins among the barren rocks, and there they have lived probably for ages. The squaws carry their wood and water from the valleys far below their villages, and their small crops are, in many cases, grown far from their cabins. They rarely see a white man and know absolutely nothing of the outside world, never having left their own rocky hills. They are strongly prejudiced against schools and the white man's ways, and no doubt will stoutly resist any further attempt to bring their children within enlightening influences.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH.] NORPOLK, June 25 .- During a heavy thunder storm that passed over Princess Anne county last night, the home of Howard Joynes, a visited by a fearful calamity from the strange tactics of a lightning ball. Mr. and Mrs. Joynes were scated in the kitchen of the dwelling near a stove. The flash was seen in the form of a ball of fire, that played at the root of a large oak tree, tearing it from the root of a large oak tree, tearing it from the ground.

The death-dealing mass then struck the stove in the kitchen, shattering it to atoms. The electric ball struck Mrs. Joynes in the breast, killing her instantly, the body turning black in color immediately after the stroke. A small babe sitting upon its mother's lap was also instantly killed, yet no marks were found upon its body. The house caught fire and was nearly burned to the ground. The afflicted husband is thought to be demented by grief.

the storm indicate that it was worse than at first reported. A courier has just arrived at Aurelia from Cherokee, giving the information that 100 houses at Cherokee have been washed away, but no further loss of life is reported there, beyond the four persons whose drowning was reported yesterday. It is known that six persons met their death in the country around about Correction-ville, and the number is reported as increased to eight. Houses, barns and outhouses were floating in the Little Sioux, past Cherokee all day. No one knows where they come from, but they are presumed to be from Sutherland.

Last night most of the distressed people of Cherokee found shelter in the G. A. R. and Odd Fellows Halls, and arrangements were made whereby they might be cared for until some action is taken. To-day the town presented a very sorrowful appearance. Those houses that remain on the flat are almost buried in mud. People have begun to clean up the rubbish. The destruction in Cherokee alone is about $100,000, besides, almost all these are transfer or restricted. stock pastured near the water was carried

An Illinois Central work train has su in reaching a point one mile east of Cheroer progress is barred by a vast expanse of water, stretching as far as the eye can reach. It is feared there will be added to present sufferings of citizens the pangs of hunger. All the surplus stock of provisions was destroyed by the flood, and the town is now as effectually isolated from the outer world as if no railroads were in existence. No one dare to brave the flood in boats. The wagon roads are all impassable in the valley, and no prospect is seen of reaching the people from any direction until the water subsides.

The storm of Tuesday was the severest thatever visited Northwestern Iowa, and the rain, which fell in torrents, was accompanied by a high wind that bordered on a cyclone. Hundreds of acres of crops were devastated, and the destruction to other property was enormous.

All the Railroads Knocked Out. The damage to railroad property is especially heavy. The north and south branches of the Illinois Central from Cherokee were rendered useless for the time being, and no trains are running. The main line is idle west of Cherokee by the taking away of the west of Cherokee by the taking away of the bridges and the damage to the roadbed. Between Le Mars and Sioux City Mills the track is under water. The Chicago and Northwestern, the Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis and Omaha, and the Sioux City and Northern are also heavy losers.

The Illinois Central refuses to sell tickets or ship freight from Chicago to any point west of Aurelia. At Le Mars the Floyd river is three-fourths of a mile wide, and everything is under water. The track has been carried away and the bridges are gone, all the result of a wall of water six feet high that rolled down the stream yesterday and irresistibly carried everything before it. Vice President Harahan and General Superintendent Sullivan are both on the scane directing the operations of a large force of directing the operations of a large force of repairmen. The Omaha branch is under water for many miles. As far as is known about 15 miles of the Illinois Central Com-pany's tracks are blocked or out of sight.

Reports all along the rail indicate that the storm is general only in the eastern third of the State. Both the Santa Fe and the Kansas Pacific Railroads are washed out between here and Lawrence, and all west-bound trains are laid up at Lawrence waiting until the track can be fixed. Washouts have also occurred at Williamstown, on the Union Pacific and on the Santa Fe. The damage to the crops will be great, as the harvest is in full blast in Eastern and Southern Kansas. Wheat already out and lying in the field, or carelessly shocked, will be almost entirely rained. vashed out between here and Lawrence, and tween Lee Farmer and Jim Taylor. They live about six miles from this place. There was a small fight on Sunday night, and a trial for assault was set for Wednesday. Relatives of both parties were there, including old man Nix, his son, Nan Nix, and son-in-law, Fount McConnell and J. T. Largen, and two boys, D. Thrasher and Walter Alexander. The other side consisted of Jim Taylor and his sons John, Bud, Bine and a boy.

The lawsuit was satisfactorily settled, and all were starting home when hot words began between Nan Nix and John Taylor, and Nix shot Taylor, whereupon the latter drew his knife and cut Nix in several places. The relatives of both parties were soon on the ground, and a pitched battle ensued, in which rocks, knives, sticks and pistols were used. They fought until all were tired but nobody was killed. The following are the wounded: Jim Taylor, skull crushed and may die; John Taylor, shot in the lungs and badly cut, condition dangerous; Bine Taylor, head beaten and face cut, condition critical; A. T. McConnell, bad cut in back of head; J. T. Largen, slight cuts on arm and side: Nan Nix, cut-on the throat and head, and hurt very badly; Miss Nora Alexander, struck on the head by a rock, making a slight wound.

THE FIRE RECORD.

AT New London, Conn., yesterday afternoon, the boiler shop of the Morgan Iron Works took fire and was completely destroyed. The upper part of the building was for the storage of patterns that can't be replaced. Loss estimated at $39,000. At Philadelphia yesterday morning a spark from a tin roofer's stove set fire to a wooden extension on the roof of the United States Mint, but the prompt arrival of the firemen prevented the spread of the flames, and beyond a loss of $300 to the roof no dam-age was done. A FIRE occurred yesterday afternoon in the basement of the five-story building of Columbia College, New York, caused by a barrel of al-

They were taken to Bellevue Hospital. The damage was not more than WAYSIDE HOTEL, a summer resort ten miles west of Erie, on the bank of Lake Erie, was destroyed yesterday. The property was owned by John Bernritter, and the loss will amount to $7,000, on which there is an insurance of $1,500. The fire originated from a sudden pressure of gas, which set the building on fire and was not discovered until it had gained too much headway.

AT Philadelphia early yesterday morning the big stables of the gas works, fronting on Chestnut street, were destroyed. For a time the Rink and the Baltimore and Ohio station were threatened. The flames swept the structure like a flash. When the blaze started there were about '20 horses stabled on the first and second floors, and about half a dozen were lost. Loss, $30,000.

At Elmira, N. Y., yesterday morning H. C. Spaulding & Co.'s planting mill, adjoining the folling mill, was destroyed. Two dwelling house and a storehouse near the mill were destroyed. Topeka, Kas., June 25 .- Reports received here put an entirely new phase on the kill-ing of Colonel Sam Wood by James Brennan, at Hugotown, Tuesday. The friends of Colonel Wood have written that he was as-out by the correspondents were previously submitted to the faction to which the murderer belonged, and approved. The most complete detail of the killing is given in a letter written to A. N. Mackay, of this city,

As soon as Wood came out of the Court House Brennan shot him in the shoulder. Wood ran, and Brennan shot him in the back of the head. Still Wood did not fall, but turned around and Brennan shot him under the right eye. The letter further says:

When the letter was received Mr. Mackay visited the Governor and insisted on the Attorney General being sent to Stephens county to prosecute the case. an enemy of Wood, the latter having instituted proceedings contesting his election. Mackay also insisted that a judge from another district be called on to try the case. It has been impossible to get any reliable news from Stephens county until to-day. The telegraph operators near the town of Hugotown refused to make any reports, and the newspaper reports had to be submitted before they were sent out. All the leading papers in the State denounce the killing, and it will probably result in forcing Judge Botkin from the bench.
