

THE RULER OF HAITI

Will Surely Have to Resign or He Will Be Assassinated.

SO DECLARES A RECENT RESIDENT,

Who Gives Several Names of Those Who Are After the Office.

WHAT THE UNITED STATES WANTS

(FROM A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.)

WASHINGTON, June 27.—Mr. N. B. Walker, for five years a resident of Port Au Prince, and who was in Haiti during the recent troubles, arrived in this city to-day and talked interestingly to friends in regard to the recent uprising and assassinations. His story is very similar in its historical features to that already telegraphed, although he believes that the number of assassinations is larger than reported.

Mr. Walker's talk about the effect of the trouble, and of the future of the Republic is especially interesting. Being asked in regard to the tenure of Hippolyte's term of office, he said:

"Hippolyte will either have to resign or he will be assassinated. As to who is likely to be his successor, that is difficult to determine, as there are quite a number of aspirants. First, there is Fouchard, who was Minister of Finance and Commerce under the Salomon administration. I don't know but what he stands the best chance for election; in fact, I think he does not, but I mention him first because his name occurs to me. General Mont Plant, of whom I have spoken before as the one to whom Hippolyte owes his military success, is likely to stand a good show for election. When Hippolyte first became President Mont Plant was made Minister of Marine and retained that position until he had amassed sufficient wealth to retire. He now says he has all the money he wants and does not care to again enter into politics, but he is looked upon as a very possible successor to the Presidency when a vacancy shall occur. Then there is Mangin, who was one of the Ministers of the Salomon regime, holding the position of Secretary of the Interior. He is now an exile, having been since the 24 of June, 1888. He has quite a following, and some believe he has already been made that he will be the next President.

Some of the Candidates.

"General Piquant and Baron Canal are also spoken of. The latter was formerly President of the Republic and abdicated in favor of Salomon, but he was not satisfied with that administration and he led the insurrection that caused the downfall of Salomon and placed Legitime in power. His speaking of Legitime it is by no means improbable that he may return to power. He is greatly thought of by the best people in the Republic. He is an educated man himself and has naturally the support of the wealthy and refined classes. He is essentially a man of peace and it is believed by his adherents that if he should return to power he would inaugurate an extensive system of internal improvements and endeavor to benefit and elevate his people."

"There is always going to be this continual turmoil and unsettled condition," asked the interviewer.

"It looks so. French and English residents there have asked me why the United States don't take the island. I tell them we don't want it; we do not seek colonial possessions. Our Monroe doctrine also keeps away other nations from increasing their possessions on this continent. I am inclined to believe that the French have a lingering hope that one day they will get the island again in their possession."

What the United States Wants

"Certainly, there is a great deal of business done with that republic and there are many representatives from other nations there and they all suffer during these outbreaks. American, French, English and German merchants all suffer and all have claims for property destroyed or for damages. The French Minister has taken the initiative in the settlement of these claims. It was agreed between him and the Haitian Government that five commissioners should be appointed by each Government who should consider and adjust the claims of the residents on the island. The French Commissioners were named, but Haiti has not yet named her representatives. I suppose the other Governments are waiting to see the result in the case of the French before taking any active steps in regard to their own citizens. Haiti is a beautiful island. It is rich in land and products and ought to be prosperous, but it never will be until it has some stable form of government."

NOT DECLARED YET.

The Chilean Congressional Agents Remain Quiet at the Capital.

WASHINGTON, June 27.—Don Pedro Mont and his associates representing the Chilean Congressional party made no effort to-day to meet the President, Acting Secretary Wharton or any of the Government officers, and have so far given no official notice of their presence in Washington or their mission to the United States. Their position as representatives of what is rightly or wrongly regarded in this country as an insurgent party, makes extreme delicacy necessary, and the exercise of tact in their effort to establish communication with the officials of this Government. It is therefore probable that their first overtures will be made only after unofficial means have been taken to lead up to their object and make clear the justice of their claims, that the so-called insurgent party should not be allowed to secure the rights of belligerents in the United States. The principal advantage expected to accrue from such recognition is rather of a negative character, as it would not involve allowance of the right of the Congressional party to buy arms and recruit men in the United States, but would prevent the Balmaceda government from exercising this right as it may now, and would thus place both factions on an equality.

Gibson, of the Whisky Trust, charging him with conspiracy and with having explosives in his possession. The charge of attempt to blow up the Shufeldt distillery was taken under advisement.

—The Anti-Prohibition Convention at Janesville, Wis., has disbanded its labors. "We believe that no people was ever legislated into morality," the platform declared, and continues: "We are opposed to local option, because its success means the down-fall of personal liberty. Wherever the local option principle has taken root the most strict prohibition measures have followed. It will come in Wisconsin as surely as it has come in Iowa, Kansas and Dakota."

—A canvass of Frenchmen has been made out Tolstol's denunciation of tobacco and alcohol. General thinks they produce sluggishness, and therefore affect the will, but not the conscience. He says he does not drink wine for the reason that it does not agree with him. He disagrees with Tolstol's opinions. Dr. Charcot thinks Tolstol's tenets exaggerated and false. "Dandies said he had found that smoking assisted and intoxication prevented work."

—During a heavy thunder storm that passed over Princess Anna county, Va., Wednesday night, the house of Howard Jones, was struck by lightning. Mr. and Mrs. Joyner were seated in the kitchen of the dwelling near the store. The flash was seen in the form of a ball of fire, that played at the roof of a large oak tree, tearing it from the ground. The death dealing mass then struck the stove in the kitchen, shattering it to atoms. The electric ball struck Mrs. Joyner in the breast, killing her instantly. A small baby sitting upon its mother's lap was also instantly killed, yet no marks were found upon its body. The house caught fire and was nearly burned to the ground.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

Having now my new Fur Establishment well under way, it is my desire to interest you sufficiently in my new offering to induce you to honor me with a visit and an inspection of the goods and work turned out by me.

What the utmost care in the selection of Sealskins, what both money and time could accomplish, nothing was left undone so as to be able to show the richest, the largest, the finest line of Sealskins ever seen in Western Pennsylvania. And as with the quality of the Sealskins so with the standard of the men, brought from the East by me to cut and make up these skins into Scaques and Mantles.

But precisely the same care and attention will I give the redyeing and the general alterations of old Seal Scaques. While I can positively guarantee my new work, both as to fit and quality, I shall in no less a degree endeavor to please the most fastidious as to rehashing, redyeing or other repairs of an old sqaque. By using the same dye as on the new sqaques I can give an old one the same luster, the same appearance, almost, as a new garment, and only at a moderate cost.

That my charges for new work as well as for repairs will be very moderate I hardly need to emphasize here. During a period of 20 years back in the manufacturing line I have demonstrated this fact to the many thousands of my patrons and the flourishing condition of both the Ladies' and Gentlemen's Silk and Straw Hat Manufacturing Departments is sufficient proof of moderate prices.

Requesting the favor of a call from you, I remain Your obedient servant,
