DIED AT DAYBREAK.

District Attorney Johnston Cut Down in the Prime of Life.

HIS DEATH DUE TO HEART FAILURE.

Judges and Lawyers Wept When They Received the Sad News.

TROUBLE IN SELECTING A SUCCESSOR

District Attorney Richard H. Johnston friend of the masstood 6 feet 4 inches and of magnificent propor-tionment. Every , man whom this young but able became his friend. His magnetism was wonderful. He pressive appear-was a man of imance, yet without the least show of ostentation. He was a born diplomat, yet honest in every fiber. Although he had not reached his 36th year he was a sound authority on all legal questions and though a pronounced Democrathe was sen to the position which he so ably filled by a majority of 10,000 and in a county where there is a Republican majority of over 8,000. He was the brightest District Attorney Allegheny county ever had, and the system he introduced of conducting the affairs of the office is one that will stand for

Result of a Brief filness Mr. Johnston's attack came on several weeks ugo, when he attended a reception at Watson home in East End. When he left there he complained of stomach troubles and later inflammation of the bowels set in and later inflammation of the bowels set in.

He remained in bed until a week ago, when he started to prepare for the famous Fitzsimmons cuse. He, however, was compelled to return to Mercy Hospital. He began to sink at 3:30 yesterday morning. His mother and sister were summoned to his side, but life was gone before they arrived.
The news of his death cast a gloom over the Court House, for every one who knew Dick Johnston loved him. In Criminal Court there were but few dry eyes, and Fitzsimmons, the murderer and outlaw, and Laura Snowden, the adventuress, ceased to attract any attention. The oppressive silence was finally broken by Thomas M. Marshall, who said:

The news we have received this morning uches the hearts of all of us. We have los touches the hearts of all of us. We have lost a dear friend. In view of this and out of re-spect for him whom we all loved and hon-ored, I would move that this court adjourn until such time as your honors may select his successor. There is much that might b aid, but I cannot say more just now than I said, but I cannot say more just now than I have said."

Mr. Marshall's voice was trembling and be resumed his seat and buried his face in his hands. Judge Collier then said:

"Never in my life have I received so great a shock as I did an hour ago. I learned to love the deceased District Attorney. I loved him because he was a man, because of his devotion to duty, because of his integrity, because of his desire to do justice to ail, the high and the low, the rich and they poor. I say now, in my humble opinion, the poople of Allegheny county have suffered a loss which it will take them a long time to repair. I approve of the motion of the oldest, as well as the most distinguised member of the Allegheny county bar."

dge Slagle, whose emotion was apparen id: "I have nothing to say whatever. Mr Johnston was very near to me, not only officially but personally; so near to me that officially but personally; so near to me that I cannot express myself now. I approve of the promiety of the motion made by Mr.
Marshall. This court will adjourn until Monday merning, and any business intervening will be postponed until that time."
Court was then adjourned and the CountyCommissioners at once caused the desk, and railing surrounding it, of the District Attorney to be draped in black. The sable covering of the desk will remain for 30 days.

Attorney to be draped in black. The sable covering of the desk will remain for 30 days in memory of the brilliant mind whose possessor has occupied the place with such credit to himself and benefit to the people of this county.

The Executive Committee of the Bar Association met yesterday afternoon and issued a call for a meeting of the Association this afternoon at 30 clock, to take action on Mr. Johnston's death. The officers of the meeting will be: Hon. John Dalzell, President; Judges Collier, Mages and Porter, and Ceorge Shiras, Jr., John S., Robb, Thomas Patterson, W. M. Watson and William J. Brenman, Vice Presidents; Arthur Kennedy, C. A. Fagan and H. L. Goehring, Secretaries; Henry Meyer, O. C. Dickey, R. S. Martin, James S. Young, Lewis McMullen and E. Y. Breck, Committee on Resolutions. All of the members of the Committee on Resolutions are life long friends of the deceased lawyer.

Resolutions of Condolence. As soon as court adjourned the criers and tipstaves of the Quarter Sessions met and copted the following resolutions: WHENEAS, It has pleased Almighty God to recove from our midst the Hon, R. H. Johnston Street Attorney; therefore, R. H. Johnston, istruct Attorney; therefore, Resolved, That in the death of the Hon, R. H. Johnston, the officers of this court have lost a true limit, one that always could be relied upon to we negood advice and kind assistance. Resolved, That in his death the county has lost a code safert, an affile lawyer, learned, erudite, just, honest and true man, "the noblest work of an honost and true man, 'the nonces' Gold 'Realved, That we extend to the bereaved family our learniest sympathy in this, their sad suffiction, it would, That we attend the funeral in a body, and that we wear mourning for 30 days.

Realved, That a copy of these resolutions is sent to the family.

N. S. Williams, who went to school with Dick Johnston, as everybody familiary called him, said he was the same kind of boy that he was a man. He was popular with his fellows, and was always genial and kind hearted. In 1830, when he was not more than 26 years old, he came within an acc of being hominated by the Demoorats for Congressman at Large. In that year his party won, and if he didn't reach the National House then there is no telling into want high office he would have landed if death had not suddenly checked his mortal career.

Sketch of Mr. Johnston's Life.

Sketch of Mr. Johnston's Life. Mr. Johnston was born in the Fourth ward, Pitteburg, July 10, 1856. His father was William F. Johnston, who was Governor of Pennsylvania from 18i8 to 1852. When Mr. Johnston was 14 years of age he was Mr. Johnston was 14 years of age he was sent to Helmuth College, London, Ontario. From there he went to Yale Law School, graduating in 1876. He practiced in Kittanning until 1882, when he commenced his practice in Pittsburg with Henry Meyer. He greatest reputation was made as a criminal lawyer, although he had a large civil practice. In 1880 the Democrats pitted him against Arch H. Rowand for District Attorney and the result was the most crushing defeat the Republicans ever received in Allegheny county. During his term he has already convicted five men of marder in the first degree. His greatest case was when he defended Superintendent Stow, of the Ft. Wayne Railroad, who was charged with the murder of Miss who was charged with the murder of Miss Weyman, who was killed by a train at the Federal street crossing. Although Franklin B. Gowan was one of the Prosecuting Attorneys, Mr. Johnston cleared his man. He was also an attorney in the Panhandle robbery cases.

THE DEAD LAWYER'S SUCCESSOR. A Chance for a Legal Complication Amon

the Judges. The appointment of a successor to Mr. Johnston, to serve until January, lies with the court and it is probable that a Repub-lican will be appointed. The place is cisimed for Assistant Attorney Haymaker, although or Assistant Attorney Haymaker, although a number of other candidates are ready to contest for the piace. The act providing for the filling of the vacancy in this office places the power to appoint in the hands of the Junges of the Court of Common Pleas. It was proved when Allegheny county had but one Common Pleas Court and now it is not known whether the judges of the two additional courts will have a voice in the selection. The office will be filled permanently at the coming fail election. It is understood that Clarence Burleigh will be the leading candi-date, Among the others mentioned are Arch H. Rowand, Assistant District Attorney Martin, H. T. Gaylor, Andrew C. Robertson and S. E. Cornelius.

such a rule of court that the printed paper books used in the court below may be accepted in the Courts of Appeals without reprinting. The matter was one of interest to attorneys, and meant a considerable saving of money to clients.

Judge Acheson, in his reply, said the resolution was laid before the Judges. An understanding was reached that the court would accept such paper books if in the form prescribed by court rule No. 28, and provided they are supplemented so as to set forth the special matters, such as the "abatement of the case" and specifications of error required by rule 24. It was not deemed necessary to adopt any formal rule on the subject, but the practice indicated will be approved. approved.

Wants $15,000 for Two Legs.

Attorneys Moore and McGirr and D. l Patterson yesterday entered suit in behalf of Wilhelmina Egelberger by her next friend, Teresa Eheman, against the Alle-gheny Valley Railroad C mpany for $15,000 damages. It is alleged that January 12, 1888, the plaintiff, then 13 years old, was run over by a train at the Twenty-sixth street crossing. Both her legs were cut off, one above and one below the knee. The company, it is claimed, is liable because there were no safety gates or watchman at the crossing, and no bells were rung or whistles blown.

Fighting for an Estate.

The matter of the distribution of the esate of the late Mrs. Ann Qualters was heard before Judge Over in the Orphans' Court yesterday. Mrs. Qualters was a widow with yeserday, arrs quanters was a window with four children when she married Mr. Qual-ters, who was a widower with two children. It is asserted that he gave her his carnings to save and bought three leaseholds which he placed in her name. Her children now claim his whole estate, while Qualters' two children want a share.

The following frank statement from J. E. Hare, of Trenton, Texas, will be of interest to many of our citizens: "My little boy was very bad off for two months with diarrhea. We used various medicines, also called in two doctors, but nothing done him any good until we used Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, which gave im-mediate relief and soon cured him. I consider it the best medicine made, and can conscientiously recommend it to all who need a diarrhea or cholic medicine." wsu
