

JOYS OF A GREAT DAY.

Nothing but Rain Can Spoil the Patriotic Demonstrations.

INTEREST CENTERS IN THE PARK.

Plenty of Picnics and Out-Door Entertainments Prepared For.

BUSINESS HOUSES WILL ALL BE CLOSED.

The weather bureau rightly predicted rain for last evening. If its prophecy of fair and warmer weather for to-day proves equally correct the Fourth of July and about Pittsburgh will be successful. While the attractions in the city will be of the very finest, many will spend a portion of the whole of the day outside. Picnics by the score have been arranged, and scarcely a convenient grove or resort within easy reaching distance of the city will be without its merry parties. The Fourth of July, like other warm-weather holidays, always has its out-of-town attractions. This year it will be especially so, and hundreds of Pittsburgh's populace will spend the early day quietly among the fields and woods. But to counteract this outpouring of people just as many will come from surrounding towns to spend the day in the city. As a result the railroads will reap a double harvest.

Greatest Attractions at the Park.

The great attraction above all others will be the ceremonies at Schenley Park. The last contribution to the fund was yesterday. Collector Wernicke sent in a donation of $25, making the total amount $5,400. This will cover all the expenses of the day.

The Mayor yesterday gave out the last of the grandstand tickets for the morning exercises. There were only 600 of them, that being the seating capacity of the stand, but there were applications for several thousand more which could not be granted.

A special issue of grandstand tickets will be made for the fireworks display in the evening. These will be issued at the press headquarters in the frame house opposite the grandstand in the evening at 7 o'clock. Persons who have contributed to the celebration fund will be given the first choice of seats.

The trouble over the bridge at the park entrance, which resulted in an application for an injunction by Milton I. Baird to restrain the city from proceeding, was settled yesterday. Judge Rice and the Mayor signed an indemnifying bond of $20,000 on behalf of the city to insure payment of any damages to Baird's property. The injunction was not issued by the court, and the workmen on the bridge were not interrupted. It is not absolutely certain that the bridge will be opened for vehicle travel this morning. But the footwalks for pedestrians will be completed without a doubt and will be a great convenience to the people who must walk to the park.

Chief Rice has graded and rolled the wagon road from Forbes street to the bridge in anticipation of its completion. He has also graded and fenced a passage way for vehicles and pedestrians from Fifth avenue to Forbes street, opposite the park entrance.

The Last Touches Put On.

All day yesterday carpenters were busily engaged in the erection of lunch and refreshment stands in every section of the park. Over 100 stands were built and a number of them are of large proportions, capable of holding enough provisions to feed an army.

The Duquesne Traction Company has issued orders to conductors to stop cars at the park entrance, and the Fifth avenue line will follow the same plan. The traction companies will all make special provision for accommodating the people and will vie with each other in landing passengers quickly and safely. The Second avenue line will put on extra cars and compete with other lines by transferring its passengers at Laughlin station and hauling them in cabs to the park.

Arrangements for the day at Schenley Park so far as the committee have been able to make them have been completed. Twenty-five thousand programmes have been printed and will be distributed free to-day at the park. The programme contains all the events of the day in their regular order, from the hoisting of the national colors at 9 o'clock this morning to the firing of the final piece of fireworks to-night. The following committees have been selected:

Managers—H. I. Gourley, E. M. Rigdon, C. Magee, John Gripp, Clarence Blythe, Major Joseph F. Denniston, P. McClaren, W. H. House, C. E. Saxon, Dr. Alex. E. McAndrews, William H. Grier, D. W. Walker, Castle, Bernard McKenna, Felix McKnight, W. H. Keech, S. H. Given, J. P. Andrews and Archibald Francis.

Reception Committee—E. S. Morrow, W. E. Ford, J. B. Case, D. H. Leslie, Torrence, Robert Ostermayer, A. H. Leslie, Torrence, Reisher, Theodore Doeringer, John S. Lamb, George W. H. Lamb, J. H. Lamb, John Clure, James H. Hyndman, Evan Jones, John Linton, James McKibbin and Lemuel Crocogian.

They will be on the grounds early, and it is the Mayor's earnest request that they will do all in their power to make it pleasant for the people.

Things Not to Be Overlooked.

Prof. L. Mantell, of Wilkinsburg, has made two large balloons 20 feet high and 12 feet wide, which he intends to send up in Schenley Park at 8 o'clock in the evening. The opening of the balloons will be the only thing that will be the least enjoyable feature of the Fourth. The committee has purchased several hundred dollars' worth of fireworks. The fireworks will be set off above the upper Bedford basin within easy walking distance of the people of the hill yards. Music will be furnished by the orchestral band in the evening. The Select Knights' Band in the evening. Hon. John Dallish is on the programme for the opening address, and several other well-known gentlemen will speak. The park has been fitted out with seats and various outdoor ornaments, and while yet in an embryonic state, is a pretty place.

The Southside celebration will open at 8 o'clock this morning at South Side street, and Carson streets, where a large grand stand has been erected. The programme published in THE DISPATCH yesterday will be carried out. It includes speeches, singing and fireworks in the evening.

One of the East End Features.

Among the features of the celebration this evening in the East End will be an elaborate display of fireworks from the Linden Club House, on Linden avenue, near Penn. Besides the stock attraction there will be a number of special set pieces, and remarkable pyrotechnic phenomena may accordingly be witnessed from and after 8 o'clock on that quarter of the horizon.

The First Regiment, United American Mechanics, will hold the largest picnic of the day at Rock Point, as arrangements have been made to feed the people there.

Two dancing platforms will be furnished music by the U. A. M. orchestras and the First Regiment, U. A. M. Band will give a concert on the grove at 7 o'clock. The committee have purchased $300 worth of fireworks, which will be set off in the evening, after the arrival of the afternoon trains from Pittsburgh and Allegheny, in time to let those who desire to see the first train to the city. Colonel Moody, of the Pennsylvania Company, has been gathering cars from all parts of the road to accommodate the mechanics and their friends at Rock Point on this occasion. A special train will leave the Union depot at 1 o'clock, city time, to take those who cannot go on morning trains. Handcuff prizes will be awarded for dancing, running, baseball, football and jumping contests. All contests to start at 4 o'clock. The most laughable thing to be done at Rock Point today is a game of croquet on the grass at 5 p. m. on the large platform. Nine ladies and nine gentlemen from the Wylie avenue district will be the only participants. The prize for this contest is two $20 gold pieces, to be awarded to the winning lady and gentleman.

Manman. Captain W. M. Ayl will be the judge of the cake walk.

Many people will spend the day on the rivers. All the excursion boats are prepared for trips to-day.

Preparing the Night Before.

At 8 o'clock last night police prohibition of fire-crackers on the streets ceased. A few moments later explosions of all kinds were popping about over the pavements, and before midnight the city resembled a great battlefield. On the surrounding hills great guns and cannon boomed away all night, and most people gave up the idea of sleeping until after the Fourth. After dark the air was ablaze with rockets and colored lights.

The married men of Bellevue are booked for a game of ball against the single men. In the afternoon the old bachelors will hold a picnic on the lawn in front of James Irvine's residence. In the evening the Bellevue Tennis Club will delight lovers of that kind of sport. Several private picnics parties have been arranged. West Bellevue Country No. 240, J. O. A. M. will entertain the citizens of that locality in Monitor Grove. The wives of the members will serve supper, and a good orchestra will furnish music.

Homestead people have $200 worth of fireworks for the evening, to be set off on the McClure lot on Eighth street. St. Mary Magdalene Catholic Church will entertain its fifth annual picnic in Hays' Grove, and a large crowd is expected.

Pittsburgh markets will close promptly at 11 o'clock this morning. The Allegheny market will close at 10 o'clock. Business houses all over the two cities will be closed.

A FEATURE—John Russell Young, a leader in the world of letters, will contribute to THE DISPATCH every Sunday. First letter to-morrow.

NEW MILITARY DEPARTMENTS.

The Three Great Divisions Finally Abolished by the War Department.

WASHINGTON, July 3.—Secretary Proctor to-day signed an order abolishing the three great military divisions of the United States. These were the Atlantic, the Pacific, and the Missouri, commanded respectively by Generals Howard, Ruger and Miles. By to-day's order the departments remain intact. The purpose is to make the department commanders report directly to Major General Schofield, commanding the army, and the Secretary of War, instead of, as heretofore, reporting to their division commanders. The report direct to the Secretary of War, and the departments of Texas, Arizona and Missouri were detached from the divisions within which they had been included.

One of the features of the order is the assignment of General Kautz to command the Department of Columbia, which he recently directed in the Philippines. The first of his military service was rendered where he wishes to retire next year.

EUROPE—All the Capitals covered by Special Cable Correspondents of THE DISPATCH to-morrow.

OFF FOR BEERING SEA.

The United States Steamer Marion Will Cruise in the Beering Sea.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 3.—The United States steamer Marion, Commander Bartlett, left here to-day for the Beering Sea. The vessel will stop at Port Townsend and take on board the United States Commission.

During the sailing season she will have a rendezvous in the vicinity of Pribiloff Islands, and in September will go to China station without returning here.

FLYING ENGLISH COLORS NOW.

On Account of the Itata Incident the Chilean Standard is Discarded.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 3.—The steamer City of New York arrived this morning from Panama, bringing advice that the South America Steamship Company, after the Itata episode, resolved to change its flag and adopt the English ensign instead of the Chilean standard which was used.

Charged With Larceny by Bailie.

Lizzie Ringold was arrested yesterday and held for a hearing before Alderman McManis on a charge of larceny by bailie preferred by W. Warblinsky. The allegations are that the defendant secured a dress and jewelry from the prosecutor, and refuses to deliver them up. There will be a hearing in the case next week.

SYSTEMATIC ROBBERY.

A Foreign Corporation Stealing the Brands of Local Bakeries.

Disreputable methods in business may seem to win for the time being, but they are sure to lose in the end as the average small boy is to eat himself into an attack of cholera morbus the first time he consumes himself alone in a neighbor's green-apple orchard. The people of to-day cannot be victimized more than once by the same man of firm who uses disreputable methods to succeed.

This is true of the baking business as well as of every other walk in life. Every baker who carries on his own brands of cakes and crackers, brands that are as well known to the public as the company itself. They become a sort of trademark, and to all intents and purposes are as much the property of the baker as the coat on his back. To steal these brands and to place the base imitations on the market as the original goods is nothing more or less than a robbery of the most unadorned, indisputable kind.

Yet this very thing is being done in Pittsburgh, and in fact, all over Western Pennsylvania. A foreign company, run by foreign capital and operated by foreign men, has dropped in from the East, or the West, or some other part of the country and with an almost incredible display of nerve has boldly appropriated the best and most famous brands of the local baking concerns and is now trying to sell its imitations to the public as the original article.

Liberty street and Herd's Keystone Biscuit Works in Allegheny were the principal victims.

Among the principal crackers and cakes counterfeited are Eagle brand crackers, a brand that has been made and sold exclusively by Marvin for ten years, and that is known all over the Union; J. Davis water cracker that were first made there in 1815, and that were transferred to Mr. Marvin when he bought out their originator in 1865; Royal flour biscuit, a brand that is known everywhere as Marvin's, and that has been on the market for five or six years. There are also Keystone mixed cakes, a brand that has become so well known that it is a sort of trade mark of the Herd Company. Fresh fruit cakes, another of Marvin's famous cakes; baseball cookies, taffy wafers, lemon ginger snaps and charm water crackers, all of them known everywhere as Marvin's.

The names of all these and more, too, for that matter, have been boldly appropriated, and the public is asked to buy the stale imitations after they have been shipped here from some other part of the country and stood around in warehouses for a month or more. The price asked in most cases is less than the originals cost, but the quality is so manifestly inferior and the goods are so unhealthfully stale before they reach this market that very few people are victimized. Those who are caught once never fall into the same snare a second time.

A great deal of care must be used by buyers of crackers, however, for a firm that will stoop to disreputable methods is apt to do a great deal of scheming to outwit the public. In buying crackers and cakes always be sure you are getting the make of a firm that is strictly reliable and that can be depended upon to give you pure, fresh and wholesome goods.

THAT ENGINE TEST.

One of the Experts Cross-Examined With Rather Curious Results.

FUN AT YESTERDAY'S HEARING.

A $5,000 Bet That Chief Elliot Knew Ho Was Sure of Winning.

ANOTHER ADJOURNMENT OF THE CASE.

There was another hearing yesterday afternoon, before Master George P. Hamilton, in the Amoskeag engine case. Mr. Schaeffer, one of the experts, whose sworn statement of the engine test was published in THE DISPATCH last Sunday, was placed on the stand to testify in regard to that statement. He said he was a mechanical and hydraulic engineer; that he had been connected with the work of making and designing engines for many years, having assisted in the building and designing of the engines at the Pittsburgh water works, and those at Sharpburg, Braddock, Wilmerding, and at present preparing designs for the works at Homestead and Latrobe. He then repeated in detail the statements made in his report. The witness was then cross-examined by Mr. Guthrie, attorney for the prosecution, in part as follows:

Mr. Guthrie—Did not Mr. Elliot speak to you first about the test?

Witness—I think so. He wanted me to assist in making the test with Mr. Brown. I asked Mr. Elliot if the test were to be a fair—

At this point the speaker was interrupted by Mr. Guthrie, who refused to allow the sentence to be completed.

Mr. Guthrie—Did Mr. Elliot suggest to you how the test should be made?

Witness—I don't think I suggested it, but I think, although I am not positive, that he asked me to get the speed and capacity of the pumps.

Mr. Guthrie—Did he tell you what the water pressure at the plug was?

Witness—I believe he did. I think he said it was 64 pounds.

Mr. Guthrie—You knew that this high pressure would make a big difference in a test?

Witness—It would make the difference of filling the pump.

Mr. Guthrie—Do you really believe that with 70 revolutions per minute the pumps would be filled regardless of the pressure of water from the plug?

Witness—Yes.

Mr. Guthrie—Did Mr. Elliot tell you that a previous test had been made?

Witness—Yes.

One of the Chief's Little Jokes.

A little fun was here created by Mr. Guthrie saying: "Of course there was a previous test. Mr. Elliot knew what the engine would do, and then wanted to bet me $5,000 on the result."

Mr. Elliot commenced to laugh, and said he did not want to bet with Mr. Guthrie, but he knew what the engine could do; and he was sure that he knew more about engines than any one in the town.

The witness then gave in detail many technical points about engine tests and said he would have been a fire engine test on such specifications as the one he held, but that he considered the test a regular one.

The witness was then allowed to explain the test, and Mr. Guthrie had interrupted. He said: "I asked Mr. Elliot if the test was to be a fair one, and he said yes, that he would not ask me to assist in a test that would not be fair."

The witness then said he believed either of the engines could be taken to still water and pump 1,100 gallons per minute. The hearing was then adjourned.

FICTION—Julius Verne's great story, "The Californians," is running in the Sunday issue of THE DISPATCH. Two thrilling chapters to-morrow.

HUSTLED EXPRESS AGENTS.

The Day Before the Fourth Full of Business and Hard Work for Them.

All the express wagons in the city were brought into service yesterday, and still the agents complained of not having enough to handle the business. "The day before the Fourth is always our largest during the hot season," said Mr. E. Vallant, of the American Express Company, as he stood in his office doorway yesterday afternoon, and tried to figure out where he could put a few more articles on several wagons that were then groaning under a great weight.

In the list of goods on the wagons were noticed barrels of beer, boxes of bread, cakes and pies, confectionery of all kinds, cabbage and other green truck for country grocers and stacks of flags and shooting sticks. "Everything is in a hurry," continued Mr. Vallant. "I have to see that many kegs we have shipped to-day to near-by places for the miners. They will have their drink of beer on a holiday, and by ordering the day before they can have it fresh."

"The grocers and the confectioners also generally order a lot of goods close to the day before the Fourth, and they must be pressed to reach them in time. This is a great day for us, and to-morrow the business will be as dead as the average door nail. The brewers take the beer to the depots in wagon loads, and place it in the box cars, and that we don't see it at the office, but enough stray kegs pass through our hands to make a great many people drunk. The boys will have a day off, you know."

The regular monthly meeting of the Children's Aid Society was held yesterday afternoon, when nothing but routine business was conducted. The society has a 25-year-old boy which it would like to place with some good family. The ladies of the society report that their financial affairs are in a very low state, and they would be thankful for any donations to help along the cause.
