[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH.] CINCINNATI, July 3 .- With a great lead of four runs against them, the Reds went to work this afternoon and turned an almost certain defeat into victory.

work gave Captain Latham the chances needed to offset the advantage gained at the beginning. The battle was won by the chatterbox and Holliday, while Browning had a big finger in the pic. Latham reached first five times, and thrice did he score, Four stolen bases helped him along on his journeys.

four hits Pittsburg got but a single run, but that tied the score. Hanlon led off with a hit to center and stole second. Manl was hit to center and stole second. Mani was thrown out by Smith. Fields drove Hanlon in with a beauty. Then Baldwin beat out an infield tap, and everything seemed over. The jig looked up as Miller's hit bounded out to Holliday. The "Bug" gathered it in and like a shot sent it to Clark, who caught Fields two feet from the plate. The crowd expleded. Baldwin and Miller were on third and second, another hit meant victory, but Beckley couldn't make it and sent Holliday a fly. How Latham Won It.

The Reds did nothing in their half and Pittsburg got no one to base in the tenth. Latham then won the game. He was hit in the back with a wild pitch and McPhee advanced him by a sacrifice. Once more "lath" dove for third. Berger threw low and the ball got past Miller and Latham kept on with the winning ran. "Old Hoss" lind a pretty rocky flest inning and he was given pretty bad support. He gare Miller a base on balls and hit Beckley. Then Clark let a ball get through him and Miller scored. Carroll's fly fell safe into right. It was issed it. Beckley tallied, Mack got a rat-er into left, Hanlou's tap afforded a chance r a double, but McPhee madea fumble and for a double, but McFhee made a fumble and Carroll got in. On Maul's tap two Pitts-lurgers were caught. Mack's single and Hanion's triple into left were responsible for the fourth run. The crowd, which had been glum, thawed out in the Reds' half. After Beckley had taken care of Radbourne Fields Saved Latham by a bad throw, and after he had gone to third on a passed ball McPhee drew a base on balls. Both men were driven home by Holliday, who reached third on a great drive to center. The Gladiator dropped in at that moment with a two-bagger and "Bug" scampered home, Mary made his first safe hit since he left Chicago, and the Bradford score was tied. The next two men were victimized. Seven blanks were drawn before another run came out of the wheel. It was by a fumble and he stole second and third, to the delight of the crowd. On McPhee's slow up "Lath" went over the base like a flash. Mack was sick and retired in the

WORTH A GOOD RECEPTION. Our Sluggers Will Appear on the Hom

Grounds To-Day After Doing Well. The local team are worth a good sendoff on their return home to-day. Under great difficulties they have won four games out of the last six, and yesterday's defeat was only the result of a very hot argument. The four straight defeats at Cleveland, suffered when the team was in a wretched condition, were a great handicap for the boys, but they return home gloriously under the circumstances. It is only fair to say that King and Baldwin deserve all possible praise for their Baldwin deserve all possible praise for their spiendid work this week, and if words of cheers will encourage them they should not be forgotten. Manager Hanlon has done nobit, and himself and the team generally should be accorded a hearty reception.

They meet the Bostons, very tough people, twice to-day, morning and afternoon. Rellly returned yesterday and will play short to-day. Nichols and Galvin or King will pitch in the morning game. Staley will pitch for Boston this afternoon, and probably either King or Baldwin for the home team.

Mr. Simon will, therefore, not likely be here

ENTIRELY EXPELLED

President Kramer Ousts Catcher O'Conno

From the Association [SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH-] COLUMBUS, July 3.-Jack O'Connor, the star baseball player, was expelled from the American Association this morning. He received a telegram from President Kramer notifying him of his expulsion and giving the reason for the sensational action. The decree of the President debars O'Connor from playing with any Association club in the country, and he must look to some the country, and he must look to some other baseball associaton for employment or else quit the business.

The grounds on which the expulsion was made are most serious in character. "Habitual drunkenness, disorderly conduct and actions unbecoming a ball player and a gentleman" are the reasons given by President Kramer for his decision. The telegram received by O'Connor this morning came like a thunder-ciap. He had been temporarily suspended by the Columbus club and was therefore in bad oder with the management, but he had not the faintest suspicion of receiving such a blow. He was for a time unable to understand the meaning of the telegram and doubted its genulneness. He soon satisfied himself that the President of the Association was far from joking.

TO MAKE COFFEE ICE CREAM. Delicious Luxury That Doesn't Cost

Much but the Trouble.

New York Tribune.] One of the most delicious creams we have is a coffee ice cream. To make this cream take two cups of sugar, the yelks of four eggs and beat them thoroughly together. Pour over the mixture a pint of boiling milk and stir the whole for two or three minutes. Put the basin containing this custard on a hot part of the stove and con-tinue stirring, but do not let it boil. Take the mixture off the fire, add to it a pint of sweet cream, stir again and throw in two large tablespoons of fresh-ground Mocha coffee. Beat up the mixture thoroughly over the fire for about three minutes, then cover the area for about three infinites, then cover the cream closely so that the coffee can infuse through it for about half an hour. At the end of this time, should it be thoroughly cold, strain it through a napkin into the ice cream freezer and freeze it.

How to Toughen Glass.

A simple method of toughening any glassware is to immerse it in a gallon pot of cold water in which a half cup of salt has been dissolved. Let the water boil thoroughly, then lift the kettle off the fire and allow it to become perfectly cold before you remove the glass. When the water is perfectly cold take out the glassware, wash it and wipe it dry. Glass treated in this way is protected against changes of temperature.

DEATH MASKS AT WEST POINT. cated Casts of Napoleon and Frederick the Great. New York Herald.]

In a glass faced, black box hung in the officers' mess at West Point are two death masks whose duplicates are not known to exist in this country. One is of Napoleon and the other of Frederick the Great. Comnander Chadwick of the navy secured them in London some years ago and presented them to the mess. There is ample proof of their authenticity, so their startling lack of resemblance to the popular portraits of the dead leaders is all the more interesting. Napoleon's cast is by far the better; the features are natural and seem to be in a calm repose, while the face is thin almost to emaciation. It's a fine face, but not the face of the Napoleon we have been taught to know. Old Indian fighters say it is the ex-act counterpart of the face of Black Hawk. Frederick's face is weazen and drawn and fearfully out of shape. It looks like the schools. The contest for principalship in this ward was a very spirited one, there being 23 candidates. The manner in which the vote stood was as follows: Miss Mc-Mullen—Messrs. Geisler, Waughter, Freisel and McMullen. Messrs. Chambers and Lawton voted for other candidates.

Miss McMullen Promoted to the Thirteenth Ward Principalship. The directors of the Thirteenth ward school met last night in the Summer street

The following assistant principals were elected: Thirty-third street school, Miss Ada V. Hunter; Summer street school, Miss Law Phillips. Conter-screen school Miss. Laura Phillips; Center avenue school, Miss Mary O. Lowry. Miss Cora Bradley was elected to fill the vacancy caused by the promotion of Miss McMullen.

Field to a San Francisco correspondent, I was offered that triangular block right across was offered that triangular block right across from the Palace Hotel for $4,500. I did not care to own a sand bill at the price named, and simply laughed at the proposition. Not long after somebody wanted sand to fill in on the water front, and he leveled that block without cost to the owner. Now, I am told the point of the triangle sold last time for $600,000, and that a little piece on the other course cost its present contains.

THE AIR FILLED WITH LOGS.

Wild Western Way of Handling Cordwood That Alarms the Tenderfoot. During a visit to the famous Homestake Mine, says Robert Grier in the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, I saw wood piled in a very peculiar manner, and one that was calcu-lated to produce no small amount of nervousness in a spectator, at least I should think so, judging from my own feelings. I was in one of the buildings when I suddenly heard a tremendous crashing outside. I went to the door and started back on seeing went to the door and started back on seeing the air about 20 feet directly over my head fairly filled with flying sticks of cordwood.

I thought some accident had happened, and dodged back instantly.

I then learned that this was the ordinary way of delivering wood. The timber is cut in the mountains and hauled to a place where there is a steep declivity terminating in a high bluff just over the mine buildings.
The logs are then put into a chute which they descend with great rapidity, shoot out they descend with great rapidity, shoot out over the tops of the buildings, and are piled beyond. When one part of the pile is too high, by a simple arrangement of levers the end of the chute is moved to the right or the left, and the sticks are deflected. An excident has average warrand but it is excident. accident has never occurred, but it is cer-tainly curious to see hundreds of men walking nonchantly to and fro directly beneath a perfect avalanche of flying logs.

AN UNDERGROUND LAKE.

The Crust Over It Is So Thin That Half a Dozen Men Can Make It Ouake.

Louis Giobe-Democrat.] In Bibb county, not many miles from a own called Six Miles, at a barn on the Six Mile creek, there is a field of two or three acres which is over a subterranean lake. The soil is only three or four feet thick, and you can take a sharp pole and drive it through to the water beneath. Half a dozen nen, jumping up and down at once in any particular spot, will make the corn stalks tremble for 10 or 12 feet around.

In the dryest scasons that patch of ground is always damp, not to say wet, and it can be distinguished from the rest of the field by the luxuriant dark green of the corn planted on it. In one place a well has been dug to the water, and they say a 100-foot line failed to reach the bottom. The water is quite clear and as cold as that of an ordinary spring, but there seems to be no cur-rent, and the local wonder is how the crust of earth got on top of the lake and how it manages to stay there.

A PRIMITIVE FLY-TRAP. I'wo Boards Swung Near Each Other and Sweetened Do the Work.

St. Louis Republic.

The most striking trap I ever saw was up in the Alleghanies. On stopping at a house I noticed two square boards, like milkpan covers, suspended near each other from the rafters by strings. It was found to be a flytrap and the sides of the boards facing were smeared with molasses. When the "long sweetening" had lured the files, some member of the family would sneak up to the trap and clap the boards together and then allow the flattened remains to fall into a basket or tub. The latter feature, however, was only found among the first families; others less elegant allowed the sticky victims to fall upon the floor.
