home stretch at least a length and a half ahead of the favorite, Bessemer. The driver instead of keeping a straight course, drove from first place to third and then back again, shutting the favorite out completely. The judges decided that this was a foul and placed Shaker fifth, giving first place to Plunger, who had crept in front of Bessemer during the confusion which followed. No time was announced for this heat, for the timekeeper failed to take the time of the second ani-mal. Shaker's time was the best made during the whole course of the race, 227%, and, while the decision of the judges was conceded to be just, there were many who thought it hard on the horse that he should not be given his time. The last heat of this race came very near costing the winner a fine of $25, because on the home stretch the deiver looked back, as one of the judges thought, with the Inten-tion of preventing the others from pushing to the front. A vote of two to one saved him, however, and he was allowed to keep the heat he had won. The summary of this race was as follows:

Attendance, 5,500. The affernoon game was one of the most lesperate struggies between two pitchers ever seen on the home grounds. Baldwin and Staley were arrayed against each other, and the 5,467 people present enjoyed the con-test immensely. The twirlers performed in the most brithlant manner, and it was evi-lent that if ever they wished to pitch a win-ning game, yesterday was the time. Of course the visitors wou, but that was no fault of Baldwin's. As far as his pitching was concerned the home players ought to have ce. 5,500. ut his support was not as good as that rded Staley. Baidwin had been well taken care of by

This fielders, the score at the end of the game should have been one to nothing in favor of the home physers. This means that he had a shade the better of Staley in the pitching argument. If a blunder in the outfield had not occurred there would have been only one hit made off Mark's delivery. The blunder was a painful one, and doubtless not as pain-ful to achieve the state of the second ful to anybody as it was to Hanlon and Car coll and Baldwin.

How It Happened.

It happened in the third inning. After were out Stovey knocked a long fir to right center field. Both Hanlon and Carroll ran for it, and either could have cap-tured it handily. But when near it both tured it handily. But when near it both stopped, and the ball fell between them. This allowed Stovey to be credited with a three-buse hit, when he should easily have been out. Then Quinn followed with a real three-bagger to right, scoring Stovey. This was enough to rattle any pitcher, but Baid-win kept calm, and not another run should have been made by the visitors if Miller had not again bound up with a mistake.

we been made by the visitors if Miller had a again bound up with a mistake. This was in the seventh inning. After rothe had been retired on strikes Tucker ade a single, and then Lowe knocked a ounder to Miller. The inter got the ball right, but made a wild throw to first, innett followed with a long fly. This ould have retired the side, but Tucker ared from third on the throw in. Alto-ther and the most brilliant pitching ever me for the home players both games were st.

Staley, of course, pitched with vigor, being streamely anxious to defeat the club that ad released him. His pitching was one more proof of the mistake made by the supreme authority of the club in being so ager in casting Staley adrift.

A Diamond for Staley.

When the latter appeared at the plate he was presented with a valuable diamond tod and a handsome basket of flowers by its Pittsburg triends. He then proceeded to the best sculler in the club and when that is found out the best man will be sent to Washington to contest in the jumor sculls of the National Amateur Regatia there. The first race will be rowed on Saturday afternoon next and the contestants will be Lee Cavitt and George Roth. The winner of the race will row William Snyder on the fol-lowing Saturday and the winner of the latter event will be pitted against John Zetwo on the third Saturday. Wheever wins between Zetwo and his opponent will go to Washing-ton. THE crowds at yesterday's local games were of the Fourth of July order-full of enthusiasm. RAIN kept down the attendance considerably in yesterday's afternoon game at Exposition Park.

class, for $200-to take pined. At this time the sun came out and the wind died out, and the judges decided to allow it to go on, so that the people, who gave no indication of getting tired of the sport, might not be dis-appointed. Some of them thought that it would be the great event of the day and the ruce sold better than the others from the start. There were four entries, all of them well known to the habitues of the track and it was expected that there would be enough pleasure to warrant staying at the track until dark. It required four heats to decide as to the winner, but after the second it was easy to be seen that the stallion Louis C would carry away the purse. Louis C's powers were brought out to just advantage in the home stretch in each of the last three heats. He closed up a long gap between himself and Peter R, who kept the pole until the last quarter wiss reached, and fiew in a winner in eack instance by a length or more. Olivette was distanced in the third heat, but she did better than was expected by those who knew her qualities. It rained hard during the entire fourth heat. The summary of this race was a follows: Louis C, h. S., W. S. Frans, Pittsburg...2, 1, 1, 1 First race, five-eights of a mile-Espirito Saute first, Annorean second, Clemintine third. Time,
