PICKINGS IN COURTS AND CORRIDORS

The usual large crowd was in the Crimi nal Court room yesterday morning. Judges Slagle and Collier were both on the bench and the inner circle of the courtroom was crowded with attorneys and others who were anxious to hear the Court's charge in the celebrated Homestead robbery cast. Judge Single began to charge the jury at 9:45 o'clock. He first explained the charges under which the defendants were tried. The Court then took up the points submitted by the attorneys for the defendants and opposed Mr. Reardon's point that Laura Snowden was an accomplice, and her testimony should be taken with caution and suspicion unless corroborated. The points court then entered into a discussion of the testimony and the merit of the statement made by Laura Snowden. The Judge did not remember of any evidence showing that Charles Clark and Cora Wyatt were connected with the commission of the crime. The evidence showed that Mrs. Clark was in Schmitt's store on the day of the robbery, also that she was in the neighborhood when the crime was committed, and Laura Snowden was thus corroborated showing Mrs. Clark on quard when the robbery occurred.

The jory retired at 10:45 o'clock and returned with a verdict at 12:30 o'clock. verdict was that Fitzsimmons and Mrs. Emma Clark were guilty of entering a building to commit a felony and larceny. Charles M. Clark was guilty of receiving stolen goods and Cora Wyatt was acquitted. Mrs. Clark was recommended to the mercy

When the verdict was announced Cora Wyatt burst into a torrent of tears and hung on to her sister, Mrs. Clark, in a piti-ful manner. The other prisoners received the sentence with quiet composure, making no display whatever of their feelings. The case of Mr. and Mrs. Fitzsimmons for the murder of Detective Gilkinson with not be taken up before Monday week.

Judge Hawkins Settles the Dispute Over the Estate of James Marshall.

Judge Hawkins yesterday handed down an opinion on questions involved in the estate of the late James Marshall, who died in 1809. In his will Mr. Marshall created a trust for his children, Mrs. Harriet Watson and James, Julia and Anna Frances Marshall. They were all to be made equal when 21 years of age. The questions raised were what was the duration of the trust and were the proceeds from oil leases to be treated as corpus or income. Also what were the relative rights of the beneficiaries inder the trust?

Judge Hawkins held that it was clear that the will created a valid active trust. The main controversy turned on the chareter of the trust. As the children were the only objects mentioned, the presumption was that the trust was raised for their use and benefit alone, and was intended to be limited by their lives, the trustees have discretionary power to end the trust in re-spect of any of the children and vest in them a share in the corpus. As the chil-dren are still living and the trustees have not exercised their discretionary power to end the trust, it still continues. The proceeds of the oil lease was clearly a portion of the corpus. There was to be no discrimination between the children. The income be paid over at majority equally.

The Court Wants Attorneys to Hand in

Names of Persons for Viewers. City Attorney W. C. Moreland appeared before Judges Slagle and Collier in Common Pleas No. 1 yesterday and asked that viewers be appointed in the 65 cases pending before the courts on sewers. Mr. Moreland stated that the Thirty-third street sewer was the most important work and would take as much time to build as all the others, and in this case the attorneys on both sides had agreed to R. H. Lee, R. J. Hunt and Norman May as a Board of View. ers. Independent of the Thirty-third street sewer there were three main sewers.

M. A. Woodward gave notice of excep-tions to the Thirty-third street sewer and questioned the validity of the curative legis-lation act. Mr. Woodward wanted viewers on each particular case. F. H. B. Patterson and J. M. Shields also filed exceptions to the Thirty-third street sewer.

Mr. Moreland remarked to the Court that everybody was not competent to serve as viewers. The old Board of Viewers had been working for 12 years and 95 per cent of their work was passed on as first elass. It was not good to appoint people residing in the neighborhood where im-provements were to be made. Mr. Moreland thought that one board would be a great deal better than half a dozen. If boards were appointed in all cases, that would mean 175 men at $5 per day each, which would make $975 per which would make $655 per day. All these expenses must be borne by the city, and it would hardly be fair to saddle so much cost on it. Mr. Moreland suggested the name of Colonel E. J. Allen as a good

Mr. Woodward said that the old board was oppressive and had swelled heads, and the head and front of that board was Judge Slagle suggested that the attorneys in the case hand in the names of people they wanted appointed, and the attorneys were given until 10 o'clock this morning to hand in the names.

PITTSBURG AN ORTHODOX CENTER.

Pulpits To-Morrow. GLEANINGS FROM CHURCH FIELDS

Topics That Are to Be Discussed in Our

Philadelphia and Pittsburg are the two American strongholds of Presbyterianism. Of the nearly 200 churches of this city and Allegheny, about one-half are Presbyterian in their form of government. All shades of this faith are represented here. We have the regulars, United, Cumberland, and Reformed Presbyterians. As an illustration of the strength of this denomination in this section there are now 15 churches which have sprung from the East Liberty Presbyterian Church, a number of which are nearly as strong in wealth and number as the parent church. The Rev. Dr. McIlvaine, long-time pastor of the East Liberty church, is still hale and hearty. At the beginning of his pastorate in the latter part of the twenties, the field then covered by his ministry is now occupied by Lawrence-ville, Shadyside, Oakland, Wilkinsburg, Swissvale, Squirrel Hill, Verona and Braddock

A noticeable feature of Pittsburg Presbyterianism is its sterling orthodoxy. In all the controversies which have agitated the the controversies which have agreated the denomination in times past this section has furnished no heretics. Barnes and Briggs found little following here. Pennsylvania orthodoxy has ever proved to be of the stalwart type, and Pittsburg and Allegheny, with their 70 Presbyterian churches, stand as a solid phalanx against all innovations of broad churchmen and liberals.

The Chartiers Oil Company's well, on the Jules Chartier lot, is expected to get the sand either to-night or Monday.

The Patterson Pool. McCurdy—The Fisher Oil Company, Hackett & Shirley, shot their No. 2 well on the W. E. Riddle lot late Thursday afternoon. It was drilled in dry, but responded to the glycerine and is believed from present indications to be good for a 50-barrel well. The Adams No. 2 of the barrel well. The Adams No. 2, of the Woodland Oil Company, is due to get her pay Monday. Their No. 1, on the Thomas Ramble farm, in the southwest, is down 1,000 feet. Another set of tools has been lost in Black,

Emerson & Guffey's well on the Andrews' farm. It is believed that the well will have farm. It is believed that the well will have to be plugged as this is the second set of tools now in the hole. It is down to the top of the sand. J. M. Gufley and J. H. Gailey expect to get the sand about Tuesday in their well on the Adams' farm. Black, Emerson and J. M. Guffey's No. 1 and 2 on the Aiken may get the pay next week. At the Forest Oil Company and J. M. Guffey's well on the J. H. Ewing in advance of the developments to the southwest the strended developments to the southwest, the stranded tools which they were drilling past have fallen into the new hole, and they expected to get them fished out last night. If they succeed the fifth sand can be reached with three or four days tready drilling. steady drilling. W. L. Mellon's No. 4, on the Palmer, was on top of the sand last night. Ahead of Everything.

ZELIENOPLE-Late last evening a repor was brought in that J. Q. Kennedy's well, on the Sholtz farm, had tapped the sand and was making eight barrels an hour. It is located about a mile and a half northwest of Harmony and about the same distance northeast of Zelienople. It is the biggest surprise of the year in this vicinity.

That Webber Well. SAXONBURG-The reports from Webber Bros.' venture on the Webber farm have been greatly exaggerated for several days. From reliable sources it was learned yesterday that the tools had not tapped the sand and would not before to-night or Monday. Tuesday evening it was reported in Pittsburg to be making 200 barrels a day.

Another Wild Well. GOLD-The well of Guffey & Queen on the Glascoe farm, between the Gold field and Bakerstown, is 15 feet in the sand and filled up 1,000 feet with oil. All kinds of this well, and at various times it has been reported to be flowing. It is now showing or a producer. Across the Country. Moon-There was little change in this Moon—There was little change in this field yesterday, except in the Kanawha Oil Company's No. 2 on the Hood, which was in the sand last evening and showing for a good well. Mellon's No. 4 Meeks is showing up as good as ever, and the Orion Oil Company's No. 2 Doty is putting out over 100 barrels a day. The Kanawha Oil Company's No. 2 Onstott will get the sand the first of the week.

A Well's Peculiar Action. WILDWOOD-When the No. 16 Whitesell, of Griffith and the Forest Oil Company, was drilled in the No. 3 Whitesell, belonging to Bowman and the Augusta Oil Com pany, 400 feet east, was doing 12 barrels an hour. As soon, however, as the No. 16 began to make oil the No. 3 instantly fell off to almost nothing. It was evident that No 3 was being drained by No. 16. Yesterday No. 3 was shot but did not respond. About an hour later the tools were run, when it was found that the well had bridged over. When the bridge was drilled out it immediately began to make oil, and last evening was putting out 20 barrels an hour. The No. 4 Whitesell of Bowman and the Augusta Oil Company will make probably a 15-barrel pumper.

Work About Suspended, CLIFF MINES—There are no new wells now being drilled in this field. The Fisher Oil Company is still drilling in the sand at its No. 1, on the Siebfried farm. They have a fair showing of oil, but the well will not be big. The Fisher Oil Company yesterday started a well on the Noulett farm at Harman Butter country.

at Herman, Butler county. Gas Instead of Water. PARKERSBURG, W. VA.—Thursday morning at the Rock House Glen, near Kenova, where the Land Company is drilling for water, they struck gas after passing through a vein of slate. When lit it shot up for 15 feat, burning the walking bear.

feet, burning the walking beam. Gas on the Monongahela. MONONGAHELA CITY-The line from the Jones well to the Monongahela Gas Company's is being put down. At the Linton well, West Pike run, gas was found in the Gantz sand. For a test well it was put down through the red rock, and struck a splendid sand, 30 feet thick, and enough pressure to show 400 pounds. The new stratum has been named the Linton Sanddepth 2,740.

The Wilson, West and Deems rigs, in that field, are now rapidly being put up, and drilling will commence soon.

The Lindsey Hetherington well, near Bentleysville, is down 2,380 feet and dry; but the drilling goes on. Snee Gets the Gassers ELIZABETH—A transfer has been made by which Mr. Snee has become the sole pro-prietor of the two wells and the extensive territory on which the late company held leases. They are still fishing for the lost tools at the Wray well. The Philadelphia Gas Company has commenced work at the wells to be drilled on the Skilley and Park-

West Virginia Territory.

ARCHER'S FORK-This place is about ARCHER'S FORK—This place is about eight miles from St. Mary's on the Ohio side of the river going to Belmont. Rose, Downey, Collins & Co. are down 1,300 feet in their well on the Hurtin farm, located southwest of Mandeville well on the Wesley farm, the first ever drilled at this place. Billy Boyle is starting a well on the W. B. Hendershot farm. Barnsdale's well on the Braden is down 300 feet, and he has just commenced a well on the Wood farm. His well on the Bly farm is on top of the sand, and has been for some time. It is showing considerable oil. It is southeast 400 feet of the old Néelay

"One ear had been discharging, periodically, ever since I had scarlet fever, about 25 years ago. My eyes watered, and upon raising up after stooping over I became very dizzy. I coughed some, mising and spitting up quantities of thick, yellow mucus. In fact, I felt miserable all the time. After being treated a short time I began to improve, until now I feel better than I ever did before.
