LYMPH GETS A LIMP

Dr. Painter's Statements to The Dispatch's New York Correspondent Create Surprise.

INTEREST IN THE CURE RENEWED.

Old Antagonists of the Koch Method Stamp the Interview as a Very Proper Exposure of It.

OTHER PHYSICIANS SAY OTHERWISE.

Vexed Question.

The recital of Dr. E. T. Painter's experiences while under a four menths' course of Koch lymph treatment at Berlin, published exclusively in yesterday's DISPATCH, was a matter for discussion which occupied a is well known in Pittsburg, both professionally and socially, and the statements emanating from him respecting his opinion of the lymph cure excited very general interest. His strong reflections on the practice of the European physicians and his entire denunciation of all worth in the efficacy of the Koch lymph as a remedy for tuberculosis were received with much surprise by medical men, who remembered the encouraging reports of his progress which Dr. Printer sent here from Berlin. In fact, many of the physicians, whose opinions on the statements made in THE DISPATCH article yesterday were canvassed, hesitated not to express strong doubts as to whether Dr. Painter did say all that was attributed to him. In this relation THE DIS-PATCH can thorongily wouch for the entire reliability of its New York correspondent's was absurd to suppose that a man account of his interview with Dr. Painter.

An Opinion on the Article. Among physicians the charges brought ngainst the remedial properties of the lymph excited as much interest as the personal experiences of one of their body. The old antagonism which a majority of the profession have always entertained toward the innovation was awakened, and on the other hand, physicians who had attempted its use were not backward in expressing their opinion of the developments from the Painter interview. Among the latter Dr. Lange, of Penn avenue, is known as prominent. He has used the lymph extensively at the West Penn Hospital and elsewhere. When called upon yesterday for an expression of opinion he said that he only took patients sent him by other physicians and it was for them to say whether their patients should take the lymph or not.

"I am surprised at some of the statements alleged to have been made by Dr. Painter,' said Dr. Lange, "and I am loth to believe that all those attributed to him in the report in THE DISPATCH were made by him. Dr. Painter, like all other men who fail to at-tain health by the use of the lymph, is disappointed, but, as I have a slight acquaint-ance with the doctor, I do not believe the natural disappointment would prompt him to say the bitter things the article con tains. He is made to say, for instance, that in the European hospitals patients are being 'killed by Bundreds,' and that 'they have killed me, and that he was saved by the These statements are inconses voyage. gruities. That Dr. Von Bergmann or one of his assistants saw Dr. Painter every two hours is evidence of their interest in and devotion to him, and it seems harsh, even if they failed to sestore him to health, to reward their services by accusations of having | if the disease is rapid in its progress, are Patients Dvine From Tuberculosis.

"The charge that tuberculosis is inoculated by the lymph," continued Dr. Lange, "will not hold. In the first place, only such patients as already have tuberculosis are treated by the lymph; and, in the next because the lymph is frequently boiled, thus destroying the bacillus, its spores, and other germs with which it may become contaminated. When patients have pulmonary tuberculosis on one side and treated by the lymph without effect and die with inhereulosis upon both sides, this result cannot be charged to their treatment? for the very good reason when a consump tive dies of this disease, without having had the lymph, both sides are invariably af-fected. This has been proven by thousands of autopsies. Both sides are always involved, lymph or no lymph. Dr. Painter also complains in the articles," said Dr. Lange, again referring to a copy of yester-day's Disparch, "that he has been subjected to rude attacks upon his 'regularity of habits,' that 'the weak native red wine' did not suit his taste; that 'the sanitary arrangements of the clinic were not satisfac torr,' and that his wounds were not sewed up. His whole treatment at the hands of Dr. Von Bergmann and his assistants, some of whom were with him constantly, was What reward these doctors received is not stated, but their punishment is as strong as Doctor Painter can make it.

"You must understand," Dr. Lange con-sinued, "that I do not defend the lymph treatment of tuberculosis. I have refused ten patients where I have treated one. I have frequently pointed out its uncertainty. It will require many years yet before it can be assigned its proper place.

The Present Status of the Lymph.

'Tatients like Dr. Painter should rememher this, and not embrace it voless they are prepared to take consequences; this being t the least a failure to cure and not, as at tributed to Dr. Painter in the article, disaster, torture and death. As to the status of the lymph at present, it is definitely ascertained that it has an effect upon the tuberculous tissue, that the effect is good in some cases, and to some cases bad, and that at present it deserves consideration with the other remedies for tuberculosis."

Dr. W. T. English said that time was a necessary factor in proving or disproving the merits of Koch's lymph. "The cautious skeptic and the impulsive cuthusiast," he said, "alike deplore its apparent failure. On account of the very flattering reports received here and printed at the time in THE DISPATCH, it was anticipated that Dr. Painter would furnish a more favorable recital of his experiences than that appear ing in vesterday's issue of THE DISPATCH Now, to observe this hopeful and earnest patron of Dr. Koch turn aside with disap-pointment will do much to prejudice the hity against the treatment. It can-not be denied that, so far, the lymph has offered little else than opportunity for experiment. The reports of cures are rare, and those are in the first stages of consumption. Any experienced physician, by availing himself of methods dready known, can treat these cases with better results. To say that the lymph has a special remedial power is not justified by the reports from the hospitals, and places where it has been employed. It Has Not Killed Yet.

Thave yet to learn of its killing anybody, and if Dr. Painter dies—he claims he is already killed, in consequence of his treatment abroad—he will be the first Pennsvivanian to be so martyred."

A physician who has been using the Koch lymph for some time was requested to state his views respecting Dr. Painter's charges. He was unwilling his name should be men-tioned. He s. d: "If Dr. Painter's statements are not colored in the report, his present resertions regarding the efficacy of the treatment in his own case are at variance with the accounts received from him while at Berlin, and published in Tun DISPATCH at the time. If Dr. Painter now feels as he expresses himself in the report, he has very considerably modified his opinion of the value of the lymph. I know nothing of Dr. Painter's ailment, and therefore cannot READY FOR THE FIRE say whether his case was one which should have been benefited by the treatment. "It cannot be too firmly borne in mind that no claims are advanced for the Koch lymph as a cure. It is a means to an end, as any other article in the pharmacopaia is, and nothing more. Its efficacy as a means to an end depends very much on the nature of the case. There are certain selected cases in which the lymph has brought about a cure, but there are hundreds of others in which the lymph is a five means and if the which the lymph is of no more avail than any other medicine.

It Has Effected Good Results. "Very much injury has been done by the premature claims set up for the lymph as a care; whether it is so or not will only be lemonstrated in time. It has effected good results in some cases, but in many others it has not been of any use at all."

Dr. M. A. Arnholt said: "Yes, sir, I have read the article, but have not had time to give it a careful study. From what What Prominent Medical Men Think Regarding This and been waiting for for some time. I think it is the best exposure of the tuber-culosis cure that I have read. I did not believe in it from the first and was rather wary of taking it up. It is like all these so-called wonderful discoveries that spring up in the night like a mushroom, only to die in a short time. Neither do I believe that drunkenness can be cured by the lymph, as a certain physician claims. To good many people yesterday. Dr. Painter my mind it is similar to the Burgen process of injecting gases into the stomach. Numer-ous physicians took to the idea and purchased instruments to experiment with, but it was of no more use than a puff of foul air into the pure atmosphere. Then the Brown-Sequard cure came along and fell flat. Physicians cannot be too careful in experimenting with new ideas. Glad to See the Exposure. "There has been a few who claim to have been cured of tuberculosis, but I have yet to hear from any physician who claims an actual cure. You know as well as I that a consumptive person is the last one to ac-knowledge the dread disease. I don't believe in it, and you can say for me that I am glad to see the exposure of this lymph process, as I think this so-called cure has one more harm than good.' Dr. Thomas Shaw said in connection with the value of the Koch lymph, that he had never looked upon it as a reliable cure. It lung gone could be restored to health by the treatment. He had had no faith in claims for the Koch system, and couldn't understand how people allowed themselves to be carried away by excessive zeal in its

Dr. R. W. Stewart, who has been using the Koch lymph at the Mercy Hospital, has an article on "Tuberculosis" in the June issue of the Medical Review. After an examination of the subject he refers to the Koch lymph. He says that "the most re-markable remedy yet brought to light, and one which has made its already famous dis-coverer a household name in every home in the land, is Koch's lymph, or, as it is more properly called, 'tuberculin. Cases Benefited by the Remedy. "It is exceedingly difficult to give a satisfactory opinion as to the value of a remedy like this which has so many biased opponexts and blindly enthusiastic advocates. What I have to say is the result of considerable attention to the voluminous litera-ture of the subject, as well as personal observation of a great many cases under treat-ment in the hospitals of Berlin, and also about three months' experience with the use of the remedy in this city. In order to be brief, my opinions must necessarily be dogmatical. Tuberculin is of considerable value as a diagnostic agent, but is not always reliable, the re-action being often wanting in the sur-gical forms of tuberculosis and also occasionally in the pulmonary form. As a rule the most marked benefits are obtained where the necrotic tubercular tissue can be thrown off from the surface as in lupus, tubercular laryngitis and tubercular ulcers. Most cases of pulmonary tuberculosis in the early stages will be benefited by the remedy, some to a very marked degree, so that a cure may be fairly claimed. Advanced cases of pulmonary tuberculosis where cavities have formed, and especially not likely to be benefited, and will probably be injured by the treatment. In the surgical for Six Daughters to Fight For. A stubbornly contested case in lunacy has been pending for three days before Commissioner T. S. Parker, and yesterday went to a jury, mainly of lawyers, with an ex-Sheriff thereon. The jury will render its decision this morning at 9 o'clock.

As the story was developed, Mrs. John Bauss, who lived on the New Brighton road, died in April last, leaving by will her property to her six daughters, all of whom resided in the homes ead except Mrs. Peter Franzman, who lives in the East End. It seems that Mrs. Franzman and her mother had not been on good terms for years, and it is said the latter did not visit her mother during her last illness.

In the latter part of June Mrs. Franzman instituted proceedings to have her sister, Miss Elizabeth Bauss, declared a lunatic, and the case has been very determinedly fought, all of the remaining sisters coming to the rescue of Elizabeth. The testimony of many prominent physicians has been taken, among others that of Drs. C. C. Wiley, of Penn avenue; C. C. Hersman, of the Southside; Dr. Ayers, of Penn avenue, and Dr. King, of Allegheny.

The attorneys for Mrs. Franzman were
S. M. Raymond and W. E. Fulton, and for Miss Bauss, the respondent, J. W. Kin-near. The expert testimony was apparently quite strong for the respondent.

ment Licenses in a Cellar. At the request of Mayor Wyman, Assistant Superintendent Glenn, of the Allegheny police force yesterday made a search for the missing stubs of license books which the Auditing Committee made a request for. Mr. Glenn made a search and in the rear of one of the vaults found the stubs of amusement license books, issued during the terms of Mayors Pearson and Wyman.

The stubs are the enes that made so much of a difference in the finding of the committee. Among them was a book which re-called the celebrated Ravenna tragedy. This book helped to clear Robinson, who was accused of being a party to the murder of a Cleveland detective. Superintendent Glenn will to-day inaugurate a search for the missing vehicle license stubs.

The ordinance granting the Allegheny and Millvale Railway Company rights and privileges over certain streets was affirmatively returned to Councils.

The Immense Plate Glass Plant at Irwin Has Been Completed.

A STRIKE DELAYED AT STEELTON.

Three Concerns Absorbed by the National Tube Works Company.

MISCELLANEOUS INDUSTRIAL ITEMS

The finishing touches have been put on the mammoth plate glass plant at Irwin, and it is expected that operations will be commenced within the next week. It is intended not to wait until the beginning of the next fire, but to start the plant as soon as preparations can be completed. It is said that the plant will excel either of the ones at Charleroi or Ford City, and that the glass will be turned out by methods unlike those used at any other factory in the country. Forty pots have been provided, which makes the factory one of the largest. if not the very largest, in existence. Forty sheets of glass can be produced daily. With an average of 150x170 square feet in each plate, the product of the plant can be estimated at 1,250,000 square feet annually.

The buildings of the company cover nearly six acres of ground, and required 5,500,000 brick for their construction. The 5,500,000 brick for their construction. The furnace stack is 23 feet in diameter at the base, 18 feet at the top, and 140 feet high. There are 7 grinding machines, having a surface of 170 feet and weighing 80,000 pounds each. Each grinder is run by a separate pair of engines.

The polishing machines that will be used are of an improved pattern, the work of the company's foreman, who has been at the work six years. There are 36 polishing disks to each machine, all covered by felt cloth made in the United States. The fore man who made the improvements on the polishing machines asserts that with them one side of a plate can be polished sufficiently for mirror purposes inside of five hours. The company has seven polishing machines, each operated by a separate pair of engines, as in the case of grinders. There are 19 double upright engines to supply the power for the plant, fed by a 1,200 horsepower boiler. The cost of the works amounts to $850,000. When the factory begins operations it will be operated by American men, nearly all of whom are natives.

AMALGAMATED AFFAIRS.

The firm will employ 200 men.

The Big Strike at Steelton Delayed Upon the Advice of Leaders.

The strike at Duquesne continues and the men are standing firm. There are between 600 and 700 men idle and the town is dull. There has been some comment relative to the fact that none of the Amalgamated officials have yet visited Duquesne, and it has even been hinted that they did not care much whether or not the strike was won. President Weihe said yesterday: "Of course we want to see the men at Duquesne win, but I don't think the public is interested in causes which have kept us away, if we have not been

The big strike which was supposed to have taken place at Steelton yesterday did not occur. Assistant President Mariand and four other members of the association have been at Steelton for two days trying to adjust matters. The original programme was that the scale was to be presented to the firm yesterday, and if they refused to sig 1, one of the largest strikes the associa-tion has ever had was to be inaugurated. Vice President Gallagher advised against this plan, and the strike has been deferred. The men at the Green Ridge works in Scranton are on strike under novel circumstances. The firm jumped at the chance to sign the new scale because it was 10 per cent lower than what they had been paying,

Porter, Jr., with embezzlement, was brought up vesterday afternoon. The total sum involved in the informations was $12,790.

THE PLUMBERS GO BACK.

The three companies have all been established by the National Tube Works stockholders, and will now be merged with it upon the basis reached by a committee of appraisement valuing the plant.

A New Jersey charter was selected be-cause of provisions under laws of that State permitting the issue of preferred stock. The National Tube Works was started at East Boston in 1869 and shortly after moved to Pennsylvania, although continuing to be owned mostly in Boston. It is now the largest concern in the world manufacturing wrought iron tubes, the annual output being $15,000,000.

Safe Return of the Two Youthful Innocents of Allegheny.

A Cruel Conductor Refused to Carry Them for Love or Money.

NOT DENIED THAT THEY WERE MARRIED

"There goes another reporter," said a voice from a crowd of urchins standing on the sidewalk in front of No. 174 Locust street, Allegheny, yesterday afternoon. A DISPATCH representative rang the doorbell and inquired for Mr. W. B. Moseley, the hero of the elopement story, the full and correct particulars of which, as published in THE DISPATCH yesterday morning, created such an amount of talk over Allegheny and Pittsburg.

"Yes, Mr. Moseley is in," said the servant girl. "Won't you step into the parlor? He will be down in a moment."

A few moments later Mr. Moseley ran lightly down stairs and confronted his visitor. He did not appear to be suffering from any ill effects of his journey to Alliance, and his subsequent trip into the country with Miss Bessie Steadman. In fact. his appearance tallied exactly with the description of him published in yesterday morning's paper. He still wore the light suit, light colored necktie and patent leather shoes, and was as pleasant and cordial as his countenance indicates is usual with him.

In reply to questions, he said the story published in THE DISPATCH was, in the main, correct. There were some minor details that were not quite as they occurred, and some things happened that were not told, but these were of no great conse-

"The fact is," he said, "we purchased our tickets to Sewickley, and from there telegraphed home saying we were going to be parried at Jamestown. We then thought we could take the night train to Buffalo, but it was the express, and way passengers were not taken. It was necessary for us to get away from Sewickley or our folks might have had us stopped at that place. I first offered the conductor $5 apiece to take us away, but he would not consent, saying it was against the rules. I raised my offer to $25 apiece to get him to take us to Beaver where we could take the Lake Erie train that would carry us to Buffalo, but he refused, saying that he would not take us on for love or

"We felt that we must leave Sewickley, and as the conductor would not take us we ran and jumped on the baggage car expecting that it would stop at Beaver and that we could take the train for Buffalo. The train did not stop though until it had carried us to Alliance, where we were arrested. It had been rairing and the night air was damp and cold. The motion of the train made it worse, and as my wife-I mean Miss Bessie-only had on a white dress I made her put on my overcoat. It only reached down to her knees and her dress could be seen underneath. That was all the 'boy's clothes' she had on, and the statement sent from Alliance that she had on any others is

Mr. Steadman or my brother will give your paper a statement about that later, but it would have been strange if we were not married before we came back. Things had gone so far—that was another thing I blamed the papers for. They said nothing about our marriage. I wish I could have seen one of your reporters at the train when we morning. I would have told him all the facts about the case, and so much would not have been left to imagination. "Then you were married at Alliance, were you?" asked the reporter, "or was it after you got home?"

"I must decline to answer that question, but will say that either Mr. Steadman or my brother will give you a statement which will be accompanied by a certificate of a witness. The young man then told the story of their arrest and the subsequent escape of Miss Steadman from the Mayor's house.

They had not been confined in a cell, he said, but were locked up in the Mayor's office. The balance of his statement agreed with the story published in THE DISPATCH. It was also ascertained yesterday afternoon that Mrs. Steadman watconsiderably shaker by the escapade of her daughter, but that the statement that Miss Bessie had dressed erself in boy's clothes had as much to do with her illness as anything else connected with the story.

one Hundred and Twenty of Rev. J.R. J.Milligan's Congregation Received Into the U. P. Church-The Former Pastor is Called-Names of Elders and Deacons.

Great deliberation characterized the intiation of the congregation of ex-Reformed Presbyterians into the rights and privileges of the U. P. denomination last evening at prevail upon the Wilkinsburg Electric the First United Presbyterian Church of Light Company to erect another plant for Allegheny. By 8 o'clock probably 400 latheir special benefit at the other end of dies and gentlemen were assembled in the ecture room of that church on Union town. The result is seen in that a plant has avenue. They were those desiring to subscribe to the faith of the denomination been put up in Edgewoodville nearly opposite the deaf and dumb school that will be of which they were anxious to form a party and also many friends of the initiates who were present to express their sympathy. Rev. Dr. W. J. Robinson, the venerable and beloved pastor of the "First Church," was the Moderator, and owing, as he said, to the extraordinary character of this coming in to the U. P. fold of those presenting themselves, the ceremonial part was slightly modified. As the As it was, there was just enough of that pro-cedure necessary to keep the gathering un-til almost 11 o'clock before the required formula of admission was exhausted and 120 former members of J. R. J. Milligan's one-time Covenanter in their tion became communicants in their new allegiance. Besides, ten others were received on certificates from other churches and 13 by profession of faith. That started what will be hereafter known as the Ninth U. P. Church, of Allegheny, with a memership of 143.

The Organizing Committee appointed by the Presbytery was represented by Messrs. Samuel Dyer, of the Third Church, and J. McGinnis, of the Fifth Church. They composed what is familiarly known in political circles, as a sort of Committee on Contested Seats, their duty being to determine the right of an applicant to membership in the organization they were authorized to form out of the rather formidable array of applicants. Dr. Robinson necessarily occu considerable time explaining the rules and required method of procedure, saying that the ladies had a perfect right to place names in nomination for the offices to be filled, but that they would not be permitted to vote for the candidates; that even the U. P. Church did not so extend the elective

The elders chosen were, Messrs. William Anderson, D. M. Sloan, Alex Hodge, Martin Prenter and Oliver Anderson. The deacons elected were, Messrs. William M. Boggs, James Mehaffey and John Dean for three years; Messrs. Henry Baird, James McDowell and Joseph Stevenson for two years, and Messrs. S. C. Milligan, John McDowell and James Smiley for one year. A call was voted for J. R. J. Milligan for pastor. The call will be at the meeting place this afternoon for signatures, and the congregation will meet in the room the evening of Tuesday week.

LIGHT FOR WILKINSBURG.

Edgewoodville People Object to the Smoke From an Electric Plant. Wilkinsburg has long enjoyed the privileges of electric lights. Hitherto the supply has come from Brushton, but it has always been insufficient. An independent plant was a necessity, so Wilkinsburg, Edgewoodville and Swissvale joined forces to enough to furnish electric light for the three boroughs. It is expected that it will be ready for operation by August 1. The people in the vicinity complain a great deal about the smoke they think will ome from the smokestack of the electric light house. They say that Edgewoodville is a place of residence, and should not be defiled by the presence of an establishment of a manufacturing nature even though it be for their own convenience. They bebe for their own convenience. They be-lieve that the grimy smoke will spoil their pretty homes and color them in the same sad garb that has become distinctive of Pittsburg. The complaints are not likely to stop the electric company's operations, however. The plant will commence busi-ness on the first of the month in spite of all chiestions.
