We went across the cornfields in the country. I was led by my father's hand, and we came to the farmhouse where the bereavement had come, and we saw the crowd of wagons and carriages; but there was one carriage that especially attracted my boyish atten-tion, and it had black plumes. The only movement of note was that in C.,C.,C. & St. L., which rove ½ per cent on rather large business for that stock but afterward lost the entire improve-ment. The rest of the list was held within the narrowest limits and only St. Faul, Atchison, Burlington and Louisville showed any animation whatever. The industrials and silver certificates which have monopo-lized so large a proportion of attention lately were quite neglected. The opening was firm and further advances of from ½ to ½ per cent were scored, but the late trading neutralized these gains to a large extent and the close was rather heavy at insig-nificant advances over first prices. The final changes are in all cases insignificant. Railroad bonds were relatively more active than stocks and displayed a more decided firm tone resulting in some material gains among the inactive issues. The railroad buying which was expected to start July 1 has not yet begun, notwith-standing the fact that time is rapidly ap-proaching when the crops will have to be moved and all available rolling stock will be in constant demand. Postponement of purchase on the part of railway lines simply means so much additional business when these companies come into the market, and a larger impetus will be given to trade whenever this movement starts up. When the farmer is prosperous, demand for harness leather is good, and already we feel the good effects of the heavy crops in the increased demand for harness leather." The Boston Herald has this to say of the leather situation: "The Fourth of July is over and there is a little more business in boots and shoes. Manufacturers are running on orders, and are getting some orders, and it is not saying too much to pronounce the feeling better, though trade is still dull, as compared with former seasons. The Gospel may have had a hard time to conquer us, we may have fought it back, but we were vanquished. You say conver-sion is only an iunginary thing. We know better. "We are witnesses."

A Missionary Story.

There never was so great a change in our heart and life on any other subject as on this. People laughed at the missionaries in dagasear because they preached ten cears without one convert; but there are my thousands of converts in Madagascar day. People laughed at Dr. Judson, the ptist missionary, because he kept on sching in Burmah five years without a preaching in Burnish live years without a single convert; but there are many thou-sands of Baptists in Burnish to-day. People laughed at boctor Morrison, in China, for preaching there seven years without a single conversion; but there are many thousands of Christians in China to-day. People laughed at the missionaries for preaching at Tahiti for 15 years without a single conversion, and at the missionaries for preaching in Bengal 17 years without a single conversion; yot in all those lands there are multitudes of Christians to-day. There is a man who was forten years a hard drinker. The dreadful appetite land sent down its roots around the pahte and the tongue, and on down until they were inter-linked with the virals of body, mind and soul; but he has not taken any stimulants but he has not taken any stimulants two years. What did that. Not tem-noe societies. Not prohibition laws, moral sunsion. Conversion did it. Why," said one upon whom the great make had come, "Sir, I feel just as though were somebody else." There is a see cap-in who swore all the way from New York Havana, and from Havana to San Fran-ero, and when he was in port he was worse an when he was on sea. What power was that washed his tongae clean of profanf: that washed his tongae clean of profan-files, and made him a psalm singer? Con-version by the Holy Spirit. There are thou-sands of people here to day who are no more what they once were than a waterfilly is a nightshade, or a morning lark is a vuiture, or day is night.

if 1 should demand that all those people here present who have felt the converting power of religion should rise, so far from being ashamed, they would spring to. their feet with more alacrity than they over sprang to the dance, the tears mingling with sprang to the dance, the tears mingling with their exhibation as they cried, "We are witnesses?" And If they tried to sing the old Gospel hymn, they would break down with emotion by the time they got to the second line: Ashaned of Jeans, that dear friend On whom my hopes of heaven depend? Nat i no more revere his name. Again, I remark that "we are witnesses" of the Gospel's power to comfort. When a man has trouble the world comes in and says: "Now get your mind off this; go out and breath the fresh air; plunge deeper into says: "Now get your mind off this; go out and breach the freesh air; plunge deeper into business." What poor advice! Get your, mind off of it! when everything is upturned with the bereavement, and everything re-minds you of what you have lost. Get your mind off it! They might as well advise you is stop thinking, and you cannot stop think-ing in that direction. Take a walk in the resh air. Why along that very street or along that very street, or that very road she once accompanied you. Out of that grass-plot she plucked flowers, or into that show window she looked fascior into that show window she looked fasci-mited, shying, "Come see the pictures." Go deeper into husiness; Why she was associated with all your business am-bition, and since she has gone you have no ambition left. Oh, this is a clumsy world when it tries to comfort a broken heart! I can build a Corliss engine, I can paint a Raphael's "Madonna," I can play a Recthoven's "Symphony," as easily as this world can comfort a broken heart. And yet you have been comforted. How was it done? Did Christ come to you and say, "Get your mind off this, go out and breathe the fresh air; plunge deeper into business." air: plunge deeper into business?

The Pence of Christ.

Madam Sontag's Kind Heart.

When Madam Sontag began her musical career she was hissed off the stage at Vienna by the friends of her rival, Amelia Steininger, who had already begun to decline through her dissipation. Years passed on, and one day Madam Sontag, in her glory, was riding through the streets of Berlin,

The weather showed rain in some portions of winter wheat countries, with a low barometer all through the region, indicating coming storms. As much of the wheat is still in shock rain would be regarded as unfortu-nate, and this helped to cause little stretch and stimulating buying, but there was a very little for sale and the backwardness of sellers was a strengthening feature. The cable advices of famine in portions of Russia and india and drought and scorching weather in Spain were about the only en-couraging piece of new so for the bulls. On the other hand, receipts of new wheat were generally liberal. 106 cars reaching Toledo, of which 164 were contract, and 198 cars of new wheat was received here, 172 of them being contract. New York bought some wheat and Logan had buying orders from St. Louis, where the receipts are not as large as yesterday. when she saw a little child leading a blind woman, and she said: "Come here, my little child, come here. Who is that you are lead-ing by the hand?" And the little child re-plied: "That's my mother; that's Amelia Steininger. She used to be a great singer, but she lost her voice, and she cried so much about it that she lost her cycsight." "Give my love to her," said Madam Sontag, "and tell her an old acquaintance will call on her this afternoon." The next week in Berlin a vast assemblage gath-ered at a benefit for that poor blind woman, and it was said that Sontag sang that night as she had never sung before. And she took a skilled oculist, who' in vain tried to give eyesight to the poor blind woman. Until the day of Amelia Steininger's death, Madame Sontag took care of her and her daughter after her. That was what the queen of song did for her enemy. But oh, hear a more thrilling story still. The Government re-port was generally interpreted to be "bear-ish." but the scarcity and high prices of cash property made the local trade timid about selling "short." The trade figured the report to mean an crop of about 2,000, 000,000 bushels.
