The Irish Leadership Question.

Mr. Sexton obtains the support of several Irish Bishops, and is increasing the adhe-sion of members who will support him as lender of the Irish party on Mr. McCarthy's withdrawal. The personal friends of Mr. Dillon lay stress upon his reluctance to lead a reunited party. He is disposed join his brother in America and to ion political agitation for a time. The the Liberals, if consulted, would elect Mr. Sexton before Mr. Dillon. During the progress of the Irish land bill Mr. Sector added immensely to his reputation as a factician. He is the ablest debater in he party, and is now recognized as an adept in the quiet, judicious handling of affairs. Sensational rumors that Mrs. Parnell has n her possession compromising corre-pondence with Mr. Gladstone, which she obtained while she was a go-between be-tween Mr. Parnell and the Liberal leaders, have a basis of truth. During the period when Mr. Paruell was in Kilmainham jail, Mrs. O Shea was a busy medium and was a constant communication with Mr. Cham berlain, Mr. Morley and others, but never with Mr. Gladstone. If Mr. Parnell chooses to publish these letters they will disclose O'Shea and the entire unconsciousness of the Liberals that her relations with Mr. Parnell were other than pure. Nude Art Again to the Front.

The vigilant purists got Lord Stanley, of Alderney, to raise a question in the House of Lords in regard to the national purchase of Calderon's picture of St. Elizabeth nude Lord Salisbury ridicaled the idea that the picture outraged the feelings of Catholics. He said he had not seen the picture. He wished he had. He had seen a travesty wherein a lady showed her back to a County Conneillor. The question of clothes was one into which he could not enter. There were plenty of similar classical pictures that did not offend Catholics. Finally, he concluded, the picture was placed in great se-clusion. These few jesting words disposed of the matter. The purists have scored a soint, however, by getting a magistrate's that order to destroy photographs of Gerome's, city y Bougeureau's and other great French ari-ists' works. The leading argument against the sales of such photographs was that while the paintings might not be indecent the photographic reproductions may be. Ed Andrews, who is in charge of the Red Stockings tem-porarily, said to-night that after the third losing game in Boston on Wednesday Kelly entered the coach at the grounds and told the men that they must obey implicitly whatever Andrews told them, and nobody wherever Andrews told them, and nobody else. Thus saying, Kelly vanished from the coach and rejoined his family, who were waiting for him at the grounds. "From that time to the present" remarked Captain Andrews to night, "I have not had

CHICAGO, July 17 .- The trusts which leal in spice, starch, soap, tobacco and other articles handled by the wholesale grocers are not yet ready to surrender to the antitrust law which was passed by the last Legislature. The Woolser Spice Company, of Toledo, one of the largest importers of coffee, being second only to the Arbuckles, of Pittsburg and New York, has sent a circular to its customers, the wholesale grocers of Chicago, announcing that its attorneys are devising a new scheme by which its product is to be distributed as heretofore in the State of Illinois

The tobacco men have already prepared their scheme to evade the law. The Liggett & Myers Tobacco Company, of St. Louis, a leading member of the Tobacco Trust, in a circular proposes to appoint each of the
