The cold water that some would throw on these union meetings is not hav-ing much effect and the National Councilor is more than plensed with the manuer in which he has been received by the councils and the success that has attended the meetings. On Friday evening, although the councils had not been on the schedule of visits. Brothor McClenry pat-tended the meetings of Onida and Lady Gar-field Councils. The attendance at both places was small, but the interest mode up for the small crowds. On Wednesday he will visit Fride of Welcome Council in the West End and on Friday Unity, on the Southside. The Friday evening meeting will close the series of local visits, and it is expected that nearly every council in both clides will be represented. FOURTH AVENUE PROPERTY PICKED UP

While nothing of an unusal nature in business circles transpired the past week, there was a decided improvement in nearly all lines of trade. Business paper was more urgent, showing a disposition to get in on the ground floor, and bankers were satisfied with the outcome. The Clearing House did a land office business, exchanges being next to the best of the year and more than $1,000,-000 in excess of the same week in 1889. With regard to fall prospects it can be said with-out hazard that business men have unshaken confidence of a brisk, if not heavy, trade. Many crooked things have been straightened since the year opened. Weak spots have been strengthened. Mushroom concerns have flourished and faded. No more large failures fourished and faded. No more large failures are expected. Builders and architects will now push forward work in hand. A good deal of new work will be hurried in. The monetary condition is better, and that heips; iron trade difficulties have been settled and that helps also. But the great bull card is the enormous crops at home and the small crops abroad. What these mean for the country need not be pointed out further than that they will give the rail-roads all the business they can handle, the railroads will keep the iron mills at work, and the mills will keep the iron mills at work, and the mills will keep the a hallelujah year after all.

A Fourth Avenue Deal.

Among the most important transaction in real estate during the week was the sale by Samuel W. Black & Co. of Nos. 49 and 51 Fourth avenue, two three-story brick buildings on a lot 40x54, to a prominent merchant, for $25,000. This being leasehold property ac-counts for the very moderate price. It ad-joins the handsome building lately erected by E. C. Buch, Esq., and is occupied by Lee Yick as a laundry and by Dr. Thompson as an office. The purchase was for investment.

The Building Outlook.

There has been a partial revival of the building trade. When the carpenters' strike was in its incipiency contractors and planing mill men added a margin to their

M. bids to cover contingencies, and parties who had secured permits, plans and specifications, finding themselves confronted with increased cost of building, in the face of a stringent money market, with a strong of a stringent money market, with a strong probability of troubles and delays from strikes, postponed building. Consequently only buildings required for immediate occu-pancy have been erected. Many thousand dollars intended for houses, business and residence lie idle in the vaults. Capital and populstion, however, require a certain amount of building each year, and that which is not done now must be done later on, and it is therefore predicted with confi-dence that a full revival of building activity is inevitable, sconer or lafer. As remarked some time ago, the invention of the 10-cent bank, which will not open until five or ten dollars' worth of dimes are inserted in it, has made a scarcity of 10-cent pieces, which is making trouble among business men and the Treasury Department. It is estimated that 75 per cent of the 10-cent to is estimated that is percent of the needed coinage outstanding is locked up, and there is loud call for an additional supply. The Treasury officials find the labor of counting these small coins much greater than that of counting silver dollars or paper currency.

"The dividend of the Pieasant Valley Street Railway gives an inadequate impression of the profits of the road. The figures place them at the rate of 6 per cent annually, when they are really 8 or 9. It was thought best to keep the dividend down to the regular amount and augment the surplus, so as to maintain the company in a position to carry out its various projects for improvement. The Pleasant Valley, in point of earnings is next to the Citizens' Traction. None but good words can be spoken of the entire rapid transit system of Pittsburg. All of the roads are running smoothly—the Duquesne showing very decided improvement in this respect. Rivalry, while still acute, is less aggressive, the adoption of adequate measures to prevent accidents has strengthened the confidence of the public, and travel has increased. I am as strongly as ever of the opinion that street railway stocks are a good purchase at ruling prices. In saying this, I look to the future even more than to the present. The growth of the city should be kept in view in estimating the value of these securities. this decline, and while the opening prices here were above the London equival large fractions were knocked off most of the active shares. The opportunity to sell the market down was not to be neglected by the bears, however, and they joined with the foreign sellers in pressing the market down. The stocks which have an international market, in the main, suffered the most under the circumstances, but Burlington and Lackawanna led the downward movement, Lackawanna led the downward movement, the bear pressure being specially heavy on the latter on account of some supposed trouble in the coal trade. Each of these stocks lost 1 per cent, while the rest of the list declined only fractions if at all. The downward movement was checked before the expiration of the first half hour, however, and while there was no disposition to buy for the long account, the covering of shorts helped prices up a little, and later, when the bank statement was issued, show-ing material gains in eash and surplus re-serve, the buying became more pronounced full of hope but when it comes to business there is none.' This spathy excites the ap-prehensions of the followers of the stock market and one of our esteemed broker clients in writing us says: 'Is not the fear on the other side that we are drifting on to a silver basis the main cause of our loss of gold and the accumulation of silver by our banks? Will not we get securities in pay-ment of our breadstaffs instead of gold? Are not our crops overestimated and the meagre-ness of European crops exaggerated? "These are our friend's apprehensions, held by others, probably the majority of these who are interested in our financial affairs, and who consider them, but we believe that Europe will have to return to us our gold and that they will of necessity use largely our cereals, that our crops will in all proba-nility average better and larger than for years, and that this growing, prosperous country of ours, with all its aggressiveness and its unbounded resources, will before long assert its inherent strength and re-sources and the foreign capitalist will surely come to a realizing sense and keen appreciation of the opportunities here afforded him and return his bullion for in-vestments. In the meantime we may see a somewhat lower range of prices. To-day's market has been like many others gone before." July
