WHAT THE WISE MEN HAD TO SAY.

The Boat Race Came Off and the College Men Won Very Fasily.

ALL THE GIRLS MAKING ANGEL FOOD

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH.] CHAUTAUQUA, July 18.-Rain fell in torrents here to-day, completely demoralizing the plans of many men and maidens. Excursions had been planned by nearly everybody. The Business Educators' Convention had arranged for a steamboat jaunt to Jamestown and a banquet there, but the rain interfered with everything. A number of the faculty of the Literary Arts College had intended driving to Lake Erie, but gave up the ride with much disappoint ment. Many students had intended taking a run to Mayville, but succumbed to the inevitable. The proposed baseball game between the Mayville and Chautauqua teams under Mr. Stagg's direction also felt through. The only event that would not be downed was the boat race to-night between the college and Chautauqua crews.

The United States Commissioner of Education, Dr. W. T. Harris, opened to-day's programme this morning by an exceedingly interesting lecture in the amphitheater on the subject "What Shall We Study in the Commen School?" At 2:30, in the same place, Miss May Donnelly, the Chicago elecutionist, gave a most pleasing reading and was assisted in the musical numbers by the Apollo Quartette, of Boston. The Other Intellectual Treats.

J. B. McMasters, of Philadelphia, gave the closing lecture of his brilliant series, his subject to-day being "The Long Embargo." At 5 o'clock a general conference of the American Institute of Sacred Literature was held in the Hall of Philosophy, at which the need of systematic Bible study, Bible clubs and institute work were considered, and in the evening Prof. Fred Starr, of the American Mission, of New York, gave an illustrative lecture on "The Native Races of North America" before a big audience.

Mrs. C. E. Bishop, of Washington, expounded the latest secrets of the Delsarte pounded the litest secrets of the Delsarte system to a fair-sized audience in the am-phitheater at 10 to-day, and answered a number of questions that had been pro-pounded to her by prospective disciples of Delsarte. It is interesting to note in this connection that Delsarte work is becoming quite a "fad" here among the ladies, and nearly every one of them is learing to move in curve lines of beauty. Their object is to banish anything like awkwardness from the

Mrs. Émma Ewing gave another lesson in cake baking to a large class of students. The young ladies are becoming very proficient in making "angel food," which is the emplemistic term employed here for cakes. The "Ideal Dinner" given last night to the class by Mrs. Ewing embodied all the good points of previous lectures, and it was truly a feast good enough for the gods. Repre-sentatives of the press were present, and all noted that such dinners were like angels' visits, few and far between... The Girls From Wellesley.

The Wellesley College young ladies, some dozen or more in number, who are spending the summer here, were enter-tained at dinner last night by Miss Elizabeth Clark, of New York City, also a gradu-ste of the college. The young ladies will go on a yachting party next Tuesday even-ing as the guests of Secretary Duncan, whose daughter Grace is also a Wellesley girl.

Prof. J. B. McMasters' lecture on the "Long Emeargo," was very closely followed to-day, and was exceedingly interesting to Chauta quans. He began with a statement of what the law was, reviewed statement of what the law was, reviewed the curious ways in which it was evaded, and gave summaries of the three supplementary acts. He next told of the suffering produced by the absolute cessation of trade of every kind, of the passage of the force act, of the revolt of the New England people, and the repeal of the embargo, as well as the passage of a non-intercourse act with France and England. The speaker then explained the effect of the long embargo, the non-intercourse act and the war of 1812 on the rise of manufactures, and showed how the need of protecting these produced the tariff of 1876.

Studying the Bible Methodically.

Studying the Bible Methodically. The speakers at the conference of the The speakers at the conference of the American Institute of Sacred Literature to-day wers: Prof. Burroughs, of Amherit College; Prof. Burnham, of Colgate University; Prof. Crawford, of Kentucky; President Crohr, of Buch.el University, Ohio; Rev. Mr. Gaines, of Atlanta, Ga., and Rev. Mr. Dickis, of Nova Scotia. The American Institute of Sacred Literature was organized October 12, 1889, with the single purpose of furnishing aid toward a more general and a more accurate knowledge of the Sacred Scriptures. It aims to promote the more accurate knowledge of the Sacred Scriptures. It aims to promote the thorough study of the Scriptures from every standpoint, philological, literary, historical or practical and by all practicable instrumentalities. It also includes in its constituency not only those who aim to attain a mastery over the Hebrew, Greek, Arabic and cogun'te languages, but also that wide circle of laymen in the church, teachers in the Sunday school, earnest Christia's everywhere who covet a genuine and helpful knowledge of the book of books. The institute was primarily organ. books. The institute was primarily organized to give instruction, but it also aims at stimulation of independent study and at the rapid extension of permanently organ-ized biblical study throughout the land.

The College Men Win on the Water. The regatta between the two Chautauqua teams came off to-night just about dark. Following are the names of the winning crew, which was made up entirely of college men: Stroke No 6, Irving Fisher, 5, H. L. Williams; 4, Mr. Gehrhart; 3, Mr. Grosvenor; 2, W. P. Graves; 1. Mr. Carpenter. The teams were captained by H. L. Williams, of Yale, the famous hurdler who holds the world's record, and George Benson, of Jamestown. The boats were sixoared practice barges and were not made to do as fast work as the regular shell. Each crew had six men. Williams' team was made up entirely of college men from Eastern colleges and was known as the college crew. Benson's team was composed of voung men studying at Chautauqua and known as "the Chautauqua crew."

The course was over three-quarters of a mile on the north side of Chautauqua Lake from the gymnasium to the big pier. The Williams team took the lead and easily ken The regatta between the two Chautauqua mile on the north side of Chautauqua Lake from the gymnasium to the big pier. The Williams team took the lead and easily kept it, crossing the finish in a little over 4 minutes. No. 3, of Benson's crew, broke a rowlock at the fifteenth stroke from the test and beens the crew were not in the start, and hence the crew were not in the race. The Williams crew broke one seat in the race and Benson's two, both crews hav-ing put the most of the pressure there rather than in the muscles of their arms.

Education for Business Careers. Education for Business Careers.

The Business Educators Association assembled to-day in the C. L. S. C. hall and discussed the following improvised programme in lieu of the intended excursion: Miss Frances Calloway, of Clinton, Conn., reading a pleasing paper on "The Art of Leeter Writing." A. J. Rider, of Trenton, N. J., followed with an interesting talk on bookkeeping. In the afternoon Mrs. L. A. Davis, of Jacksonville, Ill., spoke on "First Lessons in Short Hand," and C. N. Crandle, of Dixon, Ill., spoke on "Penmanship in the Normal Schools," followed by the asking of questions sent up to the secretary.

Following are the latest arrivals to-day:
A. P. Conant, New York city; W. W. Postlethwait, Greenville, Miss.; R. M. Montford, Louisville, Ky.; Miss Clara Gillette, Jacksonville, Ill.; Miss L. E. Hunt, Indianapolis, J. J. Jacobs, Butte, Mont.; William Bignell and E. Dalyrymple, Philadelphia; George F. Cochran, Cleveland; Miss M. F. Woodward, Williamsport, Pa., and Clara L. Truesdal, Rochester, N. Y. J. R. Watson, general passenger agent of the Fitchburg Railroad, of Boston, and family are spending the summer here. W. C. Rinearson, general passenger agent of the Eric Railroad, and family are at Lakewood, on Chautauqua Lake. NEPTUNE ON A TEAR.

OLD OCEAN THREATENS THE COT-TAGES AT CAPE MAY.

The President Helps to Stay the Destruc tion-Russell Harrison Arrives at the Summer White House - Big Rush of Mail Matter.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH.] CAPE MAY, July 18 .- A furious storm has raged all day, and caused the Presidental party to remain indoors. The contemplated starting of Lieutenant and Mrs. Parker for the South was postponed until Monday, and the crabbing party anticipated was not enjoyed. Toward evening the sky cleared, but the ocean in front of Cape May Point did not cease to caper, and it kept on washing out the sand in front of the town, causing nearly every inhabitant to turn to the beach. The tide washed up in front of Postmaster General Wanamaker's and other cottages, and was in the act of scooping up the front fences near Cape avenue, when, for the preservation of the property, the citizens and visitors, including the President, who were watching the tide just after 6 o'clock, took hold of the fences, and landed them safely on the sand. Russell Harrison, who attended the Clarkson banquet at New York last night, arrived to-day and Mrs. Clarkson is expected. Senator Frank Hiscock will be here next week.

The mail, which has been gradually in-creasing since the President arrived, took a big jump to-day, so much so that the Presi-dent and Secretary Halford could not eatch up with it. They worked very hard and were both somewhat tired to-night because of the rush. Some improvements have een made in the mail service between here and Washington on account of Presidental usiness, and the mails are now better reg-

The only caller at the President's cottage to-day was Captain D. M. Ransdell, United States Marshal for the District of Columbia, who will go to Europe next week.

IRON WORKERS MAY SECEDE.

The Helpers' Wage Clause May Disrupt the Amalgamated Associat

(SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPA PH.1 Youngsrown, July 18 .- Fifteen lodges in the Sixth district of the Amnlgamated Association held a meeting here last night, and though every effort was made to secure secrecy, the deliberations have leaked out. The meeting last Friday was attended by delegates from a dozen different lodges, and a session was held by Enterprise Lodge, at-attended by six or eight more, so that the several meetings have been held by delegates authorized to act for nearly 40 lodges.

It was expected that President Weihe would attend, and in his absence a commit-tee of five was appointed to meet him and if possible have the Scale Conference Committee called together and the clause ad-vancing wages of helpers eliminated. If the clause is not stricken out a large disaffection among the members of the Amalgamated Association in this district will follow. Leading iron workers assert that at no time have the members been as discon no time have the members been as discon-tented with the parent order as now. Vice President McEvay, of this district, has de-cided to accompany the committee to Pitts-burg the coming week and lay the matter before President Weihe.

NEW CASTLE'S AGED FASTER.

For 42 Days He Has Been Unable to Pa take of Anything but Liquids,

PERSONAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH ! NEW CASTLE, July 18.-Edward Davis, a very aged gentleman of this city, is showing remarkable powers of endurance. In the fall of 1888 the old gentleman received a hard fall, and since then he very seldom a hard fail, and since then he very seldom leaves his room. For the past 42 days he has been unable to eat food of any kind, partaking of nothing but a few drops of liquid stimulants.

Through all this he still retains his mental and conversational powers, and suffers no pain from his long fast. He is apparently growing weaker, however, and it is feared that he cannot very long survive.

VETERANS AT M'KEESPORT.

Their First Reunion Since the War Cele brated Under Difficulties. [SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH.] McKeesport, July 18 .- The first annual reunion of old soldiers held here since the war was to be held at a point near Christy Park to-day, but could not be held there on account of a steady rainfall all day.

The big party adjourned to Blue Ribbon Hall and conducted their reunion under cover. Many visitors were present, and the affair was quite a success.

THE TOLEDO CAR STRIKE.

Men Demand That a Day Be Set

For Resuming Traffic. TOLEDO, July 18 .- This evening a confer ence of business men was held at which resolutions were adopted calling on the Mayor to set a time for starting the street cars, and demanding that he have sufficient police force on hand to prevent any inter-ference by strikers. The tie-up continues.
