A Temporary Truce Probable,

There is little doubt that the whole affair will be peacefully adjusted until the Legislature has had a chance to act upon the law. The Governor has given notice for the filling of vacancies in the Legislature preparatory to calling a special session. The convinemnity converted before he fere the class room. #### A Disgusted Lot of Militia.

Of course, Knoxville did nothing to-day at hook at the Briceville affair from all its standpoints. Two things were lingered upon The lesser was the chance Colonel Sevier missed on Monday to make a brave stand and get killed and immortalized for his valor. The greater topic was Governor Buchanna s action. Some lawyers think he had no right under the State constitution to out the militia without the sanction of the Logislature. Some people insist that he was not even called upon to send troops to Bricoville by the Sheriff, who had alone the parter to demand troops. All agree that he has got himself in a sud mess through not be-ing able to stand upon the exalted ground he at first took. A more distressed and disgusted set of militin than these of the State of Tennessee now assembled in force on the University grounds has never been seen. These young men are sighing for half. And the worst pill they have been called upon to swallow is the "poor child" way in which the miners speak of theta. by Logislature. Some people insist that he speak of them.

No Desire to Return.

The only militia who have no longing to get to the wild meetings of the miners are the 117 who surrendered and who retreated on Monday. They say the miners would make minor meat of all the militia in the State of Tennessee, and they ought to know. The jail here is packed with convicts, and about 50 are quartered in a vacant storeroom. These lean from the second story windows for air, and an uglier set of faces could not be framed in a window. Thousands of people pass along toget a view of them. They seem to enjoy this, laughing and making faces all the time. The fact that the Governor is to call a special session of the Legislature has no special session of the Legislature has no significance to the mining trouble. The last Legislature, a Farmers Alliance body, so buncied public business and so neglected it that the special session was determined upon long ago, to repair some of the more serious of these errors. suddenness. Although always expected, it was still a surprise, like some of the com-poser's astonishing modulations. Great attention was given to the costumes, which were strictly mediaval in character and of historical accuracy, as was every de-tail of the miscen scene outside of the grotto of Vacuum been such for the strictly accuracy. and of the miscen-scene outside of the grotto of Venus, where only fancy was given leave to run riot. The ballet given here was as superior to ordinary ballets as a symphony is to a manaderille. In the intervals of the dancing artistic views were given, vividly painted on the air and illuminated by the electric light, of Europa earried away by the bull, and Leda fawned upon by the swan. There was a sunset with the dring illumination of an isolated cloud, probably the finest piece of scenic effect ever beheld in any theater. Some people say, however, that this was done equally well in Dresden, which with Berlin, Munich and Leipsig had the honor of producing the Paris version before Bayreuth; but to Bay-reuth alone is the glory of having given the great work entire for the first time. None of the cuts sanctioned everywhere else, by necessity or stupidity, were permitted. The Orchestra Drowned by the Chorus.

The Orchestra Drowned by the Chorus.

It is to be remarked that in "Tannhauser' the submerged orchestra is at times an actual disadvantage, being overpowered by the strong, fresh chorus. The musicians can remedy this; but all the scene painters worthy of the effort should be sent to Bay-reuth to study their art. Such a combination of splendors almost makes criticism speechless. But speak it must, and say the execution of the opera this evening was not up to expectation this evening was not up to expectation. Winkelmann was the Tanahauser; he was this evening was not up to expectation. Winkelmann was the Tannhauser; he was conventional and disappointing, and did not act or sing in the true Bayreuth spirit. Sucher's Vonus was splendid vocally and dramatically, but she was less seductive in appearance than Lili Lehmann. The noble Wolfram of Reichmann is well known in New York. The impersonation and execu-tion were the same here as there, and need no further description. He took his place naturally as a Bayreuth artist, and filled it. The Elizabeth was a new singer, Fraulein Wiberg, a pupil and protege of Mme. Wag-ner. She was fairly good in her difficult music, but seemed on a first appearance to owe everything to training and instruction and little to inspiration. The ensemble was not equal to that in "Tristan" or "Parsifal." In fact, if the truth must be told, better gen-eral performances of "Tannhauser" have been heard in Dresden and New York.

"I have the power of attorney," replied Briean, "conferred upon me by J. W. Post. I will send a telegram to Mr. Post if you de-sire this confirmed." Mr. Gillespie said it was not necessary and left, stating that he would make up his mind about the contract in a day or two. He then began a personal investigation of the concern very few compliments. While mak-ting his investigation Mr. Gillespie obtained a copy of a statement issued by Secretary Post concerning the company. It showed the assets to be $4,355,000 and the liabilities not a cent. The paper contained another statemeut to the effect that the sale of $2,500,000 worth of stock had been concided, or account of which an English syndicate $2,300,000 worth of stock had been concluded, on account of which an English syndicate had deposited $35,000. Among the assets named was one item of $600,000 credited to named was one item of $300,000 credited to certain gas privileges. Mr. Gillespie found these privileges to consist not in wells, but in some ground where it was supposed has could be found. He ascertained many other equally interesting things concerning the company.

Contracts Let While You Wait.

"It looked to me as strange," said Mr. Gillespie yesterday, "that a company repre-senting so many millions of dollars senting so many millions of dollars capital should give an architect power to carry about in his pockets blank forms which he could fill ont for large contracts entirely at his own pleasure. The contract I was shown was signed The Steel Tubular Car Company, per Josiah S. Briean.' I was to look to the com-pary and not to Briean for payments. An-other suspicious feature of the case was that the company went to Scharmony, near Brad-ford, and purchased 5,500 acres of ground. Then 5,100 acres were put in the title of the Scharmony Land Improvement Company. By this plan, in case of suit, the greater portion of the land could not be attached. "But the worst part of the whole affair was the magnificent offers made to those who secured contracts. Take my case for in-stance. I was to get 10 per cent com-mission, or $20.000, for my trouble. Thus the company would be making me a present of $50,000. That very fact was enough for me, and I promptly told them to hunt up some-body more easily worked. Another ridiculous affair was the extravagant state-ment that the company, with $4.355,000 assets, had not a single cent of Habilities.
