

AFTER MANY MONTHS

A Young Man is Charged With the Murder of His Companion.

HE TALKED WHILE HE WAS ASLEEP

Cut His Friends' Throat and Put Him on the Railroad Track.

SAYS HE IS THE VICTIM OF SPITEWORK

SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH. NEW CASTLE, July 27.—Wednesday morning about 8 o'clock April 3, 1920, the remains of William Risher, a citizen of Wampum, were found strewn along the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie track, at a point a short distance above Newport, this county. At the coroner's inquest held the same day, David Newton and James Booher testified that they had been with Newton on the train at Wampum; that Risher was drunk when they boarded the mid-train coach north. Finding that the train did not stop at Moravia, where the men were working, the train stopped and they got off at Newport. Risher was drunk to walk and Booher and Newton dragged him away from the track and left him.

Constable R. C. Douds of Beaver Falls, made information before 'Squire Leslie, charging Newton with willfully and premeditatedly murdering Risher, and the facts that led to the information being made are as follows: Shortly after Risher's body was found Newton went to Beaver Falls to work. For a year past those with whom he worked and who were not known to him had appeared absent-minded and unaccountably angry. Newton talked to himself. At night he would lay in his bed awake, tossing to and fro, and when he would sleep he would dream of something being done to him and cutting some one's throat.

ONE BOARDER DELIVERED

One young man who had witnessed the murder of Risher and left the scene rather than remain and witness the funeral of the unfortunate man. A short time ago Newton went to board at Elmwood and roomed with a young man who had an interest in him and had two or three friends. His roommate noticed the terrible condition of Newton's mind and one night asked him to get up and talk to him. The roommate says that Newton told him, after one talk, that he had killed William Risher.

With Booher and Risher, Newton went to Wampum, where the two discovered that Booher had some money and was laid to rest and murder their companion, but Booher got too drunk to assist in the killing and Newton decided to do it himself.

Accordingly the three men started to walk up the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie track after midnight on the 2d of April, and when they came to a point near Newport, Newton struck the fatal blow across Risher's throat. After securing $50 from Risher's pocket, the body was placed on the track and an engine was run over it. Constable Douds hunted all over Lawrence county for Newton but could not find him. The warrant was placed in the hands of County Detective S. B. Marshall yesterday afternoon, and late last night in company with George M. Perman, the detective went to Newton's home and on knocking at the door was admitted.

SAYS IT IS SPITEWORK

Newton at first refused to go with the officer, remarking that he could not be arrested, but after a while the officer had assistance close at hand, consented to dress himself and return with the men. The party reached the jail about 2 o'clock this morning. Newton, in making his statement, said he was the victim of spitework. "This is all spitework," he said, "and was first started by a man named Lewis, who owned a saloon on this main board bill of a few dollars, and had a lot of money and went about with it. It was then that these charges were made against me. I never thought of committing such a crime as this. I had done it. I did purchase half a pint of whisky for Risher the evening before he was killed, and that is the only thing connected with his death for which I have any reason to blame myself. I am innocent and can easily prove myself so. The warrant was placed on my arrest." Newton is 23 years of age, and is the son of a prominent farmer. He was killed there was a talk that he was a murderer, but the coroner's inquest resulted in the verdict of accidental death. The hearing will take place on Wednesday or Thursday.

EXPOSURE CAUSED DEATH

A Sick Man Dragged to Jail Where He Expires in a Chair.

MCKESPORT, July 27.—The death of James Truel here this morning is expected to result in a sensational trial. The entire town is on Sunday evening the house of James Truel was raided by the police, and the proprietor and his wife and ten men, a portion of whom are boarders, were taken in custody. This morning they were taken before the Mayor and Mrs. Truel was fined $30 and costs and the others from $5 to $15 and costs. Just before the train opened James Truel, who had been carried into the court, being hardly able to navigate from the effects of a long sickness, was ordered to get the lockup to sober up, the Mayor supposing that he was under the influence of drink. Truel being conveyed to the station house, the physician could be summoned. The friends of the deceased are indignant and his wife will enter suit against the city, claiming that she begged the police not to take him from the house as he was ill, but they would not listen, and exposure caused his death.

TOO MANY ON THE TRAIN

The Coupling Broke and Several People Were Fatally Injured.

JOHNSTOWN, July 27.—The remains of Pop Boehman Kelly, who was killed near Rockwood yesterday, were brought to this city today. Parties who were on the excursion train at the time of the accident testified at the inquest to-day that there was a large crowd standing on the platform at the time the coupling broke. The train was simply jammed, and there was not enough room inside, and it was a wonder more than there were not more killed. The body of L. T. Myers, of Latrobe, was taken to his home here, and Milton Fyfe, of Parkersburg, who was fatally injured, is being tended to-night. The death of Kelly removes the last member of an ill-fated family. He lost a child just before the flood, and his wife and two children perished in the flood. His remains will be taken to Home-wood for interment from his home here.

TRAIN WRECKERS AT WORK

Narrow Escape of an Excursion Returning to Pittsburgh.

WHEELING, July 27.—The fact became known to-day that the crowded Pittsburgh express on the Baltimore and Ohio had a very narrow escape yesterday from being wrecked by some flange. The train was crowded with Pittsburgh excursionists, and those on the train never knew what a narrow escape they had at Elm Grove, five miles from here. Mr. Wharton and his sister were passing that point just before the express was due, and found a coupling pin, with a half dozen bolts, tightly wedged in the frog on the main line. They were obliged to use a heavy stone in removing them, which was done just before the express was started. They had been placed on the track in such a manner as to certainly derail the engine and cars had they ever struck.

FINED FOR CRUELTY TO A BOY

He Entered a Bedroom and Used a Strap With an Iron Buckle.

BRADDOCK, July 27.—John Marchante was fined today by Judge Clementson on a charge brought by Constable William Bennett for cruelty. Marchante had entered the house of a next door neighbor, John Julius, and while his 14-year-old boy slept, bound him with a belt on the end of which there was an iron buckle. The boy awoke screaming with pain, and to prevent him from being heard, Marchante stuffed a raw potato in his mouth. The boy's body showed the marks of extreme violence.

FOUND FLOATING ON THE WATER

The Body of John Geib, of Allegheny, Suspected to Have Come to Light.

FREDON, July 27.—Superintendent John Geib found a float in the river this morning opposite the Corcoran Oil Works. The unknown body is that of a man 5 feet 4 inches in height, weighing about 160 pounds. He had a dark mustache, and was dressed in dark clothes and blue shirt.

On his person was found some cheap jewelry, among which was a ring inscribed "R. B. Geib, who committed suicide in Allegheny on Friday last. An inquest was held, and the body lies here awaiting identification.

DEATH IN A BEE'S STING

His Heart Expires, Even With the Best Medical Attention.

ALLIANCE, July 27.—The 11-year-old son of John Johnson, who resides a few miles south of this city, was stung the other day on the calf of the leg by a bee.

The child swelled to enormous proportions, and, in spite of the best medical attendance, the boy died this evening. He had been in good health, and his death undoubtedly resulted from the bee sting.

DIED IN THE FIELD

His Heart Failed to Act While He Was Harvesting for His Father.

DANBURY, July 27.—This morning Harry Hill, a prominent young man of Vanderhill, Pa., dropped dead while working in the harvest field on his father's farm.

Harry was the 23-year-old son of Colonel J. H. Hill, who is well-known throughout the State. Heart failure is given as the cause of the young man's death.

COLLECTING THE DATA

Mr. Wall Making a Postoffice and Railway Map of the State.

J. Sutton Wall, Chief of the Land Bureau in the Interior Department at Harpersburg, is in the city, the guest of R. H. D. Hartwick. With the last railroad report the Secretary of Internal Affairs issued a map showing all the lines in the State. It was paid for by voluntary contributions and is much appreciated by the people. Mr. Wall says it was badly needed, and in this respect Pennsylvania had been behind other States. Mr. Wall is preparing a new map in a range will be more elaborate, for the next report. He is here to collect the data for the railroad report. It is intended to be a postoffice and railway guide of the State. All the lines with the stations and postoffices will be shown. It frequently happens that the names of stations are changed. Mr. Wall is making a note of all the changes. He says the wealth of the State is increasing rapidly every year. In the reports the land is assessed according to its real value, and this swells the figures. In former years it was the custom of people to undervalue their real estate. He thinks the agricultural interests are not being neglected by the farmers. In the eastern section the grangers are paying considerable attention to horticulture and the raising of garden truck. There is money in the culture of fruit trees, and Mr. Wall is surprised that the farmers did not realize it long ago.

NEW NATIONAL GUARD STORES

Adjutant General McClelland Ready to Supply Soldiers With Equipments.

Word was received from Harrisburg yesterday that the Adjutant General had ready for issue to the Second Brigade an unlimited number of rubber blankets, a limited number of Mackintosh, canvas bags, haversacks and bayonet scabbards. This will be welcome news for many of the company commanders of the Second Brigade. For the past two years it has been practically impossible to get any of these necessary articles. The two years before that the chances were that a requisition sent to Harrisburg would bring down instead of new articles a lot of stores that had been turned in by disbanded companies that were almost worn out. General McClelland is anxious to provide new stores, which are highly approved by the guard. The goods are paid for by the companies receiving them.

She Demanded More Change

Alderman McMaster yesterday held a trial in the case of Mrs. Rosa Hoey versus E. A. Becker, a civil action to recover $5, which the plaintiff says is due her. Becker keeps a wholesale liquor store, and a few days ago Mrs. Hoey made a purchase amounting to 40 cents. Becker handed her $1.49 in change, but she returned the bill, which she says Mrs. Hoey gave him. Mrs. Hoey says she gave Becker a ten-dollar bill, and he returned her $1.49 in change. The Alderman McMaster reserved his decision.

Fall of Pompeii

Those who saw the "Fall of Pompeii" at Recreation Park on Saturday night will certainly want to see it again this evening. Manager Barabecel promises an even better performance than that given on Saturday. The chorists for the chorist are ready for business, and drawn by fiery steeds and driven by beautiful women. They will be taking a taking feature of the show. There will be several novel set pieces of fireworks, too. It is expected that a picture of the new Allegheny post office will be among the novelties. It is said by those who saw the show on Saturday night that the specialties are better than have been shown at any circus that has been given in Pittsburgh for years. Little is known about the show that announces the beginning of the performance at 8 o'clock.

Williams, James T. Luton, L. Reed and W. A. Lee.

Going Into Camp

About 25 members of the Philadelphia Society left for Somerset yesterday to go into camp. They intend to practice four hours per day. The Pittsburgh Recreation Club will enjoy its annual outing on Tuesday in Ohio. They will take with them an orchestra of ten pieces.

A Big Southside Death Rate

So far this month there have been 553 deaths reported. The majority of them were infants. In the deaths of last week the southside leads the list. The greatest number have occurred in the Twenty-seventh ward, but nearly all of them were infants.
