Senator Fassett arrived this evening and talked pleasantly about to-morrow's meeting, but had no opinion as to Mr. Quay's intentions. There is considerable gossip in political circles over the matter and opin ions seem to be about equally divided on the question of Mr. Quay's contemplated resignation. One member of the Executive Committee said that it was practically setuled that Mr. Quay would resign and Mr. Clarkson eventually be selected to succeed him to-morrow. Another member is equally certain that Mr. Quay will not re-

In anticipation of his resignation, however, the names of various members of the committee are being canvassed and the friends of Mr. Fassett and Mr. Fessenden are doing considerable wire pulling in their behalf. It is altogether unlikely that anything will be done in the matter of selection of Quay's successor, should he resign, until a meeting of the full committee is had.

AN EARLY CONVENTION DESIRED.

In the meantime Mr. Clarkson would be North Carolina Farmers Say They Will No at the helm. It is learned to-night that Mr.

Clarkson and at least one other member of the Executive Committee are in favor of fixing the time for holding the convention at an earlier date than usual. These gentlemen are in favor of a May convention in order to avoid the hot weather of midsummer and to afford opportunity for five or six months of campaign work.

A conference of the members of the Ex. centive Committee was held at Senator Quay's residence this evening and lasted until a late hour. The Senator did not, it is understood, make known his decision as to whether he would or would not resign, and the more important part of the conference related to the subject of raising money to pay the existing debts of the National Committee and the expense of the fall meeting of the full committee. It is surmised also that Colonel Conger, the Ohio member of the committee, made known to Chairman Quay and his associates something about the future intentions of James G. Blaine.

Colonel Conger has repeatedly stated, both before and after his recent visit to Bar Harbor, that he was first, last and all the time for Blaine, and confident of his nomination. It is quite generally believed here that the Ohio man sounded Mr. Blaine, and that he bore some message from him to Chairman Quay, but Mr. Conger will not admit that this supposition is true.
