Children's Day at Valley Camp One of the Season's Successes.

NO TIME TO TALK OF TARENTUM.

An Interesting Programme Carried Out Without a Wrinkle in It.

THE JUBILEE AN IMPORTANT FEATURE

A lamentable state of ignorance seemingly prevailed yesterday among the ministers and directors at Valley Camp as to the troubles of the neighboring camp, Tarentum, which is just across the river. Presiding Elder Miles, when approached on the subject, suddenly beenine a member of that party that was supposed to have died with the Republicans' birth, Rev. C. M. Miller was likewise in a deplorable state of ignorance on this one subject, though eye," as they met the inquiries of the re-porter, but from such expressive slang their however, from the fact that religion in Valley Camp has always been as free on Sundays as on any other day.

AN ENJOYABLE CHILDREN'S DAY. One thing is certain, however, and that is that the troubles and dissensions of Taren-tum did not intrude themselves in Valley Camp to may the peace and harmony that didren's Pay was one of the most delightsenson thus far. Even the showers e considerate, and descended when they no not interdire in any way with the ex-ses of the little folks. It is true, the re and not crowded as it has been on liar occasions in past years, but the en-insum was contagious, and what was one in numbers was made up in appre-

But the latter class might be seen about 12 o'clock wending their way toward the hotel, for the grove is a powerful place for producing an appetite that is decidedly of the earth earthy.

Twing, probably to the threatening aspect of the weather, the patriotic display was somewhat limited, excepting in the anditorium, where the pretty flags waved with every breeze and baile defiance to the mindroja that would have made short work of their beauty had they been displayed outside. The auditorium was further decorated by fresh grasses and woodland treas, ares that gave it a most attractive appearance.

EXERCISES OF THE OCCASION.

In the morning the children were made steners by several speakers, who dealt in subjects for their special benefit. In the and made listeners of the speakers who had ributed to their amu-ement and in-tion in the earlier part of the day, and goodly audience besides. Elder Miles is sunster of ceremonies in the morning

In speaking she referred to elopement, which a serious question with the thorities of the reservation, as the young dams who return from the Carlisle school capitetely fascinate the maidens with the ne coats and bass buttons which they but coats and brass buttons which the ear, and, disregarding alike the old methe st horse won the girl in a free-for-all go-as on-please race, and the new method they

The most interesting of the day's severeises, doubtiess, was the children's jubilee, which commenced at 220 o'clock, and for which commenced at 220 o'clock, and for which Mestames Johnston and Bushfield were delayed with compilments, as they were managers of the very successful entertainment. The fisher handen's drill was the prettiest number on the programme, and the Indian club drill came next in point of beauty. The little girls were all gowned in white frocks, and wore bright golden sashes. Whether in song, dance or march, they were equally graceful and hewitching. The "Welcome" was delivered by Chara Buva and a quartet, "In the Starlight," by the Misses Thompson, followed. Grace Beed Impersonated the "Junay" professor, in recitation, and the "Pilot Brave" was song by the Misses Duva. The days of the week were represented by Lydia Bushfield, Lily Duva, Mary Brobst, Luclia Bryam, Clara Thompson, Clara Duva and Carrie Bashfield. The Misses Thompson rendered the song "falvary" and "I'll Soon Be a Woman" was the title of Blanche Balley's recitation.

CLOSE OF THE PROGRAMME. lice Reed became for the time the "Little Pilgrim," and Clara and Lyd'a Bushfield sang a pretty duct. The "Children's Offering" was an enjoyable number, in which the Valley Camp Mission Band appeared. Mary Brobst preceded the collection with a recinext appeared in "How Clara Tended the Eaby." Lydia Bushfield and Willie Brown played a violin duet, and Tamer Whitmeyer pave a recitation. The "Mormuring Seas" was saing by the Misses Thompson, and an autohurp solo was rendered by Samuel Brobst.

Brobst. Those who appeared in the drills were Mary Brobst. Lillie Bryant, Lilia Dava, Alice Read, Elma Brown, Lydia Bushfield, Edith Thompson, Mary Thompson, Bessie Swindeli, Bessie Kerr, Grace Reed, Carrie Lee, Dela Reed, Ella Leet, Blanche Bailey, Clara Thompson, Ida Flaccus, Helen Thompson and Seelia Williams. The musicians were Josle Hornesburg and William Brown. Little Carrie Bushfield, who was to have appeared, instread nursed a broken arm, the result of a treacherous hammock.

The Strings in the Love Divorce Case Pulled Once More-Mr. Love Insists That His Wife Shouldn't Have the Two Children -He Denies Habitual Drunkenness Another chapter in the case of L. E. Love, yesterday. Mr. Love filed a replication to the statements made by his wife in her answer to his petition for a wait of habeas corpus to secure possession of their three children. He states that Mrs. Love is not a fit person to be entrusted with the care, control and moral training of the children by reason of her habits of vice, drunkenne and profligacy. She has absented herself from her house and chil-dren, and two of them, Frank, aged 4 years, and Florence, aged 2 years, have wandered away from their home. Frank has been found asleep in the park at 10 P. M., and Florence was lost for some time and found at the railroad station. On July 24 Frank was found asleep in a machine shop, and the same evening his mother was in East Liberty in company with with the Republicans birth. Rev. C. M. Miller was likewise in a deplorable state of ignorance on this one subject, though thoroughly versed in the benighted condition of India. Joseph Nobbs, while well informed on all else local, was not at all conversant with Tarontum and its tribulations. Had these gentlemen been anything else but a minister, an elder, and a deacon, it might be said that they "winked their other eye," as they mot the inquiries of the reporter, but from sach expressive slang their calling protects them. They all agreed, however, that Rev. Mr. Mend should and did understand the subject thoroughly, and however, that Rev. Mr. Mend should and did understand the subject thoroughly, and kindly volunteered to induce that gentleman to divalce.

Mr. Mend, who is a very striking duplicate of Bill Nye, in appearance, while admitting to knowing a whole lot about the Tarentum matter, modestly declined being the disseminator of such knowledge. Their stand on the Sanday question may be inferred, however, from the fact that religion in Valley Garan has always been as free on the public streets, absenting herself from the public streets, absenting herself from her home and children, and found in the diabolical company of her wretched com-panion, 'Del' Stevens, the co-respondent in the libet."

He was only under the influence of liquor twice—once about Il years ago at a banquet of the Eiks' Fishing Club, and once after a horse trade five years ago. In conclusion, he states that he will amply provide for his children, and asks to be given the custody of them.

FIGURES ON MORTALITY.

Largest Southside Death Bate Recorded in Many Years. Pittsburg's mortality for the week ending

July 25 shows a total of 136 deaths, or an annual death rate per 1,000 of 28.63, as compared with 92 deaths during the corresponding week of 1890. There were 34 deaths in the old city, 46 in the East End, 9 at the institutions and 47 on the Soutside. The Southside mortality was unusually large last week, and the same number of deaths in week, and the same number of deaths in proportion to the total mortality of the whole city has not occurred on the South-side for years. The largest death rate is usually in the East End, but this week the Southside was the larger. The deaths were mostly those of infants and small children, the majority of which occurred in the Twenty-seventh ward. The portion of the city in which the least number of deaths oc-cur is that bordering the Monographels river The most interesting of the day's exercises doubtless, which the compilinents, and for which desames Johnston and Bashfield were delaged with compilinents, as they were married, and specifically in the first programme, and the frocks, and wore bright golden and the frocks. # DOUBT AS TO A LAW

A Peculiar Situation That Cannot Be Cleared Up for Awhile.

An Allegheny Alderman Complies With a Demand Made Upon Him.

QUESTION RAISED AS TO AUTHORITY

Atownship is a quasi corporation that comes about as near to having no govern-ment as it is possible to get, and, were it not for the elasticity of the functions of some justices of the peace, would go to the demni-tion bow-wows. But some justices—and, for that matter, aldermen in the city also—are equal to the emergency. Some of them are quite original in their methods, and care little for forms of law so that the ends of justice be subserved, as witness what fol-

Until lately there was no such offense in the townships of this State, as a general thing, as "disorderly conduct." There was talk of a law being passed at the last session of the Legislature extending the penalty for the offense to townships, but no one seems to know whether it passed or not, and the furnishing of the acts of Assembly to those who execute the law is getting to be a matter that, like the publication of the national census, consumes much time.

IN DOUBT AS TO A LAW. Consequently, most justices of the peace do not know whether there be such law or not, and lawyers are no better off, as they have not received notice of what the last is supposed new laws will in time not be is supposed new laws will in time not be published before the next session of the body has adjourned, when some of them may then be repealed.

Justice Welte, of Allegheny, has been asked for a transcript of his docket in a case where the legal formality of making the Commonwealth prosecutor in a criminal case has been dispensed with. The defendant wants a certiforari not only on this ground, but also on the ground that the offense charged occurred, if at all, in a district where the charge of disorderly conduct will not lie, unless it be held that the jurisdiction of an alderman or justice of the diction of an alderman or justice of the peace is sufficiently elastic to reach over the county in any imaginable case, or that the act above referred to has been passed, of which it is said that there is at present no

Supreme Judges Will Be Asked to Decide the High Street Case—The Central Traction Road May Buy the Property to Save Further Trouble.

George I. Whitner, President of the Central Traction road, stated positively last light that the High street case would be taken to the Supreme Court and fought to the bitter end. He said that everything was left to the atterney of the company and he did not know exactly how the case would be made.

Judge Ewing's decision that the Central Traction Company must take all its tracks off High street has created much discussion from the fact that all the rapid transit lines in the two cities are liable to be caught up the same way. Each one of them is occupying streets as traction roads that they do not possess as passenger railways. It is thought that the matter will be settled by the Central Traction Company buying the right of way from Messrs. Dean Pollock, Rafferty and others. This cannot, however, be done until the Supreme Court has passed on the case, which will take about two years. None of the traction road officials, nowever, would affirm the story that they intended to purchase. has enabled them to recover from the depression caused by the collapse of a year or two ago in the real estate hoom.

Dr. Guy says Winfield is a very prosperous town of 7,000 inhabitants, with five railroads, public schools equal to any found anywhere, a Methodist college with an average attendance of 250 students, all the improvements in the way of water and lighting to be found anywhere, and has a Chantanqua Assembly next in importance to the parent body in New York State, and, taking all in all, is a town in a country not to be sneered at by any in the Eastern States. He also says that the highest priced lecturers in the country lecture in Winfield, and at full rates, and yet the associations employing them are never left in the lurch, the people's taste in literary matter being sufficient to sell all the seats when a man worth listening to talks. ning to talks.

TAXPAYIES SHUDDERING.

The Cost of a all improvement More Than They Care to Bear. It is well for the McKee's Rocks settle-ment that Stowe and other townships back of it must debouch there to get to the out-side world, for the roads are harder to make solid than was Bunyan's Slough of Despond and the township is being put to an enormous cost from an agricultural point of view. At present the supervisors are putting on a coating of furnace slag which promises better results than anything hitherto tried, but some taxpayers shudder when they think of a road tax levy of $12,800, and the back districts will soon be willing, if this pace is maintained, to allow the population at the Rocks to go in peace.

The fill at Duff's station will cost a vast amount. A small mountain above Irish Jimmy's place is being dug down and carted to the fill, as it is judged time to provide something more substantial than the trestle work.
