During the week and month just ended there was some improvement in the busi-ness struction generally and considerable locally. Bank clearings were about $4,000,-000 in excess of those of the previous month. They were nearly $4,000,000 greater than for July 1880. The second science the bir 2. Underground Cable ½, Chartiers Railway I, Pipenge ½, Philadelphia Gas ½, Central Traction lost ½, Luster 1, Electric ½, Switch and Signal ½. The weakness in Luster was explained by the statement that the new mill had fuiled to work according to agreement and had been shut down. The two small mills are also said to be idle. The decision in the Central Traction case, according to report, had a depressing effect in the East, on the ground that all the street railways were involved. This was the rea-son assigned for the drop in Birmingham Traction. Electric dropped almost out of sight. Lorena Lodge No. 198, K. of P., last Wednesday evening elected four candidates and received one application to member-ship. Next Wednesday evening it will con-fer the first rank in amplified form. The lodge in its third year had 300 members, and is still compared with the second second July, 1889. While there is no doubt that the reorgani-zation programme will be carried out, delay in perfecting decails and getting the new stock listed discourages investors. Several hundred shares of Philadelphia Gas changed hands the latter part of the week at a material advance. This about cleaned the market of all stock offered and left a good maty orders unfiled. The raily was due to anticipation of the good show-ing made by the company at the quarterly meeting. It has been stated in this column that the American Mechanics propose to erect a fine building in the East End. It was learned yesterday that they have taken an option on a half-acre lot stunated on Penn avenue, near Negley. A centleman who thinks there is no place ike Pittsburg, and who takes a sanguine view of its future, remarked yesterday, "After careful consideration I have reached the conclusion that the next ten years will bring about a complete transformation in the lower part of the city. Fine business houses will occupy the places of the anti-quated and dilapidated structures which quated and dilapidated structures which now mar the appearance of many of the streets. I know of at least half a dozen costly improvements which will be made next year. These will start the ball rolling. I think it is Mrs. Schenley's intention to put up a large number of business stands. There is such an urgent demand for warehouses as to leave no doubt of their value as an invest-ment. While I am giad to see the suburbs grow and flourish. I am decidedly opposed to anything like neglect of the business quarter of the city, where the money is made that keeps everything moving." the market, but it was directed at Sugar, in all probability to mask the coverings in the regular list. First prices were generally from ½ to ½ per cent better than last evening's figures, but the pressure brought to bear in the early trading knocked sugar off 2 per cent, and others fractional amounts. The pressure was withdrawn before the expiration of the first hour, when a disposition to discount a favorable bank statement appeared, and prices shot up rapidly all along the line. Burlington rose 2 per cent from its lowest figures, and the rest of the list followed closely. The bank statement proved to be not so favorable as expected, the surplus reserves showing a small decrease, while deposits were materially smaller than last week. The upward movement was checked at this point, but the best prices were well held, and no reaction was had. There were a few marked movements among the inactive stocks, and Evansville and Terre Haute, after rising from 1145 to 117, reacted to 114, while Cordage preferred rose from 97% to 100, and Tennessee Coal rose I per cent. The final changes, however, are in most cases de-clines, and Lehigh and Wilkesbarre 5s lost Sat 95, and St. Louis, Vandalia and Terres Haute firsts, 2% at 107%. Cleveland and Pittsburg 7s rose 2 to 120. The trading ex-tended to only $297,000. Some Bull Points.

John M. Oakley & Co.'s correspondents,

Watson & Gibson, wired the following: "The question of tight money is one which inter-ests every broker and trader. Predictions have been very free that we should look for a very active money market, but with the falling off of general business and the conservative methods which manufacturers, merchants and brokers have been pursuing there is not likely to be the demand anticipated. "The West will require some money to move the crops, but there is alread a good supply in the Western banks for immediate uses. As for Wall streat's demand for money, prices are so much lower that it takes correspondingly less money to carry stocks, consequently in the present con-dition of the market the needs are easily supplied. The majority of the traders on the street are now ranged upon the bear side of the market, and this fact alone is sufficient to impress us with the belief that it is about time to expect that the bull side will soon show profit. "Active imagination pictured so soft dire disaster that is to overtake our finances that the bulk of those who follow Wall street have grown to believe that it actually exists, and will drop in upon us most any time now without a moment's notice; but the wonderful showing of financial strength as displayed by us during the year past, its ability to part with large amounts of gold coin and still have enough for all its own uses, coupled with the great showing of its crops of cereals, ought to convince the most skeptical that this country is sound and its securities when well chosen are in the high-ent grade of the world's list of investments. "The West will require some money to securities when well chosen are in the high-est grade of the world's list of investments. "The feeling to-day, as evidenced by the prices, was one of marked reassurance, and even the slight decrease in the bank reserve had no prejudicial effect. We may have to wait for confidence to mature, but we be-lieve that prices are bound for a higher range. Short sales have been the thing for a time past that have shown profits, but purchases now made judiciously are in our judgment more advisable." The Finish in Gotham.
