Mr. Dueber, the Canton Watchmaker. Says the Row in Cincinnati Will Elect the Major.

John C. Dueber, the Canton watchmaker eis at the Mononcahela House. He says the affairs of his company are now in first-class shape. He owns the controlling interest in manipulated things to embarrass his chief. Mr. Dueber woke up one morning to find that all the notes were due January 1, and there wasn't enough money to pay them. The cash had been converted into watch cases and material. The temporary embarrassment followed, but the difficulty was soon disposed of and the treasurer released. Speaking of the Ohio fight, he said: "Major McKinley is a great friend of mine, and it is to the interest of the workingmen that he be elected. I think there is no question about the result. The Democratic squabbles in Cincinnati make assurance doubly sure. The wonder to me is that Major McKinley has lived through all the abuse he received on account of the tariff bill. It covers a great deal of ground, and the voters do not understand the subject. COULD HAVE BEEN A MILLIONAIRE.

"The Major is a poor man, but I know, if he had been dishonest, he could have had now at least $1,000,000 for fixing the duties to suit everybody. The tariff was made to benefit the people. It has been charged that protection makes some rich. Well, suppose that is true. Those who persone wealthy are Americans, and will spend the money in the country. Isn't that setter than sending it to Europe to enrich the pockets of foreign manufacturers, who will get rid of it for the benefit of their own people. I know the tariff has made the vatch business in America. Without it I never could have maintained the factory at Canton. I brought there with me 5,000 people, and $25,000 is paid out weekly in wages. We have been enabled through the duty to almost drive Swiss watches out of the country and to cheapen the cost of manufacture. Watches are sold to-day for one-fourth less than some years ago. The Ewiss are still able to make the cheapest watch. They can turn out a movement for 60 cents, while our lowest is $5. But how is it done." In Switzerland the work is sent around to the homes of the hands, and their wives and children assist. They are paid very low wages.

NECESSITY OF GOOD TIMEREPERS. "The Swiss make the most complicated watches, but this is a practical age. What a man wants is a good timekeeper. He doesn't care whether a watch will give him the time every 15 minutes, play him a live-ly jtg, etc. The time was when we made watches for Californians that weighed six ances. Such a weight would tear a vest tocket to pieces. All that has stopped, and

The free coinage of silver is another great mistake. Why should the Government subsidize the silver men? Are they my better than the copper and iron owners. The more silver the country buys the more ill be dug out of the earth. Silver is no longer a precious metal. It is very common and plentiful. I can take it and work it into silver cases much cheaper than Uncle Sam can coin it. Wouldn't it be better for the Government to take a bar of silver and mark on it $1,000 instead of turning it into money. Nobody wants to carry silver around with him. All white articles have lost their value to the public. The silver watch trade is dead beyond resurrection. We have practically stopped making them, as the people will not buy them. You remember they were quite common not

greatly stiffened the price. It ought to sell for 60 cents per ounce, but the rate is $1 01. The people will no longer be humbugged. They want gold watches or gold-filled cases No other kind of any consequence are sold these days. "What do you consider a perfect time-piece?" was asked. "When a watch does not vary more than 20 seconds either way," he replied. "This is the rule of the Pennsylvania road, and when I get one that will keep time as close ns that, it is about as nearly perfect as it can be made. There is a great deal of de-ception in the watch business. It pays to buy them only from reliable jewelers."

AT WORK ON AN IMPROVEMENT.

Mr. Hillman Expects to Get a Salvage Corps in Operation Here.

Leonard Hillman, of Cincinnati, who is trying to establish a salvage corps in Pittsburg, is making fair progress, and thinks he will finally succed in awakening public interest. In connection with the scheme he hopes to start ultimately a notification bureau, and to introduce the Newman watch and fire signal service system in Pittsburg, In explanation, he said:

"The notification bureau would not cost a great deal. The idea is to keep a horse and buggy and two men, to be supported subscriptions from business houses. soon then as a house fire breaks out, a man starts for the owner's home and brings him to the scene. He knows where valuable papers are located that can be easily obtained. The system is in use in Cincinnati and works very simple. In factories or stores a box is placed on each floor which connects with a central bureau. When the watchman comes on at night he strikes the first box. He is then given five minutes to reach the next floor and notify the bureau. If this is not done, a man is sent around at once to see what is the matthe bureau. If this is not uone, a hair is sent around at once to see what is the matter. If the watchman is sick, he rings twice, and some one is sent to take his place; if he goes to sleep or gets drunk the fact will be discovered at once. When the watchman discovers a fire in the house or near by he rings the loss. in the house or near by, he rings the box, and the bureau can post the fire department at once. Much valuable time is often lost in finding the key to a fire box. People the fire department at once of the city. Westminster Abbey is a wonderful structure. ### NOT DEAD, BUT SLEEPING.

A Fat Man Fell Out of an Upper Berth and

Was Not Awakened Traveling Passenger Agent L. M. Warden, of the Lake Erie road, tells a good story on an East End gentleman. "An amusing incithe company, but had a treasurer who dent occurred on the Lake Erie train that carried the Knights of Pythias to Niagara Falls a week ago," he said. "An East Ender, fat and good natured, but whose name I didn't learn, had secured a ticket that gave the right to occupy the whole of upper four in the sleeper Welland, and about 11 o'clock, with the assistance of the porter and a stepladder, he ascended to his perch. The sounds of night that soon began to radiate from his berth plainly told the other passengers that he had settled down to At the other end of the car in section 11 were four young men that were troubled with insomnia and a bottle, and along toward 2 o'clock they started for the smoking room. In passing No. 4 their eyes were attracted by the chimes from the upper berth. The combination on the curtains had broken. The fat man was lying near the edge. Each as he passed raised his hand and gave him a hard slap, thinking, no doubt, that it would cause him to move over from the front. The surprise arrived just as the fourth man had delivered his blow, for upper 4 turned the wrong way and came tumbling down to the floor with a crash that woke the peaceful sleepers, and made them think that a rear-end collision had taken place.

"The sudden disappearance of the young men was remarkable. One crawled under a lower berth, two were hanging to the steps on the outside, ready to jump and take to the woods, while the other had an immediate engagement with the baggage master, who was 15 carlengths north of the Welland. Upper four, how-ever, was not after blood. It was rest that he needed about that time, so he settled himself comfortably on the floor and slept right along as peacefully as a threshing machine. Two men finally emerged from their berths and boosted him into upper four again, from which he emerged in the morning looking as serene as a baby, and when asked about his fall knew nothing about it, as he had slept comfortably all the

A GARBAGE FURNACE PLAN.

Mr. Walker Claims Rubbish Can Be Burned Without Bad Odors.

Robert L. Walker, a Boston engineer, has been at the Anderson for the last week. He is interested among other things in garbage furnaces. When he saw what Pittsburg had in this line, he laughed heartily. He had a talk with Chief Brown, and agreed to give him free of charge the plans of a furnace, which he claimed would consume the city's waste without emitting disagreeable odors. The design was obtained and turned over to a local architect for examination.

In a chat yesterday, he said: "Fire will purify snything by burning it up. The apparatus which I suggested to Chief Brown is a simple furnace arched over, and divided for part of its length with a partition. It is provided in front with two fireplaces, which are closed by dampers that are kept cool with a stream of water. This gives two fires. In the rear are openings to put in the rub-bish. One of the fires is kept at a white heat Suppose fresh coal is put on the other. The heat from this fire passes through the waste products in the rear, changing them into gas. The air through the furnace drives it around to the other fire where the great heat consumes the noxious gas and smoke at once. When the one fire dies down it can be replenished and by that time the other one has a good start and is red hot. The direction of the current of air is then changed and the same process on the other side is repeated. Do you catch the idea?" The reporter thought he did.

BIG WORK FOR THE DIVORCE MILL.

The Anti-Cruelty Society Enlarges Its Field

for Humane Work. OTHER NEWS FROM THE COUNTY COURTS

Judges Collier and Slagle found a rather meager attendance yesterday in the court of post-hymeneal claims, the attraction being oo strong in Common Pleas No. 3 to allow many people except those who had business to visit the Quarter Sessions room.

There were a few disconsolate ribs scattered through the audience, but only one case developed sufficient interest to check the chatter of the lawyers who discuss the weather and the legal "crop" in this court on Saturdays, which custom has made a sort of half play-day in the Quarter Sessions. Dr. James A. McAlfresh was called up and asked why he refused to support Mrs. McAlfresh and two small McAlfreshes, and he succeeded in making out a case of selfdefense which was rather unexpected after Mrs. McAlfresh's story had been heard. She stated that she had been domiciled at times in California, Washington county, at Sandy Creek, and at present keeps house for a man on Smithfield street.

STORY OF THE WOMAN. She said the doctor had deserted her seven years ago, and, though he had given some support at times for the children, he had not included her in the arrangement, and of late had ceased entirely to contribute. She also insinuated her conviction that the doctor was maintaining another woman on Washington street. This brought out the Washington street. This brought out the doctor's counsel, Mr. Smith, and when he got a chance he demanded to know if she also were not living with a man to whom she was not married.

The defendent then got a chance to tell his story, and he said he had found it impossible to live with Mrs. McAlfresh. He said she had had him in custody five times, and forced him to lie in jail in Little Washington, three months lest winter. He said she had deserted him herself, once on a ime, and refused to live with him. In conclusion the doctor said he had repeatedly agreed to live with her and take care of her to the best of his ability anywhere except in California, Washington county, but he would not live there, as the associations were too unpleasant. He also stated that both had been married before the union, and each had children, and that they had agreed to pool their issues.

She said he earned $40 a week, but he said his earnings were irregular; that he made a catarrh and asthma medicine and could not always make good sales. Judge Collier thought as the majority of people suffered with catarrh, the receipts should be

ADVICE FROM THE BENCH, During the progress of the discussion Mrs. McAlfresh's counsel suggested that unless the doctor were made to contribute, the two youngest children would become a public charge, but this declaration sug-gested to Judge Collier that they had not yet obtained a settlement in this county and would be sent back to Washington county by the Guardians of the Poor in the event of their failing to get sustenance from their parents. He further remarked, after a little talk with Judge Slagle that if Mrs. McAlfresh would not live with her husband when he proposed to provide a home for her within reasonable bounds, she must make her own way without her husband's help. He told the woman that as a conjugal partner she must take the bitter with the sweet and inti-mated that she wasn't like to find perfect

It was announced that the case would be continued long enough to allow the doctor time to set up a family altar, and if he did with the doctor or scratch for herself. The woman's eyes flashed, but she said nothing The doctor seemed well satisfied with the alternative offered him.

Frequently when persons are lucky the first time they repeat the operation, and quite a number have received two purchases in succession without paying a cent. But with this, like all other similar schemes, there are people who imagine they can "beat the thing." They go into the store and make their purchase, looking at their 5 lbs 25-cent tea...... 1 00 watches about every five seconds, as if running on schedule time. They are the people who are "sure of winning." The rest 4 lbs 30-cent tea..... 1 00

However, the firm is to be commended for having adopted this plan, for while it is the most expensive scheme that could be thought of, the fact that it largely reduces its stock of, the fact that it largely reduces its stock of summer goods, will result in an actual saving of $2,000 in insurance, $6,000 in interest and will give the firm an abundance of room to display their large stock of fine fall and winter clothing just coming in. So that while it is a great financial loss in one way, in another it is a benefit and a convenience, appreciated by the patrons as well as the firm. 301 Market street, opposite Gusky's.

> Mr. J. Palmer, one of Pittsburg's mos estimable citizens, living on Lawn street, near Craft avenue (Fourteenth ward), in speaking of the rapid and wonderful recov ery he made from a case of rheumatism that had sorely afflicted him for over eight onths, says: "Only those who have been afflicted with's similar trouble can have any idea of my sufferings. These pains, sometimes dull, other times sharp and shooting, made every muscle and nerve throb with aches that were unbearable. My joints felt stiff, and every vement was attended with EXCRUCIATING SUFFERINGS. "Even my most quiet moments were dis turbed with the twinges of an aching body. I tried different so-called cures without avail, though some afforded me a temporary relier.

"I saw several articles in the newspapers regarding the physicians of the Electropathic Institute at 507 Penn avenue, and, as a last resort, concluded to consult the physicians in charge. They at once diagnosed my case as chronic rheumatism, and assured me that

THEY COULD CURE ME. "That their promise is fulfilled beyond my highest expectations is proved by my present condition. I can walk easily, sleep well and my every movements are without pain. Each treatment has benefited me more than the last, until now I am convinced that the electrical treatment as administered by the physicians of the Electropathic Institute is the most scientific and rational, and productive of better and more permanent results than any other. My strongest words of approval and recommendation shall at all times be used in their behalf."

PARALYSIS CURED.

Bed-Ridden and Suffering for Years Paralytic, Yet Mrs. John Fields, Unable to Move Her Limbs, Is Finally Relieved by the Physicians of the Electropathic Institute. "It has been over five years since I was first stricken with this malady, paralysis and what I suffered in that time can scarcely be described." The speaker was Mrs. John Fields, residing at 30 Beaver avenue, Alle

Mrs. John Fields, 30 Beaver Avenue, Alleghen "I had been feeling very well all day, when suddenly, without warning, I received the stroke which made me perfectly helpless. I stroke which made me perfectly helpiess. I could not make any movement without assistance. My whole body felt as cold as ice. For 14 months I lay down stairs, my relatives fearing to move me. During that time a number of physicians were in constant attendance, and, while I would seem to rally, there was never any perceptible permanent change for the better. Often times I wished at the close of the day that before morning came a merciful Providence would END MY SUFFERINGS.

END MY SUFFERINGS.

"My husband had spent vast sums of money in trying different cures, but to no avail. I concluded to try, as a last resort, the efficacy of the electrical treatments applied by the physicians of the Electropathic Institute, 507 Penn avenue.

"The first treatment I received benefited me so much that I was able to lift my arm above my head. For six months before that time I had been totally unable to raise my arms at all. I gradually improved until now I can do numerous duties that I never dreamt would be my good fortune to do again before I died.

"I unhesitatingly recommend these physicians and their methods, and feel sure that they will effect a permanent cure where relief is at all possible."

YEARS OF SUFFERING.

Another Local Case and Remarkable Resul Accomplished by the Electropathic Physicians at 507 Penn Avenue. "For more than five years I suffered as I did not think it possible for a human being to suffer and live."

The speaker was Mrs. Mary J. Confer, who lives at 113 Lacock street, Allegheny. "I was first stricken with rheumatism, and to anyone who has suffered from this disease I need not describe its tortures. Had con stant pains shooting from one muscle joint to another, and constant heavy, dul cruciating twinges of neuralgia.

"My life was one of misery, and mere EXISTENCE A TORTURE. "The constant pain I suffered finally re sulted in complete nervous prostration. In-somnia, or sleeplessness, was added to my other ills, and I was in a state bordering other ills, and I was in upon frenzy.

"I doctored with the best physicians in Pittsburg and wasted quantities of money, all to no avail. While at times I was helped, temporarily, my case constantly grew WORSE AND WORSE. 10 bs pure ground pepper 100

WORSE AND WORSE.

"My attention was called to the Pittsburg Electropathic Institute, at 507 Penn avenue, and as a forlorn hope I determined to try a course of electricity. I applied to the physicians in charge, and after diagnosing my case they placed me under treatment. "To make a long story short, after a regular course of treatment I am entirely cured. My pains and aches have all left me. I cannot too highly commend the Institute, or the physicians in charge of it, to those who suffer as I did."
