

WEHLE IS PLEASED.

The Amalgamated President Satisfied With the Prospects of a Victory at St. Louis.

DIFFICULTIES IN OTHER PLACES.

Another Conference on the Strike at Sharpsburg to Be Held Next Tuesday Evening.

TIN-PLATE WORKERS IN YOUNGSTOWN.

Industrial Notes and Items of General Interest Gathered in a Day.

President Wehle, of the Amalgamated Association, came home yesterday morning after spending two weeks among Eastern mills. He did not get to his office however until about 2 o'clock. The absence of himself and Assistant President Garland has resulted in an accumulation of work that will require several days to catch up.

SOME DISSATISFACTION EXPECTED.

Mr. Wehle shows evidence of fear that the association will lose a portion of the membership at Steelton, because they were not allowed to proceed with the strike as they wanted to do. "I suppose," said he, "that some of them will become dissatisfied, but they were clearly in the wrong and should not have expected assistance from this office after precipitating a strike against the decision of the Executive Board."

HOW FAST A CROWD GATHERS.

An instance of the rapidity with which a large crowd is collected when a dozen or so have gathered to form a nucleus was afforded on South Twenty-seventh street yesterday. Three members of the Eighteenth Regiment, who were in full uniform with bayonet and knapsack, were objects of interest and speculation to a small knot of on-lookers who gathered in that peaceful neighborhood. It was just at the noon hour, and the mills were pouring out hundreds of workmen. Many of these were attracted by the sight of the soldiers, and in less than five minutes the "Soldiers Three" were surrounded by a mob of 2,000 men and boys, none of the outside cager to be seen, and all of the inside city and because they couldn't get near the center, and those in the center trying to get away. The men of war stood the ordeal bravely, and when they were surrounded they merely went away with that same old "military tread."

HOPEFUL AS TO SHARPSBURG.

As to Sharpsburg, Mr. Wehle said he had not learned anything of the facts since returning home. He thinks the St. Louis case still hopeful, having just read a letter from that point stating that none of the union men were willing to go to the strike. "It is considerably surprised at the action of the latter in insisting, against the opinion of Secretary Foster, that he can import tin into the country without violating the alien contract labor law."

TIN PLATE WORKERS IN YOUNGSTOWN.

While talking to the reporter, Mr. Wehle opened and read the following letter bearing on the tin plate controversy: YOUNGSTOWN, O., Aug. 5. To the Officers of the Amalgamated Association: The tin plate workers of this city are deeply interested in the proceedings so far, and in regard to the importation of tin workers under the argument that there are none in this country, and in the proceedings so far, we are going to disprove, I want to say that I have two brothers here with myself who have been working in the tin plate mills since the war. We have worked at it all our lives. I also wish to state that I have worked in the tin plate mills since the war. I have also met scores of tin workers in this country.

WILL ONLY TALK TO EMPLOYERS.

Mr. Moorhead has given out, however, that he will confer with none but his own employers, which means that the officers of the Amalgamated Association, who have been chosen in the proceedings so far, will not be counted in this time. The committee that has been appointed to meet Mr. Moorhead are President Riddle, of the Youngstown tin plate mill; Thomas Young, rail mill, and George Zimmerman, of the puddling department. There is considerable speculation as to the outcome of the conference. The manufacturers will not concede and the men cannot. A deadlock is therefore all that can result.

WILL ONLY TALK TO EMPLOYERS.

It is claimed that Senator Quay intends to side-track Mylin by offering him the Lieutenant Governorship of the State. It is also claimed that the ticket will be Price for Auditor General and Grogg for State Treasurer. James Carson, Reading Clerk of the House, is in the shape of a candidate. He is said to be the choice of the Lancaster men. Senator Mylin will antagonize all the candidates of the Lancaster men. As for Mylin himself, he is friendly to Magee and Quay, and looks for assistance from both. Senator Quay was ill yesterday, and it is probable that Mylin will visit him at Beaver to-day. The Lancaster men are in favor of Mylin. He is not sure of Philadelphia, but he claims most of the Lancaster men. He will also be backed by Allegheny.

LABELING UNION NAILS.

A very neat plan has been adopted by the Amalgamated Association to place what may be called a boycott on non-union made wire nails. At the June convention a resolution was passed to provide all union wire nails with a trade mark, the same to be patented and furnished to all mills working under the association. As soon as it can be prepared the mills will receive it. It will be in the shape of a sticker, and put on the head of each nail. Whether this is a blow at the Braddock Wire Company or not the officials of the

HERMAN SEIVERTSON, A GLASSBLOWER, WHO RESIDES AT 1122 SARAH STREET, SOUTHSIDE, SEEMS DETERMINED TO PAWN EVERYTHING HE OWNS FOR BEER, AND IS NOW IN PAWN HIMSELF.

Seivertson has been enjoying a prolonged spree in the absence of his wife and family, who have gone to the country to seek sober society and a much-needed rest from the annoyance of the head of the family. Being without funds and very thirsty, Seivertson pawned his guitar and banjo, and finally carried the rugs from the parlor and soaked them for beer. Last evening he took the bicycle of his 10-year-old boy to the Smith pawn shop on Smithfield street, and attempted to negotiate for a small amount of beer money. He explained to Mr. Smith that his wife was visiting his mother in New Brighton and exhibited an alleged telegram, made out in a bungling way on a sending blank, which read as follows: Herman Seivertson: Come at once. JOSEPH SEIVERTSON, New Brighton.

INCREASING ITS CAPITAL.

The Carroll-Porter Company Preparing for an Extended Trade.

The Carroll-Porter Boiler and Tank Company is increasing its capital stock from $50,000 to $100,000. This company has one of the best plants in this country. Its works are located at the corner of Penn avenue and Second street. It has been running about a year and a half and has already cured a large trade with South America and Cuba, besides a trade all over this country. The company is at present manufacturing and shipping boilers to California for the sugar industry of that State. This is quite an opening, as sugar manufacturing on the Pacific slope is rivaling Spreckels in the East.

MAY END IN A SPLIT.

Mr. Nesbit says Southern G. A. R. Men Are Opposed to the Negro. A number of Washington Grand Army men were at the Union depot last evening going home from Detroit. In the party were Commander E. S. Fletcher, Privates Akerman, Reed, Durham and Boyd, Captain Daniel Barrett and D. M. Nesbit. Mr. Nesbit said he believed the race problem would soon split the Grand Army, and committed to the officials the opinion that the prevailing sentiment at Detroit was that where the colored members in a post were in the majority, they should be expelled by themselves, as white men would not be ruled by them. They have no objection to receiving the colored brother, but they do not care to mingle with him in a social way. There they draw the line, but they are willing to give him all the other privileges which the organization affords.

HER LIFE A BURDEN.

A Woman Whose Husband Is in the Workhouse Attempts Suicide.

Mrs. Margaret Coswell, a resident of Clark street, Eleventh ward, attempted to commit suicide yesterday by jumping into the river. Despondency was the cause of the act. A short time ago Mrs. Coswell's husband was arrested on a charge of drunkenness, and was sent to the workhouse. Yesterday morning she started out with the intention of paying him a visit at the institution. On the way she began to reflect on her situation. She was without money or any means of earning a living, and became so distracted by thoughts of her helpless position. She was making the journey on foot, and started at an early hour. About 8 o'clock she reached Sharpsburg and to the conclusion to end her troubles in the river. She made her way to the river bank a short distance above the Sharpsburg bridge, where she plunged into the water. The river was deep at this point, and she immediately sank. Some men, however, were near by in a skiff, and, observing her plunge, pulled to the spot. They managed to catch her as she was going down the third time, and conveyed her to the shore.

She was unconscious when taken from the water and was taken to a house nearby where the doctors were awaiting her. She recovered somewhat, but was still in a critical condition. Later she was taken to the West Penn Hospital. The woman is a native of Allegheny, and her mother is alive. Last evening she was much improved and believed to be out of danger.

DEATH TO TIMBER.

Great Destruction in the Forests of Potter and Other Counties by a Worm.

HARRISBURG, Aug. 7.—Specimens of the worms which are rapidly destroying the hemlock forests of Potter and adjacent counties have been received by Secretary Edge, of the State Board of Agriculture. The Secretary is of the opinion that they are the larvae of the larch sawfly, which, during irregular periods, appear in great numbers in the forests of Maine and northern New York, and destroy the foliage of the larches and other trees. The worms are about three-quarters of an inch long, and are of a yellowish color. In regard to the possible future effect of the ravages of the worm, the Secretary is of the opinion that, like all other pests of the kind, it will probably exist in unusual numbers for the present year, and possibly next year, but after that it will cease to be noted as being destructive. Ordinarily the worm is kept in check by parasites, which prey upon the worms. Reports from Potter county seem to indicate the total destruction of miles of timber, but the Secretary is of the opinion that the trees may put out another set of leaves.

THREE HORSES BURNED.

And a Southside Stable Destroyed, Shortly After Midnight.

Three horses were burned this morning at 12:30 o'clock in a stable in the rear of 15 Carson street, together with a quantity of hay and feed. The building, a two-story frame, was owned by the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie Railroad Company. The horses and their contents were the property of Edward Walters, the grocer, of 15 Carson street. There was $300 insurance on the horses, placed with the Mutual Live Stock Assurance Company. $500 on the other contents of the stable, which included five barrels of molasses and a quantity of groceries. The alarm was turned in by Officer T. Doyle, at 12:25, at which time the entire stable was in flames. The Duquesne and No. 9 engine companies responded, but too late to be of much service. It is not known how the fire originated.

RAN INTO A SIDING.

The Limited Wrecked at East-Palestine and One Man Was Killed.

ENGINEER AND FIREMAN INJURED.

Both Men Buried Under the Debris, but Are Expected to Recover.

PASSENGERS HAVE A NARROW ESCAPE.

The east-bound Chicago limited was wrecked at East Palestine yesterday morning. The train was going at the rate of 45 miles an hour, and ran onto a siding on which were a number of empty freight cars. Elmer Clupper, of East Palestine, who stepped from the main track to the siding, was caught and instantly killed. Engineer Isaac Biddle, of Allegheny, and Fireman William Carney were caught in the wreck and badly hurt. The officials of the road claim they will recover. The passengers were shaken up as they never have been before, but escaped without much injury.

James McFarlan, a messenger for the Adams Express Company, was in the smoking car with others. He was slightly hurt by a splinter running into his shoulder. The accident happened in a cut near the depot, and the freight cars were hurled into the air.

TWO SLEEPERS LEAVE THE TRACK.

The combination car next to the engine was a total wreck. Two of the sleepers jumped the track and rolled over on their sides. The other two sleepers were not derailed. Four freight cars on the siding were smashed into splinters. Whether the switch was left open by accident or accident is not known. The officials think it was a deliberate act to wreck the fast train. The passengers were brought over the C. & P. road and reached home at 10 o'clock. Another train was made up, and they went on to New York.

JIM CORBETT, the pugilist, was on the train. He said the crash was terrible. He looked on in amazement at the wreckage, and he saw the mangled remains of a man. They worked hard to get out the engineer and fireman. The engineer was recovered first. His leg was broken, but he was not seriously injured. He was taken to the hospital. The fireman was not recovered.

THE CITIZENS OF THE SOUTHSIDE ARE clamoring loudly for better protection against the engines of destruction in the form of electric cars, which for the past few weeks have been making such a record of accidents.

The speed at which the Birmingham cars are run along Carson street is the subject of complaint all along that and adjacent streets. Said a prominent business man yesterday: "It really is wonderful, the tremendous speed at which these cars are run. I have seen this street at the most crowded corner, and in the busiest portions of the day wagons, carriages and vehicles of all kinds are knocked about and wrecked and pedestrians brought to a halt. It is a matter of imminent peril of losing life or limb."

"The gripmen are not to blame, as they must make the required number of trips, and do so with care and skill, and as far as possible under the circumstances. If such speed is required by the public demand for rapid transit, as is claimed by the company, let common sense be placed at the more important points, as is the case on the other lines in the city."

It is understood that the placing of special officers at Tenth, Twelfth and Seventeenth streets, and at the Lake Erie depot corner will be a thing of the near future.

A horse belonging to Michael Miller, of the Southside, became frightened at the corner of South Thirtieth and Carson street last night and ran off. The buggy to which it was attached was completely wrecked and scattered along the street. The horse was not captured, and was last seen at Smithfield and Carson streets, headed for the West End.
