The Celebrated Library Hall Case Again Boldly to the Front.

THE PLAINTIFFS CHARGE FRAUD.

A Spicy-Cross-Bill That Makes Very Interesting Reading.

AN OFFER TO REIMBURSE BENNETT

The celebrated Library Hall case is once more brought prominently to the front by the filing of a very tart cross bill yesterday by D. T. Watson and A. M. Neeper, attorby D. T. Watson and A. M. Neeper, attornevs for the plaintiffs, in Common Pleas Court.

The document is quite lengthy, and sets forth a complete history of the Pittsburg Library Association and the Mercantile Library Hall Company. It contains many charges against the defendants, or a part of them, which the public will find interesting reading. The title of the case is the Pittsburg Library Association, and T. Brent Swearingen, James F. Hudson, Joseph Albree, and William Thompson, plaintiffs, versus the Mercantile Library Hall Company, Joseph Horne, Durbin Horne, T. Bernard, Shea and Albert P. Burchfield, co-partners ioing business as Joseph Horne & Co.; Richard M. Gullek and H. M. Bennett, copartners as R. M. Guliek & Co., and the Syria Temple, defendants.

MAIN POINTS OF THE BILL.

The main points contained in the cross bill of the plaintiffs, after setting forth the relations of the Library Association to the Library Hull Company and the lawful powers of each under their charters, are as

"That subsequent to the first of July and prior to the first of December, 1889, the mortgage indebtedness of said Library Hall Company consisted of three mortgages, as follows: First, a mortgage to the Shields' follows: estate for $30,000, given to secure a balance of purchase money unpaid for the ground upon which the library building is creeted; econd, a mortgage given to the Soldiers' Sanitary Home, subsequently assigned to Western Pennsylvania Hospital, for 00,000, dated June 28, 1869, and, third, a mortgage to William Frew, et al., trustees, ed April 1, 1871, for the sum of $30,000, which a writ of scire facias was issued, indement recovered in the amount of

That at the time of the recovery of said there was in the treasury of said Library Hall Company funds e to the payment of the claim unand mortgage, under said agreement of ch 10, 1871, to the extent of some $16 .-Upon said judgment an execution was ed, and the property of the Hall Commy was advertised to be sold at Sheriff's and your orators, at the first sale in ember, 1889, caused notice to be given the protection of the interests of the iers of said Mercantile Library all Company and the interests of your the Library Association, wherenon the writ was staved, and at a subseat term of court of 1889, the property as again put up at Sheriff's sale. The reptrives of your orators again being resent, the same was withdrawn.

THE MORTGAGE DEBT REFUNDED.

"That on June 23, 1890, the said Mer-notile Library Hall Company, by the florus of some of its members, who are also sembers of the Pittsburg Library Asso-intion, refunded the mortgage indebteds of said Mercantile Library Hall Comny, and issued a mortgage therefor, probeg for the payment of the mortgage of West Penn Hospital and to William row, et al., in 20 years from the date cof, and made an arrangement whereby the first mortgage, or Shields' estate mort-gage above referred to, was to be paid in installments of $5,000 each, which agreement is not now in possession of your orator, and some of them had already done so. As before shown, said stock had no value, and for years the highest price paid for it was 50 cents a share. In December, 1890, your orator was informed that certain parties, officers and stockholders of the said Hall Company, and others, were purchasing said stock at $5 per share. "Upon inquiry and investigation it was learned, and after said parties had obtained a controlling interest in said stock, they admitted they were making said purchases in the interests of H. M. Bennett, one of the partners of R. M. Gulick & Company, one of the defendants herein, and one of the proprietors of the Bijou Theater, which occupies a part of the Library property, that de-their intention was to purchase a little over one-half of the stock of the Hall Company, which expires shortly, on favorable terms, but give said firm additional room in the building, and make, at the expense of the Hall Company, certain expense of the Hall Company, certain expensive changes and repairs on their behalf. Said partics also stated that they only intended to get sufficient of said stock to control said Hall Company, and that when such major portion of said stock had been obtained, the re-mainder would be practically worthless. TRANSFERS OF STOCK OBTAINED.

"Your orator further shows that said officers and managers of the Library Hall Company, in the year 1889, and up until shortly before the 1st of January, 1891, combining with said H. M. Bennett, and by using the information gained from their official connection with the Library Hall Company, as well as their official position, obtained, upon misrepresentations, a trans-fer of a majority of the stock in the Mer-cantile Library Hall Company to them-selves and said H. M. Bennett, for the purpose of preventing the carrying out of the object for which the Mercantile Company was incorporated, and in disregard and in violation of the terms of the agreement ex-isting between the Mercantile Library Hall Company and your orator, dated March 10, 1871, and the rights granted to them by their respective charters, and for the further purpose of their own individual and private gain. That in procuring the transfer above mentioned to themselves, and for the benefit of themselves and H. M. Bennett, it was represented that the same was being procured for the use, benefit and advanceme of the interests of your orator. MR. BENNETT ON TOP NOW. "Your orator avers that the said majority of stock in said Library Hall Company is held in the interest of said H. M. Bennett, above named; that a sufficient number of shares of the same is held for him without consideration as an expedient and for his benefit by members of the present Board of Managers of the Library Hall Company, so that the control of a majority of said board is under the direction of said H. M. Bennett; that the original bill in this case was filed solely in his interests without regard to the rights of your orator or the Hall Com-pany, its trustee, and with the object, through said Board of Managers, to use the rights and property of your orator and of the Hall Company wrongfully and illegally; that your orator now stands ready to repay said officers and H. M. Bennett the price which they paid for the stock so purchased, and now tenders the same, with interest thereon from the date of said purchases, so that said officers and said Bennett may be fully reimbursed for any outlay which they may have made on this behalf. That unless immediate relief be granted unto your orator the entire trust property will be not only imperriled but the mortgages will be foreclosed and it will be actually sold. A RECEIVER NOW ASKED FOR.

'Wherefore, your orator needs equitable relief and prays: First-That a receiver be appointed to manage the property known as the Mercantile Library Hall, described in the original bill filed in this case, and mentioned herein, and apply the revenues thereof in accordance with the rights of your orator and said Hall Company, and es-pecially that said receiver be forthwith ordered to collect all outstanding rents now due from and all moneys arising from rents of said trust property and under order of this Court properly apply the same. "Second—To enjoin the said Hall Company from disposing of the funds now in its treasury in any other manner than provided else where the world is supposed to be rus-ticating. Cool green and white matting several agreements existing between said Hall Company and your orator. "Third-To enjoin said Hall Company, its managers and stockholders, from divertfurniture. Green vines of wild clematis, with their feathery white flowers, were ing said library property from the uses and purposes to which the same was dedicated by the acts incorporating said companies, trained about the mirrors and festooned against the muslin curtains. 'LIGHTS' GLARE SHADOWS. Written for THE PITTSBURG DISPATCH -BY-EMMA V. SHERIDAN. This short serial story will commence on SUNDAY, August 23. and will be completed in five installments. It is a story of theatrical life-brilliant and engrossing in manner-truthfully descriptive in its treatment of incidents behind the scenes-neither heightening nor destroying the popular illusions, and possessing great excellence of plot and characterization. It is a clean and polite story, although it introduces contrastingly good and bad personages, and embodies a realistic account of the actual experiences of actresses. Recalled by the Repairs Made on a Watch Bought at That Time,

Attorney John D. Watson yesterday took A pretty visiting toilet is figured in the watch out of a shop, where it had been accompanying illustration. It is of old rose eft to be cleaned, that his grandfather, Dr. faille finely striped with black and partially John Dickson, bought at Stevenson's store hidden with black Chantilly lace, beaded with jet. The yoke is made of cabochous, forming an opening through which ago. It is a gold hunting-cased watch, and the dress is visible. A frill of lace is said to show no evidence of wear worth trims the neck, outlines the yoke speaking of. At that time doing Europe on foot was quite the genteel thing, Bayard Taylor getting his impressions and making his reputation thereby. Dr. Dickson and a companion set out on the day after the coronation to walk through Great Britain and Ireland. They were overtaken on their journey by the queen and her retinne, as she was swinging around the circle among her subjects. The hedges were black in the country, and all the subjects of the Queen prostrated themselves while she passed.

Dr. Dickson and his companion con Dr. Dickson and his companion con-tented themselves by saluting the cavalcade and the national colors, and their refusal to "genufiet" attracted the attention of some of the officers of the military escort, who rode back and inquired of the doctor and his friend if they were not Americans. Being assured that such was the case, the officers invited the Americans to join their mess the following night. They did so, and were royally entertained. During the War of the Rebellion Dr. Dickson, while on the colunteer surgical board, met with some of these English officers, who had come to this country to study our methods of fighting. It is scarce worth stating that the second meeting, though somewhat tempered by age, was as hearty as the first, a quarter of a century earlier.

which brought them in started back. While it was moving Hotter jumped aboard and was carried up into the yard. He has not been seen since. The missing man is a powerfully built man, probably between 45 and 50 years of age, and wears a black mustache and is dressed in a suit of blue clothes. He be-lieves that there is $10,000,000 coming to him in this city, and is probably roaming around hunting for them.

IT WILL NOT APPEAR ELSEWHERE. Curbstone furnished and set.

The Fall of Pompeii is said to be a grand spectacle, but the fall in prices at these stores interests the masses a great deal more. Daily arrivals of fall importations are crowding us, and room we must have immediately. Prices on summer stock have consequently been cut unmercifully, and the chance of the season is now offered to secure goods at one-half their actual value. The reductions are so sweeping that the average reader might con-sider them exaggerated. Convince yourself of the accuracy of every statement made by cutting out the following list and asking for the goods as advertised. Of course, one-tenth of the bargains can't be enumerated here :
