During the day Governor Pattison rested. In the morning he attended the religious exercises of the Eighteenth Regiment. Chaplain Milligan preached an able sermon from a text in the sixth chapter of Ephesians. Fully 2,000 people listened to the preacher's words, attracted there by the presence of the Governor. The regiment ad prepared a neat programme of the serv-e which was distributed among the audience. After the services were over the crowd pressed around Mr. Pattison, and he stood for a half hour in the hot sun shaking hands. Among the Governor's visitors were noticed George B. Hill, John B. Larkin, Scott Ward and a number of other prominent people.

During the afternoon the Governor sat in front of his tent, watching the people and talking with friends. General P. N. Guthrie, his old Adjutant General, was heartily welcomed by Mr. Pattison.

AN INFORMAL ALL-DAY RECEPTION. The Governor was forced to hold an informal reception most of the time. As the crowds passed by they invariably caught a glimpse of His Excellency and insisted on shaking hands. The guards tried to keep them back, but the Commander-in-Chief beck-oned them to come. Everybody was kindly received, and the Governor bestowed of the year. Toward evening Mr. Stewart's is smile and handshake without discrimi-

As Mr. Pattison was about to start for the eview, a DISPATCH man had a few words with him. The Governor said this was his third encampment this summer, and he was not tired. "One never wearies of camping out," he continued. "I like my quarters out," he continued. "I like my quarters here and pleased with my treatment. The troops are making a good showing, and so far as I can see the grounds are excellent. Such a big field is a rarity in the State, and the boys have plenty of room to drill." When politics were mentioned he straightened himself and said: "I am on duty as a soldier now. We haven't time to talk politics

He is detailed to make a report on the showing and behavior of the troops. As the boys are just about entering on the real work of the camp, he reserved his opinion for the presest until he sees what they can do. Colonel Smith, of the Eighteenth Regiment, still refuses to recognize the name of "Kensington" for the camp. General Weley refuses to grant-him requisitions for passes and furloughs unless the requests are properly addressed. Under the circumstances, rather than knuckle, the Eighteenth aren are not asking for anything from headquarters. A near relative of one of the this called home by the serious sickness of its sister. urloughs without ceremony The body of Civde Richey, who was drowned on Saturday while bathing in the Allegheny, was sent to his home in Sunville for burial yesterday morning. Chap-lain Maguire, of the Fourteenth Regiment, conducted a short funeral service. The death the young man saddened the hearts his comrades in the Sixteenth Regiment ght privates and a Corporal from Com-E, of which he was a member, ten ly carried the body to the train. Richev's mother, who is a widow, is well to do. His brother and sister are slowly iring with consumption. The afflicted family has the sympathy of all the boys in the brigade. It is said of Richey that he never uttered an oath or told a lie. This is a record which any man can be proud of.

EUMORS OF ANOTHER ACCIDENT. It was reported in the camp late last evening that a corporal had been run down and killed by a train at Tarentum. Most of body knew who it was. At brigade headmariers they had received no information. Major Silliman, the surgeon of the brigade, reported that five men were sick and of this number only one was ill enough to be confined to the ospital. He says the health of the camp

Colonel Hulings, of the Sixteenth Rement, who has a good deal of pedagogic style about him, spent the afternoon in seaching his captains for the inspections which begin this morning. In-spection and master will take place to-day, and the regular inspection to-morrow. Unless the pro-gramme is changed the Governor will re-view the troops Tuesday afternoon. Major Silliman thinks it a great mistake not to give the boys several days of battalion drill beforehand. He says n little practice would improve their standing very much. After the insneak," and it is a difficult task to keep them in camp. The brigade is full of new men and officers this year. Colonel Hudson ald 47 commissions were issued last week Colonel Hawkins of the Tenth has five new captains out of eight. He remarked that he would do the best he could, but it was impossible for him to post them in bat talion movements during the camp.

THE BOYS EXPECTED TO DO WELL. Colonel Hudson, however, thinks the boys will do very well in inspection, and that they will be up to the standing of former years. He will inspect the Bat ery and the Sheridan Troop to-morrow morning He added that the grounds were good for dry weather, but if it should happen to rain life would be most disagreeable, as it would be hard to drain the water. The Colonel is vidently not in love with the place, and he cchoes a common sentiment.

Colonel Rutledge was the officer of the day. He congratulated himself last evening that the big crowd was so orderly. They gave him very little trouble. A fellow who tried to work the shell game was promptly arrested and taken before General Wiley. The General gave him five minutes to get out of the camp, and he was glad to board a train going toward the city. Major Crawford, of the Fifteenth Regiment, will be the officer in charge to-day. The United States signal station up or the eighth floor of the Schmidt building was entirely deserted yesterday. Observer Stewart was lying in the shade and drinking the West Virginia brew of ice water, while the self-registering thermometer a assistant, R. B. Harkness, ascended the eight flights of stairs and confirmed his suspicion that it was the hottest day of the year. The maximum temperature in Pittsburg vesterday, as officially given out, was 92.50°, though hundreds of truthful men who walked through Fifth avenue will make affidavit that they would have felt comfortable in an overcost at that degree of heat. What the actual temperature was on the sunny side of the street can only be conectured, though the man who habitually sings "There's a land that is hotter than this" was as mute as a dead canary.

HIGHEST TEMPERATURE OF THE DAY. The highest temperature was recorded at 4 o'clock 'P. M. The minimum registered was 670 and the mean 800, showing a range of 250. At 8 A. M. the temperature stood at 770, and at 8 P. M. it had declined from the maximum of 92.500 to 840, but it must be borne in mind that this was in the shade at the top of an eight-story building. The prevailing direction of the blast was from the southwest, and its average velocity as measured at that high elevation was ten miles anthour, though that gait would distance the sluggish zephyr that dragged itself over scorching pavements of the down-town streets. The next-hottest day of the year was June 16, when the thermometer registered 92.100, On that day the minimum and the mean

On that day the minimum and the mean were a trifle lower than to-day.

Last year this record was broken twice: On July 9, when the highest was 94.20°, and on Angust 3, when the same figures were reached. The highest figure reached one year ago yesterday was 85.07°.

The prediction made by Uncle Jerry's subordinates, that it would rain in Pitts-burg yesterday, was a great disappointment, and they promise in extenuation for this at 'small quantity of refreshing "electrical precipitation" to-day.

UP TO ONE HUNDRED DEGREES. On the streets of Allegheny the tempera

ure ran up as high as 1000, although the stagnant warmth was occassionally broken by gusts of wind. In the afternoon there was a good breeze on the hills and conse-quently there is where the crowds went. The trees bending under the force of the winds seemed to becken to the crowds in the dusty street below and in consequence street railways reaped a harvest.

At night the crowds flocked to the parks

At night the crowds flocked to the parks and received cold comfort, even for a time when Mercury is in the ascendant. There, were at least 25,000 people out on the hard asphalt pavements. There were not seats for a tenth of them. Around the music stand was collected a throng as great as a concert night. They stood and they walked and they talked. In fact, they did every-up in the Fourteenth ward station. A lot thing to escape the heat and the cry of the policeman, "Keep off the grass!"

The scene brought to mind the idea how much easier the burden of heat would have been had it been possible to have had a concert of sacred music. It also showed plainly that to allow the public to wander fancy free each Sunday evening over the grass would be one of the greatest boons to mankind, and make the park appear to be of some comfort at least.

OVER ONE HUNDRED ON THE SOUTHSIDE The Southside was undoubtedly the hottest part of the city yesterday. The mercury climbed away up in the upper nineties early in the day and passed the hundred mark in the afternoon. Everyone who had not gone out of town or to the hill tops re-mained in their homes to escape the scorching rays of the sun. But the evening brought them out, and up to a late hour Carson street was lined from one end to the other with sweltering humanity sitting on pavement and door step.

HOW HE SKIPPED OUT OF GREENSBURG

Jacob C. Alles, the crazy real estate agent, who attempted to kill off about everybody he-met in Pittsburg Saturday, is locked up at Altoons. After leaving this city the mad career of Alles was followed by Detectives Robinson and Fitzgerald to Greensburg. He registered at the Stark House, and engaged enter-tainment for two weeks. Finding that the officers were on his track he gave the entire town the slip by hiring a livery rig and driving to a station 12 miles away. There he took an early train for Altoona, the officers returning home empty handed. The first heard from the methodical lunatic was yesterday afternoon, when a telegram from Chief of Police Wier, of Altoona, to Inspector McAleese, informing him that Alles had arrived there, and asking f he was wanted. Later in the day another elegram was received containing the inormation that the loop had been captured.

where members of the association, or of L. A. 300, the same thing, are at work.

The story of Mr. Campbell's efforts to regain a footing in his trade was told in The DISPATCH last Monday. It is said, in the parlance of the day, that the council had "no use" for James Campbell, and hence refused him readmission into the order, though he had been accepted by the Jeannette preceptory. There is said by the Jeannette preceptory. There is said to be more behind this action of the council in the case of a one-time President and valuable officer, than appears. Campbell's intimacy with Messrs. Chambers and Mc-Kee, of the Jeannette firm, is said to have and something to do with the matter. But two weeks now remain before the fires should be relighted and nothing has fires should be relighted and nothing has been done toward a settlement of the wage question. JONES-McFARLAND-Shortly after 5 o'clock JONES-MCFARLAND—Shortly after 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon a serious accident happened at the corner of Shady and Fifth avenues, East End, in which a number of people were hurt. At the time mentioned a party of people in a light spring wagon, consisting of Henry Jones and wife, John Jones, wife and two daughters, Henry Jones, Sr., and granddaughter, Jennie McFarland, all of whom reside in Hannah, town, just beyond Wilkinsburg, were returning from Schenley Park, where they had been spending the day. In coming down the grade leading into Fifth avenue the wagon was overturned and the occudown the grade leading into Fifth avenue the wagon was overturned and the occupants spilt out into the street, and all were more or less hurt. Mrs. John Jones broke one of the bones in her right hand. Mrs. Henry Jones, an old lady, had some of her ribs broken and was injured internally, and it is feared, as she is an old woman, her injuries may prove fatal. Miss Jennis McFarland had a rib broken and was injured about the face. John Jones was hurt internally. The injured persons were taken to the Nineteenth ward station in the patrol wagon, and, after being cared for by Drs. Catheart and McNeal, were removed to their homes in carriages. in carriages.

The team of horses ran away after the wagon upset and were captured at No. 16 engine house, but the wagon was a complete HANLON—An old lady named Hanlon, who is well on to her 50th year, while coming out of the St. Patrick Catholic Church, Penn avenue and Seventeenth street, about 4 o'clock yesterday, fell on the steps and broke her right arm above the elbow and out a large gash in her head. She was taken to the West Penn Hospital. Her home is at 1820 Penn avenue. 22) Penn avenue. Burkhart—At 6 o'clock last evening John Burkhart had his foot broken while getting off Manchester car No. 6.

IN THEIR GAY NEW UNIFORMS. First District Police Officials Putting

Any Amount of Style. The police captains and lieutenants of the First district appeared yesterday for the first time in their new epaulettes and trouser stripes. The decorations are very gay and caused the officers to be chaffed considerably by their friends who addressed them by such titles as "general," "commodore, and other high-sounding handles.

Captain Silvis was ill at ease, though he made a handsome appearance, and he says an effort will be made by the officers to have the new trimmings reserved for Sundays and special occasions. Prepared for a Good Time, The congregation of St. Agues' Catholic Church held a meeting yesterday afternoon. Arrangements were made for holding a big picnic at Silver Lake Grove on September 7, Labor Day. Several bands will be in attendance and everything has been prepared for a general good time for everyone. CHILDREN'S and misses' light jackets and white and gingham dresses at greatly reduced prices to-day. JOS. HORNE & Co.'s

"The present Government is doing nothing more than bidding against the life of Mr. Gladstone," said Mr. Wilkinson. "The question is what is that life worth? For myself I must say I don't think it is worth a year's purchase. The Government is of the same opinion, and if it can continue in office for that time it will outlive the old statesman. His death will cause a disruption of the Unionist and a resuscitation of the Liberal party, led by Sir William Harcourt or John Morley. Of the two Sir William is entitled to the leadership by nature of his long services."

FEELING ABOUT THE SUCCESSION. "What is the feeling in England about the succession to the throne?"

"Well, I can give you my own opinion, which is that if the Prince of Wales will be ever fitted to reign, he should be now. I think the feeling is pretty well understood that the Queen should abdicate in favor of the Prince, and it is reasonable to arge that if he ever is to sit on the throne he never will be better qualified than he is at present. The baccarat business did him no harm, and he is just as popular to day in harm, and he is just as popular to-day in ingland as ever he was. ... Mr. Wilkinson was very wroth he could not get a glass of beer or wine with his dinner yesterday.

"It is outrageous," he said, "that in a country which boasts of its freedom as this does, that any man should dictate to another what he shall or shall not eat or drink. It is perfectly monstrous, my boy, that here in this city I find it is impossible to buy a glass of soda water or a cigar on Sunday. A Lynching Party Nearly Kills One of Their Own Companions in Mistake. ISPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH, 1 ERIE, Aug. 9.-Manus Baertelmans, o Gospel Hill, has just returned from serving a term for assaulting a daughter, who died two years ago. Last week another daughter charged him with a terrible crime, and the citizens of the hill started to take the law into their own hands. Last night Mat

Mooney and two companions named Wood and Geap started for the house, after con-cealing their faces in black handkerchiefs. Arrived at Beartelman's place, Woods and Geap forced the door, and found the man had fled. In the meantime Mooney had grown impatient and started around the house. Here he met Woods and Geap, who mistook him for Beartelmans, and knocked him down. They then beat him into insen-sibility, but, discovering his identity, loaded him into a wagon and called on a doctor. To-night Mooney is unconscious, with the chances of life against him, while Woods and Geap have been placed under $5,000 bail. Baertelmans has disappeared.

siderable Shifting About Made by Rev

Andreas, the Benedictine Abbot. Rt. Rev. Andreas, abbot of the Benedic tine Monastery, St. Vincent's College, has just made some important changes among the priests of that order. Father Thomas, professor of scholastics at the Monastery was placed as rector of the new Benedic College at Peru, Ill., and Father Albert, of Peru College, will take Father Thomas' place at the Monastery. Fathers Johannes, also of St. Vincent's, and Alcrim, of Baltimore, will be removed to the college at Fathers Benedict and Dionysius, of St Fathers Benedict and Dionysius, of St. Mary's, Carrollton, and Severin, of the Sacred-Heart Church at Jeannette, will assume the charge of a new congregation in Alabama, placed under the Benedictine order. Father Bankratz will go to Jeannette, and Father Martin has been chosen director of the Monastery at St. Vincent's.

A CHURCH TROUBLE QUIETED. Rev. Dr. Bauer Did Not Appear and His

Successor Was Elected. [SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH.] BEAVER FALLS, Aug. 9.—Everything passed off quietly to-day at the German Presbyterian Church, where trouble was expected from the friends of the deposed pasor, Rev. A. Bauer. Rev. Dr. Fox, o Pittsburg, preached a trial sermon, and so Pittsburg, preached a trial sermon, and so pleased the people that immediately after the sermon a congregational meeting was held, and he was elected as pastor of the church by almost unanimous vote. The Rev. Mr. Bauer and his family did not put in an appearance, and it is under-stood that if the congregation will pay him his salary up to September 17 he will step down and out quietly. The members of the congregation express their willingness to do so, and the affair will be settled quietly.

KILLED BY A NEGRESS.

Srutal Attack of a Powerful Black Wom on an Inoffensive White Man.

SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH. PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 9.-Attracted by crowd of men and boys, who were engaged in an interesting game of "crap" this morning, Frank Hetzelberger and several companions, who were passing, stopped and be-came interested spectators of the pastime. While thus engaged, Ida Howard sauntered up to them and fixed her gaze so intently on Hetzelberger as to draw from him the Hetzelberger as to draw from him the query: "What are you staring at?" Without replying, the woman, who is a big, powerful negress, rushed at Hetzelberger and with a blow from her fist knocked him down. As he was attempting to rise she again knocked him down. He endeavored to get up, but she rushed at him a third time, this time with a sharp instrument in her hand, which she drove with all her force into his chest just above the heart. Hetzelberger fell back and never spoke again.

The woman immediately ran away. Het-The woman immediately ran away. Itezelberger was carried to the Pennsylvania

A Wealthy, Despondent Woman Decides t End Her Painful Existence,

CINCINNATI, Aug. 9.—Mrs. Nellie Webb an aged and wealthy widow of Louisville Ky., where her family is very prominent committed suicide at College Hall Sanitarium yesterday evening. She was a victim of drink and had been placed in the sanitarium on the 21st of last April. Not being considered dangerous she was allowed the freedom of the place. Deprived of her stimulants, however, she developed a mel-stimulants, however, she developed a mel-ancholy tendency.

At 7 o'clock Saturday night, as was usual, she was given the privilege of the bath-room. Not long after she had entered, the sound of overflowing water attracted the at-tendant, who found that the door was locked. An entrance was forced and it was found that Mrs. Webb had laid down in the tub fully dressed and turned on the spigot, de-liberately drowning herself. She was re-moved from the tub as quickly as possible but all efforts to restore her were in vain. A Murdered Child Found in the River.
