Boston Lodge No. 180 had an interesting open session during the week which will result in great good in that locality. Supreme Treasurer Godfrey was present and addressed the meeting in his usual happy style. Supreme Member Charles S. Among the proposed changes to be made in the laws of the organization are one providing for State councils in States having more than five councils; one making the National Council a representative body; one providing that all officers in subordinate councils be elective; one withdrawing the representation of the national body from the National Council of the O. The meeting of representatives in Pittsburg Council Chamber on Friday was productive of good results. Charles T. W. Cooper presided, and the National Councilor acted as secretary of the meeting. The various suggestions that were made at the recent union meetings and many additional ones were brought up for discussion. Most of them were adopted and referred to a committee of three, to be formulated and presented to the National Council.

Brother Robert Ogle, the national organizer, has begun his work. The first year of this missionary work will probably be discouraging to many members of the order, as it will take some time to get matters in working order. The various committees are composed of 300 of the leading citizens of Butler, and they are hard at work. Two fatr-sized deals in East End real estate were concluded yesterday. Dr. X. O. Werder purchased No. 361 South Highland avenue, consisting of a brick house of eight rooms with lot 37x140, for $8,000. Both of these gentlemen are well known on Penn avenue.

Another Big Building. The Chautauqua Ice Company will soon begin the erection of a seven or eight story addition to their already large building on Pike street, Tenth ward, upon the comple tion of which radical changes will be made in the present structure to bring it into line with modern ideas and requirements. Business News and Gosstp. Building operations last week were almo

From the drift of the talk, there may be objections at the coming meeting of the Switch and Signal Company to the ratification of the sale of the Garrison alley property. Some of the stockholders de no like the idea of changing the security for a mortgage. There is considerable of the non-assented Electric stock held here. One broker knows Electric stock held here. New York, Aug. 15 .- The stock market today was more active than of late, and the tone was more active for some time, reactive list and sharp advances in a few of the leading shares. The bulls were more courageous and aggressive than for many weeks, and the Western operators, as well astern R. R. 6s ... 12: Osceola. itchburg R. R. ... 6934 Quincy lint & Pere M. pref 65 Santa Fe Copper.

weeks, and the Western operators, as well as London, were buyers of their favorites, the former being especially courageous in view of the very flattering crop conditions, which are now receiving their due attention from all classes of operators.

The market opened with small fractional gains over last night's figures, extending to $\frac{5}{2}$ per cent, and while there was some hesitation on seiling of some short stock in Union Pacific; the tone was soon recovered and an upward movement was inaugurated which, with but slight interruption, lasted throughout the session. Missouri Pacific early took the lead in the advance, but later the Grangers and Union Pacific came to the front again, and specially sharp gains were made in the last half hour.

The bank statement, when issued, showed only a slight loss in reserves and cash held, while deposits were increased materially. The effect of the demands to move the crops were not so appurent as expected, and there Philadelphia Stocks Pennsylvania

The effect of the demands to move the crops were not so apparent as expected, and there was a rush to buy on the strength of the statement, which moved up all the leaders with more animation, and Union Pacific specially scored a bandsome gain. The upward movement also extended to a large number of specialties and the market broadened out materially, in some instances showing advances of over 2 per cent. The market finally closed active and strong at the highest prices of the day. The trading extended to 123,347 listed.

Railroad bonds were specially active today, the business done reaching 607,000 for the two hours, well distributed throughout the list. Almost everything is higher, though the general advances are for fractional amounts.

stronger. This was not reflected in the figures, but proof it was found in a broader demand in a greater number of orders, and in the sharper appetites of buyers.

Final prices as compared with those of the previous Saturday show the following changes: Philadelphia Gas improved \(\frac{1}{2} \), wheeling Gas 18, Luster \(\frac{1}{2} \). Central Traction lost \(\frac{1}{2} \), Citizens' Traction 1, Pleasant Valley \(\frac{1}{2} \), Switch and Signal 1, Airbrake 1. There was some appreciation in the bank stocks, while insurance stocks about held their own. Duquesne Traction submitted to a material concession, but the others of the unlisted group came about as they went in. The feature of the week was the initiation of some good-sized orders for Philadelphia Gas, based on the belief that the company is getting in shape to pay dividends next year. However this may be, it is certain that the debt is being wiped out remarkably fast. The supply of gas is said to be greater than for two years. Luster was sustained by favorable reports from the mine, but they were not allowed to reach the public. Despite all the good conditions, the excellent railroad outlook, the ease in money and the fieting probabilities of further gold shipments, the market refuses to come out of the rut into which it has drifted and the changes are daily counted in fractions. The room traders are practically the only operators and continue for the most part bearish in their views. The indifference of the public gives the professional traders control of values, and therefore the changes in prices A Bull Market Coming. John M. Oakley & Co. received the follow ing from Watson & Gibson: "Mr. Andrew Carnegie, in his "Triumphant Democracy,' says the nations of the Old World creep on at a snail's pace, while the great Republic thunders by with the rush
Receipts, Shipments and Prices at East Libin their views. The indifference of the public gives the professional traders control of values, and therefore the changes in prices count for nothing, for there is absolutely no pressure of stocks on the market. The deadlock, however, seems to have been broken, and more business and better prices from now on can be depended upon with reasonable certainty.

Sales yesterday were 60 Luster at 12%, 6 at 12, 25 at 12%, 2 memberships at 400, 5 non-assented Electric at 9. Final bids and asking prices for the week are appended: of the limited express. This strong language was never untrue of our country, nor is it to-day. It takes a little while for the public to recognize a change in the financial or commercial situation, but when they do begin to grasp it, then the arguments that have been listened to with but dull attention suddenly acquire force. Last attention suddenly acquire force. Last autumn, when we began to point out the dangers of the situation and to urge sales, the public were slow to believe or see, but when they got scared, then the bear argument had some definite meaning to them. Last spring, when we took a bull stand, modified now and then since by predictions of lower prices occasionally for quick traders, we were thought by the majority of our friends to be wrong.

"On Wednesday we brought forward what we regarded convincing bull arguments and we regarded convincing bull arguments and on Thursday we followed up, not with gilt tering generalites, but with definite, flat footed recommendation to buy the Western stocks. They have all had an advance and stocks. They have all had an advance and small traders are already crying: 'A reaction is due.' It isn't that sort of a market. It has too much momentum, and prices will probably go up several points before the pace slackens. Ferhaps by Tuesday it will react a point or so, but the short side is not the one to play. As the mouse said: 'There may be cheese in the trap, but it isn't worth going for.'

be cheese in the trap, but it isn't worth going for.'

"We are waking up to our phenomenal position, and when the speculative instinct of this country gets into working order we shall have a wild speculation that will eventually lead to trouble. But, that is a long ways off now. The train is started and it will carry a big lot of passengers and a rapid rate. We are not waiting for Chicago in 1893. This whole country is a world's fair, free to the observation of all the rest of the world. We write in a pretty florid style, perhaps, but we do not want our friends to wait until the cream is all skimmed off.

"Inside of 60 days anybody can be a bull. There are some bears who are napping, or, if awake, are fighting the advance, but they will be swept out of the way like so many midgets. The wind just now is blowing from the wheat and cornfields of the West. This was a great day in Chicago. Wheat went up about 8 cents. When the bull speculators turn their attention to stocks there will be a lovely time here. The Stock Exchange will do a million of shares some day between now and Christmas."

and Christmas. The Situation Abroad.

Henry Clews & Co. say: "Extraordinary as European panic, yet the practiced financiers of London, Paris and Berlin know how to gauge the magnitude and bearings of the crisis with infallible exactness; and it is perhaps quite safe to say that the idea prevailmen are trembling with apprehension at the probability of further great commercial or financial disasters, is a broad misconception before, but general conditions were better. In regard to the situation abroad, the Governor of the Bank of England—the highest financial authority in the world—says: "The talk about a coming panio is unfounded. As I said before, the losses are already known, and in most cases already paid. One good result of the syndicates, trust companies and the like is to divide the losses among a multitude, and so prevent crashes. I have been averse to making any declaration on the situation, because of my official position as head of the Bank of England. But I consent because I am aware of the strong efforts that have been made in America and on the Continent to create a panic without any excuse." peal here the following pregnant words of the Governor of the Bank of England: "I wish to say emphatically that there is no basis for the report that a great financial disaster is impending in Great Britain. It is quite untrue that any important banking house is in danger save one, and the affairs of that one are now in hand. As for the chartered banks, they are all sound, so far as I know. There have been great losses, it is true, but these losses have been spread over large numbers of persons, and, as a rule, the losses have been already met and paid, leaving the lossers poorer, but still solvent. There will be a few faffures, of course, but none of any importance—none that could affect the money markets.

"It seems proper to add a word as to the prospects of our home money. We have now—a week or two later than usual—reached the turning point in the domestic exchanges, and money has begun to flow westward. Although the amount of the reserves of the New York banks is double what it was at the same time last year, yet that may not prevent our local cash resources being drawn down to a point threatening stringency. That is a matter, however, that can only be determined by experience. It is not to be overlooked in this connection that the active circulation of the country has increased some $70,000,000 during the last 12 months, which, in the absence of any increase in the trade of the country, should pass for an element of some importance in estimating the prospects of the money market.

"Having stated some of the favorable

ance if estimating the prospects of the money market.

"Having stated some of the favorable factors which lack of space excluded from our last week's review. I would nevertheless repeat the opinion then expressed—that the bearish element does not seem to have fully exhausted itself; hence the point does not appear to have yet been reached at which it is safe to load up heavily with stocks, except for brief turns, and the baying should be confined to periods when slumps are produced by the active traders."

Corn was of only secondary interest today. The fluctuations were frequent and of sufficient severity to be called sensational, and, as in wheat the trend of prices was strongly upward. September only reached its pinnacle when it touched 65%, and it stood at 62% at the close of the session, or 3% above the point it stopped at yesterday. The advance was due for the most part to the excitement in the wheat market.

THE WEEK IN OIL

Considerable Trading and the Price Fin ishes at the Top. Off was steady on its pins yesterday, with level of prices is among the possibilities of the next few weeks.

Although stocks of crude oil are comparatively light, owing to the lesser number of people in the business, they are about as large to each trader as in the flush times of long ago. Should the trading element materially increase the stuff will be scarce, unless the 1,500,000 of Lima certificates be dumped in.

There is still some doubt of the permanency of the improvement. In the words of a broker: "The market certainly is in better shape than it was, but it is still in the power of the Standard. This intimidates outsiders, without whose help one can do nothing. If one knew the premium would be kept off we would have something to work on."
