He Publishes a Statement Sharply Criticizing the Report.

MINOR NEWS FROM THE THREE STATES

ISPECIAL TELEGRAMS TO THE DISPATCH. HARRISBURG, Aug. 16.—The report of the Knights of Labor Legislative Committee does not meet with the favor of P. F. Caffrey, the secretary, and third member of that committee. When Chairman Butler prepared his report to the Knights of Labor, Secretary Caffrey refused to sign it, deciaring it to be inaccurate and biased. Today Mr. Caffrey gave out a statement, the substance of which is as follows, which he says he can substantiate by the official report of the sessions of the last Legislature: The report of the Knights of Labor Legisintive Investigating Committee by Messrs. Wright and Butler is so unfair, inaccurate and incomplete in its treatment of the subject and so unjust to friends of labor, to both sides of the House, to the order and to myself that I propose to issue a report upon the action taken on all bills. The votes pub-lished in the so-called Butler reports contra-dlet his own comments and conclusions in diet his own comments and conclusions in several instances.

Here are a few samples: The workingmen are told that Senators Robinson, Gobin, Penrose, Lemon and Lieutenant Governor Watzous were "friendly" on the Republican side. The recorded votes in the appendix to the report show that Senator Robinson was "present and not voting" upon the anthracite mine bill, and also on the factory inspector bill.

SOME GLARING INACCURACIES. In one portion of the report we are told that the factory bill was lost in the Senate, while page 29 shows 37 Senators voting ave. without a word of explanation to inform the reader that at a later stage of the proceed reader that it is later stage of the proceed-ings senator Robinson moved to indefinitely postpone the said factory bill, using the very expressive appeal to his colleagues, "Let us butcher this bill," and they did kill and bury it without ceremony. The records show that the vote was reconsidered on show that the vote was reconsidered on motion of Mr. Keyser. The bill then passed finally and was messaged to the Senate, where our "friendly" Robinson "butchered it" on the evening of May 27. A fair report would give the final vote on this or any senator Robinson is recorded as "assent and not voting" upon the emasculated eighthour bill, which was not an "extra" measure, this report informs us, but was named side by side with the company store bill on the first six important demands contained in the circular letter to the House and Seguine.

nd Senate. He is also recorded as voting against the The Old Roman's bill to protect the miners.
The Old Roman' Senator Brant is recorded as voting for all our bills. He made a gallant fight for ballot and tax reforms, and yet in this brilliant report his name does not appear among those specially and honorably mentioned. That is a fair sample of the whole report, and there are others.

LAME EXCUSES IN THE REPORT. Senator Goldin, who, according to this report was "friendly," is recorded as "absent and not voting" five times and voting gainst the check weighman's bill for the idlied by amendments which the house accepted? Did he forget how emphatically and earnestly Mr. Ritter demanded the passage of the constitutional convention bill which our committee had approved? Does he deserve no credit for the many efforts made by him and his colleagues to perfect the ballot reform bill?

ON OV A PEW OF MANY ERRORS. These are but a few of its defects sufficient at this time to indicate reasons for refusing to sign it. I believe in giving every person or party full credit for work done, but the delegates who were present at the State convention of our order will remember the intention was that a full and fair record of action taken for or against the cause of labor should be kept and published for in-

Considering the unfairness inaccuracy and incompleteness of the aforesaid report, I deem it a duty which I owe to the order, to the friends of labor on both sides and to myself, to prepare and submit for their consideration a complete report made up from my daily notes and the official records.

His wife was sick in bed at the time, and hearing the noise of the fellow entering her room, raised on her elbow, and taking a revolver from her pillow deliberately fired three shots at the burgiar. He gave a fearful yell, being evidently hit by the second shot, and the whole neighborhood was aroused by the noise. The fellow escaped, but the woman says she can identify him.

TWO DAYTON FAILURES.

One of the Firms Experimented on a New Type Writing Machine, DAYTON, Aug. 16 .- The courts have been nsked for a receiver for the firm of Mead, Phillips & Granville, who have been for two two years experimenting in the manufacture of type writing machines, and who have sunk $30,000 in the business. They are in debt that much more.

The failure was precipitated by the assignment of H. E. Mead & Co., manufacturers and dealers in paper, whose liabilities are $15,000 and assets $55,000, H. E. Mead & Co. are members of the National Paper Trust, and had been regarded as gilt-edged.

A GOLDEN HARVEST CERTAIN.

WORTH ONE BILLION DOLLARS MORE THAN IN TEARS.

Corn Will Average One Dollar and Oats Forty Cents Per Bushel on the Farm-Cotton, Bye, Cattle and Tobacco Advancing Rapidly. New YORK, Aug. 16.—Farm profits will be $1,000,000,000 more this year in the United States than they have been during the recent years of depression. At least this is the estimate put forward by the American Agriculturist in its annual review of the harvests, to be published in the forthcoming September issue of that magazine. On the basis of present prospects this authority estimates the corn crop of 1891 at 2,000,000,000 bushels, wheat 500,000,000 oushels and oats 622,000,000 bushels respectvely in 1890, and 1,700,445 and 558,000,000 bushels as the average for the preceding 11 years. This makes the total prospective rop of corn, wheat and oats 3,122,000,000 oushels, or 28.8 per cent greater than last year, and 14.7 per cent over the average of the preceding 11 years.

The American Agriculturist believes that unless unexpected influences wholly change unless unexpected influences wholly change the current of events, the value of corn on the farm will average $1 per bushel and outs at least 40 cents. On this basis the value of the corn crop to the farmers will be $1,000,000,000, wheat $500,000,000 and outs $250,000,000, or a total of $1,750,000,000. This is $450,000,000 more than the value of these crops in 1890 and $625,000,000 more than the value of the value of the secrops from 1880 to 1890 inclusive. from 1880 to 1890 inclusive.

Cotton and rye will command better prices than last season. Cattle are worth one-third more than 18 months ago, with other live stock in proportion. Tobacco is advancing heavily for cigar leaf, contracts being made for the crop in the field at an advance of 15 to 50 per cent over last year. Hops are firm at good prices, winter fruit will command large values, and all vege-tables are yielding fairly, with every indiestion of a remunerative market.

The export outlook was never better. Immensely increased sums will be sent to the United States for our produce. Ul-terior influences may of course interfere with this brilliant prospect, but we confess we are beginning to share more fully the hopes of certain well-informed, but conservative agriculturists, who preduct better profits for the farmers of the United States during the next five years than ever be-ore.

The American Agriculturist says there will be no return of "war" prices, but the money received above expenses will go further and enable the farmer to get more value out of his profits than at any previous period.

A BABY SMOKER.

against the check weighman's bill for the protection of the poor miners. Senator cobin denounced ballot reform of every description. The report is full of excuses for the action taken upon the defeated labor bills. For instance, A. C. Robinson, of Pittsburg, who was not a member of either House or Senate, is held responsible for the fallure to secure a genuine eight-hour law. Whom will the people hold responsible—these outsiders or the men who were elected to represent their rights. The report shows is Republican voting against the miners on that bill, and is Democrats and I Republican voting in layor of abolishing a stupendous system of robbery and spoliation. It says little or nothing about the House Committee on Railroads and Corporations, which killed Burk's anti-Pinkerton bill, Seanor's antidescrimination bill, Ferry's safety coupler well, and the railroad fence bill.

Did the gentleman who wrote this misledging report forget how ably Mr. Ritter defended the eight-hour bill before it was killed by amendments which the House accepted. Did he forget how emphatically and earnestly Mr. Ritter demanded the the matter, and yesterday two physicians examined the child.

He was found to be in a very feeble condition, already suffering from acute nicotine poisoning and having what is known to physicians as the "tobacco heart." His skin, eyesand brain are also affected. He displays but little intelligence now, and brightens up only when his pipe is placed before his eyes. Acting on the report of the physicians, the Humane Society has sworn out warrants for the arrest of the parents. The penalty for such an offense is not less than $10 nor more $500 fine, or one year in the penitentiary, or both. Doctors express doubts as to whether the child can be brought back to a healthy condition

GOTHAM SMUGGLERS TRIPPED UP. One Had 50 Yards of Silk Around His Body and More in His Trunk.

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.-The Custom House officers made several important seizures of snuggled goods on the steamship Umbria, the Exchange far better than I ever expect which arrived from Liverpool last night. Joseph Zeiter, of Syracuse, N. Y., was found to have 50 yards of black silk wrapped around his body, and in his trunk was found 50 yards more of the silk, besides gold watches, six shawls, 12 sets of fine cutlery. a number of meerschaum pipes and a quantity of lace. Two other passengers on the same yessel were also caught in an attempt to smuggle various articles of jewelry valued at $600. They were Abram Yesner and Jacob Rosenberg, of this city, and they were discovered through their passing a package to a friend on the pier. The officers followed the three men to a saloon in the vicinity, ar-rested them and found several hundred dollars' worth of jewelry in their possession. The jewelry was confiscated and the men locked up.

BENNINGTON'S FOURTH OF JULY.

The Memorable Battle To Be Celebrated by the Dedication of a Monument.

BENNINGTON, Vt., Aug. 16.-To-day Bennington is decked from its eastern boundary to the Old Bennington on the hill, and is one complete wave of bunting and flags. Preparing for the great celebration, the Vermont miltis is now in camp. Prominent guests of the State are expected to begin to arrive to-morrow. Governor Page and staff arrived this morning and went into camp with the Vermont National Gnard.
The 16th of August, the anniversary of the battle of Bennington, is to the people of South Vermont what the Fourth of July is to the Nation. For nearly 50 years there has been more or less preparation for the building of a suitable monument, and the dedication of this will take place this week. The cost of the monument and site had been, in round numbers, $100,000.

EUROPE NEEDS GOLD.

Therefore It Will Not Flow Back Here to Pay for Crops.

A FULL SUPPLY OF CURRENCY

In This Country Now, So There's No Actual Necessity for Gold.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH.] NEW YORK, Aug. 16.-Matthew Marshal eviews the financial and speculative situation for to-morrow's Sun as follows:

It grieved me mightily to find, on going downtown last Monday, that my deliverance of that morning had been received with some dissatisfaction by those of my friends, who, in the parlance of the street, are "bulls." The younger and more irreverent among them had the impertinence to suggest that I wrote under the influence of a bad digestion, and that another summer's trip abroad, by improving my health, would improve the soundness of my financial judgment. "I think I shall so far accept the suggestion as to take a vacation for a week or two. or at least until all danger of a recurrence this season of the hot weather of last week has passed over; but I repel with indignation the charge that ill-health has anything to do with the judgments I expressed on financial matters. The truth is that one's opinion on any subject depends on the point on which he views it. Æsop's fable of the shield which appeared to be of gold or silver according to the side upon which the observer stood, teaches a lesson of per-

FORECASTING THE FUTURE.

A man who, like myself, looks at facts and events philosophically, intent only upon forecasting the future according to and events philosophically, intent only upon forecasting the future according to abstract general principles, will usually come to quite different conclusions from one who considers only the day's market, and buys and sells for eighths and quarters on the spur of the moment. I have no hesitation in confessing that I do not understand the fluctuations of the speculative securities dealt in on the Stock Exchange, and I have always disclaimed any proficiency in reading the signs of their prospective rises and ing the signs of their prospective rises and falls.

That my opinion,s therefore, should sometimes come into collision with those of my bull or bear friends is not to be wondered at. The proposition which I endeavored to clucidate a week ago was that the market is overstocked with securities, manufactured during the era of enthusiasm which prevailed for the year or two preceding the Baring collapse of last November and that they will not be taken off the hands of their helders are not the addression from the they will not be taken off the hands of their holders except at a reduction from the prices which have hitherto been asked for

BARED UPON FACTS.

I based my opinion upon facts, some of I based my opinion upon facts, some of which are common property, and others which came to my knowledge confidentially, as it were, so that I did not feel justified in specifying the particulars. Still I think every one of my readers is possessed of enough such facts himself to judge whether I am right or wrong, and is under no compulsion to accept my conclusion if his own differs from it.

differs from it. My further inquiries this last w. ek co firm my original view, and I, therefore, adhere to it. A great deal of benefit to the market is expected, and some of it has been already experienced from the formation of the syndicate to relieve the financial distress of the Union Pacific Railway Company undoubtedly, by lifting from the public mind the apprehension which the imminent bankruptcy of so great a corporation was beginning to create. Any measure which averted, even if it only postponed the catastrophe, would be reassuring

CAN'T SEE THE BENEFIT. ertheless. I fail to see how the of the Union Pacific Railway Company worth any more intrinsically because its floating debt has been gathered into the hands of a syndicate, instead of being barout among the various mor tered about among the various money lend-ers of the country. If my friend Jupiter Morgan is correctly reported as forming one of the syndicate, he is not the man I take him to be if he does not get well paid for his services. Modesty in fixing their value never was one of his failings, and he is not likely to succumb to it at this late date.

The other reputed members of the syndi-cate also have sound business views of the compensation they are entitled to, and altogether I am quite sure that nothing will be saved in the way of interest and com-missions through their intervention. I admit that the company's stock rose on the formation of the syndicate being announced and fell when the failure of the scheme was feared, but I attribute the phenomenon to the manipulation of operators, who under-stood the game of playing upon the imaginations of their fellow-operators on

NEW NAME FOR INSOLVENCY.

I simply cannot understand how, apart from the control which the possession of large blocks of it gives, any investor should buy Union Pacific stock at any price what-ever. Indeed, this syndicating of the Union Pacific floating debt, like the similar arrangement made in London last fall with the debt of Baring Bros. & Co., is only another form of what, in my early business days, used to be called an assignment for the benefit of creditors, and which was invariably accepted as a formal announce-ment of insolvency. The abuses of these assignments finally them void whenever they were made "with intent to hinder, delay or defraud credit-ors," and under this law it was adjudged that any provision which gave the assigned the right to do anything with the assigned property, except convert it into cash as speedily as possible, avoided the assignment. I suppose the Union Pacific syndicate will steer clear of this legal snag. But the fact of the company's insolvency is made none the less conspicuous by the ex-pedient to which it has been compelled to

BIG HOPES ON CROPS. Great things are expected from the abundance of the crops of this country, and the more or less extensive failure of those of more or less extensive failure of those of Europe. Hundreds of thousands of people indulge in pleasing dreams of the wealth which is going to flow in upon us through our good fortune and Europe's ill-fortune in this respect. First and foremost, gold is to be imported by millions of dollars, to pay for food purchases; next, our own capitalists are going to have millions to invest in existing securities or in creating new ones, and, finally, Europe, besides buying liberally of our breadstuffs and our provisions, is to be equally lavish in buying our stocks and bonds.

I do not pretend to be infallible, and I stocks and bonds.

I do not pretend to be infallible, and I shall be very glad on patriotic grounds, if I shall prove to have been mistaken, but I expect as the result of our good harvest and of Europe's poor one, neither large gold imports nor an extensive buying of securities, either by home or by foreign capital-

EUROPE NEEDS THE GOLD.

Whether Europe sends us gold in payment for our food products, or whether she pays for them in her manufactured goods, or in her own securities, is a matter to be determined by circumstances as they arise. My own opinion, which I have already expressed on previous occasions, that since Europe actually needed the gold which she took from us in the spring and still needs it, she will do her best to retain it and to inshe will do her best to retain it and to in duce us to accept payment for our grain and our provisions, first in her manufactured goods, any, failing that, in our stocks and bonds.

My private advices confirm the belief that, in order to induce us to take goods in-stead of gold, the prices of the goods will be cut down, so as to make them tempting, in spite of the McKinley tariff. So many factories abroad are dependent upon this mar-ket, and so many factory hands must starve if they do not accept the lower wages their employers will be compelled to pay to re-tain our trade, that I look upon increased importations of cheap foreign goods as al-most a certainty.

PLENTY OF MONEY HERE. Besides we do not need to import gold for any really good purpose. We have an abundance of currency, and we are adding to it $4,500,000 per month by the issuing of legal tender notes against the purchases of silver bullion under the act of A FRESH EXPEDIENT FOR INSOLVENCY purchases of silver bullion under the act of July, 1890. The gold that we have recently sent abroad came mostly from the United States Treasury, where it had been lying unused for years, and its witddrawal did not hurt business any more than if it had fallen from the clouds.

The proof that we have all the currency we need is found in the absence of the usual demand for it here at this season to send to the West and Southwest to aid in send to the West and Southwest to aid in moving the crops. These sections are amply supplied already, and do not call for more. Gold, if it were to be imported, couldn't be profitably used. It would listidle, as it lay idle before it was exported, and would add nothing to the country's busi-

In another point on which I found myself compelled to differ with many authorities, the event is already vindicating my judg-ment. Six weeks ago I showed by arithmetic that the profits of the national banks on circulation would not be a sufficient inducement to them to buy the maturing 434 per cents and extend them at 2 per cent. This was in the face of a declaration by a prominent New York banker that if the Government would make the extended rate 2 per cent instead of 34, which it proposed to do, the national the whole of the bonds in private hands. THE PROSPECT AHEAD.

Now I see he recedes from the position he then took, and the prospect is that the Gov-ernment will have others to deplete its $100,000,000 greenback redemption fund to stay off the non-extended 4½s, or else let them run till Congress meets at 4½ per cent, as the contract provides.

Nevertheless, whatever may be the fate of the Union Pacific Railway Company, the movement of gold or the disposition of the 4½ per cent bonds, I am entirely in accord with my bull friends in taking a cheerful view of the immediate business future of the country. Whether stocks go up or go down, and whether this, that or the other embarrassed corporation or firm does or does not pull through and escape insolvency, the broad fact remains that the earth this year will add liberally to the country's wealth, and will furnish a solid basis for business prosperity. This will not help concerns which have only 90 cents of assets with which to pay 100 cents on debt, but it will be of material benefit to all the rest.

Our Special Reduction and Clearing Sale Shoes is in full swing. It will last until the end of the month, and it has already lasted long enough to convince those who have taken advantage of it that every price from the lowest to the highest is without parallel. The plain fact of the case is that we are selling at a loss, and what we lose you gain. Our figures are nominal. They are so low that they have very little refer ence to the real price of the article. Most of the shoes are so ridiculously cheap that it resembles a give-away rather than a sale

PRICES SHATTERED TO TURN THE STOCK INTO MONEY.

We didn't attempt the impossible when we inaugurated this sale. The command from headquarters was: "Sell the goods. The more expeditious the way the better we will like it." We knew no better way than a magnificent discount from the regular prices. We made it Twenty-five per cent. The way the people have responded is remarkable. Our sales are thousands of dollars ahead of last year's business. As a witness of confidence in our methods and merchan-
