HEROES IN THE WOOD.

the Picnic.

AN ABUNDANCE OF MUSIC AND DANCING

Rock Point swarmed with blue coats and bruss buttons vesterday. More than 10,000 people were there attending the outing and reunion of G. A. R. comrades. They came from all parts of the State.

Early in the morning the Union depot | and sleepers on night train. was crowded with them, and from that station alone six long trains were required to earry the crowd. It was midday before all were on the grounds. The exercises of the day were largely of an informal nature. No regular programme had been prepared, but all understood that there would be no lack of entertaining features.

Detachments of veterans from the Sixty first, Sixty-second, One Hundred and Second, One Hundred and Fourth, One Hundred and Thirty-ninth, One Hundred and Thirty-fourth and Sixty-third regiments. The survivors of the Seventy-fifth New York Regiment were also in attendance. Pittsburg was of course more largely repre sented than any other place, scores of old soldiers coming from all parts of the city.

A FIT DAY FOR THE PICNIC. The day was a beautiful one for such an affair, and the soldiers appreciated it. Music was furnished for the day by the Grand Army Band, Griffin Post No.207 Drum Corps and the Italian Orchestra. About a he day, the dress parade, took place. Each the day, the dress parade, took place. Each post and regimental organization was represented in line with a large number of men in full uniform. Several thousand men were in the ranks altogether. The parade was reviewed by Bepartment Commander Boyer and Past Commanders Denniston and Stewart. Six hundred uniformed Sons of Veterans, who were present, also gave a dress parade.

Then followed numerous extemporaneous ddresses by prominent members of the or er and the remainder of the day was given to enjoying the natural comforts of the ce, recounting the oft-told but ever-en-mining stories of battle field and camp the renewing of rusty acquaintances and a general good time, each individual the manner he chose. Hundreds of ea, young and old, the wives and daughof the veterans, were there. In many the entire families went with the hero s to the gathering of veterans. Dano-is one of the principal features of the here being plenty of good music and e feet to make the dancing floor de-vattractive. Gurges and ampsements cidedly attractive. Games and amusements of all kinds were provided for the younger ones who attended.

THE OFFICERS OF THE DAY. mmander of the Day George G. Boyer appointed other officers of the day as fol-lows: Lieutenant Commander, W. O. Russell, of Post 151; Adjutant, Comrade Samuel P. Town; Officer of the Day, Hugh Morrison, Post 85: Officer of the Guard, F. C. Calhoun, Post 157.

Post 157.

Among the prominent men present were Captain Sayes, Past Commander T. J. Stowart, of Philadelphia, and Past Commander Austin Curiam, of Philadelphia; Adjutant General William McClelland, W. Hays Grier, of Columbus, O.: W. G. Williams, of Philadelphia; A. P. Burchfield, of Altoona, and Captain Robert Smalls, a former slave, whose exploits during the war made him famous. It was a late hour last evening when all the comrades had left the grounds.

THE RAILEOADS KEPT BUSY. While there were many features of the day that will make it one long to be remembered by those who took part in the exercises, the principal one was the crowds. Every one who had occasion to travel on a railroad One train on the Eric and Pittsburg Eaffrond consisted of 15 cars, and every one was crowded like so many sardine boxes.

Trains coming into the city at the Union depot all day were crowded to suffocation. All etiquette was abandoned. No one pretended to give up his sear to a lady, be flast lady old or young. The day was warm enough to make a man avoid all kinds of exection, but the hardest kind of work had to be done by many. That work was to get a seat and hold to it.

Agentleman who passed the picnic grove affrond consisted of 15 cars, and every one as crowded like so many sardine boxes. Trains coming into the city at the Union epot all day were crowded to suffocation. sent and hold to it.

A gentlemin who passed the picnic grove in the afternoon says there was nothing to be seen but heads—scarcely a tree was in sight. The peopled congregated were so inaddled together that they made the grandest sight of the day.

PINALLY, I prevailed on my wife to use Mellin's Food, which she did; to-day our haby is one of the nicest and healthiest in our city. Mellin's Food is the best we have ever used, or I have ever sold. J. W. H., Newton, Kan.
