MEDIUMS WITH MANY CONTROLS.

Talking With Priends in the Spirit World

Through a Trumpet. DEMARKABLE SLATE WRITINGS GIVEN

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF DISPATCH. LHLLY DALE, N. Y., Aug. 21.-Miss Maggie Gaule, the platform test medium, who publicly calls spirits by name and introduces them to their friends in the audience, left on Thursday for her home in Baltimore. Notwithstanding the open-mouthed astonishment with which her tests were regarded, one single case of intelligent tablerapping in a private parlor with three or four good friends present would do more to convince an honest, intelligent skeptic than the bundreds of introductions of spirit friends to earthly relatives by a test medium, unless of a different character than nny I have been able to discover.

When Miss Gaule comes upon the platform she begins in this way, after passing ber hands over her eves: "Oh, I seem to room" (pointing to some particular spot), face on his hands and says," etc. Being interested in knowing how a spirit looks and sounds, your correspondent had a talk with the medium in reference to this part of the subject. Following is the interview: CHARACTER OF A SPIRIT.

"Miss Gaule, on the platform you say I see a spirit; won't you please describe as clearly as you can what the appearance of a

Yes, sir; it looks just like a person in the firsh, except that sometimes a part of the body may seem like a mist and be indistinct. If a body has been mangled the ap-pearance of the spirit may indicate it." "When you hear a spirit speak, 'clairan-diently', as you call it, how does the voice gound to you? Is it a real sound or rather

"Oh, it is a real sound and seems just as if the voice came from a person in this life. "Sometimes you say the spirit seems to be that of one who has passed out but rebe. Now, what distinguishes the one that passed over years ago from the one that

These that have but recently passed over are weak and can hardly manifest themselves.

"How do they appear to be clothed? In the dress that they were buried in? Do they come in shrouds? "No, not to me; though they appear to some mediums in shrouds. They have come to me and said: 'Do you know this old dress that you saw many years ago?' "

"When a spirit desires you to speak to some one for it how does it make the fact

It comes up to me, and with both voice HER SPIRIT CONNECTIONS.

As the subject seemed to be one upon which the lady did not seem anxious to converse the conversation was changed. She has several controls in the spirit world, one on negro, under whose control she does not wish to pass unless among but few persons. One evening, however, while sitting on the stage during some interesting performances, her hands and feet suddenly began to fly until her heels on the floor sounded like a clog duner. She then come to the feat of the til her needs on the moor sounded like a clog dancer. She then enme to the front of the stage and made a very good little speech in negro dialect. When the trance passed off she scemed very much ashamed and tried to coheeal herself behind those on the plat-form. She, like many other mediums, claim so have control that they sometimes cannot resist, but are obliged to talk, sing or dance at the pleasure of their spirit

Mrs. Dr. See has several controls; one the Empress Josephine; another Jenny Lind. Under the Empress she is developing for a speaker and under Jennie Lind's tutelage he hopes to make a vocalist. She declares that once the Empress came to her to show the style of dress she desired her to wear, and at other times, while sitting in a circle, her rings would be removed as an indication that the Empress did not desire her to wear jewelry. In answer to the query about spirits appearing so far away from where they passed their earthy life, they say that time and space are not barriers against spiritual presence, any more than they are against thought.

NO SPIRIT PERFECTION.

Spiritualists maintain that all is not perfection on the spirit side, any more than it is over her; that we enter the future with bad dispositions, low desires etc., and that they are east off only by the progression that all there can make. It is claimed that spirits over there may even write false communications on slates, give wrong impressions through table-tipping, etc.
For example, a Meadville gentleman says that one day his planchette, through spirit control, informed him that his son, who was playing ball in Pittsburg, had broken his arm. He went to the telegraph office, and learned that some spirit that had not yet forgotten a common earthly fault had descrived him. There are other instances in which it seems that spirits do play tricks upon each other, or else that progression is semetimes backward. For example, a positional lawyer of Pennsylvania, who is ptritualist, tells me the following: He addressed a question to an old friend in the spirit land, who in his earthly life was very hoice in his language; a prominent mem-er of the Presbyterian Church, whom he had never known to utter an oath or a word of slang. He addressed him as follows:

"DEAR FRIEND M .- Are you in heaven?"
Soon the writing was heard on the slates, and when it ceased the lawyer was surprised "DEAR FRIEND R .- Of course I am in heaven. If I am not in heaven, where in

VARIETY OF MEDIUMSRIP.

There are many different phases of mediamship, each having their own peculiar phenomena to prove that spirits do return. There are three or four materializing mediams where the forms of loved ones are de-clared to appear and talk with their friends and then vanish out of sight, going back and then vanish out of sight, going back into the cabinet, or as sometimes is said to be the case, gradually dissolving and disap-pearing. Some spiritualists are satisfied with no other phenomena but these, while others do not believe in them at all. The largest class of mediums are the ones who sit among those who wish to learn of the beyond in a room in a circle, holding one another's hands. These circles are usually held in a darkened room. After aitting some time, the medium goes into a trance condition and proceeds to tell those mut what spirits are wishing to speak to a. Some wonderful revelations are made, if we may believe those who receive the tests. Your correspondent has thus far been obliged to content himself with hear-

Ing others get satisfactory evidence.

There are two trumpet mediums in the eamp. I have visited but one, though I am promised a sitting with the other, who is willing to take his trumpet and go to your own room and hold the seance. This looks fair, and I am anticipating with pleasure a trial of his powers. In the case of the one I have already visited, nearly all present bad the pleasure of taking with their spirit friends. "in a born." friends, "in a horn."

A TIN HORN TEST.

There were, perhaps 20 persons sented around a room about 12 feet square. Two tin borns, abut three feet long, were stood on the floor in the middle of the room and the medium took her place between two gentlemen, who sat close enough to know whether she made any demonstration or not. The light was then blown out and every-body left in worse than Egyptian darkness.

SPIRITS CALLED UP. After singing "Nearer, My God, to Thee," and other old hymns, an occasional light Some Strange Manifestations at the

of darkness. We sit awhile longer awaiting the pleasure of the spirits, and soon different persons in the room were touched on the head, face or hands by something which cluded our grasp.

Presculy a whisper was heard, and listening closely, it could be heard naming someone in the room. This person had the call to the spirit telephone and the conversation was carried on with the spirit, which which gave its name with more or less satisfaction. All in the room could hear what was said in most cases. When the conversation was finished with one, another would be called, until nearly all in the room, exbe called, until nearly all in the room, ex-cepting four or five skeptics, had been enabled to talk with someone calling itself by the name of some of their dead friends. At one time quite a strong voice, with a rich German accent, was heard, and after asking several in the room, "Spreehen sie Deutsch?" it settled down on a Methodist minister who talked German, and they had a very interesting and humorous talk. The minis-ter also sang a German ballad and the spirit German joined in audearried both words and tune throughout. This spirit had no rela tives present, but frequently comes into this medium's seances. She says he has been in spirit land 60 or 70 years.

THANKS PROM A SPIRIT. After nearly all present had been given a chance to talk a spirit came and, thanking the friends for their presence and hoping they were satisfied, dismissed the scance. One thing I should have mentioned, is the earnestly seeking for light. Finally he had see so many spirits in this part of the fact that a colored minister was present 'and one goes up to that gentleman with his name of the spirit. At last he asked if it was his grandfather and the spirit said "Yes."

"Weil, now," said the colored brother,
"some say that my grandfather was ScotchIrish and I should like very much to know the truth." The grandfather was evidently ashamed of his grandson and would speak no

The only thing I could ask to call this a good test is light. When a man is per-mitted to use his eyes as well as his ears he is more willing to trust what presents itself as truth to both senses. It was a very puzzling exhibition to a doubter, for I got possession of one of the trumpets, and that, at the end of a long arm, was sufficient to sweep the space inside the circle, and yet nothing could be touched, and the medium would even tell when the voices were com-ing through the horn. Spiritualists present did not have the slightest doubt that the voices were all that they professed to bethose from persons in the spirit world.

WONDERFUL SLATE WRITING. Some remarkable slate writings are produced almost daily. On Tuesday Mrs Mulhauser, whose home is in Cleveland went before Slate Writer Mansfield and wanted an oil painting on a slate. They sat for some time, and the cutting noise of the pencil kept at work while she held the slates. When it ceased she opened the slates, which had all the time remained tied, and found the following message, not written on the slate, but cut in, as if done by pressing hard with the point of a knife: Dear Parents: It may seem strange to you, but I am a better engraver than writer. Time may erase this message, but rest as sured that it can never erase my love for you. Devotedly, your son, Albert.

On the same slate was written: To My 1 or Mrs. M.:

I regret that it will be impossible for any of your loved ones to produce a picture through this instrument this month.

C. D. is Mrs. M.'s. spirit control.

Susau B. Anthony delivered an address here on Woman Suffrage Day and was persuaded to go before Mr. Keeler for a slate writing. In writing to a lady friend here under date of August 19, she says:

Mr. Keeler's slate writing is surely marvel-ous. Whence he got the names or how the writing was done is beyond me, but I hope some time to get some indication that will settle the question of authority with me. Till then I shall be happy to hear from you and others on the subject.

BLACKMAILERS IN TROUBLE.

They May Also Have to Answer the Charg of Incendiarism at Chicago. CHICAGO, Aug. 21.—Thomas Higgins, William Dalton, George Washington and John Anderson are lodged in the Central station, charged with conspiracy and an attempt at blackmail in connection with Seigel, Cooper & Co.'s fire. Ever since their store on State and Adams street burned the proprietors have had suspicion that the fire was of incendiary origin.

A few days after the fire a conversation between several of the employes in the place was overheard, in which they were discussing a plan of alleged blackmail. They agreed among themselves to accuse Charles F. Wise, a floorwalker, and Isaac Keim, who was at one time a member of the firm, and who is now secretary, of arson. There were originally six of the employes in the conspiracy, but two of them dropped out. They agreed to go to the insurance companies and propose that on payment of $20,-000 they would disclose the parties who had set the building on fire. They went to one company and made such an offer, and the company was at first inclined to look the matter up, but afterward their suspicions were aroused and they refused point blank, but the men were resolved not to be de-feated in their scheme. They abandoned any idea of getting money from the insur-ance companies finally, and decided to try ance companies finally, and decided to try the firm, Seigel, Cooper & Co. Whether they had acted upon this last scheme or not is not known as yet.

was taken suddenly ill and died. McClure soon left, having placed his children in the care of a man named Smith.

Nothing was heard of him until last night, when an old and gray-haired man stepped from the train and began making inquiries in regard to his children. The man was McClure. He soon found his youngest son, who is now about 30 years of age, at work. The rest of the children had married and moved to different parts of the country. McClure claimed that most of his time McClure claimed that most of his time while away was spent in Scotland, and that he had written several letters, all of which

CLOTHING BUYERS!

The Entire Stock Subject to 25 Per Cent Discount. It doesn't take long to state a good case. If you need, or likely to need, reliable clothing you can't afford to miss this sale. We speak advisedly, and say that at the regular prices this clothing is splendid value-at a discount of 25 per cent it's the biggest value ever offered in this or any other city.

You know why this sale is necessary. It's either sell the entire stock between now and September 15 or return it to Philadelphia. We would much rather have your dollars than our clothing-you would much rather have our clothing than keep your dollars when you see the extraordinary value we have to give.

Are YOU going to purchase clothing to-day? Don't part with your dollars until you are sure they are going where they will bring the biggest return. This is common sense. If you haven't bought here, and not acquainted with the grade of goods we handle, the least you can do is to examine our stock before you buy. 25 per cent discount from everything in the house-Men's, Young Men's, Boys' and Children's Clothing.
