grounds of the Sewickley Athletic Association yesterday, and while it left the nir cool and inviting. the threatened bad weather kept away many friends of the organization. Even those who did take chances and an um-- brella and go, were ever and anon startled by the roll of balls in the bowling alley, which was very like the rumbling of distant thunder heralding the approach of the storm. Thus all were kept on the anxious seat-there were not enough chairs to go around-all day and were fully rewarded for their watching by the light showers which began at 6:30 and continued during the evening. The grounds are most beautiful and ro-valley of the Ohio at the base of steep green-capped hills. High trees are interspersed through the grounds and furnish delightful shade for hot days. In good weather members are wont to lie on the grassy carpets beneath the inviting shade and laugh at the capers of the thermometer as it takes its upward flight.

THE GROUNDS NEATLY DECORATED.

Yesterday was not one of those days, but before the rain came few could resist the temptation to ignore the benches and accept the hospitality of Old Mother Earth. It is soldom that the quiet grandeur of nature | did their full duty. can be improved upon, but the decorations there were of the sort to please the eye without creating the impression that it was overdone. Instead of a profusion of flags, bunting, etc., there was just enough not to ruin the beauty of the scene. Everything was on the primitive order to suit the ideal country fair and only the fat oxen and heavy draught horses were wanting to carry one back into the provincial districts where our country cousins are annually made hapy by the pride they can show in their exlots of time stock and full grown pump-

The Country Store," with a sun-bonneted, maidenly clerk had a prominent place and attracted much attention, likewise quarters and dimes. A large water-melon carved into liberal slices was on the ball of fare there. No country store would natural without a small counter where heese and crackers and sich" could b had in homeopathic doses. A rosy-checked pumpkin stood beside another which hoked as though it had been plucked rather young, and small sheafs of straw, presumably for binding fodder, were for sale. Rich red and large sized potatoes found a ace on the counter and invited purchase.

THE LADIES IN HIGH FAVOR. A booth constructed with evergreen and mers sheltered a heautiful young lady who, for a small consideration, was prepared to bestow her gracious favor and a bouquet upon all comers, and the sweet smile which with all flowers caused a throb of pleasure in the hearts of her gentlemen customers. Thus they were lured back again and again, some good fate causing the bonquets to disappear wonderfully fast. The eandy booth was always surrounded, showing what a regiment of young ladies have the sweet tooth. In fact Sewick ley is noted for her beautiful daughters, and they were present at the country fair in all the beautiful simplicity of white gowns and Promonades are always interesting, espe-cially when they end at a dinner table laden with country fare and delicacies as well. Everything seemed to receive a good patronage and the affair was, beyond doubt, financially successful. Sewickley people are proud of their club and bestowed upon it vesterday their greatest blessing. THE SPORTS BUNG ON.

It is called the Sewickley Athletic Associntion, but the athletes trotted out yester-day as samples are more like hothouse plants set out for an airing. There was some good fun, but the majority of the members do not appear hardy enough for heavy attributios. They were much more in their element costumed in neat white flannel citement costumed in heat white flannel piloting young ladies about the grounds. The Sewiekley Valley quoit championship scened to have an especial interest for Judges White and Stowe, who perhaps remembered how much better they could do in the days of their youth. W. W. Scott and James A. Cunningham met and de-feated all comers, and carried off the honors. The rope climbing contest was won by Walter S. Miller, a youth with a slight frame but a good muscle, which sent him to the top of his journey in 11 2-5 seconds. R. T. McCrendy performed the same feat in 1215 seconds, but Arthur Nevin was so badly handicapped by a pair of eavalry boots and leggins that he only reached about half way up.

capped by a wooden horse head, and make their best possible spurt. R. R. Miller won the race in two heats in 11 2-5 seconds, quite creditable time. Arthur Nevin won the sack race with but little difficulty, while the other contestants were spread out all over the track, where they gracefully subsided after various good endeavors to keep in the race. The time was 15 seconds.

OBSTACLE AND HURDLE RACES. The obstacle race was won by Clarence D. Bevington who scrambled through barrels, under gates and over poles across his path for 14 seconds. John Semple really came out ahead but jumped over one ob-stacle that he should have gone under and was set back to second place.

The three legged race was won by R. R.
Miller and Fred McMillen, who showed good preparation for such an undertaking.
Their time was 15 seconds. John Semple showed his speed in the egg race, winning without the least trouble, with Charles D. Richardson second. Each man had an egg in a spoon which was carried in the mouth. Mr. Semple fixed his spoon so the egg rested against the cheek and there was no danger of losing it. The others who were not so tricky lost their eggs about half way over the con mantic, situated as they are in the beautiful tied up with strong fishing cord which was not easily broken, and two of the runners were tripped up. Harry Bishop had to be assisted from the field, but recovered in time for some of the other sports. John Van Cleve won the race in 10 3-5 seconds, and Dora Bevington was second. R. T. Mc-Cready won the 100-yard race in two heats, in 10 3-5 seconds. John Gaston was second. The high jump and donkey race which were on the programme were postponed because of a want of time. The above were the events of the afternoon, and a recess was taken to give the dinner full command of the time. Those who engaged in the sports, and the onlookers as well, seemed have amassed wonderful appetites, and somewhat shorter, was more interesting than that of the afternoon. A dozen plumed Knights took possession of the field at 6:30 and with colors flying and forms becoming their warlike appearance stormed the hearts of the ladies. It was the popular Southern Tourney that called them out. After a march up and down the field they lined up in front of the stand and listend to a brief address by Colonel R. P. Nevin. who told them what was expected of them as true Knights. Then the fun began. The "Knights of Ivanhoe" led off with a mad dash up the course, capturing some of the rings, amid the cheers and applause of the spectators. Harry Bishop won the first prize and other prizes were captured by Arthur Nevin, Percy V. D. Stowe and William G. Cochran.

Though all the young men made excellent appearances in their picturesque costumes none received more favor than Alex W. Brooks. This was the smallest Knight in skillful at the game, too, though he failed to get a prize. When he dashed on the course at as high a speed as his mount was capable of the ladies waved their handkerchiefs and the gentlemen cheered him on. Perhaps it was this that caused him to be nervous and miss some of the marks he had

Some of the costumes and colors worn by some of the costumes and colors worn by the Sir Knights were quite unique and very pretty. The winner, Mr. Bishop, wore black and white. Another wore pink, a third selected bright red, and still another Exhibitions in Tenering, with Tons, duel-ing swords and sabers, were given by three members of the East End Gymnastic Club, under the direction of Prof. Kirchner. It was quite late before the contests began and under the faint glare of the electric light, surrounded by a crowd of interested spec-tators, the scene was most wierd. The tators, the scene was most wierd. The sabers swished through the air with a vicious slash, and the steel came down in blows that caused the ladies to wink, rub their eyes and look for dead men. A. C. Cun-ningham, J. P. Kessler and S. H. Soovel were the contestants and carried off the honors in the order named.

Mr. Cunningham has the advantage of his fellows because of being a graduate of Annapolis, where he received a thorough training. His position is superb and he fences the thrusts of his antagonists with apparent case. Mr. Kessler has a steady, careful style that shows a thorough knowledge of the art which practice will de-velop. Mr. Scovel has a different style of fencing. He received his instructions from a Spaniard who taught the Italian method. Mr. Scovel apparently stands too heavy on his left foot and is thus prevented from moving about as easy as the other gentle-men. He goes at it with a rush and his quick thrusts go home at unexpected times. Prof. Kirchner is auxious for this team to meet any amateurs in Western Penusyl-vania or the whole State.

Frank Osburn deserves the greatest share of the credit for the success of the affair, The whole management seemed to be rest-ing on his shoulders and he handled it well. The Cathedral Band furnished the music.

SIDE PARTY MEN

Will Resume Allegiance to the Older Doc trines, Says General Raum,

General Green B. Raum returned t Washington last night. He predicts a short life for what he calls the "side" parties, He says that the thinking men in them will soon recognize that whatever princithere may be of good in their doctrines are already part and precept of the Republican or Democratic enchings, and that they cannot expect to get from the "side" party any more than they can from the parent tree. General Raum says that while Blaine is an undoubtedly popular man, he thinks his health is not so good as to enable him to undertake the fatigues of a Presidental campaign. He thinks that Harrison will nated if Blaine declares his intention not to run.

CENTRALIZING THE MOLD-MAKERS.

The Old Central Trades Council Holds Its Final Meeting.

Quite a sensation was stirred up yesterday among the mold-makers employed in the flint houses of the United States Glass Company when a rumor gained circulation the company had issued notices to all the men that their services would not be required after Wednesday next The United States Company, it will be remembered, objected some to the moldmakers' scale, on the grounds that they intended to do away with all mold shops and establish one central shop where patterns for all the houses in the country would be made. When the report got out that the notices referred to had been issued, the moldmakers all got the impression that they would be thrown out of employment permanently, and quite a commotion was created. George M. Murphy, a member of the General Executive Board, of the A. F. G. W. U., and a mold-maker, was seen yesterday afternoon by a DISPATCH reporter. Referring to the matter, Mr. Murphy said: NO NEED FOR ANY ALARM.

"There is no need for our men to get scared about these notices. I believe it is true that some of the firms have so notified their men. out that does not mean that they will have no work. There are three houses—Duncan's, Adams' and Ripley's, where the molds for all the rest of the firms will be made. There will be the same number of glasshouses in operation this fire as there was the last; there will be as much glass made if not more and there will be the same number of new molds made, if not i ee. If they are made in three facemplo, more men in each factory. Where Ripley & Co. have formerly employed about eight mold makers, they will hereafter have about 40, and it will be about the same at the other two places.

"Of course there are a number of firms that have a lot of unfinished patterns on hand.

These may be finished up before the men are hunched together. This is the case of the O'Hara Glass Company, where the men go to work on Monday to finish up a lot of work which was commenced before the clos of the last fire.

EMPLOYMENT FOR EVERYBODY "It is only a matter of time until all the men will be employed, and if there should not be a demand for their services in the houses controlled by the United States Company, there will be in new houses and others when the reduction in hours and increased business will render necessary increased forces." There was also a rumor current yesterday to the effect that a reduction had been madin the wages paid to packers. This Mr. Murphy denied saying that the only men who would suffer a decrease in wages in the packing departments were the foremen.

Owing to increased facilities a less number of men are employed and consequently the foremen's work is made lighter. They formerly made from $30 to $40 a week. They will hereafter receive from $25 to $30. When asked if they would be satisfied with this reduction, Mr. Murphy simply said: "They'll have to be."
Mr. Murphy leaves for Chicago to-day to

PRESIDENT WEIHE HOME. The Amalgamated Official Returns After

Settling Western Disputes. President Weihe came home from the West yesterday. Speaking about his trip to Piqua, O., he said everything was all right now, as he had effected a satisfactory settlement. The trouble there was between the eatchers and hookers-up, and was a dispute over the wages to be paid.

Mr. Weihe has not had time to consider the action of the Executive Council of the American Federation of Labor in reference to the proffered aid in preventing the importation of tin plate workers, and was unable to say whether or not he will ask Mr. Gompers to act with him in the matter. The chief executive seemed very well pleased that Mr. Niedringhaus had been preased that Mr. Nicoringhaus had been foiled in his attempt to fill up his mill with men from Philadelphia.

Mr. Weihe would not express himself on the Vesuvius mill difficulty. In regard to the circular sent out by Guyasula Lodge, he said if the members had violated any of the rules it was a matter between the two lodges at Sharpsburg. "Any lodge may send out a circular," said he. "But with what consideration would it be met if one were sent out appealing for aid, without the seal of the lodge attached; would it be regarded as official?" That would be a matter for the lodges to decide. Some might think it all right; others might not."

THE NAIL SCALE SIGNED.

A Strike at Oliver & Roberts' Mill Brought to a Sudden Stop. The difficulty at Oliver & Roberts' mill was settled yesterday. The Executive Board of the First division, First district, held a meeting yesterday afternoon and considered all the points of the scale under dispute. Subsequently a conference was held with representatives of the firm, and the whole matter was arranged satisfactorily to all concerned in a very short time.

Vice President Carney said last evening:

"The matter has been settled in a way that pleases everybody, although neither side can claim much of a victory. The principle objection of the firm was to the inequality in the work to be performed by the men. Some had not enough machines to operate, and some had too many. This was arranged so that those that had ten machines last year will only have eight this year, and those who had but six and seven have had one added to their number. The scale is signed and everything is all right."

CALLING FOR SUPPORT.

Organized Labor Asked to Assist in a Large-

Sized Boycott. A circular has been issued by the Secretary of the Quarrymen's National Union, and indorsed by President Compers, of the American Federation of Labor, calling the attention of organized labor to a difficulty existing between the union and quarry operators at Port Deposit, Ind.

The union presented a scale last February which was ignored by the firm. On May 1 the men, 234 in number, went on strike. Several attempts have been made to secure a settlement, but the firm is charged with spurning all invitations to arbitrate the difficulty. The firm has even gone so far as to defy a boycott. The circular concludes: "The gauntlet has been thrown down to the friends of organized labor. It is our duty at this time to teach this firm that the day has gone past when men must bow down and be cowed like slaves to their masters."

Postponed for a Week.

Judge Stowe has postponed until next Saturday the hearing in proceedings against the strikers at the Vesuvius Iron Works at Sharpsburg. The preliminary injunction was continued until that time. C. C. Dickey, Esq., attorney for the firm, stated

The Central Trades' Council Soon to Be Reorganized-The Last Meeting of the Old Council Held Last Night-Report of

Probably the last meeting of the present Central Trades' Council was held last night, as that body is soon to be reorganized. After the routine business had been disposed of, the committee appointed to visit labor organization OLIVER & ROBERTS' TROUBLE-SETTLED for the purpose of securing new blood for the council made its report. It was stated that the circular addressed to the officers and members of labor organizations of Western Pennsylvania, inviting them to send representatives to the meet-ing to be held Saturday evening, ing to be held Saturday evening, September 5, to effect a reorganization, had been signed by the following: William Weihe, President of A. A. of I. & S. W.; W. J. Smith, President of American Flint Glass Workers' Union; W. J. Dillon, Secretary of the same; R. J. Davis, President; A. M. Swartz, Special Agent, and William P. Patton, Secretary of the Car-penters' Council; John P. Eberhardt, Presi-dent, and George L. Cake, Secretary of L. A. 300; H. F. Dempsey, Master Workman; Frank Vincent, Worthy Foreman, and L. loechstetter, Secretary of D. A. No. 3. The signers heartily approved of the movement and recommended prompt action on the paper by all labor organizations.

It was stated that it was expected that the new organization would be larger than ever, and the enthusiasm greater than in 1885, when the council was first organized. The committee was encouraged at all head-quarters. L. A. No. 300, which has been out of the council for some time, and the Flint Glass Workers, of which only wo of the 15 locals were in the council, it is thought will be fully represented. Circulars will be sent to all the lodges of the Amalgamated Association. Locals not visited personally, on account of lack of time, will be expected to send representatives to the neeting. Everywhere, it was said, it was conceded that the time was ripe for the movement. There is less contention among the labor unions than for years, and the working people have been worsted so often lately they are convinced of the necessity of coming together and co-operating for their own

No difficulties are expected in the new organization. If thought advisable, new officers will be elected. No old fight or differences will be allowed to be carried into it, and differences between organizations must be settled among themselves on the

INTO NEW COAL FIELDS.

The Construction of the Moon Run Railrond Being Pushed. The rails have been laid on the Pittsburg and Moon Run Railway, and a beginning in the matter of hauling coal will be made this year. The tipple a short distance north of the Steubenville pike is said to be the most complete in the United States. There are six tracks under it. The wagons unload themselves, and the coal is weighed as it is loaded. It is intended to take 250 carloads of coal out each day, and as the company is composed mainly of Cleveland men who want the coal the road will be run to its had related and reiterated time after time full capacity. One object in building the since his arrest, often to callous and unberoad was to get from under the dictatorship lieving ears, is, beyond any question of of the Cleveland and Pittsburg Railway Company. Already nine pits are open and prepared to shove out the black diamonds when the signal is given and the coal is of a reasonably good quality.

The passenger and other freight business, while not enormous, will likely pay somewhat, as at present some people are deterred from using the Moutour on account of the steep passenger fares. Though there has been a reduction of late, yet commutation rates on the Montour are still as high as the regular fare on through roads. There is one advantage short roads have over long ones— they can charge as much freight for carrytion has been pushed shows that business is meant.

NO PAY FOR STRIKERS.

Sharpsburg Feels Keenly the Effect of Mill Men's Idleness.

Sharpsburg felt keenly the effect of the strike there yesterday, when instead of the 500 strikers receiving their semi-monthly pay, the compensation for services went to the few non-unionists who are operating a part of the plant.

The firm expects to put about enough men at work to-morrow to operate half the puddling department. The firm claims to be able to secure in a day's time enough men to operate the whole plant, but it has still a desire to see its old employes going back to work, and is holding out all the inducements possible.

Industrial Notes. THE employes of the Pittsburg Locomo tive Works held their annual picnic at Rock Point yesterday.

SENSATIONS IN THE AIR.

Lawyers With Promised Arrests on Hand-The Latest Local Financial Rumors Run Down-An Interesting Statement Now Being Prepared.

The many rumors afloat yesterday to the effect that criminal proceedings were about to be brought against a well-known business man caused a vast deal of talk and excitement in legal and financial circles. Speculation and gossip connected the name of W. E. Schmertz with these proceedings. This, on investigation, proved to be correct, although, as yet, no suit has been entered. The sum and substance of the matter is that Attorney C. C. Dickey has been retained by Joshua Cohen, the well-known attorney, to institute proceedings against W. Schmertz to recover $6,000 owing to Mi

Cohen on a note,
It was stated by Mr. Dickey that the papers had been prepared, and that informa-tion would probably be made before Alderman McMasters yesterday. Mr. Cohen and his partner, Mr. A. Israel, were in conference with Mr. Dickey last evening, at 6 o'clock. When seen they said that nothing had been done, and that the matter would be held over for a few days. Mr. Israel stated, however, very emphatically, that he did not propose to let the matter rest, but would push the suit to a final issue.

W. F. McCook, Mr. Schmertz's attorney, was seen, but had nothing to say except that he attached no importance to the matter, and thought there was more sensation in it than anything else.

E. M. Quinby, the assignee, said yester-day the story was news to him; he had heard nothing of it, and therefore knew nothing whatever about it.

In connection with the Schmertz failure another suit was entered yesterday against James A. Chambers. This one is brought by the Bank of Pittsburg to recover $4,000 on a promissory note made by the Standard Plate Glass Company and indorsed by W. E. Schmertz and J. A. Chambers. The note was allowed to go to protest.

J. Scott Ferguson, attorney for Mr. Cham.

bers, said yesterday that there was no cause for alarm for Mr. Chambers' financial condition. He said an extension would be asked for, and that a statement was being prepared and would be presented to the creditors to-morrow. The granting of the extension, said Mr. Ferguson, would be the course to be pursued by all parties, and would be attended by the most satisfactory

James W. Miller Allows Himself To

Be Interviewed at Last. HE TALKS SOME IN AN OHIO CITY.

Declaring That the Last Link of all In a Long Chain Is Forged, THAT WILL PROVE HE IS INNOCENT,

James W. Miller permitted himself to be interviewed at Akron, O., yesterday. He declared that every link in the chain of evidence necessary to prove his innocence has been forged. His proofs are so conclusive, he says, that all will have to acknowledge his innocence. Within a short time he will be able to make the whole matter public, and when this is done THE DISPATCH will be in a position to give the public a full and authentic account of his vindication. While gathering the proofs of his innocence he has been accompanied by two well-known Pittsburgers, who will attest to the truth of all the facts that have been gleaned. Both Mr. Miller and those who have seen the testimony are positive that Miller is innocent. SOME TRAITS OF THE MAN.

Among a few of the things brought out in connection with this story illustrating the indomitable character of Miller, it is claimed, will be the history of how he took Pension Commissioner Raum's Refrigerat-ing Company, when on its last legs, and placed $100,000 in the treasury. It will also tell how he took Mitkiewicz, when that nobleman was ostracised of every one and dubbed a confidence man and a swindler, and put his Chinese plans in shape. He got capitalists in New York to furnish backing to the amount of $10,000,-000 to secure concessions in China. He has papers in his possession, he says, to prove that in 1888 the work he did in the States of Michigan, Ohio and Indiana made General Harrison President of the United States. of the United States.

CAUSES OF MILLER'S SILENCE. The reticence of Miller, his friends de-clare, and the fact that he was charged with crime, have not only kept him silent, but furnished the fulcrum which enabled these men who profited by his ability and brain power to throw him over when the work was done, without the stipend which was his due. Yet, confident in himself, he pursued the even tenor of his way, believing that the future would bring him recognization of the power he felt him-

A woman's love and a woman's faith formed the incenitive which ledt his man to face the terrible ordeal through which he must pass to prove his innocence. When the real life romance is published in the columns of THE DISPATCH, the gentlemen who are with him say it will be with commingled feelings of pity and admiration that the public will regard the heroic struggle which Miller has made. Miller says that he followed the chain of lieving ears, is, beyond any question of doubt, true in every particular. Every bit of the story is covered by affidavits that overlap and weld into each other so closely that there is not the slightest loop-hole on which any one can raise a question of a

WHAT THE PROOFS ARE. These proots are made up of the sworn deposition of nearly all of the actors in this wonderful drama. They are from people from all walks and classes of life, including men who have stood in the halls of Congress, prominent police officials and others whose names are well known, both in the business world and at the bar, everyone ing five miles as for 40. It was not expected by the public that the Pittburg and Moon Run Railway would do any business world and at the bar, everyone of them seemed to know Miller, and yet around him clustered a dozen of mythical personages, which, when traced down, all proved to be totally different persons. Ex-clamations were heard at different times from different persons. "Oh! Yes, that's Rice, Thoraton, Ryan, Edwards," etc., yet in no case when asked to identify him with any of the above personages was it found possible to do so.

The facts gleaned by Miller, he declares, prove it to be an utter impossibility for him to have been present in Clarion county at the robbery of John Conners, Sr., or to have sold the bonds to that receiver of stolen property, Nelson. On both those momentuous occasions, Miller will prove, he says, beyond the question of a doubt, where he was every moment of the time.

RESULT OF A DOG BITE.

Harvey Lease Drops Dead at the Union Depot-A Canine's Fangs Caused Blood Poisoning Which Affected His Heart-The Body Taken Home.

Harvey Lease, 22 years old, dropped dead n the Union depot waiting room yesterday morning. Coroner McDowell on investigation found death to have been the result of heart failure. The young man was a resident of Red Bank, on the Allegheny Valley Railroad, and had been here for six weeks visiting a married sister, who lives at

Four years ago he was bitten by a fero cious dog, and the bite being improperly cared for, a few months afterward blood poisoning developed. His body swelled up to twice its natural size, and his death from gangrene nearly resulted. He was partially cured, however, but, although to outward appearances was well, he never got over the disease, which finally settled in his lungs.

He has been an invalid ever since.

Lease came in from Wilkinsburg to take a Valley train for Red Bank yesterday and it is supposed the excitement of leaving his sister produced the weakening of the heart and his death. The body was taken home last evening.

INDIGNANT SOUTHSIDERS Residents of Pius Street Determined

Suppress Vandalism. Last night a meeting of the residents of Pius street, Southside, was held at the office of Alderman Hartman to consider means for stopping the vandalism in that street. For some time past trees on the streets,

The meeting was organized by calling Alderman Hartman to the chair. After considerable discussion it was decided to put special afficers on duty, and a subscrip-tion list was opened. Alderman Hartman headed it with $50, and in a short time $185 was secured. Another meeting will be held next Tuesday night.

LICENSES AS ASSETS.

An Interesting Point Raised in Court-Two Attorneys Ask for a Ruling in a Matter Hitherto Overlooked or Not Brought cense business, or rather in the matter of | HEADQUARTERS CLOSED UP EARLY transfers of license to sell the ardent. Thomas A Pitts received a license to sell at retail at No. 3548 Butler street, and about a month ago some of his creditors discovered that he was hopelessly in debt and that things were growing worse day by day. His debts amounted to about $5,000. So several executions were taken out and Mr. Pitts was levied on, the sale realizing less than 10 per cent. of the indebtedness. As Pitts was insolvent, the creditors came into possession and forced him out of business, and having the bill of sale in possession, William Mosheim, as a creditor, asked the Quarter Sessions Court to grant to him, as a successor, Pitts' license for the remainder of the year. His attorneys take the ground that the act of 1858, under which transfers have been made, provides for a grant, and not for a transfer of the original license, for any of the causes for which a license may be transferred. The party getting a transfer pays proportimately to the number of months re-maining for which the license is good. In the opinion of counsel, insolvency constitutes a good ground for a grant of, or trans-fer of a license of this kind, making it an asser of a license of this kind, making it an as-set for the benefit of creditors. At present the debtor is allowed to shove his license into his pocket and it is contended that were it made an asset on which creditors can realize, it will have a tendency to make holders act more honestly when they know that the amounts of their license may be applied to the payment of their debts, making t a trust fund.

The Court yesterday allowed the applica-tion to be filed, and fixed the time of hear-ing September 5. The attorneys for Mosheim express the opinion that the court will see the matter through the same spectacles hey use, and it is considered by lawyers to be no more than justice that a license should be regarded as an asset, not only to credit-ors, but to the licensee as well, enabling him, if honest, to come off with letter grace with his creditors, when he finds imself in straightened circumstances.

The Straight-Out Primaries Created No Stir About the City.

Attorneys John Marron and C. A. Fagan have sprung a new wrinkle in the liquor li

> And the Returns Are but Meager, Showing a Very Light Vote.

NO OPPOSITION FOR THE DELEGATES

Yesterday was "straight-out" Republican day, but few people knew it. Primaries were held in a large number of the voting districts of the county. The affair, however, was attended with no stir or excitement and outside of those directly interested in the movement there was little concern expressed as to the result. As far as could be learned last night a very light vote was cast. Candidates for delegates had no opposition and all the proceedings were of the tamest order. It had been announced that returns would be received at the headquarters on Diamond street until midnight. There was evidently some mistake about this for the headquarters had no occupants in the evening except Secretary J. M. Dunn. Having nobody to keep him company the secretary finally grew tired and closed the place about 9 o'clock. He had received by telephone some reports from various districts, but in the majority of cases no word came. The returns were not at all startling. LITTLE WORD FROM OUTSIDE.

The country districts, in which the "straight-outs" have their largest follow-"straight-outs" have their largest following, were not heard from except in one or two cases. Secretary Dunn said a number of districts had reported a full complement of delegates. They were the Third, Eighth, Eleventh and Thirteenth wards, of Pittsburg; the Second, Third, Fifth, Sixth and Thirteenth wards, of Allegheny, and Baldwin, Chartiers, Bethel, Upper St. Clair and Marshall townships and Wilkinsburg borough. A portion of the delegates reported themselves from the Twentieth, Twenty-second and Thirty-fifth wards, Pittsburg, and First ward, Allegheny. In many places permission was not obtained to open the polls at the regular polling places and the election was held on the curbstone. The number of votes cast was not stated. It was asserted, however, that every district would be represented in the convention.

One gentleman went to the janitor's office in City Hall, which is the polling place of the second district of the Third ward. He could not obtain permission to open the polls, however, and undertook to do so without permission. He found the window closed fast, and a minute later discovered that he had been locked in the room.

ELECTED HIMSELF DELEGATE. He was released in a short time, whereupon he adjourned to the sidewalk and triumphantly elected himself a delegate to the "straight-out" Republican convention.
In very few districts was the formality of opening polls gone through with. Delegates were "selected," and they will be on hand with credentials at the convention.

At 4 o'clock last evening Secretary Dunn said: "At 7 o'clock this evening we will have a delegate elected in every district in the county. There was some trouble in the the county. There was some trouble in the Eighth ward where a request to open the polls was not honored, but a man of propor-tions that would stagger John L. Sullivan came down to headquarters and asked for tickets, posters, etc., and said he would lay dollars to cents that there would be a pri-

First of September. The Board of Directors of the Allegheny Heating Company yesterday decided to increase their rates to the figure of the Phila delphia Company, that is, 20 cents per thousand. Secretary Shields stated that the increase would go into effect at the same time as that of the Philadelphia Company. One reason for the advance was that they were laying a new line to the northwest of Allegheny, for a better supply of gas, at a large expense, and also they would be bet-ter able to supply the outlying districts than last year, owing to the new wells to be

CHARACTERISTIC OF CARNEGIE.

The Iron King Writes an Interesting Lette

About His Ancestry A. T. Douthett, of this city, who is a great admirer of Andrew Carnegie, has discovered during recent researches, apparently plausible proof, that Mr. Carnegie is descended from one of the younger scions of an ancient and noble Scotch family. Mr. Carnegie has been apprised of this fact, and referred to the coincident in the life of his prototype, the late Thomas Carlyle. The Iron King does not deny the accuracy of the discovery, but replies in a vein which Mr. Douthett says displays to good advantage his correspondent's remarkable ability as an iconoclast. The letter is from Cluny Castle, and reads as follows:

My Dear Mr. Douthett: My Dear Mr. Douthett:

I find your favor upon my arrival here.
You are quite wrong in thinking that a spirit of modesty has prevented me from ever referring to the great antiquity of the Carnegies of Scotland. I do not belief in trading upon the virtues, or being responsible for the crimes, of my sheep-stealing ancestors. The only ancestors I am proud of, are the three generations of Radicals and Republicans—weavers and spinners. Please do not consider that I am descended from such miserable stuff as Guelphs and Stuarts are made of. Yours very truly,

Andrew Carnedia.
