The Master of the New York Patrons Speaks on Legislation

AT THE CAMP AT WILLIAMS GROVE

A Factional Fight Among United Brethren Passed on in Court.

MINOR NEWS FROM THE THREE STATES

SPECIAL TELEGRAMS TO THE DISPATCH.

WILLIAMS GROVE, Aug. 26.—About 2,000 people visited the grove to-day, and to-night about 3,000 persons are camping in 200 tents on the ground, in addition to the number accommodated in the exhibitors' tents. In the morning Worthing Master Rhone and W. C. Gifford, Master of the New York State Grange, made speeches. Mr. Rhone urged independent political action among Grangers in the interest of the order, and said that "the political party had lost in the defeat of their bills to honor the agricultural people by placing a farmer on the State ticket commits a serious blunder and greatly impairs its prospects of success."

When Congress passed a high protective duty on the importation of foreign goods it was class legislation, yet it has made more money for the manufacturer and enriched the manufacturing class. When Congress passed the tariff act it placed their whisky in bond, protecting them from the payment of their taxes until taken out of bond for consumption. Yet it has made our country great in its whisky resources and enriched the people.

FIGHTING FOR CHURCH PROPERTY.

Judge Stewart, of Chambersburg, Decides the United Brethren Case.

CHAMBERSBURG, Pa., Aug. 25.—Judge Stewart to-day rendered his decision in the long contested equity suit between the liberal and radical factions of the church of the United Brethren in Christ. This contest grew out of the adoption of a new constitution at the general conference in York in 1893. A portion of the church objected to the new constitution, and members to unite with secret societies. They withdrew from the conference, organized another and termed themselves the radicals.

The contest for the church property at once began and in several portions of the country the church states it became a furious struggle supremacy. At Greensboro, Franklin county, the church was divided into two factions and all manner of strategy entered to gain possession. Finally it was decided to make this a test case, and it was tried in the Franklin county courts. Some of the best legal talent of Pennsylvania and Ohio (the latter State having the large publication houses of the church) were employed. Thousands of pages of evidence were submitted and the expense ran into thousands of dollars. The main objection urged by the radicals was that the vote on adoption of the new constitution was not properly taken, and that it was not passed by a two-thirds vote.

Judge Stewart reached the conclusion that the radical faction were not well founded, and held that the majority must not be recognized as the members of the church, but a majority of all those voting; that all the actions of the general conference regarding the adoption of the new constitution were regular and in full accordance with the powers delegated to it; that the radicals violated the conditions under which it holds its property; and that accordingly the title remains in the liberals, who are in connection with the legitimate church. Decrees were entered restraining the radicals from interfering with the church property. The radicals will take the case to the Supreme Court.

A VILLAGE IN A PANIC.

All Because a Wheel Flew Off a Wagon Laden With Dynamite.

PINDALE, Aug. 25.—The village of Van Thuren, near this city, was in great excitement for several days today. A wagon loaded with nitro glycerine was being driven through the town, when one of the wheels came off and allowed the corner of the wagon to drop down. The driver, seeing the danger, succeeded in inducing two men to help him lift the wagon up so he could put on the wheel. They procured a new wheel and the axle broke, but they got away by the time the axle broke and it fell down again. The helpers and the spectators, who stood near off, fell precipitately, and for the next half-hour the village was in a state of confusion. The explosion occurred, and one at a time came back to the village. The driver, who was finally helped by two other men to help him out, succeeded in getting the wheel on. The driver drove out of town and the citizens begin to breathe easier.
