Presbyterian Bodies.

Interested in the Work of the Committee-Now in Session.

A MAJORITY OF THEM BRIGGS PEOPLE

SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH.] NEW YORK, Aug. 28 .- The committee on a consensus creed for use in all of the Presbyterian denominations has been holding midsummer sessions at Spring Lake Beach on the New Jersey coast. Twenty-two fourth session of the committee. The previous sessions were held quietly in New York City. It may be ten years before the work of the committee is completed. The idea is to get up a short, concise, complementary creed that will express the consensus of opinion in all the Presbyterian bodies to supplement and not to supplant the special creed of each. Some of these 22,000,000 Presbyterians subscribe to the Westminster Confession; others subscribe to the Heidelburg Confession; others to the Augsburg Confession, but all are Calvanistic and all maintain a form of government designated as Presbyterian. The first use of the creed will be in the missionary fields and in colonial settlements.

STRENGTH IN UNITY.

Presbyterians coming together from all quarters of the globe are divided by fine distinctions into small bodies. If these small societies can be united under one creed there would be strength and unity instead or weakness and rivalry. Another use will be to supply a popular creed for the 2,500,000 members of the Presbyterian Church in America, to express in brief and concise language the system of doctrine taught in the Westminster Confession, to which the elders and preachers are now required to East with a plain and simple statement of the Calvinistic doctrines.

Of the 81 organizations, the chief are the North and the South Presbyterian Churches in the United States, the United Presby-terians, the Dutch Reform, the two Scotch churches and the Evangelical Calvinistic land, Germany, France and Australia. One of the first duties of this committee was to engage the co-operation of each of these important bodies. Communication was established at once with 51 of these organizations. Some of the churches at once authorized co-operation in formulating such a creed.

THE PIRST REPLIES MADE. The first to comply was the Free Church f Belgium and the Presbyterian church of New South Wales. Several have declined to take action for the present. These are the Presbyterian Church South; the United Presbyterian Church of North America; the Presbyterian Church of Ireland, and the Reform Presbyterian Church of Scotland. The committee engaged in this important work was appointed by the Presbyterian work was appointed by the Presbyterian General Assembly of 1890, and is as follows: The Rev. Dr. William H. Moore, Columbus, Chairman; Dr. William H. Roberts, of Lane Theological Seminary, Cincinnati; Secretary; Dr. John DeWitt, of McCormick Theological Seminary, Chicago; Dr. Francis Brown, of Union Theological Seminary, New York; Dr. Benjamin B. Warfield, of Princeton Theological Seminary. field, of Princeton Theological Seminary New Jersey, resigned; Dr. Howard Crosby of New York, deceased; Elder Henry Day of Dr. John Hall's Church, New York; Elder Robert N. Willson, of the famous Albert Barnes Church, Philadelphia, and Elder E. P. Durant, of Albany. To Dr. Croshy's place the Rev. Dr. Charles A. Dickey, pastor of the Albert Barnes Church, Philadelphia, was appointed, and in place of Dr. Warfield was named Dr. John T. Duffleld, of Princeton College.

A MAJORITY OF BRIGGS MEN. Of the committee, five, Drs. Moore, Brown and Dickey and Elders Day and Willson, are known as liberals. They are Briggs men and favorable to a broad and sweeping revision of the church's standards of faith and practice. The other four are conservatives, and were originally against revision, but since revision has been ordered by a majority of the church they are for revision to a limited extent. They are against Dr. Briggs. The working committee, however, is anti-Briggs and anti-revision. Dr. Brown is abroad and Lawyer Day is sick. Dr. Dickey is not in attendance at Spring Lake Beach. As the complementary creed is about complete in a tentative form, it may be supposed to reflect the opinions of the

This brief creed will go before the next General Assembly, which meets in Port-land, Ore., next May. As this Assembly is be chosen with reference to revising the archaic document known as the Westmin-Confession, it will be especially qualified to handle this complementary creed. The complementary creed will not be cust in the mold of the Apostle's Creed or of is done by surplice choirs in Episcopal serv-Such a ereed as this is what Dr. Briggs and his friends want,

STICKING TO CALVINISM.

But the committee is preparing a creed that will be more like a syllabus of the Westminster Confession, stating in general terms the famous dogmas of John Calvin, and set off into about 24 sections like the Thirty-nine Articles. It is possible that Thirty-line Articles before the 81 churches are done with this consensus creed it may have lost both its Calvanistic character and its sectional form. This same committee is engaged in revis-ing the Apostle's Creed. Presbyterian parents are required by the church to teach their children the Apostle's Creed, which is one of the standards of the church. Two phrases of this creed have become obnoxious to many Christians, and the last General Assembly suggested their elimination. They "He descended into hell," referring The first phrase is objectionable to Presbyterians because it seems to be in line with the theory of a purgatory or of a period of second probation that is disturbing the Protestant churches in some quar-

The other phrase contains the word "Catholic," suggestive of the Roman Catholic Church, an idea extremely repulknown that "Carbolic" means universal, but this committee is to see if the word "Universal" should not be substituted for

"Catholic" in the Apostle's Creed.
Dr. John DeWitt, of Chicago, was appointed a sub-committee to prepare a report on these two phrases, to be submitted to the committee at its next session in the fall. Against that time Secretary Roberts expects to have responses from others of the Presbyterian bodies

SURVIVORS OF THE BLACK HAWK WAR

Meet Near the Scene of the Battle and Besolve to Demand Pension GALENA, ILL., Aug. 28.—The first retmion ever held of surviving soldiers of the Black Hawk War of 1832 was held to-day at Lean, the nearest village to Kellogg's Grove, where the decisive battle of the war was fought. Seventeen white-haired veterans, each more than 70 years of age, registered their names at headquarters. There are 34 known survivors of the conflict living in this section. All who were not too enfeebled by age to attend were at the re-union.

Judge Hinds, of Lens, made an address in which he referred to the fact that Zach-

AN ALLIANCE MANDATE

TWENTY-TWO MILLION MEMBERS DEFEATED A CONFEDERATE SOL DIERS' HOME FOR GEORGIA.

> It Was Agreed to Banish War Memor Kansans Buried the Bloody Shirt and Georgia Alliance Men Repudiated the Home-A Curious Story.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH.] ATLANTA, Aug. 28 .- A curious story aflost in the hotel corridors of this city in explanation of the refusal of the Georgia Legislature to accept the Soldiers' Home. It has for its basis the fact that the home was deteated in obedience to an order from the State Farmers' Alliance. About one million Presbyterian members of the com-munions on the five continents are interested Polk and President Livingston went to in the results of these sessions. This is the take part in 'the Kansas campaign, it was represented to them that Kansas looked upon the Alliance as a Democratic ally, and an agreement was insisted upon that some token should be given by which Kansas could justify themselves in quitting Repub-

It was finally agreed that the maintenance of war memories should be discour-aged; that while the bloody shirt should be should be discouraged in the South. When General Wealer and Jerry Simpson visited Georgia a few months ago it was again urged that the Alliance could not hope for success in the South and West unless there success in the South and West unless there should come from the South something definite upon which they could go.

About this time the acceptance of the Confederate Soldiers' Home began to loom up. "If you people of Georgia," it was stated, "will throw the Confederacy overboard, by refusing to accept this Home, then we can attack our own pension system in the North, and on a common platform leaving the war and on a common platform, leaving the war and its issues behind us, we can march on to victory." Later Mrs. Lease came along and preached the gospel of the new ers. When the Alliance State Convention met, the matter was fully debated, but as it is an oath-bound secret society, it is hard to get the revelations then made, further than that the order was given that no Confederate Home should be established in Georgia. subscribe. A third use is to supply the converted Brahmanists and Buddhists of the This order to the faithful was sufficient and the result is already known. This story, which is certainly borne out by many facts, has many believers, who look for a whole-sale repudiation of Confederate enterprises by the Alliance men of the South.

CHARGED WITH NEGLECT.

Agent Dean Finds Frank Tassey's Family Badly Cared For.

Agent Dean, of the Anti-Cruelty Society, got back late last night from a visit of investigation in the country about eight miles out the Kittanning road from Sharpsburg, The first case was that of a farmer, Frank Tassey, who owns a fine, big farm, but whose family has been nearly starved, and his wife and daughter not properly clothed. When he saw Tassey, Agent Dean recognized him as a man whom he prosecuted five years ago for cruelty and neglect to his family. Shortly after that suit, in which Tassey was compelled to pay a fine and per-form other duties he had neglected, he struck his wife in the eye, injuring it so that in a short time it became useless. As the other eye was blind before the assault, she has been stone-blind ever since. The 14-year-old daughter, who is living a home, according to Agent Dean's state ment, is a veritable wild child, half naked and half starved. There is another child, boy, who ran away from home a short time ago to avoid abuse. It is not known where the boy has gone. Mr. Dean says he will enter suit against Tassey to-day for cruelty and neglect, and will bring Mrs. Tassey to the city and place her under the care of an culist in the hope of rec and make Tassey stand the expense.

Another case investigated was that of R. W. Hodil, who owns a nice-looking house and farm near Dorseyville. Hodil, it is alleged, has a contract with Daniel Federkeil, son of the well-known auctioneer, by which Federkeil, his wife and five children dare not move from the house. It is in horrible condition, the roof being so full of holes that it affords protection from neither sur nor rain.

THE POLES ARE ANGRY

At What They Claim Is III Treatment of s Countryman

The ejection of Stanilaus Mirechew, a Pole, from the Southside Hospital yesterday afternoon is likely to cause some trouble. Mirechew was taken to the hospital about five months ago by K. Fife, the undertaker, suffering with typhoid fever. The physicians cured him of the fever. It was afterward learned that his left side was paralyzed. After the fever was cured the authorities of the hospital thought he should be at the Poor Farm and applied to Chief the Nicene Creed, which are written in a Elliott for a permit. The Chief refused to short form, well adapted to be chanted, as grant it and he still remained at the hospital.

Yesterday afternoon one of the nurses of the hospital put him in a buggy and took him again to Chief Elliott, but he still refused to admit him to the poor farm. He then took the paralyzed man to his old boarding house at 18 South Tenth street, and put him out and into the door. The proprietor refused to have anything to do with him. Mirechew claimed that the proprietor owed him $13 and asked him for it, the proprietor refused to pay it, but on the threat of the nurse the money was paid over. The nurse then took charge of it and placed it in the hands of the hospital

Many of the Poles think the money is to be used by the hospital and are making a strong kick against. A crowd of them called upon Alderman Beinhauer last night to make an information against the hospital people, but it was refused. They also complain about the hospital putting the man out. The money will not be used by the hospital, but will be left there.

New Year's Day at Curry University. On Tuesday morning next, at 9 o'clock, this well established school of colleges commences its collegiate year in all of its various branches. The voluminous mail matter which is received daily from many counties in many States, as well as the hundred of students who have already registered, whose residences are in Pitts-burg, Allegheny or their environments, alone assures another successful and prosperous year for Curry University.

In order to facilitate the arrangement and classification of studies, students who are contemplating a course in any branch of education will please put themselves in communication with the President, either by letter or personal visit, as early as possi-ble. Thoroughly practical education is the demand of this practical age, and in no other college in the land have better results been obtained than by Curry University.
