CONDRY IS INNOCENT

He Clearly Proves That He Was in the Columbus Penitentiary When Mrs. Rudert Was Killed.

HE IS IDENTIFIED AS JOHN MACK.

The Temperature Takes a Drop of Twenty Degrees, and Pittsburg Is Enveloped in a Fog.

EX-MAYOR BRUSH MAY YET RECOVER.

Happenings of a Saturday in the Twin Cities at the Head of the Ohio.

Last night John Condry, alias "Eggy Conroy," thoroughly established an alibi which proves that he was not connected with the Rudert murder at Tarentum. This still leaves the police at sea as to who was Killsin's pals at that famous jewelery robbery and murder. Condry had claimed that he was in the Columbus penitentiary at the time this murder was committed. He was serving a sentence under the name of John Mask

Last night ex-Marshal William Williams arrived from Youngstown to make the identification. As Condry had been taken to jail the identification was made there. Marshal Williams was necompanied by Inspector McAleese, Chief Murphy, of Allegheny, and Detective Robinson. Condry saluted Inspector McAleese and Chief Murphy as soon as he was brought out into the corridor. Then he caught sight of Mr. Williams and at-once extended his hand. Both men recognized each other and shook hands,

IDENTIFIED BEYOND DOUBT. Williams then stated that Coudry was the man he arrested in May, 1889, for burglarizing the residence of Dr. Moyer, in Youngstown, and who was subsequently sent to the Ohio Penitentiary for two years under the name of John Mack. Condry, during the conversation which followed, remembered the Marshal of many little things that had occurred in the Youngstown Mayor's office after his arrest, particularly the fact that he was allowed to retain a comb which some of This identification proves beyond a doubt that Condry had nothing to do with the Tar-

Yesterday when Detective Robinson took Condry from his cell to have him photographed and then place him in juli, it was noticed that his near mustache had almost entirely disappeared and how to account for its disappearance the officers were at a loss to know. and Dusted Off a Bit.

As an indication that the backbone of summer is broken, it may be noted appropriately that the Stavton-Wyman mummy was again taken out yesterday. Mr. Brennen and his party were on hand in Commissioner Shafer's office, but neither Wyman nor his counsel were present. Brennen was stripping off some of the integuments, and the odor of impalpable dust was faintly observable in the room. Mr. Brennen explained that they were

EX-MAYOR BRUSH MUCH BETTER.

Dr. Stephens Says He Is Now Confident of His Ultimate Recovery.

Ex-Mayor Brush is very much improved. At 11 o'clock last night the attending physician, Dr. Stephens, of Wilkinsburg, stated that his patient was improving very rapidly. He now has little doubt of his ultimate recovery. Of course, something unforeseen might occur, but at present the prospects for recovery are very bright. This news will be received with great pleasure by Mr. Brush's legion of friends. In his long political and business career Mr. Brush has made hundreds of staunch friends, who have watched with extreme anxiety the reports of his serious illness.

Could Not Secure a Quorum,

There was to have been a meeting of the Finance Committee yesterday afternoon, but sufficient members did not appear to make a quorum, and the meeting was de-clared off. The object of the meeting was to consider an ordinance submitting to a vote of the people the question of increas-ing the city's bonded indebtedness $2,0000,-000 in order to pay for street improvements.

Fifteen Boards of Viewers Needed. Chief Bigelow stated yesterday that the court would be asked to appoint 15 new Boards of Viewers to hasten the much needed work in the city. He says the new law works all right, but is more expensive

A CHILD'S WONDERFUL ESCAPE. She Falls Forty-five Feet and is Picked up

Uninjured. A remarkable escape from death was witnessed on Penn avenue yesterday afternoon. A two year old daughter of George Urben, of 1406 Mulberry alley, was leaning from the third story window of her home, facing on Penn avenue. She lost her balance and fell out, the distance being forty-five feet. Fortunately she fell in a pile of hav that was beneath the window from which she fell and rolled into the cellar.

Captain Brophy saw her fall and went into the cellar and brought her out. She was unconscious and was taken to the office of Dr. Heiber, where she was restored to sensibility. The only indications of injury perceptible were bruises about the body and a slight scalp wound.

and the Fog Causes Trouble. Yesterday's weather was most peculiar or August, though the year 1891 has a ecord for such freaks. At times the weather was very comfortable, but the thernometer's range was very great, and the minimum temperature was 48. The maxinum was 68, a range of just 20 degrees. At 8 A. M. it was 52 and at 8 P. M. it was 66, showing that it is growing slightly warmer. The fog was quite a feature of yesterday morning and Friday night. It was so dense that it made traveling by rail exceedingly hazardous, and several narrow escapes from terrible disasters were reported. The fog did cause several accidents, including one fatality on the railroad.

FOR GRIZZLY BEARS.

A Notable Hunting Expedition Starts To-Day for the Mountains.

SCOUTS AND TRAPPERS ENGAGED.

The Party Will Camp Near the Headwaters of Powder River.

DESCRIPTION OF THE EQUIPAGE

A party of Pittsburg and Boston gentlenen will leave for the West at 8:15 o'clock this morning, loaded strictly for grizzly bear. The expedition will be one of the best equipped that has penetrated the

The hunters will be Messrs. A. I. Scott, the wholesale boot and shoe man, and Joseph L. Lyons, of this city, and J. R. Parker and E. B. Holmes, of Parker. Holmes & Co., Boston. They go direct from this city to Ft. Steele, Wyoming, where the expedition will be increased by the necessary retinue of guides, scouts, cooks, photographers, etc., with the possible addi tion of a chaplain or two. All the necessary commissary stores, guns, am munition and camping paraphernalia has been packed up and will be shipped with the party this morning. The com missory stores weigh over 1,300 pounds and is intended to last the party six weeks.

AN OLD TRAPPER ENGAGED. At Ft. Steele the party will be met by Joe Walters, one of the oldest and most celebrated trappers and hunters of the Rocky Mountains. He has agreed in a letter to show the party 50 grizzlies on the trip, if they live through it. They will also be accompanied by Wm. McCloud, Rufe Rhodes and Ed. Adams, three noted scouts who know every path through the wildest regions of the grizzly jungles. From Ft. Steele the objective point across the country will be the Big Horn Mountains, 200 miles from the railroad. This journey will be made on horseback, and the entire camping outlit will be packed on the backs of bronchos. Thirty-two horses have been engaged from what is known as the Two Bar Outfit to convey the party and Two Bar Outlit to convey the party and their baggage to the hunting ground. Rufe Rhodes, one of the scouts, was with General Reno in that capacity, and bears the distinction of being the first man on the battlefield of the Little Big Horn the morning after the slaughter of General Custer and his gallant troops. Rufes' brother was killed in this battle, since which time he has been the sworn enemy of the redskins. Adams and Rhodes are noted lariat throwers and will undertake to capture alive one or two half-grown grizzlies for the Schenley Park zoological collection.

PREPARED TO TAKE THE GRIZZLY. This is the fourth trip for Messrs. Scott and Holmes to the Rockies, and this time and Holmes to the Rockies, and this time they are equipping especially for grizzly bear, though they expect to take the pelts of a few elk, antelope and mountain lion. Mr. Scott says that he will also make an effort to bring down a mountain goat. Last year he followed a small band of goats for four days without success, but has good faith in finding them at the point where the party will go into camp on this trip. The steel bear-traps that they ship with them this morning have grips as powerful as a vise, and will hold that they ship with them this morning have grips as powerful as a vise, and will hold secure the strongest grizzly in the mountains. They were made by the works of the Oneida Society, at Oneida, N. Y., and weigh 60 pounds each. The shells will be charged with the new explosive, "gelbite," which, while al-most noiseless, is far more powerful than

ALL TO BE PRESERVED.

THE DISPATCH has made arrangements with Mr. Scott to have a messenger sent from the camp to the railroad station, a distance of about 200 miles, once a week, with a full account of their hunting and trapping, descriptions of the country, photographic views, etc., which will be published as soon as received. Mr. Scott and Mr. Holmes are not strangers in this wild country and have had many exin this wild country and have had many experiences in past trips worthy of the old-time trappers. In the three trips they made together Mr. Scott killed 52 elks and

HE CAN'T SUE HIS WIFE.

Sensations to Follow the Signo Elopement on the Southside.

Some developments which have been un looked for are expected to turn up after the hearings are held in the larceny cases against George Little, Daniel Harris and others, which followed the alleged elopement of Mrs. Charles Signor, of the Southside, three weeks ago. The story of the elopement was published in full at the time and created a sensation. But now it is said another chapter, about as sensational as the first, is in process of evolution.

It was reported last evening that after the hearings are held before Alderman Succepthose who have been arrested will enter suit against Charles Signor for malicious suit against Charles Signor for malicious and fulse arrest, as it is claimed Signor and false arrest, as it is claimed signor could not legally prefer the charges against the men for the reason that they, it is said, only aided Mrs. Signor in taking away the household goods, and under the present laws a man cannot sue his wife for larceny. Those under arrest are confident they will be discharged for this reason, and also for the fact that one alderman refused to take

ANY AMOUNT OF TIN

Awaiting a Market in the Durango Mines of Local Capitalists.

SUCCESSFUL MEETING YESTERDAY

of Shareholders in the Pittsburg and Mex-

PREPARED TO SUPPLY THE COUNTRY A special meeting of the stockholders

the Pittsburg and Mexican Tin Mining Company was held yesterday afternoon, at the Monongahela House, to hear the report of Colonel Robert H. Fitzhugh, the general manager, read. The company is a close corporation in regard to its operations, and no outsiders were admitted, but after the close of the meeting a stockholder gave the following facts: Colonel Fitzhugh's report was a very satisfactory one from the stockholders' standpoint, being elaborate as to all essential facts concerning the condition and prosperts of the company's property, and very conservative in its calculations as to yield of ore from the mines, cost of operation, transportation, etc. Under concession from the Mexican Goverament the company controls about 246 square miles of mineral land, containing not only rich deposits of tin, but gold and silver veins and some cinnabar (quicksilver). While the entire territory has been prospected and the fact demonstrated that the more precious metals exist in paying quantity, attention has only been given this far to the development of the tin-bearing deposits. In this direction some 100 veins of tip ore have been uncovered, ranging in width from 1 inch to 6 feet, and carrying from 5 to 60 per cent of metallic tin. Of these 100 veins some 60 are of stflicient importance to render their working profitable. There are six mines opened and three of them in operation, yielding 60 tous of ore per day, with the present working force, which can be greatly iscreased as soon as the completion of additional reduction and smelting capacity renders a greater output of ore necessary. The mining is conducted on the primitive Mexican plan, the ore being carried from the workings on the shoulders of Mexicans

PURE AND FINE PIG TIN. Native labor is very cheap, but as soon as hoisting machinery is supplied the expense of this department will be greatly reduced. The mill now in use has a capacity of 100 tons per day of ten hours, the ore being oft and requiring no blasting in mining, being carried in rotten porphyry. The two smelting furnaces now in operation are producing a ton per day of as pure and fine plg tin as the world has seen, analysis by a local chemist showing no trace of arsenic, iron or copper, and very slight trace of animal matter. Lime for flux is made very cheaply from fluor spar, found in great quantity a quarter of a mile from the reduction works.

Fire clay abounds and good brick can be made from it for $5 per 1,000, whereas Pitts-burg brick costs $25 delivered in Durango. The ore thus far smelted has averaged 12 to 14 per cent, while an analysis of the slag shows a loss of but 5 per cent from the concentrates. The loss from this source at the Cornwall tin mines is from 5 to 6 per cent and in Germany and Saxony from 10 to 13 per cent, so that the local company starts at the minimum. Additional smelting furn-aces and other necessary works now in course of erection will give the concern a capacity of two to three tons of pig tin per lay within three months, and 12 months nence it is expected the output will beat the rate of 1,500 tons per annum. The works are 200 miles from a railroad and the metal has to be transported that distance on burros and mules, a burro carrying 200 pounds and a wall 300. One Mexican purposes ten burros mule 300. One Mexican manages ten burros, but it requires three men to 20 mules. All present at the meeting were pledged to secrecy as to the figures of cost of production of pig tin, but it is so low as to enable the company to lay the metal down in Pittsburg at a price that will yield a very handsome profit, and, as the supply of ore is practically inexhaus-tible, liberal dividends are assured in the EFFECT OF TIN PLATE MAKING. Compared with other known tin deposits n California and Dakota on this continent, and those of Cornwall, Wales, Australia, Saxony and elsewhere throughout the world, those in Mexico which have come into the possession of Pittsburg capitalists are by long odds the most extensive and valuable, and ought to have an important influence in the problem of establishing a flourishing tin plate industry in the United States. The Durango deposits are all true fissure veins, the ore running, as has been stated, from 5 to 60 per cent of metallic tin, while the richest ore found elsewhere contains only from 36 per cent to 5 per cent.

A vote of thanks to Colonel Fitzhugh was passed unanimously. The reports of the Secretary and Treasurer showed that the company was out of debt and had money in the treasury. Only such portion of the $1,500,000 capital stock has been sold as was

$1,500,000 capital stock has been sold as was necessary to pay for the property purchased and the expenses of development. A resolution was adopted to sell 270 shares of stock, to be distributed pro rata (three shares each) among the present stock holders, to pay for the additions to the plant now in course of construction. The option on this new stock runs till September 10 The meeting of the company was successful in every respect. The financial standing of the enterprise was satisfactory to the stockholders and the prospects of supplying the country with North American tin was gratifying to those who believe in Ameri-can products for American consumers. The operations of the company are on a strictly business basis, however, and if the Mexican tin should be excluded from the States throught tariff acts, as good a market will be found in Liverpool. BOOM FOR LARGE BUSINESS. Colonel Robert Fitzhugh, the general manager of the company, was spoken with after the meeting with regard to future operations in the mines. He said that for the present the output of two would be restricted to about two tons per day, increas-ing in tons up to 1,500 tons annually, and ing in tons up to 1,500 tons annually, and extending the output just as rapidly as the market warranted. The consumption of tin in the United States was, he thought, about 16,000 tons each year, so that there was plenty of room for extensive business.

The tin would be shipped to the best market. For the present the shipments would be made to Pittsburg. Allegheny county alone consumed about 50 tons of tin monthly, and the company would try to place that amount here. There was no reason why it should not, as the Mexican tin was equal in grade to any other and tin was equal in grade to any other and could be placed at as level a price.

No duty would be placed on foreign tin until 1893. If then the President is satisfied that 5,000 tons of tin can be produced in the United States within a year he is empowered to place a duty of 4 cents a pound on the imported article for a period of two years. Colonel Fitzhugh does not apprehend that this tariff will be imposed.

CAN DO WITHOUT TARIFF.

"I don't believe," he says, "that 5,000 tons of tin will be in the way of being placed on the market by January, 1893. I don't think that the Englishmen who control the Dakota and California mines will think well of producing tin for that purpose. But even if the tariff is imposed, though $80 a ton is a heavy tax. I believe we shall be able to do business in the States. If we are kept out through a high tariff, we shall find a better market in Liverpool. The English and German bankers in Mexicoare very anxious to buy up our tin, and the Mexican roads

The superiority and the beauty of the pianos and organs sold at Klebers' throw all others in the shade; and intelligent musical and well-informed people prefer to deal at Klebers', knowing that the Steinway, Conover and Opera can be had only at Klebers soll at a smaller profit, and German bankers in Mexicoare very anxious to buy up our tin, and the Mexican roads have made us very flattering offers for transportation to Europe. I do not wish to give rates, but I can at least say that the freight to Liverpool is cheaper than the cost to Pittsburg. So that should a high tariff keep us out of this country we have a good market open to us in England."

Vesuvius Mill Workers Are Restraine From Interfering.

In regard to the others restrained the order is dissolved and the injunction is to have no effect. Attorney Dickey asked for an attachment against Adam Kraus on the affidavit of Thomas Greenland, who alleged that Kraus prevented him from working. Presented With a Cane.

David D. Jones was bidden farewell by his co-workers of the Soho Copper Works on Saturday. He has retired from his position there to enter another field. Mr. Grey, manager of the works, expressed his regret at Mr. Jones' departure. A fellow workmen then presented Mr. Jones with a valuable gold-headed cane as a token of the esteem in which he was held.

A CHILD'S LOVE FOR HER MOTHER.

She Occupies Her Cell, Sleeping on the Bare Stone Floor. An incident which illustrates the strong love of a child for its mother was brought about by the arrest of Mrs. Annie Cooper, of South Sixteenth and Muriel streets, yesof South Sixteenth and Muriel streets, yes-terday on a change of disorderly conduct. Being without bail she was locked up in the Twenty-eighth ward police station. She had scarcely been there 20 minutes: when a girl, about 10 years old, Mrs. Cooper's daughter, called and asked for her mother. Sergeant McShane admitted her to the cell room to see her mother and after being there for quite awhile told her she better g home. She began to cry and the sergeamt still urged her to go as he was afraid she would catch cold sleeping on the stone floor of the cell, as she insisted on doing once be fore when her mother was arrested. The officer couldn't persuade the girl to go home and she was locked up with her mother.

THE SWISS CENTENNIAL.

Arrangements Complete for the Celebration at Ross' Grove To-Morrow. To-morrow will be the most important and imposing holiday ever celebrated by the Swiss-Americans of Pittsburg. The day will be the six hundredth anniversary of the founding of the independent Re-public of Switzerland, and it is proposed to make the sixth Centennial worthy of the oldest Republic in the world.

It is expected that thousands of visiting Switzers will come in old-time costumes, forming a brilliant parade, a mile or so in length. The line of march through the principal streets, as published in THE DIS-PATCH, will be carried out, as will also the programme of exercises at Ross' grove.
Mayor Gourley will make the English address, and good speeches in the Swiss language and music, duncing, games and athletic sports will complete the list of at-

John Proby Dies Suddenly and Alone in His Little Barber Shop. John Proby, a colored barber of Home stead, aged 55, died suddenly at his place of business yesterday morning of a disease from which he has suffered for a long time. The suddeness of his death led to the be-lief that he was poisoned, but this was proven false.

The remains were buried at the expense of the county. Rev. Father S. J. Bullion donated a grave in St. Mary's Cemetery, and M. J. Delaney, of Homestevd, furnished a coffin at his own expense. None of Proby's own race were at the funeral.

SHIPS USELESS.

Captain Doubassoff, of the Russian Navy, Says Torpedo Boats

ALWAYS BEATTHE HEAVY VESSELS

He Had Personal Experience on the Danube, Where He Destroyed

TURKISH MONITORS BY THEIR AID

Captain Doubassoff, of the Russian navy, was at the Duquesne yesterday. He stopped over perforce, because of the accident or the Fort Wayne road, which caused him to miss his train. He was traveling from San Francisco to New York, via Washington, on his homeward way from Vancouver's Island. He accompanied the Czarowitch in his recent trip around the world.

Captain Donbassoff is a fine specimen of manhood, standing over six feet, broadshouldered, symmetrically built, and very fair, with blue eyes that sparkle as only a sailor's can. This is his first trip to America. He had a mission from his Government and was returning, having accomplished it. He ex-amined the shipbuilding yards with great interest, and was going to Washington to inspect the navyyard there. Like all Russians, Captain Doubassoff is a linguist and has succeeded in mastering English. Speak ing of the modern practice of armoring battle ships, he said last night:

LARGE ARMORED SHIPS A MISTAKE. "Russia has not recently made experiments regarding the best description of armor for men-of-war. The plating used is known as the compound variety, made of steel and iron, with backing of wood. My personal opinion regarding the utility of large and heavily armored ships is that they are a mistake. In the first place the projectile is far superior in effect to the best defensive armor, and I think always will be; and in the next the big ships are always at the mercy of the torpedo boats. I had personal experience of this in the Russo-Turkish War of 1877, when I surrounded and blew up several Turkish monitors in the Danube with the aid of torpedo boats. For coast defense the torpedo boat and gunboat carrying a few heavy firing guns are, in my opinion, superior to the heavy ships now building."

"You think this country is wise in building a navy?" steel and iron, with backing of wood. My ing a navy?" WISDOM OF BUILDING A NAVY. "Certainly. It is not when the enemy i at your door you must look to your de-fenses. You cannot train seamen and officers and build your ships after war has been declared. It takes years of careful training to bring a navy up to maritime efficiency. I think America is building a navy at the right time. She has nothing to undo, no old ships to replace, and can now construct a fleet with every modern improvement and on the best lines. While this country is at peace, it is impossible to say what complications may ie in the future, and I am certainly of the opinion this country is acting wisely in preparing for an emergency.

"I have not had an opportunity of seeing any of your ships on close inspection, but I understand they are constructed on proper lines. Except that," concluded Captain Doubassoff, smiling, "they will always be at the mercy of torpedo boats."

A Mysterious Affair.

It is just being found out that there is a mystery connected with the Exposition of 1891, that when fully unfolded, will create no small sensation. It has been carried on so quietly that no one has suspected it and the surprise will be correspondingly great when the entire plot is disclosed; excitement will run high when the denouement is reached; the writer has been busy getting at details, which in time will be made public but at this moment it is only safe to say that some one is going to be made very joyous, and yet the delightful result will be joyous, and yet the delightful result will be the outcome of good hard work, and bright intelligence, and afterwards, when it is too late, those who will have to be classed among the unhappy can only blame them-selves with the exception of those who have passed the halcyon days of 16 and they perhaps, are to be pitied. Well, what is the mystery? And when and by whom will it be solved? The mystery must remain hidden until the day the Exposition oness, when Messrs. Hopper Exposition opens, when Messrs. Hopper Bros. & Co. will give all, the particulars to the school children who have not passed the age of 16, but nothing will be told until that day.
