The Duquesne Pedicated Last Evening With Appropriate Exercises.

REMARKS OF PRINCIPAL WOOD,

He Outlines the Full Scope of the Institution and Its Work.

DEPARTMENTS OF STUDY DESCRIBED

The new Duquesne College, in the University building, Diamond street, was formally opened last evening. The building is well adapted to college purposes, the large, lofty rooms, in which erstwhile were held the county courts, lending themselves to the need of the institution with very little alteration. A large apartment on the second floor has been arranged as an assembly hall, and in this hall were the opening exercises of the college conducted last

After an opening prayer and a musical selection, Prof. J. M. Wisman, Vice President of the college, stepped forward and made an address of welcome to the audience in a few well-chosen words. Then he introduced the President, E. M. Wood, D. D., L.L. D., who was to explain the general plan of the college and the intentions of

DR. WOOD'S OPENING ADDRESS.

For several years I have been impressed that that there is not only room but a demand for the organization and establishment of a live, modern and progressive col-lege in Pittsburg or its vicinity. Indeed, I have been often urged to move in that mat-ter long ago, with the assurance of all need-ed financial and patronizing support to make the effort a permanent success. But knowing that such an enterprise would re-quire the expenditure of such a vastamount of vital energy. I have hitherto shrank from the great resionsibility. But supported as great responsibility. But supported as now by men of such active and broad nthropy, men whose every pulsation is nen whose young and rich blood throbs generous impulse for the good of the ith a generous impulse for the good of the hole community, such men as constitute is Board of Directors, supported by these, I el that success is well nigh assured.

That there is a demand for such a colge will appear evident when a few facts a considered. The growth of Pittsburg at Allegheny and their immediate suburbs uring the past ten years has been very pid. And them with Pittsburg as a center at all the mairoads centering here as radii awas a circumference 25 miles distant from a city, and you inclose a large number of city, and you inclose a large number of towns established, and old ones retowns established, and old ones re-fied, showing an increase of population is truly phenomenal. And then re-obering that within this ten years, and in this circumference there has not a mything like a proportional increase he higher educational facilities, there is en a demand for the establishment of this

SCOPE OF THE PROPOSED WORK. "As to the scope of our work, that has ready been briefly outlined to the public. The faculty is large and complete and each school under the supervision of the college will been to-morrow morning with a very fair attendance. In a word, we shall do everything that we have advertised and we think we shall do it well. We do not believe in fulsome advertisements. We shall be fair and honest with ourselves, fair and honest with our papils and fair and honest with the public. We are aiming to establish a modern, practical and thorough college. We do not care to perpetuate names and terms which have long since lost their original application. Some of them, however, will likely continue for some time for the want of the correct term. Instead of saying we have a preparatory course, fresh want of the correct term. Instead of ing we have a preparatory course, fresh, sophomore, junior or senior, we prefer peak out like piain, practical Americans, te trust we are, and say, we have an Eng-course, which is the basis of the regular ege course, and a classical and scientific rec.viz.: first year, second year, third year, fourth your, a three years normal course, and a three years normal course, and a three years normal course, and a three years normal course, tword normal should be changed for, taps, teachers' course, since, correctly aking, every student doing natural work normal student. In our classical course atend to maintain a high standard for antend to maintain a high standard for who desire it, but as a requirement for duation, with A. B., it will not likely go and Homer and Plato or Demosthenes in sek, and Virgilius and Tacitus or Livius in tin. And in the scientific course we shall intain a high standard for all who desire but as a requirement for graduation with S., we will perhaps go no further than iteral geometry.

as officers of the lodge in March, 1890. They were respectively master, secretary, treasurer and trustees, and had in their possession all the effects, books and money of the lodge. They included $258 49 and a note for $100 compass the whole reaim of classical and scientific knowledge. We must drop some of the ancients and live more in the present and for the present. In these days many branches of science, as electricity for instance, have so broadened their scope and application as to require much time for their mastery. Also in literature and art the field is widening. broadened their scope and application as to require much time for their mastery. Also is literature and art the field is widening. Many parents during the past few days have some in and when arranging for the work of their son or daughter, have said they went through that advanced course in language and mathematics, but that they donot desire their childred to do so. They wish them to have a therough but a practical education. And hence we confidently say to the public that in the ancient as well as in the modern languages, and aciences as well, you will have here the best modern methods and the most practical and therough work.

"Our hedies literary course is so planned as not to burden the student with the higher ancient classics or mathematics, but to furnish enough of science, literature and art to that a young lady may fill the average position in life and have enough of accompishments to pass well in society,

"Our normal course is so arranged as to meet all the requirements of the teacher's profession. The latest and most approved methods of school management, as well as instruction, will be faithfully observed. This school will be under the personal supervision of the vice president of the college, one who has had years of successful work in this department.

SATUEDAY NORMAL CLASSES.

SATURDAY NORMAL CLASSES. Our Saturday normal work will be broad in its scope and under the personal instruction of such thoroughly practical men that teachers will find here the very best assistance in preparing for their examinations and school work. The work in the commercial school will be under the supervision of the best penman in the State. He has also had great experience as an accommant, and is a general favorite in business circles. Actual business practice, as far as it can be conducted in a school room, will be faithfully carried out, familiarizing the student with every phase of business life.

The school of shorthand and typewriting will be in the hands of thoroughly experienced persons, and, as far as possible, each person will receive individual instruction and encocragement in their work. And from our vitle acquaintance in Western Pamsylvanis we expect to be able to find good situations for all who are thoroughly equipped for their work, either as book-keepers or stenographers, and this we shall consider it a pleasure to do, and that without compensation from the sindent.

Our evening sessions on Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday nights will run from 7 o'clock to 9:30 o'clock. Here the same studies may be pursued and under the same instructors as during the day. This will accommodate a large number of persons who are employed during the day.

The School of Mechanical Drawing will be commodate 5 large almber of persons who are employed during the day.

The School of Mechanical Drawing will be under the instruction M a graduate of the Mechanical School of London, and a thorough muster in his art.

PARTICULAR ATTENTION TO MUSIC. "Our School of Music will be under the ersonal supervision of a graduate of Munich and a man well and favorably known in music c reies in Pittsburg and throughout the country.

"And of the school of elecution I will only say that it has bere abundant facilities for the widest development of its wide mission, and I predict for it, under the leadership of such a fireless, enthusiastic and intelligent worker, a future unparalleled in the history forker, a future imparalleled in the history to dureountry.

"And now, my friends, with this brief outme you see the scope of work to be done in majorane College. I know full well that must be necessary for the growth and estabishment of a college, yet I can assure you intervery one of these schools will be open, otherrow with competent teachers and a air attendance of students.

"And now to the loftiest sentiments of immanity everywhere and especially to the REMAINDER OF THE PROGRAMME Dr. Wood was loudly applauded at inter-vals during his address and at the end. Everyone felt that he had given a full explanation of the purpose of the college and that he had given it in the most ludid manner. The next speaker was Rev. J. B. Koehne, paster of the Cumberland Church, Koehne, pastor of the Cumberland Church, who asked the blessing of God upon the college. He was followed by H. J. Heinz, one of the directors, who paid a well deserved tribute to the enterprise of the principal and bespoke a successful career for the institution of learning.

Prof. Byron W. King then delivered a rectation in his own masterly style. There were also recitations by two of his pupils, Miss Braun and Miss Mary Byron. There were a number of musical selections, both vocal and instrumental, beside recitations and readings by different pupils of Prof. King.

The faculty of Duquesne college is composed of the following laddes and gentlement Dr. E. M. Wood, President; James M. Wisman, A. M., Vice President; James M. Gordon, A. B.; Frank S. Fox, B. CAN SELL THE RAILROAD.

The Pennsylvania Company Wins the Great est Victory in Its History-Judge Ache son Declares the Valley Road Can Be Sold With the Mortgages

In the United States Circuit Court yesterday, Judge Acheson handed down an opinion in the case of the Pennsylvania. Railroad Company, the Northern Central himself and assistants. Mr. Wood is an able speaker, his delivery being remarkably clear and pleasing. He said:

Railroad Company and the Philadelphia and Erie Railroad Company against the Allegheny Valley Railroad Company, Townsend Whelan and James B. Murray, trustees, and others. The opinion was upor what terms, with respect to the discharge of liens, the sale of the franchises and property of the Allegheny Valley Bailroad Company should be made. Judge Acheson Company should be made. Judge Acheson decides that the sale should be made upon the original bill. It was, filed in 1884, asking for the appointment of receivers to take charge of the business and make a sale of the road under affil subject to the lien of the mortgages which amounted to $15,000,000. The Court decides that the purchaser need not be compelled to pay anything more than the interest on the mortgages, and is not compelled to take up the mortgages themselves. In pelled to pay anything more than the interest on the mortgages, and is not compelled to take up the mortgages themselves. In the opinion it is stated that before the filing of the bill the Pennsylvania Raffrond Company had been obliged, by reason of the insolvency of the Allegheny Valley Raffrond Company, to purchase coupons of the bond issue of 1869. The total amount of the purchase was $6,336,245, exclusive of the interest. The plaintiffs lifted $40,000 of overdue bonds of the A. V. R. R. Co. to the Commonwealth secured by the mortgages of 1869, and 1874. The outstanding bonds yet held by the Commonwealth and not due amount to $1,800,000. They are payable in yearly installments of $100,000 each. The trustees under the mortgages securing the $10,000,000 bond issue of 1869, prayed that in the event of a sale being decreed, it be formulated as to leave unaffected the lien of the several mortgages of which they are trustees, except so far as the interest there on may be payable out of the proceeds of the sale. The A. V. R. E. Co. made prochections trustees, except so far as the interest there on may be payable out of the proceeds of the sale. The A. V. R. R. Co made no objections to a decree of sale in conformity with the prayer of the bill. The only objections came from a minority in interest of the income bondholders who now insist that the sale be made upon terms discianging the lien of all the mortgages, except one for $1,000,000, the first lien on the main line. Judge Acheson, reviewing the case, says that such a decree ought not to be made except for special reason. Continuing he reviewed different planses of the case and said that he was of opinion that the original bill was framed upon the true theory of the equitable rights of all the parties in interest and that the sule of the Alleghent, Valley Railroad Company's property, which how all agree must be made, should be upon the terms specially prayed for in the bill.

Coal Operators Open War on the Oil and Gas Drillers.

An argument was heard before Judge | 2, at 3 o'clock. Interment private. Ewing and White yesterday in the case of T. Burr Robbins against C. G. Greenlee and others. The case is one of a number in others. The case is one of a number in which an injunction is asked for to restrain oil and gas operators from drilling wells through coal veins owned by the plaintiffs. It is claimed that the boring of wells through the coal will endanger the property and lives, of the employes by gas escaping into the mines. J. S. Furguson appeared for the plaintiff and W. T. McCook and Josiah Cohen for the defendants. A decision was reserved.

Lemon Cake.

BY MARIA PARLOA.

For one loaf of cake use half a cupful of butter, one cupful of fine granulated sugar, half a cupful of milk, two cupfuls of flour, two eggs, one teaspoonful of Cleveland's Baking Powder, the grated rind of a lemon, and one table-spoonful of the juice.

Beat the butter to a cream, and gradually beat into it the sugar and then the lemon rind and juice. After beating the eggs, add them to the sugar and butter, and beat with a spoon for five minutes; then add the milk, and finally the flour, in which the baking powder should first be mixed. Beat vigorously for half a minute, and, turning into a buttered pan, bake in a moderate oven for forty-five minutes. The batter should be about three inches deep in the pan. The measuring cup holds half a pint.—(Copyright, 1891, by Cleveland Baking Powder Co.)
