

GIRLS OF CRESSON.

Emma V. Sheridan Says They Beat All Pretty Creatures on Earth.

WOMANKIND AT ITS VERY BEST.

How Pittsburg Millionaires Play Old Sledge for Five Cents.

LOTS OF FUN AT A FARMERS FAIR

(CORRESPONDENCE OF THE DISPATCH.)

CRESSON, PA., Sept. 6.—When the usual extra locomotive was hitched to the railway train, and the two big machines puffed and snorted their way into the village...

"Seven heavy millionaires got on at Pittsburg," was the reply, "and it overloads the train."

We told the truth as to seven of the passengers being Pittsburg millionaires, the aggregate of their possessions reaching $6,000,000, by conservative estimate...

THE HEAVEN ABOUT GALLITZER.

I drove over from Cresson four miles to Loretto yesterday, and there I met a man who had journeyed up into the mountains in a conventional style. His name was Demetrius Gallitzer, and he used to be a member of the Roman Catholic church...

When, in medieval days, the loose sleeve was of material whose nature is not to lie in folds, as velvet, it was slashed. A beaver's tail was used for the fringe...

MISTAKES IN THE FASHIONS.

In fashion paper I find a sleeve with a rosette placed half way down the arm, and from the rosette ribbons are sewed in curves to another rosette a little further down on the under side of the arm.

Another one has a triangular puff sewed on at the top and inserted at a point half way down the arm. What meaning is there in this?

NO TIME TO POOL WITH BENDS.

"Confound the bends," exclaimed her utilitarian and impatient husband. "What a nuisance and loss of time it is to double on yourself like that when you're traveling."

But think of the scenery, and you're in no hurry.

"But think of railroad in a half circle. Besides, I'm always in a hurry."

It would be a pity, however, if that celestial being, the angel of the railroad, were to be a good thing if the male American could rid himself of some of his haste when on the road.

CRESSON IS A SUDDENLY BEAUTIFUL REVELATION to the traveler who passes by on the railway that skirts it.

RICH AND MODISH PENNSYLVANIANS.

In the foreground is a spring, whose purity is traditionally curative. A fountain is throwing the same sort of water into the air.

BUNDLES OF FLOWERS EVERYWHERE.

At a baseball match whole rows looked like daisy chains, with here and there a spray of golden-rod or a lot of green.

HINTS THAT WILL HELP THE HOME DRESS-MAKERS IN THEIR EFFORTS.

The wedding gown shown on this page is of white fabric, with a pinked ruche of the silk around the bottom of the trained skirt.

THE MORNING GOWN IS OF RED CAMEL'S HAIR, trimmed with pinked frills of red, underlaid with white frills.

PITTSBURGH MOUNTAIN CLIMBING.

Alpine climbers would smile at the Cresson method of mountain pedestrianism, but they would have to acknowledge, at least, the heights achieved here.

THE BEST PHYSIC.

St. Patrick's Pills are carefully prepared from the best material and according to the most approved formula.

THE PITTSBURGH MILLIONAIRES.

Badges for lodges and societies at McMahon Bros. & Adams, 62 Fourth avenue.

WOMEN AND THE LAW.

The Sex Should Be Thinking of the Constitutional Convention.

MANY REFORMS THAT ARE NEEDED.

Relics of Barbarism Still Existing in the Marriage Ceremony.

WHAT A TEXAS WOMAN DISCOVERED.

(WRITTEN FOR THE DISPATCH.)

Women know so little about law that when in the course of their lives they run up against an enactment manifestly unjust to them, they seem to suddenly wake up to the idea that they have some stake in the country and some rights that the lawmakers should be bound to respect.

Another thing in the marriage service that needs to be revised is that requiring the woman to obey her husband.

With this law confronting her, she says, she saw plainly that she must declare her intention to become a citizen if she wanted to retain her property, or borrow money upon it.

HAD TO DEFEND HER HUSBAND.

Her application was met with smiles of derision, and the clerk told her that in the great State of Texas women were not naturalized citizens.

It would be a pity, however, if that celestial being, the angel of the railroad, were to be a good thing if the male American could rid himself of some of his haste when on the road.

CRESSON IS A SUDDENLY BEAUTIFUL REVELATION to the traveler who passes by on the railway that skirts it.

RICH AND MODISH PENNSYLVANIANS.

In the foreground is a spring, whose purity is traditionally curative. A fountain is throwing the same sort of water into the air.

BUNDLES OF FLOWERS EVERYWHERE.

At a baseball match whole rows looked like daisy chains, with here and there a spray of golden-rod or a lot of green.

HINTS THAT WILL HELP THE HOME DRESS-MAKERS IN THEIR EFFORTS.

The wedding gown shown on this page is of white fabric, with a pinked ruche of the silk around the bottom of the trained skirt.

THE MORNING GOWN IS OF RED CAMEL'S HAIR, trimmed with pinked frills of red, underlaid with white frills.

PITTSBURGH MOUNTAIN CLIMBING.

Alpine climbers would smile at the Cresson method of mountain pedestrianism, but they would have to acknowledge, at least, the heights achieved here.

THE BEST PHYSIC.

St. Patrick's Pills are carefully prepared from the best material and according to the most approved formula.

THE PITTSBURGH MILLIONAIRES.

Badges for lodges and societies at McMahon Bros. & Adams, 62 Fourth avenue.

PIGS ON THE BOAT.

Scene on a Hudson River Steamer That is Familiar to Travelers.

ONE WOMAN TAKEN DOWN A PEG.

Hints for Home Decoration and Entertainment for Fair Readers.

KEEPING HAIR CURLED ON DAMP DAYS

(WRITTEN FOR THE DISPATCH.)

"I blush for my sex," said a woman recently, "every time I take a trip up or down the river between New York and Albany."

Another thing in the marriage service that needs to be revised is that requiring the woman to obey her husband.

With this law confronting her, she says, she saw plainly that she must declare her intention to become a citizen if she wanted to retain her property, or borrow money upon it.

HAD TO DEFEND HER HUSBAND.

Her application was met with smiles of derision, and the clerk told her that in the great State of Texas women were not naturalized citizens.

It would be a pity, however, if that celestial being, the angel of the railroad, were to be a good thing if the male American could rid himself of some of his haste when on the road.

CRESSON IS A SUDDENLY BEAUTIFUL REVELATION to the traveler who passes by on the railway that skirts it.

RICH AND MODISH PENNSYLVANIANS.

In the foreground is a spring, whose purity is traditionally curative. A fountain is throwing the same sort of water into the air.

BUNDLES OF FLOWERS EVERYWHERE.

At a baseball match whole rows looked like daisy chains, with here and there a spray of golden-rod or a lot of green.

HINTS THAT WILL HELP THE HOME DRESS-MAKERS IN THEIR EFFORTS.

The wedding gown shown on this page is of white fabric, with a pinked ruche of the silk around the bottom of the trained skirt.

THE MORNING GOWN IS OF RED CAMEL'S HAIR, trimmed with pinked frills of red, underlaid with white frills.

PITTSBURGH MOUNTAIN CLIMBING.

Alpine climbers would smile at the Cresson method of mountain pedestrianism, but they would have to acknowledge, at least, the heights achieved here.

THE BEST PHYSIC.

St. Patrick's Pills are carefully prepared from the best material and according to the most approved formula.

THE PITTSBURGH MILLIONAIRES.

Badges for lodges and societies at McMahon Bros. & Adams, 62 Fourth avenue.

PIGS ON THE BOAT.

Scene on a Hudson River Steamer That is Familiar to Travelers.

ONE WOMAN TAKEN DOWN A PEG.

Hints for Home Decoration and Entertainment for Fair Readers.

KEEPING HAIR CURLED ON DAMP DAYS

(WRITTEN FOR THE DISPATCH.)

"I blush for my sex," said a woman recently, "every time I take a trip up or down the river between New York and Albany."

Another thing in the marriage service that needs to be revised is that requiring the woman to obey her husband.

With this law confronting her, she says, she saw plainly that she must declare her intention to become a citizen if she wanted to retain her property, or borrow money upon it.

HAD TO DEFEND HER HUSBAND.

Her application was met with smiles of derision, and the clerk told her that in the great State of Texas women were not naturalized citizens.

It would be a pity, however, if that celestial being, the angel of the railroad, were to be a good thing if the male American could rid himself of some of his haste when on the road.

CRESSON IS A SUDDENLY BEAUTIFUL REVELATION to the traveler who passes by on the railway that skirts it.

RICH AND MODISH PENNSYLVANIANS.

In the foreground is a spring, whose purity is traditionally curative. A fountain is throwing the same sort of water into the air.

BUNDLES OF FLOWERS EVERYWHERE.

At a baseball match whole rows looked like daisy chains, with here and there a spray of golden-rod or a lot of green.

HINTS THAT WILL HELP THE HOME DRESS-MAKERS IN THEIR EFFORTS.

The wedding gown shown on this page is of white fabric, with a pinked ruche of the silk around the bottom of the trained skirt.

THE MORNING GOWN IS OF RED CAMEL'S HAIR, trimmed with pinked frills of red, underlaid with white frills.

PITTSBURGH MOUNTAIN CLIMBING.

Alpine climbers would smile at the Cresson method of mountain pedestrianism, but they would have to acknowledge, at least, the heights achieved here.

THE BEST PHYSIC.

St. Patrick's Pills are carefully prepared from the best material and according to the most approved formula.

THE PITTSBURGH MILLIONAIRES.

Badges for lodges and societies at McMahon Bros. & Adams, 62 Fourth avenue.

PIGS ON THE BOAT.

Scene on a Hudson River Steamer That is Familiar to Travelers.

ONE WOMAN TAKEN DOWN A PEG.

Hints for Home Decoration and Entertainment for Fair Readers.

KEEPING HAIR CURLED ON DAMP DAYS

(WRITTEN FOR THE DISPATCH.)

"I blush for my sex," said a woman recently, "every time I take a trip up or down the river between New York and Albany."

Another thing in the marriage service that needs to be revised is that requiring the woman to obey her husband.

With this law confronting her, she says, she saw plainly that she must declare her intention to become a citizen if she wanted to retain her property, or borrow money upon it.

HAD TO DEFEND HER HUSBAND.

Her application was met with smiles of derision, and the clerk told her that in the great State of Texas women were not naturalized citizens.

It would be a pity, however, if that celestial being, the angel of the railroad, were to be a good thing if the male American could rid himself of some of his haste when on the road.

CRESSON IS A SUDDENLY BEAUTIFUL REVELATION to the traveler who passes by on the railway that skirts it.

RICH AND MODISH PENNSYLVANIANS.

In the foreground is a spring, whose purity is traditionally curative. A fountain is throwing the same sort of water into the air.

BUNDLES OF FLOWERS EVERYWHERE.

At a baseball match whole rows looked like daisy chains, with here and there a spray of golden-rod or a lot of green.

HINTS THAT WILL HELP THE HOME DRESS-MAKERS IN THEIR EFFORTS.

The wedding gown shown on this page is of white fabric, with a pinked ruche of the silk around the bottom of the trained skirt.

THE MORNING GOWN IS OF RED CAMEL'S HAIR, trimmed with pinked frills of red, underlaid with white frills.

PITTSBURGH MOUNTAIN CLIMBING.

Alpine climbers would smile at the Cresson method of mountain pedestrianism, but they would have to acknowledge, at least, the heights achieved here.

THE BEST PHYSIC.

St. Patrick's Pills are carefully prepared from the best material and according to the most approved formula.

THE PITTSBURGH MILLIONAIRES.

Badges for lodges and societies at McMahon Bros. & Adams, 62 Fourth avenue.

A TALK ON SLEEVES.

Two Classes into Which All Should Fall—The Ideal of the Greek Maiden—Fidelity Does Not Preclude Beauty—A Dress Reform Mistake.

(WRITTEN FOR THE DISPATCH.)

IN the manufacture of women's costumes the sleeve is an after-thought. So many Eastern costumes do without it altogether.

Nothing like the degree of the rest of the garment is it a necessity, and, if this were not obvious enough, on reflection we should know it by the special care with which it has been touched. The body of the gown serves modesty, the sleeve does not; the body is essential to protection, the sleeve only to ornament.

When, in medieval days, the loose sleeve was of material whose nature is not to lie in folds, as velvet, it was slashed. A beaver's tail was used for the fringe.

MISTAKES IN THE FASHIONS.

In fashion paper I find a sleeve with a rosette placed half way down the arm, and from the rosette ribbons are sewed in curves to another rosette a little further down on the under side of the arm.

Another one has a triangular puff sewed on at the top and inserted at a point half way down the arm. What meaning is there in this?

NO TIME TO POOL WITH BENDS.

"Confound the bends," exclaimed her utilitarian and impatient husband. "What a nuisance and loss of time it is to double on yourself like that when you're traveling."

But think of the scenery, and you're in no hurry.

"But think of railroad in a half circle. Besides, I'm always in a hurry."

It would be a pity, however, if that celestial being, the angel of the railroad, were to be a good thing if the male American could rid himself of some of his haste when on the road.

CRESSON IS A SUDDENLY BEAUTIFUL REVELATION to the traveler who passes by on the railway that skirts it.

RICH AND MODISH PENNSYLVANIANS.

In the foreground is a spring, whose purity is traditionally curative. A fountain is throwing the same sort of water into the air.

BUNDLES OF FLOWERS EVERYWHERE.

At a baseball match whole rows looked like daisy chains, with here and there a spray of golden-rod or a lot of green.

HINTS THAT WILL HELP THE HOME DRESS-MAKERS IN THEIR EFFORTS.

The wedding gown shown on this page is of white fabric, with a pinked ruche of the silk around the bottom of the trained skirt.

THE MORNING GOWN IS OF RED CAMEL'S HAIR, trimmed with pinked frills of red, underlaid with white frills.

PITTSBURGH MOUNTAIN CLIMBING.

Alpine climbers would smile at the Cresson method of mountain pedestrianism, but they would have to acknowledge, at least, the heights achieved here.

THE BEST PHYSIC.

St. Patrick's Pills are carefully prepared from the best material and according to the most approved formula.

THE PITTSBURGH MILLIONAIRES.

A TALK ON SLEEVES.

Two Classes into Which All Should Fall—The Ideal of the Greek Maiden—Fidelity Does Not Preclude Beauty—A Dress Reform Mistake.

(WRITTEN FOR THE DISPATCH.)

IN the manufacture of women's costumes the sleeve is an after-thought. So many Eastern costumes do without it altogether.

Nothing like the degree of the rest of the garment is it a necessity, and, if this were not obvious enough, on reflection we should know it by the special care with which it has been touched. The body of the gown serves modesty, the sleeve does not; the body is essential to protection, the sleeve only to ornament.

When, in medieval days, the loose sleeve was of material whose nature is not to lie in folds, as velvet, it was slashed. A beaver's tail was used for the fringe.

MISTAKES IN THE FASHIONS.

In fashion paper I find a sleeve with a rosette placed half way down the arm, and from the rosette ribbons are sewed in curves to another rosette a little further down on the under side of the arm.

Another one has a triangular puff sewed on at the top and inserted at a point half way down the arm. What meaning is there in this?

NO TIME TO POOL WITH BENDS.

"Confound the bends," exclaimed her utilitarian and impatient husband. "What a nuisance and loss of time it is to double on yourself like that when you're traveling."

But think of the scenery, and you're in no hurry.

"But think of railroad in a half circle. Besides, I'm always in a hurry."

It would be a pity, however, if that celestial being, the angel of the railroad, were to be a good thing if the male American could rid himself of some of his haste when on the road.

CRESSON IS A SUDDENLY BEAUTIFUL REVELATION to the traveler who passes by on the railway that skirts it.

RICH AND MODISH PENNSYLVANIANS.

In the foreground is a spring, whose purity is traditionally curative. A fountain is throwing the same sort of water into the air.

BUNDLES OF FLOWERS EVERYWHERE.

At a baseball match whole rows looked like daisy chains, with here and there a spray of golden-rod or a lot of green.

HINTS THAT WILL HELP THE HOME DRESS-MAKERS IN THEIR EFFORTS.

The wedding gown shown on this page is of white fabric, with a pinked ruche of the silk around the bottom of the trained skirt.

THE MORNING GOWN IS OF RED CAMEL'S HAIR, trimmed with pinked frills of red, underlaid with white frills.

PITTSBURGH MOUNTAIN CLIMBING.

Alpine climbers would smile at the Cresson method of mountain pedestrianism, but they would have to acknowledge, at least, the heights achieved here.

THE BEST PHYSIC.

St. Patrick's Pills are carefully prepared from the best material and according to the most approved formula.

THE PITTSBURGH MILLIONAIRES.

A TALK ON SLEEVES.

Two Classes into Which All Should Fall—The Ideal of the Greek Maiden—Fidelity Does Not Preclude Beauty—A Dress Reform Mistake.

(WRITTEN FOR THE DISPATCH.)

IN the manufacture of women's costumes the sleeve is an after-thought. So many Eastern costumes do without it altogether.

Nothing like the degree of the rest of the garment is it a necessity, and, if this were not obvious enough, on reflection we should know it by the special care with which it has been touched. The body of the gown serves modesty, the sleeve does not; the body is essential to protection, the sleeve only to ornament.

When, in medieval days, the loose sleeve was of material whose nature is not to lie in folds, as velvet, it was slashed. A beaver's tail was used for the fringe.

MISTAKES IN THE FASHIONS.

In fashion paper I find a sleeve with a rosette placed half way down the arm, and from the rosette ribbons are sewed in curves to another rosette a little further down on the under side of the arm.

Another one has a triangular puff sewed on at the top and inserted at a point half way down the arm. What meaning is there in this?

NO TIME TO POOL WITH BENDS.

"Confound the bends," exclaimed her utilitarian and impatient husband. "What a nuisance and loss of time it is to double on yourself like that when you're traveling."

But think of the scenery, and you're in no hurry.

"But think of railroad in a half circle. Besides, I'm always in a hurry."

It would be a pity, however, if that celestial being, the angel of the railroad, were to be a good thing if the male American could rid himself of some of his haste when on the road.

CRESSON IS A SUDDENLY BEAUTIFUL REVELATION to the traveler who passes by on the railway that skirts it.

RICH AND MODISH PENNSYLVANIANS.

In the foreground is a spring, whose purity is traditionally curative. A fountain is throwing the same sort of water into the air.

BUNDLES OF FLOWERS EVERYWHERE.

At a baseball match whole rows looked like daisy chains, with here and there a spray of golden-rod or a lot of green.

HINTS THAT WILL HELP THE HOME DRESS-MAKERS IN THEIR EFFORTS.

The wedding gown shown on this page is of white fabric, with a pinked ruche of the silk around the bottom of the trained skirt.

THE MORNING GOWN IS OF RED CAMEL'S HAIR, trimmed with pinked frills of red, underlaid with white frills.

PITTSBURGH MOUNTAIN CLIMBING.

Alpine climbers would smile at the Cresson method of mountain pedestrianism, but they would have to acknowledge, at least, the heights achieved here.

THE BEST PHYSIC.

St. Patrick's Pills are carefully prepared from the best material and according to the most approved formula.

THE PITTSBURGH MILLIONAIRES.

A TALK ON SLEEVES.

Two Classes into Which All Should Fall—The Ideal of the Greek Maiden—Fidelity Does Not Preclude Beauty—A Dress Reform Mistake.

(WRITTEN FOR THE DISPATCH.)

IN the manufacture of women's costumes the sleeve is an after-thought. So many Eastern costumes do without it altogether.

Nothing like the degree of the rest of the garment is it a necessity, and, if this were