Senator Quay has, they say, taken a cottage at Atlantic City, and is therefore out of our jurisdiction. Consequently he could, if he felt so disposed, ignore a subprens. We shall request him to appear. Do you think he would dare, in the present state of affairs, to refuse to respond to that request? I think that would put him in a worse light than he now stands.

"Of course, the Democratic members of the committee are in the minority, and the Republicans can if they wish obstruct the investigation in many ways, but we propose to do all we possibly can to show up the rottenness in the State Treasury."

Mr. Fow was asked to explain just what his committee expected to accomplish, and in reply said they expected in the first place to be able as a result of this work to frame and offer at the next Legislature a law that would do away with the present one-man power to disburse State funds, and thus remove a great temptation from the State Treasurer.

WHAT HAS BEEN ACCOMPLISHED.

"Even if we should stop now," continued Mr. Fow, "we would have the satisfaction of knowing that we have fully proved that the Auditor General is guilty of gross negligence. We have shown that many county treasurers have not made their settlements for 1890, a clear violation of the law; that thousands of dollars are due the Commonwealth, some of it by irresponsible parties, and that the Republican Auditor General has taken no steps toward forcing a settlement. Why even Prothonotary Mann, of Philadelphia, still owes a balance of $3,000 on his account of 1890. Cartain Skinner stumbled over that piece of information and was assured by Mr. Mann's son that the amount would be paid in a short time.

"I certainly hope Quay and Cameron will appear, as many people would like to know whether Senator Cameron ever was repaid the large amount he is said to have loaned Mr. Quay while the latier was State Treasurer. There is many things we would like to find out, and Livsey knows more than nuvone else about them, but I don't expect he will even unburden himself, and we will have to try and get our information elsewhere. You can positively state, however, that there was nothing perfunctory about Trenaurer Boyer's examination."

Notwithstanding the statement of Mr. Engene Jones, at Milwaukee, Saturday nicht, to the effect that his father-in-law had not been in that city for two weeks Mr. Livsey's friends insist that he has been there all along and is still there. Mrs. Livsey believes that he is there and communicates with him through that address given. Mrs. Livsey was completely prostrated by newspaper reports telegraphed from Harrisburg, and yesterday locked up the house and went to visit her brother at Hazelwood; where she would not be disturbed by callers in search of information concerning her husband.

A friend of the family stated that it was barely possible that Mr. Livsey had gone to Michigan to visit his son, though he had not so informed his family here. Mrs. Livsey is momentarily expecting a message from her husband requesting her to come to Milwaukee. A neighbor said that Mrs.

New System Under Consideration By the Internal Revenue Bureau.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6 .- The Internal Revenue Bureau has been considering for some time the advisability and practicability of adopting what is known as the weighng system in the official determination of the quantity of spirits placed in casks and packages. The spirits absorbed into the wood would add to the weight of the packages, so the Commissioner has requested distillers throughout the country to assist his office in arriving at some conclusion to the average amount of spirits that will be absorbed, and it is probable that a deduction will be made from the gross weight of packages on this account. The present system must be regarded as undesirable, for the reason that it only ap-proaches accuracy when the casks are made only apn a regular form and the inside surfaces completely smooth.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Sept. 6.-Superin endent Imes, o! the Southern Pacific road, has returned from the scene of the train robbery at Samuels Siding and reports five robbers have been hemmed in by rangers and Mexican troops in the Texas peninsula and cannot escape. After the robbery they rode leisurely to the Rio Grande, having a pack mule loaded with the mail sacks and boxes of cigars and stolen fruit. There they opened the sacks, rifled the mail, ate fruit and smoked cigars. The Sheriff's posse arrived there about two hours after their departure, but hesi-tated about crossing into Mexico until the arrival of rangers, six hours later. Had they continued they would have captured the robbers. The rangers followed the trail. The robbers made for the peninsula, following the Rio Grande and crossing twice into Texas. They are now in Presade county, pursued by rangers, Mexicans and Indian scouts. It has been learned that they secured the most money from the big iron safe in the express car, which had not been locked, as it should have been with the time lock, by Messenger Smith.
