Dr. Talmage Finds Food for Thought for His Sunday Sermon.

MEETING AT THE ANCIENT WELL.

The Flocks of Heaven to Gather at the Waters of Eternal Life.

AN ADDRESS TO FARMERS AT A PAIR

ISPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH. ELMIRA, N. Y., Sept 6.-Dr. Talmage reached here to-day to the immense multiwho had come to attend the New, York and Pennsylvania Exposition, which is being held here September 1 to September 9. It is a combined exposition of cattle, sheep, horses and valuable stock of all kinds from the two States. The sermon was preached on the fair grounds to a great audience of farmers, horsemen, drovers and stockraisers from near and far, as well as citizens from the adjacent cities. Secretary Stanley, of the Young Men's Christian Association of Elmira, presided, Dr. Talmage's text was Genesis xxix, 8: "And they said, we cannot, until all the flocks be gathered together, and till they roll the stone from the well's mouth; then we water the sheep."

There are some reasons why it is appropriate that I should accept the invitation to preach at this great inter-State Fair, and to these throngs of countrymen and citizens, horsemen just come from their fine chargers, the king of beasts, for I take the crown from the lion and put it on the brow of the horse, which is in every way nobler, and speak to these shepherds just come from their flocks—the Lord Himself in one place is called a Shepherd and in another place called a Lamb, and all the good are sheep—and preach to you cattle-men come up from the berds, your occupation honored ds, your occupation honored fact that God Himself thinks it t that God Himself thinks it immortal record that he owns on a thousand hills." It is that I come because I was a ,, and never saws city until I grown, and having been born in I never got over it, and would cities a day if my work was not here. My laye to you now and Union, all the way through to Col-and North and South, I will not con-my summer vacation till I have lands with you. THE SCENE A BEAUTIFUL PASTORAL. And now, while the nir of these fair grounds illed with the bleating of sheep and the ighing of horses and the lowing of cattle, cannot find a nore appropriate text than he one I read. It is a scene in Mesopotamia, seautifully pastoral. A well of water of rear value in that region. The fields round bout it white with three flocks of sheep ving down waiting for the watering. I hear heir bleating coming on the bright air and he intughter of young men and maidens intiging in rustic repartee. I look off, and I ce other flocks of sheep coming. Meanflocks of sheep coming. Mean-o, a stranger, on the interesting or a wife, comes to the A beautiful shepherdess comes to the sewell. I see her approaching, followed her father's flock of sheep. It was a norable meeting. Jacob married that less, ble account of it is: "Jacob kissed or Bible account of it is: "Jacob kissed bet, and lifted up his voice and wept," as always been a mystery to me what he did to are about. But before that scene tired, anoth accests the shepherds and them why they postpone the slaking of thirst of these sueep, and why they did immediately proceed to water them, shepherds reply to the effect: "We are not an ignitive, and as a matter of course wait until ail the sheep of the neighbors, and as a second come up. Besides that, this stone he well's mouth is somewhat heavy, and ral of us take hold of it and push it ewell's mouth is somewhat heavy, and all of us take hold of it and push it and then the buckets and troughs are and the sheep are satisfied. We can-ntil all the flocks begathered together, ill they roll the stone from the well's it then we water the sheep," a great flock of sheen to-day gather d the gospel well. There are a great thirsty souls. I wonder why the flocks autions do not eather—why so many of all nations do not gather—why so many stay thirsty; and while I am wondering about it my text breaks forth in the expla-nation, saying: "We cannot until all the flowls be arthored together. locks be gathered together, and till they sell the stone from the well's mouth; then we water the sheep,

THE SHEEP ALWAYS PEACEFUL. If a herd of swine come to a well they anily lostle each other for the precedence; if e of cattle come to a well, they book ach other back from the water, but when he flock of sheep come, though a hundred of them shall be disappointed, they only ex-cress it by sad bleating, they come together We want a great multitude enterally. We want a great multitude to ome around the Gospel well. I know there he those who do not like a crowd—they hink a crowd is vulgar. If they are optressed for room in church it makes them ositively impatient and belligerent. Not o did these Oriental shepherds. They raited until all the flocks were gathered, and the more flocks that came, the better now liked it.

ought to be anxious that all the should come. Go on, into the high-nd the hedges and compel them to n. Go to the rich and tell them they ligent without the Gospel of Jesus, the poor and tell them the affluence Go to the blind and tel cen the touch that gives eterms illumina-on. Go to the lame and tell them of the or that will make the lame man leap like a art. Gather all the sheep off of all the countains. None so torn of the dogs, none sick, none so worried, none so dying, as the countried. When the fall elections come whole land is scoured for voters, and if a an is too weak or sick to walk to the nolls the whole land is secured for voters, and if a man is too weak or sick to walk to the polls a carriage is sent for him; but when the question is whether Christ or the devii shall rule this world, how few there are to come out to seek the sick, and the lost, and the suffering, and the bereft, and the lame, and induce their suffrages for the Lord Jesus.

Let down all the bereft, and the isme, and induce their suffrages for the Lord Jesus.

Let down all the bars, swing open all the pites, scatter all the invitations: "Whosoever will let him come." Come, white and black. Come, red men of the forest. Come, Laplander, out of the snow. Come. Patagonian, out of the heat. Come in lurs. Come pauting under palm leaves. Come one. Come all. Come now. As at this well of Mosopotamia, Jacob and Rachel were betrothed, so now at this well of salvation, Christ our Shepherd will meet you coming up with your long flocks of cares and anxieties, and he will stretch out his hand in pledge of his affection, while all heaven will cry out: "Behold, the bridgeroom cometing or you to meet him."

THE STONE BEFORE THE WELL. You notice that this well of Mesopotamia and a stone on it, which must be removed before the sheep could be watered; and I find on the well of salvation to day impedifind on the well of salvation to day impedi-ments and obstacles, which must be re-moved in order that you may obtain the refreshment and life of this gospel. In your case the impediment is pride of heart. You cannot hear to come to so democratic a fountain: you do not want to come with so hany others. It is to you like when you are hany others. It is to you like when you are dry coming to a town pump, as compared dry coming to a town pump, as compared to sitting in a parfor sipping out of a chased chalice which has just been lifted from a silver salver. Not so many publicans and rause be in a special car, with your feet on a furkish ottoman and a band of music on board the train. You do not want to be in company with rustic Jacob and Rachel, and to be drinking out of the fountain where 18,000 sheep have been drinking before you. You will have to come as we came, willing to take the water of eternal life in any way, and at any band, and in any kind of pitcher, crying out. "O Lord Jesus, I am dying of thirst. Give me the water of eternal life, whether in trough or goblet; give me the water of life; I care not in what it comes to me."

well. You have no more feeling upon subject than if God had yet to do you this audject than if God had yet to do you to first kindness, or you had to do God the first kindness, or you had to do God the first kindness, or you had to do God the first wrong. Sented on His lap all these years, His everlasting arms sheltering you, whore is your gratifued? Where is your morning and evening prayer? Where are your consecrated lives? I say to you, as baniel said to Belshazzer. "The God in whose hands thy breath is, and all thy way, thou hast not glorified." Three times a day you have been scated at God's table. Spring, summer, autumn and winter He has appropriately appareled you. Your health from Him, your companion from Him, All the bright surroundings of your life from Him.

JACOB STRUGGLED WITH THE STONE.

Canst them not feel one throb of gratitude toward the God who made you, and the Christ who came to redeem you, and the Holy Ghost who has all these years been importuning you?

Holy Ghost who has all these years been importuning you?

Heart of stone, relent, relent,
Touched by Jesus' cross subdued;
See His body, mangled, rent,
Covered with a gore of blood.
Shiful soul, what hast thou done?
Crucified the eternal Son.

Jacob, with a good deal of tug and push, took the stone from the well's mouth, so that the flocks might be watered. And I would that to day my word, blessed God, might remove the hindrances to your getting up to the Gospel well. Yea, I take it for granted that the work is done, and now, like Oriental shepherds, I proceed to water the sheep.

Come, all ye thirsty! You have an undefined longing in your soul. You tried money making; that did not satisfy you. You tried office under government; that did not satisfy you. You are as much discontented with this life as the celebrated French author who left that he could not any longer endure the misfortunes of the world, and who said: "At four o'clock this afternoon. I shall put an end to my own existence. Meanwhile, I must toil on up to that time for the sustenance of my family."

And he wrote on his book until the clock struck four, when he folded up his manuscript and, by his own hand, concluded his earthly life. There are men here who are perfectly discontented. Unhappy in the past, unhappy to-day, to be unhappy forever, unless you come to this goapel well. This satisfies the soul with a high, deep, all-absorbing and eterná satisfaction.

In the far East there was a king who used once a year to get on a scales, while on the other side the scales were placed gold and silver and gems; indeed, enough were placed there to balance the king; then, at the close of the weighing, all those treasures were thrown among the populace. But Christ to-day steps on one side the scales, and on the other side are all the treasures of the universe, and he says: "Allare yours—all height, all depth, all length, all breadth, all cternity; all are yours."

THE COMPORT IN PROMISES.

THE COMPORT IN PROMISES. We don't appreciate the promises of the Gospel. When an aged clergyman was dying—a man very eminent in the church— a young theological student stood by his side, and the aged man looked up and said to him: "Can't you give me some comfort to him: "Can't you give me some comfort in my dying hour?' "No," said the young man, "I can't talk to you on this subject; you know all about it, and have known it so long." "Weli:" said the dying man, "just recite me some promises." The young man thought a moment, and he came to this promise: "The blood of Jesus Christ clean-seth from all sin;" and the old man clapped his hands, and in his dying moment said; "That's just the promise I have been waitthought a moment, and he came to this promise: "The blood of Jesus Christ cleanseth from all sin;" and the old man clapped his hands, and it his dying moment said: "That's just the promise! have been waiting for. 'The blood of Jesus Christ cleanseth from all sin!" Oh, the warmth, the grandeur, the magnificence of the promises!

Compare your views of this life at 15 years of age with what your view of it is at 40, cr 60, or 70. What a great contrast of opinion! Were yon right then, or are you right now? Two cups placed in your hands, the one a sweet cup, the other a sour cup. A cup of joy and a cup of grief. Which has been the nearest to being full, and out of which have you the more frequently partaken." What a different place the cemetery is from what it used to be. Once it was to you a grand city improvement, and you went out on the pleasure excursion, and you ran laughingly up the mound, and you criticised in a light way the epitaph. But since the day when you heard the bell toll at the gate as you went in with the procession, it is a said place, and there is a flood of rushing memories that suffuse the eye and overmaster the heart. Oh, you have had trouble, trouble, trouble. God only knows how much you have had. Well, what do you want? Would you like to have your property back again? "No," you say as a Christian man, "I was becoming arrogant, and I think that is why the Lord took it away. I don't want to have my property back." Well, would you have your departed friends back again? "No," you say, "I couldn't doit." Well, then, what do you want? A thousand voices in the audience cry out: "Comfort, give us comfort." For that reason I have rolled away the stone from the well's mouth. Come, all ye wounded of the flock, pursued of the wolves, come to the fountain wher the Lord's sick and bereft one, have come.

THE GREAT SORROW OF PARTING.

THE CREAT SOPROW OF PARTING "Ah," says some one, "you are not old have not been in the world as long as I have and you can't talk to me about my mis and you can't talk to me about my misfortunes in the time of old age." Well, I inve been a great deal among old people, and I know how they feel about their failing health, and about their departed friends, and about the loneliness that sometimes strikes through their soul. After two persons have livel together for 40 or 50 years, and one of them is taken away, want desolation! I shall not forget the cry of the late Rev. Dr. De Witt, of New York, when he stood by the open grave of his beloved wife, and, after the obsequies had ended, he stood by the open grave of his beloved wife, and, after the obsequies had ended, he looked down into the open place and said: "Farewell my honored, faithful, and beloved wife. The bond that bound us is severed. Thou art in glory, and I am here on earth. We shall meet again. Farewell! Farewell!" To lean on a prop for 50 years, and then have it break under you!

There were only two years' difference between the deaths of my father and mother. After my mother's decease my father used to go around as though looking for something; and he would often get up from one room, without any seeming reason, and go to another room; and then he would take his cane and start out and some one would say: to another room; and then he would take his cane and start out and some one would say: "Father, where are you going?" and he would answer: "I don't know exactly where I am going." Always looking for something. Though he was a tender-hearted man, I never saw him cry but once, and that was at the burial of my mother. After 60 years' living together, it was hard to part. And there are aged people to-day who are feeling just such a pank as that. I want to tell them there is perfect enchantment in the promises of this gospe; and I come to them and I offer them my arm, or I take their arm and I bring them to this gospei well.

Sit down, father, or mother, sit down. See if there is anything at the well for you. Come, David, the psalmist, have you anyif there is anything at the well for you. Come, David the psalmist, have you anything encouraging to offer them? "Yes," says the psalmist; "they shall still bring forth fruit in old age, they shall be fat and flourishing, to show that the Lord is upright, he is my rock, and there is no unrighteousness in me." Come, Isaiah, have you anything to say out of your prophecies for these aged people? "Yes," says Isaiah; "down to old age I am with thee, and to hoary hairs will I carry thee."

THE LORD NEVER FORGETS. Well, if the Lord is going to carry you you ought not to worry much about your

Well, if the Lord is going to carry you, you ought not to worry much about your failing eyesight and failing limbs. You get a little worried for fear sometime you will come to want, do you? Your children and grandchildren sometimes speak a little sharp at you because of your ailments. The Lord will not speak sharp. Do you think you will come to want? Who do you think you will come to want? Who do you think the Lord is? Are his granaries empty? Will he feed the raven and the rabbit, and the iion in the desert, and forget you? Why, naturalists teil us that the porpoise will not forsake its wounded and sick mate. And do you suppose the Lord of heaven and earth has not as much sympathy as the fish of the sea? But you say. "I am so near worn out, and I am of no use to God any more." I think the Lord knows whether you are of any more use or not; if you were of no more use he would have taken you before this. Do you think God has forgotten you because he has taken care of you 70 or 80 years. He thinks more of you to-day than he ever did, because you think more of Him.
But some one says, in the audience: "Notwithstanding all you have said this morning. I find no allevation for my troubles." Well, I am not through yet. I have left the most potent consideration for the last. I am going to soothe you with the thought of heaven. However, talkative we may be, there will come a time when the stoutest and most emphatic interrogation will evoke from us no answer. As soon as we have closed our lips for the final silence, no power on earth can break that taciturnity. But where, O Christian, will be your spirit! In a seene of infinite gladness. The spring-from us no answer. As soon as we have closed our lipsfor the final silence, no power on earth can break that taciturnity. But where, O Christian, will be your spirit? In a scene of infinite gladness. The springmorning of beaven waving its blossoms in the bright air. Victors fresh from battle showing their scars. The rain of earthly sorrow struck through with the rainbow of eternal joy. In one group, God and angels and the redeemed—Paul and Silas, Latimer and Ridley, Isaiah and Jeremiah, Payson and John Milton, Gabriel and Michael the arch-angel. Long line of choristers reaching across the hills. Seas of joy dashing to the white beach. Conquerors marching from gate to gate. You among them.

Out of that one deep well of heaven, the Shepherd will dip reunion for the bereaved, weaith for the poor, health for the sick, rest for the weary. And then all the flock of the Lord's sheep will lie down in the green pastures, and world without end we will praise the Lord that on this first autumnal Sabbath of 1891 we were permitted to study among the bleating flocks and lowing herds of this fair ground the story of Jacob and Rachel the shepherdess at the well in Mesopotamia. Oh, plunge your buckets into this great gospel well and let them come up dripping with that water of which if a mandrink he never again shall thirst.

A TRADE RETROSPECT Dairy Products and Eggs Steadily

SUGAR HIGHER AND COFFEE LOWER

Take a Turn Upward.

Heavy Steer Hides Scarce and Firm and Lightweights Weak.

BETTER OUTLOOK FOR THE SHOE TRADE OFFICE OF PITTSBURG DISPATCH, SATURDAY, Sept. 5.

In produce lines the marked features of the week past have been the upward tendency of dairy products and eggs. The latter have been relatively lower in this market of late than in Chicago or New York, and the equilibrium has been reached. Choice grades of creamery butter have been in short supply all the week and been in short supply all the week and prices are tending steadily toward a higher level. The same is true of all good grades of New York and Ohio cheese. The peach supply this week was the largest for years, but demand proved equal to supply for all good stock. Receipts for the week were over 100 carloads, and the week closed with very little on hand. Other fruits go slow and will until the peach crop is worked off. The receipts of bananas on Monday were the largest for any one day in the history of the trade, the total for that day being above 20 carloads.

The events of the week past in grocery lines were the rise in sugars and drop in coffees. Fruits of all kinds are so abundant and cheap that housewives are evidently making the most of their opportunities by laying up in store for the coming winter. The demand for sugar has been very active, and as a result an advance of ½c per pound has been made this week. The only surprise as to the coffee drop is that it did not come sooner. The crop of Rio is unusually large and the present decline was due weeks ago.

Hides and Calfskins

Hides and Calfskins The green hide market is practically as it was a week ago. At all events quotations are unchanged. Heavy hides, however, are reported scarce and firm, while buff hides and calfskins are slow and dull. The latter and calfskins are slow and duil. The latter are particularly dull, and all signs point to lower prices. A number of telegrams from Eastern tanners were shown to this editor to-day, the purport of which were that they were not in the market on calfskins at present prices. A letter from a leading Boston dealer to one of our leading firms has this to say of the hide situation: "Markets here are still dull. There are rumors of improvement in the West, but these improvements are not reflected here. Still there is no pressure to sell at present prices." Appearances are that prices are down to hard pan on heavy hides.

The great setivity in this line reported for The great activity in this line reported for a week or two past has culminated in a rise of ic per pound all along the line. Our home tanners report a very active demand for stock as fast as it can be turned out. All heavy stock is in very strong demand, and supply in this line is scarcely up to demand. The immense crops of the country already begin to tell in the increased demand for horse equipments, and the end is not yet. With the present activity further advances are probable at an early day.

Boots and Shoes The trade in boots and shoes which has past begins to give signs of a revival. At least there is a better tone and a more hopeful feeling in the trade. Following is a view

"There is a slight improvement to note in the position of the boot and shoe market. The feeling is better all round, and though there is only a small number of buyers here in person, yet there is an improvement noted in the number and volume of orders coming in by mail and through salesmen on the road. There is some looking after spring goods, with the chances in favor of a better trade. Financially the situation is decidedly improved. Boot and shoe paper is actually being sought after, in some instances, and collections have improved. Confidence is being rapidly restored, and under the present remarkably favorable crop conditions of the country, with the tide of gold already setting back to the United States, it is not predicting too much to say that the chances for a good trade in boots and shoes are very favorable.

"Another feature is the fact that the bank-The feeling is better all round, and though

"Another feature is the fact that the bankrupt stocks of goods are rapidly disappearing from the market. The sale of the Potter, White & Bayley stock at Farmington, N. H., white & Bayley stock at Farmington, N. H., yesterday, drew out a great crowd of buyers, many of them representing prominent concerns here, who were there with the determination of taking possession of any goods that were offered under their real value. It that were offered under their real value, is understood that a prominent concern her was represented at the sale by several burers, and hence, if it appears that the good were widely distributed apparently, such condition is not at all certain, for these burers were all working for the same concer This stock of goods, some 3,200 cases, is understood to be well toward the last of the bankrupt stocks there are to offer."

HOME SECURITIES AND CASH. Nearly All the Active Stocks Finish at an Advance.

The week was one of encouragement to all who dabble in stocks. The strongest card was the shipment of gold to this country, assuring a full and easy money market for a long time to come. Large railroad earnings and expressions of confidence in the future were important factors in strengthening the situation. Final prices as compared with those of the previous of Saturday show the following changes in the active list: Philadelphia Gas gained 1/4. Wheeling Gas 1/4. Central Traction 11/4. New York and Cleveland Gas Conl 11/4. Electric 2/4. Airbrake 3/4. Luster lost 3/4 and Switch and Signal 3/6. It will be seen from this that all the changes except two were improvements.

Switch and Signal 3. It will be seen from this that all the changes except two were improvements.

The rest of the list was steady to strong, but barren of features. The unlisted tractions gave forth no sign of immediate improvement, Until their environments assume a better complexion they will probably drag along at the tail end of the market. Lawsuits, disputes over right of way, reported losses of operation, and possibility of the absorption of one of them, are responsibilities which few investors care to assume. But there is no reason to modify the opinion heretofore expressed that they will ultimately be the leaders of the market. Sales on call for the week were 1,337 shares, of which 636 were Philadelphia Gas, 477. Electric and 341 Luster, against 1,330 the previous week. Saturday's sales were 225 shares of New York and Cleveland Gas Coul at 33%, 55 Danquesne Traction at 13%, and 130 Luster at 11%.

The local money market during the week was easy, with all loans at 627 per cent. While the banks are maintaining a sufficient reserve to meet the larger requirements of trade later in the season, regular customers have no difficulty in securing all the finds trade later in the season, regular customers have no difficulty in securing all the funds they require, and in most cases outsiders they require, and in most cases outsiders are accommodated.

There is, therefore, as Mr. Clews says, no grounds for uneasiness, as the imports of gold, which are expected to continue, will be apt to check any tendency toward stringency in money. The rates this year are in marked contrast to the high rates, which ruled a year ago, when call money was quoted at a premium of one-half of I percent per diem and interest—equivalent to 188 per cent per annum.

The Clearing House report was favorable, showing a hand-some gain over the previous week. It follows:
