The Philadelphia Carpenter Was Please With Labor Day-Tenth Annual Report of His Organization-An Exceptionally Good Showing. Secretary McGuire, of the United Brother hood of Carpenters and Joiners, passed through the city yesterday on his way home from Milwaukee, where he attended a Labo Day demonstration. He expressed himself as well pleased with the manner in which the day was celebrated throughout the country. Speaking of the carpenters, he aid his organization is at present in excel-said his organization is at present in excellent shape and in places where the men did meet with reverses they are regaining their former strength and activity.

Mr. McGuire handed a Disparton reporter a copy of his tenth annual report, which has just been issued. It shows a net gain the past year of 101 new unions and 4, 163 good new members—a gain of 15 per cent in the number of new unions and about 7 per cent in membership. While there is quite an increase the past year in the number of new unions and about 7 per cent in membership. While there is quite an increase the past year in the number of new unions and in the total membership, yet the increase in membership is not as large in proportion as that of the year previous. This season, since February 1, there have been in all 163 strikes and trades disputes involving 51, 300 carpenters, counting union and non-union men. For these strikes was spent in all 534, 400 20 the past year. Twenty-two of these strikes were for eight hours a day, 107 for nine hours a day, 24 for wages, 6 for the eard system, 5 were lockouts and 3 for eight hours a day Saturdays. These strikes and lockouts involved 288 locals, and the results so far show that the Brotherhood was victorious in 183 of these trade disputes, 11 were compromised, and 19 of them were lost.

The total receibts of the General office for the year ending June 20, 1891, are 578,629 25; the total expenses, 82,776 74, leaving a balance on hand of 83,22 51. Out of this 83,322 51, the sum of $7,00 was loaned the reserve fund to ald the men on strike this spring. That money is now replaced in for the special assessment. In the expenses for the fiscal year the sum of $44,722 65 is also included for death benefits.

YEE TANG HELD FOR COURT TRIAL.

Celestials All Excited Over a Sensation In Their Circle.

Pittsburg Chinamen are wagging their ongues at a lively rate over the biggest sen sation that has turned up in their circle for years. Alderman McMaster's office was crowded to suffocation at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon by Chinamen who were interested, or pretended to be, in the suits of Yee Chin against Yee Tang for surety of the peace, and Ching Tang against Yee Tang for false pretense. These suits are said to have resulted from a controversy over the two raids made recently by the police on Chinese gambling houses on Grant street, but at the hearings there was no testimony to show that they had any such connection. Yee Tang is a Southside laundryman, and his place of business is at 309 Carson street. He has the appearance of being educated, dresses in the American style, and is prom-inent as a Christian leader among the Chinese. The case of surety of the peace against him was heard first. Yee Chin the prosecutor, said while on the stand that about two weeks ago Chin Wee told him that he called on Yee Tang, when the latter (Yee Tang) wanted to have assistance in getting rid of some of Pittsburg's richest Celestials, so they could get a fortune to go back to China. Yee Chin says he was told that he was to be gotten rid of first, and that made him very uneasy. He was so worked up over it that he has been a victim of insomnia ever since.

Chin Wee was placed on the stand next, He said he called on Yee Tang three weeks ago, when he proposed to him a plan of get ting rich fast. He said Yee Tang wanted him to help kill Yee Chin so they could get his money. Yee Tang wanted him to get three or four of his friends, go to Yee Chin's store on the pretense of wanting to buy some goods, and while there watch their chance and kill him.

Chin Wee says such a proposal frightened him so that he concluded to tell Yee Chin, and the result was the suit. Alderman Mc-Masters decided the case against the defendant and held him for trial at court. In the false pretense case Ching Tang, the prosecutor, was the first witness examined. He said he was a stranger in Pittsburg and recently opened a store on Grant street and shortly after that Yee Tang called on him and deemanded $5 which he said was to pay for a lleense giving him the privilege to transact business. He at first refused to pay the money, but on being told that all the "other boys" were paying a like sum, he thought it all right, paid the $5 and made an entry in his book. On a cross-examination Tang produced his book, and through interpreters it was shown that $5 had been paid Yee Tang on August 10 last.

Two other witnesses, Yee Ting and Yee Yon, were sworn and they also testified to having paid Yee Tang sums of money which they thought were for business. On this testimony the case was left to Alderman McMasters who held the defendant under $500 ball for trial at court. (Yee Tang) wanted to have assistance in getting rid of some of Pittsburg's richest names on the list. Each member is to pay in a stipulated sum each week and if one of them gets sick he draws $2.50 a week; if he is sick three days he gets $1.25. Each boy will wear a badge which will guarantee to him the right to engage in the business without molestation from other members of the union. The object of the union is to guard the little fellows against impostors. The membership will be selected and none of those who have been a detriment to the shining business will be admitted."

He came from Cleveland, O., where he had settled a dispute regarding a reduction in price in the shops of Palmer & Demoogh. He said he had organized four new unions during his last trip. He was leaving again this morning for Seneca Falls, N. Y., and would be absent about four months. He said the union was daily gaining strength. He found the trade generally in good condition.

of about six weeks, took place last night at Exposition Park "The Fairies' Carnival." a musical and theatrical performance distinctively unlike anything that has been given in Pittsburg before, is the work of Mr. J. E. Owens. Alice Kober. He must be cred ited with having created and brought to perfection a really delightful entertainment. The children, who flitted hither and thither in their fancy dresses under the glare of electricity and calciums, were the offspring of well-known families in the two cities. This in itself would have been sufficient to insure a good-sized audience, but when to it is added the inducement of assisting a worthy institution, the statement of a committeeman yesterday it appears that the Pittsburg and Manchester people may not obtain their permit.

Brighton road and to secure rights in Woods'

"It will be found that the committee meeting Friday will be 'no quorumed,'" said a member yesterday. "The Pleasant Valley Company has a certain amount of influence and will not allow any meeting until enough of its men, now out of town, have returned. In other words, the ordinance will not be granted. When the matter was up before it was conveniently 'no quorumed,' and it will be so again. It is a game of 'freeze out' by one company of the other with a view to a consolidation, and negotiations are even now under way to this end."

"As far as I know, there will be no attempt of the Pleasant Valley people to prevent a quorum being present on Friday. The matter was postponed last time when a quorum could have been obtained in 15 minutes. I don't believe in gag law, and that method of trying to shut out a company is not fair. You say it is charged by the Valley people that we don't want to use these rights of way. Why should we go before Councils and ask for ordinances if we did not? Of course we mean to use them. Regarding the matter of consolidation, there has been nothing said about it outside of the newspapers. We have made no overtures to the Pleasant Valley nor liave we received any from them. No action in this direction could be taken by us without the consent of our shareholders, and tacle. Among the characters that will be no meeting has been called for that purpose.
All I can say is that we expect to obtain our right of way next Friday."

President Henry, of the Pleasant Valley President Henry, of the Pleasant Valley line, said:

"Any statement that this company is in any way trying to influence the action of Councils or its committees is all nonsense. We have nothing to no with their action, and if they see fit to grant rights of way to other companies it is none of our business. We have no objection to the Manchester company occupying Ohio street. We have not made any proposition to that company for a consolidation."

An Allegheny Woman With Her Revolves Frightens Three Men. Considerable excitement prevailed in the vicinity of No. 152 Elisworth street, Allegheny, yesterday morning, when a woman was standing in a doorway leveling a re-volver at three men and threatening to kill any one of them who dared to enter her ouse. The woman who is accused of pointing the revolver is Mrs. Mary Cole and the nen were Tobias Kennedy and Constables Morris and Brislin, of Alderman McMasters' flice. Kennedy says that Mrs. Cole is a daughter-Kennedy says that Mrs. Cole is a daughterin-law of his, and for some time past has acted as guardian of two of his children.

He wished to have the children under his care, and says he was advised by Attorney Marron to get a constable to go with him to the house and take the children. He accepted the lawyer's advice, and instead of taking one constable he took two.
On going to the house the men were met by Mrs. Cole, who surmised at once their mission after seeing Kennedy, and it is alleged drew a revolver and treatened to kill Kennedy if he attempted to take the children away. The constables were afraid to interfere, as it is said she threatened to make things lively for them, too.

Kennedy did not proceed any further, and went before Alderman McMasters and entered a charge of surety of the peace

Fuel gas is now made in Pullman, Ill., by a process by which oil is passed over water. It is pronounced a success also. Following is a report of a prolonged test of the Rose process:

The National Heat and Power Company, of Philadelphia, of which General Hastings is President, has been making experiments during the last two years at the Bellefonte, Iron and Nail Company's mill, Bellefonte, Pa., in puddling from with fuel gas made by the Rose process, and has finally succeeded in solving the problem satisfactorily. During the week ending August 29 they puddled 40,950 pounds of iron with a consumption of 359,545 feet of gas. This represents all the gus burned during the week, including the amount used in keeping the furnace hot between turns; the mill only running double turn. This is an average of 19,600 feet to the ton of iron. Some remarkable work was done during this run: For instance, one heat, 1,050 pounds, was puddled with 5,230 feet of gas and several heats with less than 8,000 feet each. The cost of gas per 1,000 feet with coal, $1.56, coke, $2.25 per ton and oil 2½ cents per gallon, was 5½ cents. With fuel at Pittsburg prices it can be produced for 5 cents per I,000 feet; thus bringing the cost of puddling down to $1 per ton. These figures can be verified. Carnogle, Phipps & Co., Lim., sent T. R. Lee, mechanical engineer, of Pittsburg, to make a thorough investigation of the process. After making a test extending over a period of five weeks, he made a favorable report, and upon the strength of this they have secured the right to use the Rose process in all of their mills, and have ordered a plant with a capacity of running six puddling furnaces, erected in their Thirty-third street mill at once; upon the completion of which they will give it a thorough test in puddling and heating furnaces with a view of adopting it for use in all their furnaces.

The company claims to make 3 fixed gas that can be piped any distance, and with the addition of one and a half gallons of Lima oil to the 1,000 feet to make i There is considerable expectation as to the outcome of the meeting of Corporations Committee of the Allegheny Councils tomorrow night. The Pittsburg, Allegheny and Manchester Railroad Company will be once more before that body for ordinances granting it right of way over certain streets. These rights are desired to enable the company to operate along Ohio street to Mill-

The townships on the Reserve are five miles square, and the town center, where are located the postoffice, stores, blacksmith shops, milis, etc., is but a fraction over three and one-half miles from the residence of the most distant inhabitant of the township, and the roads are laid out on town and diagonal lines. Surplus Was No Surprise-The Sub-Committee to Make an Investigation. The only topic of discussion around Allegheny City Hall yesterday was Chairman Wertheimer's reported discovery that Alle gheny had $100,000 more to her credit than supposed. Mr. Wertheimer said last night: "It has been stated that I made the an-ouncement as a joke. I am not in the habit of joking, especially on subjects of this kind. There are $100,000 more in the

this kind. There are $100,000 more in the treasury than we had supposed."

It was Controller Brown who said that Chairman Wertheimer had made the statement in a spirit of levity. He said further that there was nothing in the nature of a discovery about it, and denied that any blunders had been made. He said the amount in the contingent fund is always $50 000 or $80,000 above the estimate. "This," said the Controller, "is because the estimates aid the Controller, "is because the estimates re based on a valuation of $50,000,000, while he actual valuation sometimes runs as high as $35,000,000."

the actual valuation sometimes runs as high as $5,000,000."

There are many conflicting opinions in regard to this matter among Councilmen and city officials, some charging incompetence and carelessness on the part of the Controller and others that there is no foundation for the charges. Nothing definite can be said until the sub-committee nects and investigates the matter. Charles Dahlinger, Chairman of this committee, said last night: "It was reported that my motion to have an investigating committee appointed was lost. That was not the case. The committee consisting of Dahlinger, Simon and Schondelmeyer were appointed, and will meet some time next week with the Controller and others, when it will be determined whether there actually is such a surplus in existence. It is necessary to decide this point at once, as there is a tendency on the part of the different departments to ask increases in their appropriations on the strength of this "find."

Tax Collector Greer said there had doubtless been great carelessness in keeping the city's accounts, but thought this thing was, not in the nature of a discovery. He explained the surplus just as Controller Brown did.

which Mr. Bookwalter is developing, is the solution of the problem how to secure comfort in the country on moderate means. It would astonish most people to hear the name of one Pittsburger who is talking the matter up. He is a man who makes money rapidly and enjoys making it, but yet finds time for the study of social dynamics.

It has been a matter of comment for many years that there is more insanity among the farming population than any other of equal size, and one who has spent any considerable amount of time among the average farming population of the United States will readily divine the causes. Unremitting toll, often poorly cooked food and the almost entire absence of mental pabulum are the principal ones. The farmer who must work himself, his wife and children almost to the verge of their ability and then sell the best of what is raised has a harder life than the city hod-carrier, for the latter has at best some interchange of ideas, while hardworked people on farms have next to none, and if of a bilious temperament get to brooding over their comfortiess condition and become insane.

With the village system and its fuel gas plant farmers could have all the comforts of city life without its discomforts. As a complete proof of the advantages of association among the rural classes take the Western Reserve in Ohio. There will be found more rural comfort and general intelligence than in any other section of equal size in the United States, and the farmer-thinkers of the Reserve give tone to the entire State and are potent factors in turning it alternately to the control of the Republican or Democratic party.

The ordinary farmer must find some alleviation of his present ills, He gets but little of the great wealth resulting from the present year's crop. Though hay in Pittsourg is $2 a ton higher than it was last year, yet there is no money of consequence in it and it is the only crop raised hereabouts except garden stuff, and but few make any extra money raising the latter. An acre of good hay land is worth $100, and two tons are more than an average crop. Two tons are worth delivered, $21. The cost of three men and a team to harvest two tons is $2; balling, $4 50; freight, $2; commission, $1.20; interest on investment, $5; fertillzer, $10, which leaves the farmer out of pocket $1 70 if the hire the work done. He may mise three tons per acre some years, but two are more than an average crop one years with another.

The gathering of farmers into centers will insure the making of good roads, or hetter still, tramways on which electric cars will carry produce to railway stations. The accomplishment of all this in the next ten years will not be so much of a feat as the change that has been produced hereabouts since 1850, when there was not a railway in operation in Western Pennsylvania, and Pittsburg was a village and ten miles an hour by steamboat considered rapid transit.

The School Children Enjoy Another Day at the Exposition.

WOMEN LOSE THEIR POCKETBOOKS. Allegheny Schools Will Be Admitted on Monday and Tuesday. Situation-Controller Brown Says the

SOME FEATURES OF THE BIG SHOW Yesterday was the last children's day for the pupils of the Pittsburg public schools at the Exposition. There was a large attendance of the little ones, and they enjoyed the varied entertainments as only children can. Before the gates opened in the morning there were scores of eager boys and girls waiting for the moment when they should be admitted to the wonders within, and as soon as they were inside they swarmed over the two great halls like bees. It was hard work to get them out at 4 o'clock.

Prof. Morrow, City Superintendent of Allegheny, has made arrangements to bring the school children of that city to the Exposition next Monday and Tuesday. Tuesday will also be veterans' day. On that occasion all the Grand Army men are requested to attend in uniform, so that the quested to attend in uniform, so that the military character of the day may be sustained in every possible way. Battery B will be there and go through a sword drill at 8:50 r. M. The veterans will assist in "The Battle of Gettysburg." The music on that night will consist of national airs.

There has been a great deal of carelessness on the part of women who visit the Exposition with regard to their pocketbooks. Two women said that they had their pockets picked of their pocketbooks. One of them was found soon afterward at a stand where the owner had made some purchases and had laid her pocketbook down. It had been picked up by a watchman, who took it to the office, where it was returned to the owner.

In nearly every case in which there has been a complaint of pocket picking it has been shown that the owner laid her property down in some such careless way. A sharp watch is being kept for thieves. The management only ask visitors to second them in their efforts to protect them by not carrying large sums of money with them and making sure that they do not leave their pocketbooks on seats and places where dishonest people can easily take them. Lost children are taken care of by the management, but it is better for parents the management, but it is better for parents to keep their own eyes on their offspring, so as to save the authorities trouble and the fathers and mothers agony of mind, even

The Mellor & Hoene Exposition. Although the firm of Mellor & Hoene are not exhibiting this year down at the "Point," not exhibiting this year down at the "Point," they are having a tremendous display at the Palace of Music which goes on perpetually. It is a glorious, rousing demonstration of all that is best and most desirable in musical instruments, and an exhaustive examination will thoroughly repay the visitor. First-class, splendid, full-toned, durable planos, delicious organs for chapels, churches and homes, and those singular and delightful Aeolians that do such surprising satisfactory things Just as though they were whole orchestras. Mellor & Hoene have, by their consistent methods, built up a trade (they have been established ever since 1831) that is stupendous, and in every direction you have been established ever since 1831) that is stupendous, and in every direction you encounter the pianos, organs and Acolians sold by them, and the business keeps growing so out of all proportions, that even with their elegant, spacious wareroom it is only by the most careful arrangement that the musical instruments can be accommodated. Easy terms and modes of payment are the order of this firm to purchasers of the celebrated Hardman, Krakauer, A. B. Chase and Harrington pianos, the organs and the inimitable Acolians.

510 to 518 Market Street. "Have you seen the other side?" is a legend upon a card which greets the eyes of visitors who have finally managed to get near enough to this exhibit to enjoy it; the query has the effect of exciting men and women alike, not to omit the children, and afresh the struggle begins, for this display they must and will see at all hazards, and the confusion may be imagined; but all seem to feel repaid for the extra effort in having ab-solutely won the right to admire this grand solutely won the right to admire this grand display, where everything is of the newest mode, the quality of finest, and the subjects just what people are obliged to know about. The consequence is that, seeing that Rosenbaum & Co. have just the most desirable things to be found anywhere, they simply go straight from the Exposition to Market street, and secure the bargains offered by this house. People take in good part, after enjoying the delicate beauty of the lace and other handkerchiefs, the hosiery, fine underweat, gloves, corsets, etc., the Joke upon themselves of encountering a similar card to the one at the front.

ROSENBAUM & CO.,

Warranted to last 40 delightful days, has at the present time struck Pittsburg with full force; complications of the attack are found in Baker's gilt-edged maracaibo chocolate cream drops, and Baker's pure maracaibo chocolate-dipped caramels, the best in the world. People walk around eating these "goodies," they sit down and eat them, they listen to the music while consuming them, and by way of taking a rest they eat some more, and when they are ashaned to eat any more it way of taking a rest they eat some more, and when they are ashanned to eat any more it occurs to them that lemonade is in season, especially when it only costs 5 cents for a glass of the refreshing beverage made from lemons, granulated sugar, and pure filtered water. Don't you want the epidemic to strike you?

The Keystone Pickling and Preserving Large crowds gather each evening at this striking display in south gallery to taste and commend the numberless fruit butters and preserves at the Exposition. All preserve and fruit butters are manufactured from ripe, sound fruit and granulated sugar, insuring a grade of goods that is ever satisfactory. The Keystone Brand is a specialty, one that has received indorsement far and wide, America and Europe giving their votes in its favor. Visitors should not fail to see the handsome medals which the firm has received at various expositions, including one from World's Fair, at Paris, 1889.
