PRESIDENT POLK'S VIEWS

Southern Democracy Forced the Issue and the Battle Is On.

A THIRD PARTY IS INEVITABLE.

Interesting Coterie of Campaigners to Teach the West on Tariff.

MAJ. M'KINLEY IN THE HOCKING VALLEY

ISPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH.1 TOPEKA, Sept. 12. - The Alliance aggregation now making a tour of the State has met with an enthusiastic reception. The leader of the new party, Colonel L. L. Polk, the National Alliance President, arrived in this city to-day from Holton, and will remain here to-morrow when he will be issued by Senator Pfeffer,

"Four months ago," said President Polk, "it looked very much as if there would be no third party for the South, but the folly of the Southern Democratic leaders has forced the issue. A complete surrender by the Democracy and an adoption of the Alliance demands as a part of the Democratic National platform would make a third party unnecessary, but that we cannot expect. We look for no more from the Demoeratic party than from the Republican party. Cleveland will be the Democratic nominee for President beyond question. The South does not want him, and if the Democracy attempts to force him on them the People's party will carry every South-

CAN BE CHANGED IN A DAY.

The South knows the necessity of perfect organization. There is no backsliding such as you find in the Northern The Alliance with us is m such a condition that it can be changed into a political party in one day. It was organized as a non-partisan institution, and has been conducted as such. The National Democratic Convention will not be asked to incordorate the St. Louis demands in the platform. If there is any wooing it must come from the Democrats and not from the

"Will the Supreme Conneil, which convenes at Washington in February, declare for a third party?"

"That I cannot say, but a third party is inevitable. We will sweep the Republican party in the South from the field. A combination between Democrats and Republicans, such as is proposed in Kansas, will avail nothing. The South is a unit on the Sub-Treasury plan. In 12 States conventions have unanimously approved it, and in the other two the opposition was feeble." A PARTY OF MISSIONARIES.

Great interest is taken throughout th West in a trip arranged by several prominent Democra's. It is understood they will start to-morrow on a novel campaigning tour to the Northwestern States. The nominal object of this trip is to attend the second annual meeting of the State Democrutic societies of Washington. The convention will be held at Spokane, The party consists of Senator Faulkner, General Black, the President of the National Association of Democratic Clubs: ex-Represen tative McAdoo, J. B. Beck, of Philadelphia, and Mr. Lawrence Gardner, Secretary of the National Association.

The party is composed of good campaign ers, and they will talk tariff and preach good old Democratic doctrines to the people all along their route, which will include about an the Northwest, finally closing with an active participation in the campaign in Iowa. It is a party of political pedagogues, so to speak, coming to teach the people. They will make the first stop at Sr. Paul on the 15th. There they will be cutertained by the local Democratic organizations. Wednesday they will address a meeting at Minneapolis. From there they will so to Faren N. D. where there will be a meeting and reception and speeches Saturday, Sunday and Monday will be spent at Helenn, Mont.

VERY COMPREHENSIVE PLANS. Two of the party will go from there to Butte to deliver addresses at Democratic meetings. Monday they will organize the State Democratic organization at Helena, and at least 40 or 50 clubs are expected to be represented. They will then go to Spokane, where Senator Faulkner and General Black will deliver the principal speeches. The night of Thursday, 24th, there will be a meeting of the State society at the grand opera house and Mr. Bynum will be the orator of the occasion.

The party will then separate, speakers going to various parts of the State of Washington. On returning they will visit the principal points on Puget Sound as far north as Victoria. San Francisco will be the last place visited. There they will attend a union meeting of the Democratic clubs of San Francisco, several of the party making addresses. They will speak at different points in California, then go to Ogslen, and two of the party will go to Salt Lake. They will all then come East as far as Denver, where they will be enter-tained by the Gray Stone Club of that city, under whose auspices a grand public meet-ing will be held. From there they will go to Omaha and then into Iowa, where they will spend a week making campaign

JONES TO THE GRANGERS.

He Advises Them to Drop Parties and Vote for Men of Principle.

BINGHANTON, N. Y., Sept. 12.-[Special]-Lieutenant Governor Jones addressed the State Grange at the Greene county fair to-day. He was introduced by A. B. Robinson, Grand Master of the Che-Lingo County Grangers, who announced the intention of the vote-makers of Chenango county to make General Jones Governor. General Jones said:

"There is no question, friends, but taxes are a necessity. How can we equalize taxation and relieve the farmers of a burden? is the problem. Why are all the efforts put forth in vain? Why has it been all wind? Farmers are party slaves, when they should go in for principle. There were once grand principles in the Democratic party at the time of the Declaration of Independence, and the party should have stood by them. The Democratic party raised

LOGAN, O., Sept. 12 .- [Special.] - The

Democracy of the Hocking Valley are in a disturbed state of mind to-night. The demonstration accorded Major McKinley has struck terror in the ranks of the unterrified. In extent of numbers and enthusiasm the meeting has never before been equaled by either party in this neck of the woods. Major McKinley was more than gratified at the magnificent manifestations which promise unmistakably to the Republican ticket a large gain in this, a Democratic stronghold. He said his meetings keep getting better all the time, and that today's gathering was of an unusual encouraging nature. It did not simply indicate itself in the thousands marching and cheer-ing, but in the more substantial way of eres of prominent Democratic business men, farmers and miners going to the Major and personally pledging themselves to use their influence in behalf of the honest dollar and protection.

Lancaster was handsomely decorated, and flags floated from business houses as well as private dwellings. The speaking took place on the public square where a large stand was erected, and was listened to by over 5,000 people wedged in a mass. As Major McKinley ascended the platform there was a great rush by the crowd after him and the stand broke down. For a moment there was much excitement, but it was soon quelled by the appearance of Major McKinley, who stood erect undin-turbed and with a smile playing on his face. There was no one hurt and a wagon was driven up and into it the speaker stepped and was introduced to the immense throng. Major McKinley said there was very little sentiment in the issues of to-day. This is a campaign of business affairs and men will vote as they understand the ques-tions relating to their business enterprises. He then explained the Bland-Allison act and its workings in the nest 12 years. He said the Government put in the vaults $67,000,-000, representing the difference in the issue of the silver dollar between what it passed for and what it was really worth. Free age of silver meant that this amo would have gone into the pockets of the silver producers. After the meeting Major McKinley left for Canton to remain over Sunday. Mr. for Canton to remain over Sunday. Mr. John F. White, a prominent Democratic manufacturer of this city, entertained Major McKinley to-day. Mr. White is a representative of an old Democratic family which exerts a powerful influence in political affairs of the valley. He was a delegate to the Cleveland Convention, but became disgusted at the party's position on the silver question and he with position on the silver question, and he with his whole family will support Major Mc-Kinley.

COREY TOLD HIM SO.

He Calls Pattison's Attention to History Bearing on the New Judges. BRADDOCK, Sept. 12,-[Special.]-J. B. Corey to-day addressed the following letter o Governor Pattison:

His Excellency R. E. Pattison: DEAR SIR-You have no doubt heard the story of the old saw, of the woman, the cow and the grindstone, of "I told you so." Nevertheless, believing as I do that it is as much a patriotic duty to protect the public treasury against legalized robbery, even if there is no political capital to be made out of it, as to prevent the wholesale looting of the it, as to prevent the wholesale looting of the same, as was done in the case of John Bardsley, I herewith send you a copy of Judge Ewing's discharge of the jury called for No. 3 court as being a useless expense to the county, there being nothing for them to do. You will remember that I urged upon Your Excellency the delaying of the appointing of these judges until after the election, on the score of there being no pressing necessity for their services, thereby saving the public treasury their six months' salaries: also of telling you that the Chief Justice had said there was no necessity for appointing also of telling you that the Chief Justice had said there was no necessity for appointing these judges than there was for a cart with five wheels. I would respectfully commend Judge Kennedy's terse and natriotic order as worthy the commendation of all our legislative and executive officials, and as a precedent to the political economy of the State.

Very respectfully,

BRADDOCK, Sept. 12 .- [Special.]-The porough of Homestead has gotten itself into its voice in favor of the perpetuation of slavery. Had not this fatal step been taken there would have been no cause for the Rea financial hole through the construction of pose, and $65,000 has already been expended in building a reservoir and laying the water mains, leaving but $5,000 with which to pipe the town, and this alone will require $20,000. The Homestead Council, as yet, see no way out of the difficulty.

HAS LOCATED MARSH.

A DETECTIVE WHO CLAIMS TO KNOW WHERE THE FUGITIVE IS.

He Is Not in the United States, However and Cannot Be Taken to Philadelphia Without Great Trouble - Strong Hints About Wanamaker and Others.

CHICAGO, Sept. 12.—[Special.]—Detective Frank A. O'Brien, of Philadelphia, who has visited every Western city of importance in search of Gideon W. Marsh, ex-President of the defunct Keystone National Bank, left Chicago this evening on a Baltimore and Ohio train, en route to Philadelphia. O'Brien has located the bank wrecker, but, as matters now stand, there is little probability of Marsh consenting to return to the City of Brotherly Love.

Before leaving for the East Detective O'Brien said it would be advisable for Postmaster General Wanamaker and others to be very careful about certain statements they have made and are still making about Mr. Marsh. The ex-President, Mr. O'Brien says, could unfold a tale that would rattle their nerves. Detective O'Brien has met the sons of Mr. Marsh and knows exactly where the father is. He admits, however, that Marsh is not within the jurisdiction of the United States, and that it would take considerable diplomacy and no little money to produce the fugitive in Philadelphia.

There are some persons, Mr. O'Brien says, who have ostensibly shown deep interest in the arrest and conviction of the bank wrecker, but who, if Marsh was brought back, would soon be missing from Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIANS ASK JUSTICE. They Offer Funds for the Continuation o

the Keystone Bank Inquiry. PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 12.-That there may be no delay in the official investigation of the United States Government into the books and the methods of the Keystone Bank, the Citizens' Committee of Fifty for a "New Philadelphia" yesterday forwarded to Secretary of the Treasury Foster an official communication notifying him of the unanimous passage by the committee of the following resolutions:

That the Hon. Charles Foster, Sccretary of the United States Treasury, be requested to do all in his power toward providing means for the continuation of the investigameans for the continuation of the investigation of the affairs of the Keystone National Bank by the experts appointed by the Government. It is of vital importance, alike to the credit of the national bank system and to the cause of justice, that this investigation shall be pursued to the end and directly under the auspices of the United States Government. If it be true, as stated, that the experts employed by the Government have been dismissed for the reason that there are now no funds available for the payment of their expenses, this committee will advance any reasonable amount required to meet such expenses until such time as an appropriation can be made by Congress for their reimbursement, and that this offer be immediately tendered by letter to the Secretary of the Treasury.

CATHOLIC OFFICIALS

Gather in Chattanooga to Look Into Absconding Treasurer O'Brien's Books. CHATTANOOGA, Sept. 12.-[Special.]-Supreme President James David Coleman, of the Catholic Knights of America, arrived to-day from New Orleans to look into the affairs of Supreme Treasurer M. J. O'Brien, whose business failure involved a shortage in his accounts. Besides the president the following high officials are present: Supreme Vice President T. J. Larkin, of New York; Supreme Secretary John Barr, of Lebanon, Ky.; preme Assistant Secretary John Bradof Memphis; Supreme Treas-Richard Welsh, of St. Louis; urer E. D. McGuinness, Secretary of State of Rhode Island, and J. J. Duffy, of Memphis. During their stay here for the purpose of investigating the books and acints, they will elect a successor to Major O'Brien, who before his departure for places unknown, left his resignation. Major O'Brien's absence has caused an accumulation of drafts sent to him from various local organizations, and every day death claims come for collection. No one feels authorized to take charge of matters and everything received is being safely laid aside, awaiting the investigation of the ocal representatives of the order. It is said that there is little, if anything, to his credit as treasurer in the bank and the supreme officers will have to at once arrange for payment of drafts made on the funds supposed to be in his hands.

ENLARGING THE CAPITOL

Designs Which Call for an Expenditure of Over Two Millions.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12 .- [Special.]-At the last session of Congress the Senate Committee on Public Buildings and Grounds gave the subject of extending the Capitol, to meet the growing demands upon it for space, a good deal of consideration. They finally directed Mr. Clark, the architect of the Capitol, to make plans for its extension and submit them to the committee when Congress meets in December next. Mr. Clark has just completed the plans, which call for an expenditure of $2,-300,000, but the result will be plenty of room and will add greatly to the beauty of the already beautiful structure. Those sections of the building which connect the north and south wings of the building with the central or rotunda portion of it, are of sandstone, painted whit in order to resemble as much as possible the marble structure. They belong to the old Capitol. The wings, which run east and vest, are additions to them. The connecting portions referred to are narrow, as com-pared with the rotungs. Mr. Clark designs to build additional columns between the rotunda portion of the wings. These additions would run parallel to the present sandstone portions of the building, and be about as wide.

For several days he lay asleep. Doctors watched over him until hunger partially awoke him, but after eating he again dozed off, and so it has gone for these four years. The man in all this time never uttered an intelligible sentence. The doctors ascribe the sleep to overwork and the dampness of the tunnel through which he walked after the tunnel through which he walked after the passage of every train. His health continuing good they left the sleeper to him-self. He was recalled to his senses by the Little Doubt That Miss Vera Is the Famous Spook Priestess.

What the Priests Say. PROOFS OF THE WOMAN'S IDENTITY

ISPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATURAL CINCINNATI, Sept. 12 .- Little doubt re-

that her brother Solomon of Louisville, has identified her as hts sister, Ann Odelia Diss Debar. She still re-House of Detention and shares the office with the Diss Debar as Miss Ava. matren and spends most of her time on a lounge, which serves as a sofa by day and a bed by night.

It is stated that some persons who saw the woman to-day say that they saw her last Thursday quite early in the day riding on a cable car in this city. At the House of Detion at a later hour to-night officers said she has not received any letter or telegram from friends or acquaintances as was naturally to be expected if she were a well known person of large means, such as she claimed at Chicago she was.

She has put on a bold front here. The following is her story as told to the Superintendent of Police

THE WOMAN'S STARTLING STORY. "Last Wednesday I called on Archbishop Feehan in Chicago in reference to my re-nouncing the work I had been engaged in for years, and after an unsatisfactory interview, he asked me to go to the church of the Holy Family

By coachman to turn the carriage to the East and wait for me. I stepped into Father Kelly's study and there found the council in session. There were eight or nine of them and among them Father Fitzgerald and Chancellor Muldoon. The others I did not recognize. After a recapitulation of the old business I was asked to tulation of the old business I was asked to renounce my mission business and the faith of Dr. Boltons' religion, Methodism, and I was given the ultimatum of doing this or taking the consequences. Seeing the American flag outside, left from labor day, my stalwart coachman and my friend Mrs. Boltons, I refused, and felt perfectly safe in later one of them presented himself at sales besiden the sales and made an doing so.

SEIZED AND RENDERED UNCONSCIOUS. "Then Father Kelly said, 'Do your duty,' and two big, strong men, one of them Father Fitzgerald, seized me and threw a cloak over my head, after which I remem pered nothing until I found myself in Cincinnati. They say I went out of the church to pray, do they? Anyone who knows any-thing about this church will know that I ould not go from Father Kelly's study in the church.

When Miss Ava was told that the general belief in New York and Chicago was that she was the lost Madam Diss Debar, she was furious. "Why, what can I say?" she screamed. "What better proof can I give than to say that the $1,500 camel's hair in the carriage when I left her was mine. It was suggested that she might solve the puzzle by telling where she had been be-fore coming to Chicago. She said that was her affair. Her family was opposed to her leaving the Catholic Church, and she did not desire to go into that matter as it might involve her in more trouble. She was particularly bitter on Dr. Boltons for not be-friending her. WHAT FATHER KELLY SAYS. A dispatch from Chicago says: Father Kelly, whom the woman accuses of complicity in the abduction, said to a reporter in reply to her story: "It is almost too ab surd to talk about. The woman came here on that evening and I saw her alone in the parlor as I would see any other visitor. She had called on me on three different occasions before this and proclaimed herself to be a Catholic. She has also on several occasions gone through confessions in the church. Of course I took it she was a Catholic, and as she appears to know the forms of our church thoroughly there was no necessity to use force to try to proselytize her."

"What was her special business Wednesday evening?"
"She merely came to talk over her scheme for the reformation of destitute and fallen women. She said she was a lady of large means and had a large estate in England and a share in Mackay's mines." "What about her having property in the hands of the Catholic Church?" "She never mentioned such a thing, but spoke of having enormous wealth of her own. She said she had been a nun. She struck one as being a remarkable character.

If you spoke only six words to her you would never forget her. She could talk on any subject, and her knowledge seemed world-wide."

FATHER KELLY HAS A WITNESS. Father Kelly was shown the picture of Diss Debar, and he said it bore a strong resemblance to Miss Ava. He has a witness who saw Miss Ava enter the church from the side door and pass immediately out at the front, carrying the bag in which her money and jewels were. Another person saw her get into a carriage which was waitare the corner and drive away.

Archbishop Feehan, in an interview today in regard to Miss Ava, said: "I paid but little attention to her talk about creeting institutions and those extensive schemes because I know what it is to raise up an institution and I thought her ideas were too broad. Her intentions seemed good, and I received her just as I receive anyone who comes during certain hours of the day. That is all I know about the woman. As for ber charge against Fathers Kelly and Fitz gerald, it is too ridiculous to command a second thought. On the face of it no one would believe it and it is so absurd that I cannot even discuss it. I have never seen Madam Diss de Bar, but I have heard of her. She created a sensation in Rome some years ago. That had to do with the church, too, but I have never seen the weman and could not say whether Miss Ava resembled her or not." her or not.

The actions of the woman reported missing in vourcity are very much like those of Diss Debar.

THE PROOF OF IDENTITY. Further proof of the identity is found in the fact that a well-known gentleman met Diss Debar not long ago, and warned her against trying any of her confidence games in Chicago. This latter information comes from Mrs. Bolton, who says she is not at liberty yet to disclose all the details. "I can only say, said she, "that a gentle-man met Diss Debar, called her by name and warned her against continuing her schemes, and that this is why Diss Debar mains in the has dropped out of sight. Later I may be House of Deten-The Mr. Llewellyn to whom Miss Ava re-ferred in her Cincinnati talk as her "agent" is unknown by any of the Chicago people who know the mysterious woman. Mrs. Bolton had heard of him, but had never seen him. "Miss Ava sometimes spoke of Mr. Llewellyn as her financial azent," said she, "but I know nothing more about him.

ANOTHER SCRAP OF PROOF.

Miss Ava Had in Her ote Book the Name of a St. Louis Theosophist.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 12 .- A clew to the identity of Miss Ava, who mysteriously disappeared from Chicago, has been unearthed here. In a scrap-book in the possession of the alleged Miss Avs, now at Cincinnati, is inscribed the name; "Dr. Rumford, No. 1528 Chestnut street, St. Louis." A reporter called at the number given, but it was discovered that the doctor had left the city three months ago and is now at Los Gato. Cal. Further than this nothing could be police headquarters and made an announcement that took away the breath of the Chief when he said he was a Chicago detective, and that his com-panion was W. B. Tascott, the murderer of A. J. Snell in Chicago, on February 8, 1888. He asked that an officer be detailed to go with him to arrest Tascott, as he apprehended a fight. Policeman Cave, the giant of the force, was sent on the mission. Presently the men returned with their prisoner. The man arrested says his name is Hardin; that he was born in Dallas, Tex., and raised in Auburn, Ala., where he attended college. He denies ever having been to Chicago, or even in Illinois. He says he is a bartender, and that a protracted spree is the cause o his being on the road.

Despite this story, the man tallies exactly with the description of Tascott, published from Chicago, even to the tattoo marks. He s about 26 years old. The police authorities telegraphed at once to the police of Chicago. Hardin both talks and looks to be quite intelligent.

The bill charges that defendant Nightingale, not having the fear of God before his eyes, and being moved and incited by the instigations of the devil, schemed and intrigued to subvert the use of the church property to satiate his personal and political ambition, by conspiring to take charge of said property parsonage, etc., and on April 24 did seize the same and now holds them by violence and against all Baptist usages.

A DANGEROUS VALISE.

DISCOVERED BY A HOTEL CLERK.

Some Exploits of the Fiendish Train Wrecker at Asbury Park.

HE IS A MOST ENGAGING SCOUNDREL

(SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH.) ASBURY PARK, Sept. 12.-Aimee Louis Barrand, alias Remel, the dynamiter now in jail at Belvidere for attempting to blow up a train on the Lehigh Valley Railroad on Thursday, was a guest at Hotel Balmoral, Ocean Grove, last month. He arrived at the hotel on August 8 and engaged rooms for the rest of the season. He remained five days, and then disappeared without paying his board. He left behind him a large valise, which Clerk Ellis placed under his desk in the office for safe-keeping. On Thursday the valise was opened and found to contain a rusty suit of clothes and an infernal machine, containing several pounds of dynamite. Attached to the machine were two fuses, each of them seven feet long. Clerk Ellis took the machine to the office of the Ocean Grove Campmeeting As-

A HORRIBLE CONJECTURE Barrand, while at the hotel, asked several f the guests to take a sail with him on the ocean. The sail never came off, owing to the dynamiter's sudden departure. Now the horrible conjecture has been made that he intended to secrete his machine on the boat, set the machinery going and then, when it came time for the yacht to sail, to party to its fate.

A dispatch from Albany says: Aimee Louis Barrand, alias Louis Remel, or Louis Remet, who attempted to blow up a Lehigh Valley train in New Jersey with dynamite on Thursday, is well known here. Ten years ago he spent more than a month awaiting an indictment for attempting to blow up the People's Line steamer Drew. For that crime he was sentenced to Danne-mora prison. The only reason he gave for the act was that he wanted to see the women rushing about in their night clothes. He is one of the most perfect of imposters and seems to delight in dead-beating his way through the world. He is an expert linguist, a charming conversationalist and has traveled extensively. AN ENGAGING RASCAL He is very fertile in expedients and is a man of splendid nerve. When here he pre-sented every appearance of a man of culture and refinement. He imposes, it is said, only on the rich and influential, and one of his chief roles is that of a titled foreigner, who has fallen among thieves and been robbed of his all. He acts the part so well that he is frequently supplied with every-thing he needs and is treated as a guest.

At one time he posed as a representative of the Brazilian Government, and imposed upon a Pennsylvania locomotive may uring company. He ordered ten locomo-tives of peculiar design, drew plans of the roads on which they were to run, and had long technical conversations with the chief which he exhibited a varied amount technical knowledge relative to the subject in hand. He so thoroughly imposed upon cepted his order and had actually begun work upon one locomotive before discovering the fraud.

ALL HER LAND AND NAVAL DEFENSES TO BE STRENGTHENED.

Great Britain Thinks That Trouble With the United States Is Sure to Come-The Dominion to Be Made Impregnable to Any Attack. OTTAWA, ONT., Sept. 12 .- [Special.]-An officer of the British army who was passing through here to-day on his way to the Pacific coast to inspect the defenses of British Columbia, says that it is the intention of the British Government to mate rially add to the strength of the defenses of Canada, both on the Atlantic and Pacific. as well as along the frontier bordering on the St. Lawrence river and great lakes. The effort to make Canada impregnable against attack will not be confined, he says, to the land defenses, as the ships and armament of the Atlantic and Pacific squadrons will be greatly strengthened. He says that the general belief in England is that trouble with the United States is inevitable, unless the cause of irritation between Canada and the Republic is removed and matters of dispute between the two countries settled before very long. The definnt and insulting attitude members of the Dominion Cabinet assumed toward the United States during the recent election campaign, he says, is generally deprecated in Eugland. Very little confidence is placed, he says, in executive circles in England in the successful termination of the negetiations, which are to open at Washington on the 12th of October between the Canadian and United States representatives. As regards the treaty of 1817, between the United States and Great Britain, if carried out, it would prevent any demonstra-tion on the part of the American navy at he World's Fair, at Chicago. He believes that Great Britain would remove any ob-stacle, by suspending operations for the time being of the clause of the treaty which provided that the naval forces of each Govroment on the lakes should be limited to four vessels, each of the vessels to be no more than 100 tons burden and each to be of the South Are Idle. Houston, Tex., Sept. 12 .- Cotton picking is at a standstill throughout the entire Southern cotton belt, and if the leaders of the movement can be relied upon, the biggest strike in the history of the world has been inaugurated. Colonel Humphreys, who is engineering the movement, asserts that 1,100,000 pickers have ceased their la bors and resolved to pick no more cotton for hire until November 1, unless paid $1 per hundred and board. He says their or-ganization is thorough and their strength greatest in Louisiana, Mississppi and Ala-

Reports received from Texas, all portions of Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana and Tennessee are to the same effect.

DYNAMITE ALSO ONE OF HER WEAPONS

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 12. - Another hapter in the Juvenal case was written today, when Dr. Boyle recorded at the Health Office the death of Mrs. J. M. Juvenal from arsenical poisoning. The married life of J. M. Juvenal has been a tragic and stormy one. He first married Miss Margaret Fouree, of Russell, Kan. After eight years he got a divorce. Then Juvenal became engaged to be married to Miss Millie Pfiffman, of this place. He jilted her and married Mrs. Anna Baker, a divorced woman. Soon after Juvenal's house was blown up with dynamite and he and his wife barely escaped death. Miss Pfiffman was arrested for the crime and the case against her is still pending. Last Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Juvenal spent the day away from home, returning Monday. They drank water from the ice cooler and were both immediately taken violently ill. They did not suspect poisoning, however, and medical assistance relieved them. Tuesday they are some cakes made from mixed meal and again both were taken violently ill.

Investigation showed that nearly every-'ng edible in the house had been mixed th arsenic. From the effects of her illtess Mrs. Juvenal never recovered, dying this morning at 2 o'clock. Mr. Juvenal, however, has recovered.

Much mystery surrounds the case. Jurenal says he knows who the guilty persons are, but declines to give their names. Juvenal is resident manager of the Consolidated Tank Line Company, and is in comfortable circumstances.

Justice Goldfogle, as counsel for the father, said the girl was present and could go where she pleased. Marks looked over to her with amorous glances, but Carrie turned away and took her father's arm and Justice norahm dismissed the case. It appeared by the return made to the court that the girl knew Marks as a child and had become acquainted with his wife, who died a year ago, and his ten children, one of whom is of the same age as Carrie. Carrie declares that on September 5 Marks Carrie declares that on September 5 Marks induced her to take some wine, and she went to the City Hall with him at his request, where one of the Judges of the Circuit Court married them.
