WONDERS THAT ARE TO BE SEEN-INSIDE

In was a pretty thing to see the children of Allegheny City on their way to the Exsition yesterday afternoon. They were so full of joyous anticipation, and they had floors of the building was the printing such perfect confidence that everything office of Douglass Taylor. There were such perfect confidence that everything would be arranged for their benefit, that they did not think of anything beyond their immediate pleasure. Yesterday was the last "children's day" of the Exposition, although a special invitation has been extended by the management to all orphans' homes and charitable institutions, and the chances are that the invitation will be eagerly ac-

The scene in the main hall of the Exposition last might was indeed brilliant. It was betterams' Day, and the old soldiers were front fell with a crash, and so great was the tion last night was indeed brilliant. It was out in force. The Grand Army uniforms twinkled here and there, and the cheery greetings of the old comrades resounded through the hall in a continual stream of good fellowship. There was a very interesting programme by Colonel Cappa, and the music was heartly enjoyed. A medley of Stephen C. Foster's songs was one of the numbers that was much applauded. Battery B in their sword drill called forth tumultnous applause. To-day will be Ladies' Day, and Thursday German Day.

FINE FURS.

Horne & Ward, 41 Fifth Avenue. Horne & Ward have made their introductory display at the Exposition from their fur department; it may seem a trifle early to show these warm, soft (and later indispensable) articles, but with the consideration usual to this firm, the people are being shown the furs, that they may know in full time, and when they are ready to make their purchases, Horne & Ward will be ready to furnish them the very newest shapes in the exact lengths and kinds of fur that will prevail in the fall and winter sensons of 1891-2. Before touching upon these latest modes, one cannot refrain from ing the most cordial admiration of this display, which is elegant in the exme, and calculated to impress the beolder very deeply. The beautiful speci-nens in fur are disposed about the case in a way which shows them off to the best vantage, and enables the visitor to have a full and decided opinion, as to the relative merits of these varied objects. A brief rescription of these latest ideas may be of interest to the readers of these columns. SHORT CAPES. In these, the shape is similar to that of asi year, the proper length 18 inches, or we inches longer than in the past, the collar higher, with more decidedly Medicean first. The short cape in astrakhan, ranging a price from $18 to $25; the next in point populatity, brought about by its price as If as the populiar charm of the fur itself, mk, the shaded tones of the exobserved being of singular beauty attention was drawn o a beautiful one in black marten, precisely imilar in shape, the one exhibited was ced $50, although they range from $40 to 600; a thorough beauty of the same style was in soft dark seal, and it is quite in order to suggest to the readers of these ines, that if they labor under the impres-ion or delusion that by holding off until sion or defusion that by holding off until after the holding season that they will be hible to purchase seal garments cheaper, they will find themselves sadly disillusioned, further advance in the price of seal hours inevitable, as the supply has fallen between the price of seal hours inevitable, as the supply has fallen by the delegates. The officers of the railthe year 1889 there were caught 220,000, 1891 there were taken 92,500, which figures tell the story emphatically. There cannot and there will not be any increase in the supply; it is an absolute impossibility, the moral of which is that wise people will secure their seal furs at the earliest possible moment. A revenous a nos moutons, we will pass to the longer form or shape, called, MILITARY CAPES OR MANUELETTES. which are shown in the same furs as the opular short cape; the lengths of these capes or mantelettes will range from 24 to 30 inches. The same high collar obtains, while there is a decided change in the sleeve, which is so cut that the arm will have perfect freedom; a fact that ladies will appreciate from having had experience of the discomfort in having their arms pinioned; a very beautiful mantelette was observed in grey krimmerer, especially suitable for young ladies and misses. JACKETS are next in order in the category of winter Something entirely new in this style garment this season is known as the jacket. These are fitted snugly to the back (a fact which should have been noted also in connection with the military capes, which, though apparently neglige, are really soug fitting), with wide, rolling, Medici collars with revers continuing from them to the end of the garment. This is one which will be readily appreclated in cold weather, as the revers can be folded over the chest in the same manner in which a man buttons over the lappels of his overcoat. The popular lengths of these jackets will be almost invariably 27, 28 and to inches. The example shown is in seal. In the matter of MUFFS the styles are conservative, apparently no change, and they are in furs to match all kinds of garments. Fine rugs, full mounted, cover the floor of the case, two of exquisite beauty being of white polar bear and Abyssinian monkey, the upper part of the case being richly draped throughout. CHANGE OF EXHIBIT.

Rosenbaum & Co., 510 to 518 Market Street.

Visitors will find an entirely new display nt this popular stand. In this new disposition matters pertaining to duinty decora-tions for parlors and dressing tables hold sway. There mantel and other lambrequins, eway. There mantel and other lambrequins, draperies for all purposes, head and neck rests, cushions for the back, velvet panels with perfect Marechal Niel roses attached, triplicate screens, draped bracket, mouchoir cases with embroidery and feather trimmings, fancy work completed and material awaiting nimble fingers, and bridal toilet table are over the nincushions of which table sets, over the pincushions of which arches of fretted silk hold aloft a golden marriage bell. This exhibit is prettier than

PIANOS AND ORGANS.

Hamilton, 91 and 93 Fifth Avenue, This house is in the full tide of the fall business, and the entire corps of assistants are lard at work selling pianos and organs. The first choice seems to be the Decker Bros., which have reached a rare degree of fection; and following them very closely the delicious, mellow Knabe, in uprights "laby grands," the latter being the devoted themselves more closely to prights. Then there are the Fischer, takers, the names of which are familiar to the musical public. As to smaller ino to speak) wholesale your purchases by ug out an entire orchestra or full band crass, reeds, strings, bells, drums, cymbals, ing down to the unromantic jews Among the organs you encounter rand & Votey and Clough & Warren, surely enough to satisfy the most critical. The Hamilton exhibit at the Exposition gives in its lavish display some idea of the resources of the large establishment; but visitors are invited to carefully inspect the stock at 91 and 93 Fifth avenue, where low

WARNED BY THE PARK PLACE WRECK. Firemen Do Cautions Work at a Great

Blaze in New York. NEW YORK, Sept. 15.-Fire broke out in the Commercial Advertiser building at 9:15 this morning. In 15 minutes the fire had gained such hendway that it was beyond control. The fiames were first seen busting from the windows on the second floor occupied by Gibbs' tailoring establishment. There were many people in the building and some of them had to slide down the fire escape for life. On the second and third heavy presses on both floors, and as the flames shot up the air shaft the oil-soaked flooring under the presses became ignited and blazed up like so much tinder. The fact that there were heavy printing presses on the second and third floors, and that they were expected to fall through the floors, greatly hindered the work of the firemen, who, mindful of the Park Place disaster, hesitated to get too near the blaze.

There were numerous narrow escapes. At 10:20 the fire was under control. At 10:35 concussion that windows were shattered in the Bennett building, but no one was injured. The total loss on stock and building is estimated at $400,000, most of which is insured: There are estimates which place the loss between $500,000 and $750,000. A lot of loose diamonds which were on the tables of diamond workers in the building were lost. They were valued at several thousand dollars.

The elocutionary portion of the programme will come first and will include a contest for a gold medal between Daniel J. O'Connell and James J. Itival Boards of a Labor Organization GALESBURG, ILL., Sept. 15 .- To-day the old Board of Trustees of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, discharged by the Grand Master, applied to Judge Glenn at Mon-mouth for an injunction restraining the new board from interfering with the old board in an examination of the books and accounts of the Brotherhood. This action resulted from the refusal of Grand Secretary W. A. Shehan to recognize the old board and his intention to place the books in the hands of of the new. Judge Glenn issued the temporary injunction.

Fish Bane Poisons Many Cattle. TALEQUAH, I. T., Sept. 15.-It has been the custom of the Indians for years past at this season of the year to catch fish in the Illinois river by placing in the river pul-verized buckeye root, which is a deadly poison to fish. This year more than the ordinary amount of the poison was placed in the water, with the result that all cattle which drink of it sieken and die. Within the past few days hundreds of cattle have
