JUNIOR ORDER MEETS.

Politics Touched Upon in State Councilor Collins' Report.

UNITED ACTION URGED BY HIM.

The State Council Is Now in an Almost Bankrupt Condition.

OFFICERS FOR THE YEAR NOMINATED

(SPECIAL TELEGRAN TO THE DISPATCE.) UNIONTOWN, PA., Sept. 15,-The State Conneil of the Jr. O. U. A. M. was called to order in the Opera House at 9 o'clock by State Councilor Stephen Collina. As was expected, over 600 delegates were present, Pittsburgers being in the majority from any one section. A pleasing address of welcome on behalf of Uniontown was delivered by A. F. Cooper, which was responded to by P. A. Shaner, Superintendent of Public Intruction in McKeesport. Nearly 400 new delegates were admitted. The reports of officers were read immediately after the noon recess. The report of the States Councilor was a lengthy document covering the work of the organization for the past year. The report says:

WORK OF THE YEAR. After an existence of 20 years this State Council has again convened for the fourth time west of the Alleghenies to legislate and transact business for the membership of this great American patriotic order in onr grand old Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. But never before have such large numbers me together to represent such an immense onstituency and covering such a vast terri-ory, stretching from our grand citadel, our orthplace, on the East, to a solid line of outportaplace, on the East, to a solid line of out-posts along the Ohio frontier on the West, and from our new garrisons on Lake Eric on the North, to the skirmish lines drawn up slong Mason and Dixon's line in the South, and dotted over its mountains and willows he the interest. South, and dotted over its mountains and valleys in the interior.

We are here representing over 700 councils containing a membership of more than 60,000. Legislation of the most vital importance to the very existence of our order must be acted upon. This organization has sprung during the last few years into one of national prominence. It is the foremost American order. Its objects and principles are the grandest for which men ever organized. During the year we have organized 200 councils, 40 of which have been placed in the Eastern district, 70 in the Center and 131 in the Western district. My work of organizing the State in which no council existed. wanted to build for the future. I have succeeded in planting councils in 15 of these. Mr. Collins alludes to the political controversy in Allegheny county last fall as fol-

THE POLITICAL QUESTION. This order must meet the practical ques tions and issues at once. In our Declaration of Principles we pub-lish to the world these words: In the strictest sense we are a national political organization." "We are cognizant hat there are great and powerful enemies within our midst, requiring the strictes within our midst, requiring the strictest surveilance of all who are at heart, word or in deed American. We, as members of this order, affirm our allegiance to the objects of the order as puramount to any party affiliation, etc." Now, is it not time to do more than affirm and declare? These great, powerful enemies in our midst have read our declaration, they have also observed our autions. I appeal to all for "harmonious, mitted and intelligent action," and less dissensions and jealousies within our ranks, and less cowardice in the face of the enemy.

After environs a history of the "dynamite" After giving a history of the "dynamite onckage sent to O. S. Marshall, already sublished in THE DISPATCH, Mr. Collins I claim the right which I accede to every I claim the right which I accede to every other member of this organization, viz: to be absolute master of my political and religious actions so long as they do not interfere with the freedom of any other man. If I am a partisan, I am above all and beyond all an American and a Protestant, and I fully believe that the only way for this order to accomplish its objects, which are political, is for each and every member to work within his own party to Americanize it. While my personal political actions may be distasteful ditical actions may be distastefu e few who do not agree with me in my some few who do not agree with me in my artisan or sectarian views. I am willing bey should disagree, or I will readily argue he case with them, but I do emphatically diect to porty persecution because I have ways had the courage to express my views penly, and they have been openly expressed on one end of the State to the other.

STATE DEPUTIES WANTED.

The State Councilor makes a number of recommendations, among others one pro-viding for State deputies, in order that the board of officers can have more time to lock after the legislative interests of the organ tration; another raising the per capita tax from 30 to 40 cents. At the last session it was estimated that the premium of $20 would only be paid on 150 new councils. Instead of that, 240 councils, casting $1,600 more than was estimated, was the record. This leaves the State Council in an almost ankrupt condition.
The report of E. S. Deemer, of Philadelphia, the State Council Treasurer, is an in-teresting paper. It shows the receipts from charter fees, per capita tax, etc., during the cear to have been $27,530 18; total receipts of subordinate councils, $402,042.51; paid for benefits and relief, $150,154; in treasuries of subordinate councils, $454,815 93; in treasury of State Council, $3,948 91; due National Council as per capita tax, $5,572 50, which cannot be paid until the next per capita tax has been received from the subordinate

Mr. Deemer makes a comparison of the membership and financial standing with other leading orders in the State, which shows that the Jr. O. U. A. M. is only excelled in Pennsylvania by the Odd Fellows.

STATE TREASURER'S REPORT. The report of State Treasurer J. W. Calver is practically a repetition of the financial portion of Secretary Deemer's report.
All of the officers pay a glowing tribute to the memory of Junior Past State Councilor J. P. Winower, who died during the year, after spending many years of usefulness to the organization. A memorial service in his honor will be held here to-morrow even-

Officers for the ensuing term were nominated as follows: State Councilor, Harry A. Heissler, Philadelphia; State Vice Counrieller, Charles M. Raymond, Middletown; State Treasurer, John W. Calver. Owing to the present Sinte Vice Councilor, Hiram J. Slifer, having resigned and moved to one of the Western States, a State Councilor for next year had to be selected from the floor.

william T. Kerr, of Pittsburg, was urgently bressed by his friends but he declined. The election will take place to-morrow.

Alleghenv City, Easton, New Castle, Altoona, Philadelphia, West Chester, York, Meadville, Chester, Allentown, Pottstown, Punxsurawney, Pittsburg and McKeesport were nominated for the next place of meeting. A choice will be made to-morrow. Telegrams of greeting were sent to the State Councils of New Hampshire and lassachusetts, now in session.

ALMOST DECAPITATED.

The Horrible Death of a Bell Boy on Columbus Hotel Elevator.

COLUMNUS, Sept. 15.-[Special.]-Harry Kennedy, aged 14, a bell boy at the Neil House, lost his life instantly this evening in a most horrible manner. He was running the elevator temporarily and was making an upward trip. He got down on his knees to look into the car below and his head caught against the top of the door on the third floor. His head was nearly sev-ered from the body.

The elevator was at once stopped by the regular elevator boy, who was in the carriage below, otherwise the head would have been completely taken from the body. The sight was a most distressing one, and many guests became faint and sick on viewing the remains. the remains.

FITZSIMMONS FREE.

Continued from First Page. merely asked if it was the last car. Severa passengers wondered at a woman standing on the street at such an hour, and they are now wondering whether she was not a Fitzimmons' accomplice. Detectives Steele and Johnston, of Alle-gheny, declared last night that they had a well founded clew to the whereabouts of Fitzsimmons. They maintained that their declaration was not idle talk, and intimated that they had seen some one or more per-sons yesterday afternoon from whom they had procured considerable information. They would not tell anything definite as to what their information was, but nevertheless were emphatic in their statement. When asked why they did not follow the clew out and if possible arrest the escaped prisoner, they said it would entail more or less expense which they did not feel justified in con tributing to out of their own pockets. They said also that it would be useless to lay their information before the County Commissioners as they would be referred to the Pittsburg police officials.

A Detective Changes His Mind. Detective Johnston early yesterday was Detective Johnston early yesterday was of the opinion that Fitzsimmons was in hiding in the city, but later in the day, after he had seen certain people, he changed his mind and said he had gone out of town. Detective Steele backed him up in his theory and said that he could get him or was reasonably sure he could, if he could only get a horse and burgey and drive out of Alget a horse and buggy and drive out of Al-legheny some 35 or 40 miles. He did not believe he had gone out of town by train and said he thought Fitzsimmons had not been on or even seen a train since he es-

Superintendent of Police Weir said: "Either Fitzsimmons has obtained money and help to get him clear out of the country or else he is located right here in Pittsburg, being hidden away by a friend."

Assistant Superintendent Roger O'Mara said: "I am confident Fitzsimmons will be caught. The reward of $1,000 will be as operative as if a much larger sum had been offered."

The disappearance of a skiff from Matt Cavanaugh's boathouse on the Monongahela river Monday night led to the belief that Fitzsimmons had taken to the river for escape. Nobody could be found down the river who had seen a man in a skiff, and the clew was dropped.

FITZSIMMONS HAD FUNDS.

Some Stories About Big Drafts and Other Sources of Supply.

That Fitzsimmons was well supplied with noney is attested by the jail officers who stated yesterday he always seemed to have plenty of money with which to purchase entables outside of the prison fare. Watchman Marshall said yesterday that Fitzsimmons received but very few packages from outside friends and just how the saws got to him was a mystery.

There was a report in circulation yesterday to the effect that on Monday $6,000 was drawn out of one of the city banks for Fitzsimmons. Detective Beltzhoover heard of this story and made an investigation of it. He found that while no money had been drawn for the prisoner an attempt had been made to draw that amount of money for him and the bank refused to give it. The detective refused to state what bank it was, but said that it was one of the banks

A LETTER TO TOM MARSHALL.

Another Missive Written by the Escaped Prisoner Some Time Ago.

Fitzsimmons is something of a letter writter. A missive follows that he wrote to Tom Marshall, his attorney, some time ago. The writing has been compared with the document sent to THE DISPATCH yesterday, and it is identical. Here is the letter;

Bastile de Pittsburg, August.5.

My Dear Mr. Marshall:
Your kindly epistolary consideration was welcomed to hand this A. M., and when your humble client expresses joy and pleasure at the tidings you herald "of your health being much better" it signals but a faint of my hearty approval. Men are scarce and when we find a Human sincere Humane and master of his profession the community can ill spare his loss, in the event of your non est it would create a gap which opening be hard if ever filled. Hence advanced at your ripe and proud years of longevity, it is a duty you owe civilization that you husband and recuperate your energies by the protracted stay at Bedford amidst the health restoring spectacle of pure waters, mountain air and the delights of grand old nature in all her summer beauty, and return to the fields of your labors and usefulness with a new lease of life.

My wife repeatedly remarks the absence of her cherished counsellor. We also miss your lilliputian partner. Very respectfully, BASTILE DE PITTSBURG, August-5.

LOCATING THE BLAME.

ONE OF THE KEEPERS AT THE JAIL WAS NOT ON DUTY.

It Is Claimed That There Are Not a Sufficient Number of Men Employed - A Watchman Who Did Not See or Hear Anything.

The question of where the blame lies for the escape is receiving universal comment. The tendency seems to be to place it largely on the management of the jail. Under ordinary circumstances two keepers night there was but one. Mr. Robb, whose duty is to remain in the office, attending to books, etc., over, night, was taken suddenly ill and could not report for duty.

Instead of finding somebody else to take his place Keeper Wycoff was brought out from the inside. This left Keeper James Larimer in charge alone. It has been cus-tomary for keepers to make the round of the jail about once in every hour. Keeper Larimer made no round after 1 o'clock in He sat at the desk and neither saw no

He sat at the desk and neither saw nor heard any of the operations. In fact, he went home on being relieved by Keeper Price, satisfied that all was well. Keeper Price soon discovered the mistake. War-den Wright, of the penitentiary, yesterday told County Commissioner Boyle that the jail system was decidedly loose, and the Commissioners were just as much responsi-

lail system was decidedly loose, and the Commissioners were just as much responsible for it as anybody else.

Mayor Gourley, one of the members of the Prison Board, said: "The revelation is startling and Allegheny county has learned a lesson. From what I have learned I cannot regard it otherwise than as almost crimical control of the inal negligence on the part of the manage Others say the fault lies with the Prison Others say the fault lies with the Prison Board in not allowing the employment of a sufficient number of men. They say the jail officers are tied down by a set of poor rules, compelled to work 12 hours at a turn and hampered in many way. The fact that no attention was paid to the warnings about the escape is the strongest point against the officials. County Detective Beltzhoover said concerning this:

"Detective Murphy and myself plainly."

"Detective Murphy and myself plainly told them that some plot was hatching, and asked that the Clarks and Fitssimmons be put into other cells. The jail poople laughed at and ridiculed us for what they termed our childish fears. They declined to do anything, and this is the result. I feel confident that if proper precautions had been taken after the warning came Fitzsimmons would be behind the bars yet and not laughing at us all."

FRED FITZSIMMONS' CRIME.

Story of the Murder of Detective Gilkinson at Bull's Run.

The murder for which Fitzsimmons was to be tried was that of Detective David H. Gilkinson on the afternoon of March 21, 1891. The scene was at Bull's Run, opposite McKeesport, but about two miles distant. Gilkinson had fastened on Fitzsimmons the burglary of a McKeesport drygoods store and that of robbing Schmidt's jewelry store in Homestead. As was his custom Detective Gilkinson had worked up all the evidence before making the arrest, and at a evidence before making the arrest, and at a given time members of the gang in three different States were to have been arrested. On this afternoon Gilkinson was accom-panied by Constable Paddy Murphy. When the lonely house was reached Gilkinson asked for "Budd," as he was then known. Mrs. Gilkinson refused to admit them. They forced their way in. As they reached the doorway to the bedroom Fitzsimmons fired. The detective did not stop. He fired again and Gilkinson fell with two bullet wounds in his temple. Murphy kept up the fight until his revolvers were empty and then fled. He was struck by three balls, but he had wounded both Fitzsimmons and his wife.

By a wonderful effort Murphy dragged himself to McKeesport and gave the alarm. The whole State was alarmed. The follow ing night Fitzsimmons was arrested in Homestead by Officer McAllister and brought to Pittsburg. He was tried and convicted on two charges of robbery. In the June term of court the murder case came up for trial, but owing to the illness of Thomas M. Marshall, Sr., it was postponed until September. It was to have been started next week.

M'ALEESE FOR WARDEN.

The Well-Known Police Official Talked of as a Candidate. The talk of a rigid investigation by the prison board of alleged mismanagement of the jail, led to several rumors vesterday about a change of officers. About the Court House the subject was freely discussed, and several names were brought forward as aspirants for the position of warden. Among them were Leon Long, Clerk of, the Criminal Court; George Trusch, councilman; James Wil-liams, councilman, and John Groetzinger, constable of the Third ward. But the name most spoken of was that of John McAleese, The county commissioners yesterday after-noon had printed and turned over to Sheriff McCleary and Police Superintendent Weir House remarked that if Inspector McAleese could be induced to accept the position he could be induced to accept the position he would have an easy victory.

Inspector McAleese's record as a police official was pretty freely discussed, and it was generally conceded that his natural abilities, coupled with long experience in dealing with criminals, would be strong points in his favor. The members of the Prison Board and the Judges of the county have been thrown into frequent contact. have been thrown into frequent contact with him and are fully aware of his ability to give the county jail such a government as it should have.

KOCH'S DISCOVERY.

The tubercle bacilli was discovered by Prof. Koch, to be constantly present in all cases of consumption. Where the blood is impoverished or impure, there results that constitutional condition known as scrofula, which is characterized by the liability of certain tissues to become the seat of chronic inflammations and enlargements. Virchow says "their vulnerability is excessive." Consequently, exciting causes which would have only passing effect upon a healthy subject, would produce inflammation and disease in the scrofulous.

These troubles may start as catarrh in the nasal passages, throat or lungs, and as the membranes become weakened, the tubercle bacilli enter, and multiply, and we have, as a result, that dread ase-Consumption.

Find a perfect remedy for scrofula, in all its forms - something that purifies the blood, as well as claims to. That, if it's taken in time, will cure Consumption. It has been found, in Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. As a strength-restorer, blood-cleanser, and flesh-builder, nothing like it is known to medical science. For Scrofula, Bron-chial, Throat, and Lung affections, Weak Lungs, severe Coughs, and kindred ailments, it's the only remedy so sure that it can be guaranteed. If it doesn't benefit or cure, your money is refunded.
