THE LIMIT ABOUT $20.

When Delinquent Taxes Reach That Sum Property May Be Sold.

A HIGHLY IMPORTANT DECISION.

Long List of Cases Slated to Come Up for Trial During the Day.

auts. A piece of property belonging to ality. them was sold at sheriff's sale for delinquent water taxes. They excepted to the sale, holding that the sale was illegal, the act of March 22, 1877, providing that property is not to be sold if the lien is for less than $20, but the judgment could be kept revived. In the present case there were wo liens, neither of which was for $20. It was held that the costs could not be added was held that the costs could not be added, and that there could not be a sale unless one-lien at least exceeded $20. Judge Stowe, in his opinion, said:

"The true construction of the provise in the act is that the gross sum of delinquent axes, independent or costs and other ex-penses, must exceed $20, but it is not neces-city that each separate lien should exceed that sum. Whenever the delinquent faxes exceed $20 whether there are two or more at sim. Whenever the includes of re-cercities whether there are two or mor-parate lieus upon a certain piece of re-coperty, the land may be sold. The obv-its purpose of the act is to protect rea-tate from sale for delinquent taxes unisum of the taxes unpaid and delinquent cumes to over $20, but when that fact has the land may be sold just as if were all the assessments of a sin-

"It may perhaps be proper to say that here there are several liens upon which all estate is said for delinquent taxes, it cans to us that a sale upon a single lev., based upon a single lien would be sufficient to offect the purpose of the act and vest good title under it in the purchase at certif's sale. This course would save great penses in the shape of costs to parties in the shape of costs to parties in pense in the shape of costs to parties i Exceptions dismissed."

Heretofore it has been generally accepted that under the act a single lien must exceed the before a sale could be made. The result it this has been the accumulation of a vast amount of delinquent tax liens. The case when upon was practically a test case, and be decision will make an alteration in the uniter of delinquent tax claims in the utage.

What Kate McNamara's Absence From the City Has Cost Some People.

Kate McNamara, once of Allegheny now 'lost to sight, but to memory dear,' ever stops to reflect, she probably experiences some conscientions twinges. Some ats ago Kate gave a mortgage on her step other's property on California avenue Atlegheny, for $300 to a man named Mitchell, who subsequently disposed of it to man named Cella, In course of time there followed a scire facias and a ent, when Kale's mother became of the situation, and decided that G. A. R. post, of which per husband had cen a member, told her to get a lawyer, and as applied to J. D. Watson. He had the inster opened up, there was testimony doen, and Judge Stowe opened the Judg-

Meantime Cella, who took the assignment of the martiage, prosecuted Kate for forgery and the grand jury finding a true bill she, occording to the story told, skedandled. ccording to the story told, skedaudied. Then a new spaper that published the story as sued for libel. Yesterday the case of litched for use of Cella came up for trial in the Common Plens and a verdict for defendant was rendered. Here are three innocent arties involved in trouble and expense the full amount of the mortgage. Kate's output has been worried and nut to the expense of the control of the mortgage. other has been worried and put to the ex case of hiring a lawyer to defend. Th assignee of the mortgage is out of pocket and time, and the mortgage will be obliged to make the assignee good.

Keeping the Courtrooms Clear,

Judge Kennedy, in the Criminal Court, has made an order that is causing something of a stir. He has directed that the constables and witnesses whose cases are on the list their cases are called. The order has been productive of good in that it keeps the ourtrooms from becoming overcrowded and the amosphere farid, but those who are excluded do not like it. They have no clare in which to wait, but the corridors seading to the courtrooms, and dere not go away for fear of their cases coming up and come one coming after them with an attach-There are no seats, and men, women and otheren, fired or otherwise, throng the correlors all day. The constables and offi-em also think some of their rights are in-fringed on in keeping them out of the court except when they are wanted.

A Mother After Her Stolen Child. Mrs. Hannah L. Stevenson, of Crafton, ye terday filed a petition for a writ of habeas corpus to secure possession of her 3%-yearold son, William B. Stevenson. Mrs. Stevenson states that two years ago she was compelled to leave her husband, James Steven-son, on account of his craelty. She has had the child ever since. On September 22, while she was absent from home, her husband went to her house and stole the child. She claims he is not a fit person to have the child, and asks that he be compelled to give him to her. Judge Magee fixed Saturday for a heavier.

Will Largely Increase the Tankage.

Daniel O'Day, of Buffalo, general manager of the National Transit Company, and Jos-eph Seep, of Titusville, visited the city yesterday, and in company with Glenn T. Braden, general superintendent of the National Transit Company, spent the greater part of the day looking over McDonald off field, Their object in visiting the field was to consider the advisability of increasing the tankage.

After a thorough survey of the territory they came to the conclusion that the maximum production of the field has not yet been attained, and in expectation of an increase in the output they have decided to have the tankinge increased by 1,000,000 barrels immediately. This will dispense with the necessity of running the Southwest into the National lines, against which the producers recently entered a protest.

law who side with His Honor. Court Stenographer E. J. Donnelly states that the Judge was properly quoted, in some of the papers at least, and that the statement was in reference to Mr. Reighard's case that "moral cowardice should not be mistaken for conscientious scruples, and that some people do make the mistake." Thomas M. Marshall does not agree with all of the attorneys questioned. He said: "There was an article in this morning's DISPATCH that embodies my views on the subject exactly. I could not express them more plainly if I tried."

W. Elder said: "Oh, of course we agree with the Court, except when we take an appeal to the Supreme Court. But, joking aside, I think the Judge's strictures correct. I believe many good men confound moral cowardice with conscientious scruples on the subject of capital nunishment. A juror has nothing and the law does the rest. The jury does no hang a man, and, if the hanging be wrong, hang a man, and, if the hanging be wrong, the jury is not chargeable with the conse-quences if its members simply render a ver-dict that they believe to be right. The law is responsible for the consequences."

Funeral of the Third Homestead Victim. The funeral of Edward Williams, the third victim of the converting mill disaster at Homestead Saturday, took place yesterday morning at 9 o'clock from his late residence, Tenth and West streets, Homestend. After requiem mass the body was interred in St. Mary's Cemetery. Munhall Lodge, A. A. of land S. W., of which decrased was a member, turned out in full numbers. There were representations from the other amalgamated lodges. The funeral cortece was headed by the Exceisior Brass Hand, of Homestead. The mills did not close, but the management permitted as many employee as could stop work to attend. Joseph the management permitted as many employees as could stop work to attend. Joseph Skewis, the head of the Bessemer department, and his assistant, Taylor Alderdyle, represented the firm. Rev. J. J. McIlyar, of the M. E. Church of Homestead, who conducted the services over the remains of Maguire and Lynn, the other victims, attended the funeral. Rev. Father J. J. Bullion chanted the require mass. Bullion chanted the requiem mass.

Fooled a Phon. Ring Man. William Hadley, who claims Philadelphia as his residence, was arrested and locked up in Allegheny last night, as a suspicious character. Hadley is a cheap jewelry worker, and his scheme is to play drunk, and, in order to keep the drunk up, want to sell a gold ring, "an old family hetrleom," for about one-quarter its real value. Of course, the ring turns out to be of the very commonest kind, and probably worth about $1 a bashel. Last night Hadley tried to work W. H. Jewel, formerly a walking delegate of the Painters' Union. Mr. Jowel being brought up in the city, was not to be caught in such a trap, and had the man arrested. On being searched fit the lockup, three of the filmsy rings were found secreted in the prisoner's socks. He will be given a hearing before Mayor Wyman this morning. worker, and his scheme is to play drunk.

Mayor Wyman this morning. Scotland's Turn at the Exposition. The number of excursions to Pittsburg vesterday brought a very large attendance to the Exposition. The programme of music last evening was peculiarly Scotch in character, the day being devoted to the people of acter, the day being devoted to the people of Bonnie Scotland. The lively music of the Land o' Lakes pleased many besides those of Scotlish birth. To-day the band will render classical selections. The works of famous composers will be given, and those who appreciate music of the severely scholarly school will have plenty of opportunity to enjoy the best examples of it.

Saturday will be "People's Day," when, in addition to a very strong programme by Colonel Cappa's band, the Fisk Jubilee Singers will give a concert.

A Burning Crate at the Depot.

The passengers on the limited were treated to a bonfire last night. An Adams expressman was working on a car on track 2 and in striking a match set fire to a crate filled with shavings. Depot Master W. Colbert saw the fire and at once pulled the erate onto the platform, burning his hands. There it blazed away merrily until fireman of the locomotive hauled it over to the engine and deluged it with water from the tank. When a search was made for the contents nothing could be found but a solitary stewpan. The depot chemical engine was run out, and run in again. There was quite an exciting time during the occurrence.

Anniversary of the Old Common Church, On Sunday will be observed the dedicatory anniversary of the Buena Vista Street M. E. Church, Allegheny, which is known in history as the "Old South Common." At 9:30 A. M. Presiding Elder Petty will hold a praise service, and at least Rev. Dr. C. W. Smith will deliver a sermon. In the afternoon there will be a platform meeting, in which many of the former pastors will take part, and at night Rev. J. V. Satchell will preach. Of course, the service will be under the supervision of Rev. J. II. Miller, who is closing the second year of a very successful mastorate.

A New Paster Installed.

Joseph Kyle was last evening formally installed as pastor of the Fourth U. P. Church, Allegheny. The ceremony was a very imposing one, as laid down in the book of discipline, and the church was well crowded with members of the congregation. The sermon was delivered by Rev. A. M. Campbell, of Sewickley; the charge to the pastor by Rev. A. G. Wallace, D. D., of the Home Mission Board, and the charge to the congregation by Rev. W. H. McMillan, D. D.
